Moncurs, May 4.—A musical recital was given at the Moncure Academy, Saturday night by local students. Splendid music was rendered by all, more especially the younger girls.

ARE FOU.
Just the same at home on the streets pulling and as pleasant. are upon the afrees to as pleasant and as sweet!

you just the same at bome to your family as you are the comrades and the transpers that you need in shop and car?

you just as kind and thoughtful to your children and your wife you are to total strangers in this every day of life?

Are you just the same at home as you were down town today.

Just as happy and as hopeful, just as full of loy and play are you just the same at home to the loved ones that need it so.

Just as conforting and cheering, just full of fun and glow and loving to the ones that need your care.

As you were to some acquaintance in the hurly-burly there

Are you just the same at home as you were with us tonight.

In the sparkle of the revel in the glamour and the light.

Are you just the same at home as you are to friend and for.

Whom you meet along the highway in the paths you have to go are you just as fond and tender to the bearts you owe it to as you are to all the others as they untile and bow to you.

A Dainty Prock Espainily Adapted to Summer Fabrics

By MAY MANTON

Small Women, 16 and 18 years.

April is the month when girls' thoughts are sure to turn toward Commencement and to its attendant functions. Here is a smart little frock that is especially adapted to such needs. It can be made from embroidered cotton voile as in this instance, or, from embroidered muslis or from fine cotton cripe or from any of the simple silks that are treated in lingerie style and in fact from many different materials, but it will always be dainty and girl-like and smart, yet perfectly simple and youthful. It consists of a straight gathered skirt that is joined to a prettily tucked blouse and the neck can be finished with an open V, or made high with a collar and the sleeves can be finished at the elbows or at the wrists. In the picture, it is finished with the ruffles that make a favorite trimming of the season and are be well adapted to lingerie materials, but any preferred trimming can be used, banding or applied tucks or ruches or anything in fact that makes a pretty effect and is suited to the fabric used. The embroidered voile is essentially dainty and simple. One of the new soft taffetas in changeable effect would make a frock somewhat more mature perhaps, but still girl-like and charming, while adapted to different needs. The tuffeta and the muslin are equally well suited to the design.

For the 16 year size will be needed 536 yds. 56, yds. 56, of material 27 in. wide. 3% yds. 56, yds. 56, yds. 56, of material 27 in. wide. 3% yds. 56, yds. 56

MISS JEROME'S RECUTAL.

Delightful Musical Event at Louisburg College.
Louisburg, May 4.—The initial graduating recital of the session at Louisburg College was given by Miss Gladys Jerome of Aydlett, Monday night, and was pronounced by the large audience who heard her, a distinct success. She was assisted by Miss Maud Jennette, of Goldsbero, who sang very sweetly, "A Perfect Day," accompanied by Miss Brinson.

Added to her many natural charms of beauty and grace, Miss Jerome has received a thorough training in the school of expression under the superb tutelage of Miss Elba Henninger, being one of her brightest publis.

Miss Lottie Kerr and Marie Long, lessra Joe Nash and William Jack-on were ushers of the occasion. Olin Posteida Book Club.

RALEIGH MAN BACK AS EVANGELIST

Rev. J. V. Williams Associate Pastor of Oldest Churches in America Will Make Campaign Through State, Rev. J. V. Williams, Associate Pastor of the Old John Street Methedist Episcopal Church of New York city, arrived in Raleigh yesterday to make this his headquarters in an evangelistic campaign to extend over the State and to last during the summer months. The evangelist is a native of North Carolina, having spent his youth in Hyde county and having lived in Raleigh about forty years ago.

"Of course," he said yesterday, "I have come back to Raleigh a number of times since then. But just the same I have never falled to note the change that has taken place in the city since I last saw it and always I compare it with Raleigh as I knew the city for the first time."

Mr. Williams searched around for a comparison and found it in his own activity.

activity.

"You know," he continued "when the bums of New York put off their old life and at the same time clean themselves up physically, with adornments of biled shirt, and stiff collar, you can scarcely recognize them as the same men. Same thing about Raleigh, exactly. The city has put on new life, adopted city airs and is hitting an entirely new pace."
