BUTTS' HOMER BEATS CAPITALS

Circuit Driver Follows Forbes' Triple and Nets Brace of Runs

When Butts drove a liner over Dyer's head for the circuit with Forbes on third, the result of the pitcher's triple, he delivered the blow that gave the Bulls a 4 to 3 victory yesterday over the Capitals in the last of the series. Butts' homer came in the fifth inning when the Capitals were in the lead. The brace of runs that resulted from the drive ran Durham's total to three. Morthert later scored on two errors, but as the locals failed to score again during the game the fourth run was not needed.

Until the triple and home run in the fifth the game was a pretty pitchers' battle between Forbes and Gittings. Each pitcher allowed a brace of bases in the first inning and then tightened until the fourth. In this inning Raleigh got two more hits—Forbes' delivery, but failed to send a run across the plate. Durham got a couple in the fifth and then one more in the eighth. With the exception of the first and eighth Gittings was a puzzle.

Inability to hit Forbes' offerings in the pitcher's was the main reason of Raleigh's defeat. Forbes was at his best with runners on the paths and in the fourth gave a pretty exhibition of pitching when he pulled out of a very dangerous looking hole. With three on base and one out, he hit a double and a base on balls, he fanned Tally and forced McCord to fly to Butts. Again in the fifth Mack walked and stole second, but died there for the want of a hit. Mack again walked in the eighth after one out, but Citrano and Perkins fanned. Dooley, the kid umpire, again contributed the work that marred the game and spoiled all interest among the fans. This umpire again failed to show wherein he should be an umpire and sent many spectators from the park. In the eighth inning he called a strike on Citrano when the ball was over the pitcher's head, this strike retiring Citrano and thwarting what chance the locals had of scoring in that inning. Mack was on first at the time and there was only one out. Through the game play was forced to strike at a ball in fear that strikes would be called by Dooley. In the ninth inning, Butts tried to reach Dooley when he called him out at first on a close play, but "Little" Kelly grabbed Butts and prevented trouble.

Durham scored in the first inning after two out. W. Kelly started trouble by walking. Then singles by Hillier and Dayton scored Kelly. In the fifth Forbes' triple to right-center and Butts' homer netted two runs in the sixth after one out Morthert hit to Citrano and reached second when the pitcher threw past Mack. Mack then threw over McCord's head trying to head off Morthert at third and Morthert scored.

Raleigh's only runs came in the first frame. Dyer's first up, walked. Mack asked to Daytona. Citrano got an infield hit and continued to second on Kansas' wild throw past first. Dyer's reached third. Perkins sent a sacrifice fly to Dayton and Dyer's scored. Citrano going to third, Schuyler singled to right. Citrano scoring.

A beautiful catch near the ground by Dyer's in the second of Angier's drive was the best fielding play, but McCord, Tally, Citrano, W. Kelly and Angier accepted difficult chances and played a steady game.

TOURISTS AGAIN DEFEAT TWINS

Two Home Runs Give Twins Their Runs; Errors are Costly

(Special to The News and Observer) Winston-Salem, July 7.—Homers by Moorefield and Boggs netted the Twins five runs, but they were defeated by Asheville by a score of 6 to 5. Moorefield hit over the fence in the fourth inning after Heck singled and Barber walked. Boggs' drive over the fence came in the seventh with Stuart on first as a result of a single. Bradshaw hit to Stuart, whose throw pulled Boggs off the sack, and Woodall scored. Corbett hit to Gill and Bumb was caught at the plate. Hickman's grounder went through Boggs' legs. Fortune and Bradshaw scored. In the sixth Heckwell doubled and scored when Schwartz threw wild to first to catch Woodall. Hickman opened the eighth with a walk. He stole second. Fenton then singled him home and went to second on the throw to the plate. Stuart threw over first trying to retire Heckwell and Fenton scored.

McWhorter Outpitches Tall Hornet Flinger; W. Rowe and Wasem Feature

(Special to The News and Observer) Charlotte, July 7.—McWhorter pitched steadily today and the visitors found "Slats" Ledbetter for ten safeties, Greensboro defeating Charlotte by a score of 3 to 2 in the second of the abbreviated series.
