

COTTON MAKES A SLIGHT ADVANCE

Market Opened With Decline But Turned Firmer On Renewed Covering

ADVANCE 3 TO 7 POINTS

Weather Forecasts For South and West Has Effect; Selling Pressure Slight and Market Turned Firmer; Cotton Consignment in South Were Considerably Fewer

(By the Associated Press.)
New York, May 19.—A favorable weekly crop weather report failed to inspire any selling in the cotton market today and prices worked higher on covering by recent sellers and a moderate demand from trade sources, with the close steady at a net advance of three to seven points.

Cables were lower than due and the market here opened at a net decline of 5 to 7 points. Forecasts for unsettled weather in the South and lower temperatures in the Western belt served to promote some covering, however, and the market steadied right after the call. The weekly weather report was quite as bullish as expected, indicating that the past week had been the most favorable so far this season, but as it brought out no fresh selling pressure the market soon turned firmer on renewed covering with the close a shade off from the best under realising.

The smaller arrivals of consigned cotton from the South reported at New York today may have helped the afternoon rally as trading to confirm predictions that the decline in futures would check the movement of cotton in this direction and it seems probable that market sellers have felt more or less disappointment that Southern spot markets have not shown more disposition to follow the decline in speculative markets.
