

NOTED EDUCATORS
RALEIGH VISITORS

President Goodnow and Dr. Buchner of Johns Hopkins University Delighted

Raleigh had as its guests for a few hours yesterday two distinguished educators, Dr. Frank J. Goodnow, president of Johns Hopkins University, of Baltimore, and Dr. E. F. Buchner, of the Chair of Education and Philosophy, of that institution. Both these gentlemen have attended the inauguration of President E. K. Graham at the State University on Wednesday and were here en route to Baltimore.

By invitation these gentlemen were visitors to The News and Observer building, where they spent a short time in conversation with Secretary of the Navy Daniels and other gentlemen. After this they were taken on an automobile ride to points of interest about the city under the escort of Mr. J. W. Bailey and Mr. Edward E. Britton. Both Mr. Goodnow and Dr. Buchner expressed themselves as highly delighted with Raleigh, that it gave evidence of being a city of progress and prosperity. The number of institutions of learning in this city impressed the visitors greatly. Their general comment as to Raleigh and its appearance being complimentary in the highest degree.

Dr. Frank J. Goodnow has been president of Johns Hopkins University since the first of October, 1914. He is a native of Brooklyn, born in 1859, is an author of note and a figure in the legal as well as in the educational world, holding the degree A. B. and LL. D. from Amherst, LL. D. from Columbia and Harvard, having studied also in the Ecole Libre des Sciences Politiques, Paris, and University of Berlin. From 1882 to 1887 he was a member of the faculty of Columbia in the departments having to do with administrative law and municipal science, being the acting dean of political science from 1887 to 1889. In 1891 he was the legal adviser to the Chinese government. He is the author of a number of books which are authorities on administrative law, municipal problems, and politics, a member of a number of leading educational associations.

Dr. Edward F. Buchner has been professor of education and philosophy at Johns Hopkins University since 1903 and director of summer courses since 1911. He is a native of Illinois, born in 1868, an A. B. graduate of Leander Clark College, Toledo, O., in 1889 and a post graduate student 1890-2, a Ph. D. of Yale in 1893. He taught and lectured on pedagogy and philosophy in Leander Clark College and at Yale, from 1896 to 1901, being professor of Analytical Psychology in New York University, from 1901 to 1903 docent in Philosophy at Clark University, and from 1903 to 1908 professor of Philosophy and Education in the University of Alabama. He has delivered many lectures and written a number of books along the lines of his teaching. He is a member of many scientific and educational associations and contributor to various publications, holding a high place in the world of letters.

BONDS LOST IN ELECTION.

But Cherryville Will Have Its $20,000 School Building. Cherryville, April 22.—The election for additional bonds for schools here resulted in defeat for the bonds. This will not keep Cherryville from building the $20,000 school building before another school term, however, because that amount had been voted upon last year and the building would have been built before this but was delayed in the sale of the bonds. This election was authorized by the last Legislature to enlarge the district and sell additional bonds.

CAREFUL DOCTOR.

Prescribed Change of Food Instead of Drugs. It takes considerable courage for a doctor to deliberately prescribe only food for a despairing patient, instead of resorting to the usual list of medicines.

Some truly scientific physicians recognize and treat conditions as they are and should be treated. Here's an instance: "Four years ago I was taken with severe gastritis and nothing would stay on my stomach, so that I was on the verge of starvation. I then heard of a doctor who had a summer cottage near me—a specialist from N. Y. and, as a last hope, sent for him. After he examined me carefully he advised me to try a small quantity of Grape-Nuts at first, then as my stomach became stronger to eat more. I kept at it and gradually began to have color in my face, memory became clear, where before everything seemed a blank. My limbs got stronger and I could walk. So I steadily recovered. Now after a year on Grape-Nuts I weigh 155 lbs. My people were surprised at the way I grew flesh and strook on this food." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. PROSPECTS FINE FOR BIG MEETING Dr. Joyner Pleased With Outlook For Educational and Industrial Conference

State Superintendent J. Y. Joyner, president of the Southern Conference for Education and Industry that meets in Chattanooga April 27-30, 1915, has just returned from Washington, D. C., where he had a final conference with the executive secretary, Dr. A. P. Bourland, about the approaching meeting of the Southern Conference.

He reports that everything is in good shape for a most successful meeting and that the outlook is bright for the greatest meeting of educational, agricultural and industrial leaders, workers and thinkers ever held in the Southern States. Reports from the various States indicate a large attendance of representative delegations from each of the thirteen Southern States. The program includes separate community conferences of educational, agricultural, industrial and religious workers for the discussion of their distinctive problems, and daily joint conferences of all separate groups in one great meeting for discussing the relation of the work of each to the other and the correlation and co-operation of all for the attainment of the common end—advancing and improving rural life in the rural South.

Among the special educational conferences will be the college superintendents' conference and the teachers' conference; among the agricultural and industrial conferences will be the grain growers' conference, the live stock conference, the fruit growers' conference and the conference on bee-culture; among the religious and social service conferences will be the country church conference and the conference of Southern women for community service.

The railways have arranged special low rates, convenient schedules and in some instances special trains for the Chattanooga meeting.

President Joyner earnestly desires and hopes for a large and representative attendance of educational, agricultural, industrial, social and religious workers from North Carolina. Persons attending the Chattanooga conference from North Carolina can leave by the R. A. S. at 5:17 a. m., reaching Chattanooga at 9:15 p. m. the same day, or leave Raleigh at 2:30 a. m., by the Southern reaching Chattanooga at 10:20 p. m. the same day.
