"AT YOUR SERVICE"

RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA.

ATLANTA PEDESTRIANS KICK ON TRAFFIC LAW

Atlanta is trying to enforce the same kind of traffic ordinance that the Raleigh police department has put into effect at the intersections of Fayetteville and Martin streets and at Hargett and Fayetteville.

The Atlanta traffic cops are having just as hard a time making the people conform to the regulations as the Raleigh police is shown by the following which appeared in the Atlanta Journal yesterday:

"Just leave it to the city council and they are sure to come through sooner or later. Here everybody has been talking about the lack of amusement in Atlanta, nothing to do but talk, no place to go but home."

"And then council plays Nono to the populace and furnish the proletariat with an all-the-year-round midway right in the middle of Whitehall street, free seats supplied, standing room in plenty, buy-a-cushion-5 cents, don't shove, please, the next act starts in five minutes!"

"Why, that city council ought to be decorated with medals and iron crosses and its members given box seats every afternoon on top of a department store. The curtain went up promptly at 3 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, wrist-watch time, and the last act was not over until long after the White Way posts were aglow with silver. And for a street comedy of the funniest type the audience agreed that Old Man Keystone himself couldn't have created anything better than Atlanta's own production: 'Why Does a Chicken Cross the Road When She Can't Get on the Other Side?' written by the respective committees of council and chamber of commerce, acted by a large cast of pedestrians and managed by the Atlanta police force.

"Except from Act One: 'Scene: Cross section of Whitehall street; fat cop at left center; mob massed on sidewalk waiting to cheer; roofs dotted with people; fringe of newsboys crunched on stage.'

"Lady with Large Nose sails out of mob and tucks across street with the call of bargain counter in her eyes.

"Newsboys: 'There she goes, there she goes!'

"Mob: 'A-a-r-r-r!' (Meaning deep growls.)

"Cop comes to life suddenly and advances with hand outstretched as if he were about to pet a puma.

"Cop (as he fires shot across lady's bow, causing her to luff suddenly): 'Have you read the papers?'

"Lady with Large Nose: 'I-I-I (indicating cold stare.)

"Cop: 'Don't you know you are walking against the law?'

"Lady with Large Nose: 'What if you mean—against the law? I guess I know what I'm doing, how dare you speak to me!'

"Cop explains softly and firmly that lady is jay-walker, while mob howls and laughs and cheers. Lady with Large Nose returns to shore, makes a portage to corner and fords the street as per instructions, with her head in the air. Just to show she can't be run over, she cuts buses on the cop; but the latter is too busy to notice.

"A pretty little clipper waving flags all over her is steaming out into mid-ocean and cop is training broadside: Newsboys, mob, crowd on roofs, etc., burst forth again into sound and the play is on!"

James Hardee.

Enfield, Dec. 18.—Enfield and the whole community was shocked when the news reached here of the sudden death of Mr. Julius Hardee at his home in the country, six miles west of here Tuesday evening about six o'clock. Heart trouble was the cause of death. Mr. Hardee has been in poor health for some time, but continued to attend to his business and no one expected that the end was near. The funeral services were conducted from the home Thursday afternoon by his pastor, Rev. R. A. Swanger, assisted by Rev. Geo. H. Johnston, the services being conducted at the family burying ground, and the body laid to rest with Masonic honors. The floral offerings contributed by the Masons and his friends were many and very beautiful.

The deceased was in his 64th year and leaves his wife, two adopted sons and three brothers, Messrs. W. J. and J. W. Hardee of this place, and D. W. Hardee of Henderson. When he was yet a young man he united with Eden M. P. Church and since has lived a devoted, consecrated Christian life, and it can be truthfully said, "The world is better for his having lived in it." The boys and brothers have lost a loving father and brother, the wife a devoted husband, the Orford Orphanage one of its best points, the church has lost a consecrated member and supporter, and the community and State a loyal citizen. He was a Master Mason, besides being a Royal Arch, a Fourteenth Degree, and a Scottish Rite Mason.

Albemarle News Notes.

Albemarle, Dec. 18.—A new real estate company has just been organized in this town to be known as The Power City Investment Company. The company has applied to the Secretary of State for a charter and commences business with an authorized capital stock of $50,000. The stockholders are H. P. Hammond, J. F. Peck and F. P. Jackson, all being new residents.

The former students of Wake Forest College met last night in the office of J. M. Brown & Son and organized a Wake Forest Alumni association. Judge O. J. Nikes was elected president; R. L. Brown, vice-president, and P. B. Coggins, secretary and treasurer. The following committees were named: An executive committee, consisting of Rev. R. P. Walker, E. F. Eddins and A. P. Harris; athletics committee, I. R. Buleyson, R. B. Ingram and Mike Parker; social committee, C. M. Palmer and O. D. Ritchie. Another Still Captured. (Special to The News and Observer.) Albemarle, Dec. 18.—Officers from the Big Lick section brought into Albemarle this afternoon another still which was found on the property of one Delmon Humeret. The outfit was a complete one. No arrests have been made. Many a boasted family tree is a stunted shrub.

Resumes Trip After 29 Years.

Kansas City (Mo.) Dispatch.

A man boarded a train here and gave his ticket, which read to Gallatin, Mo., to the conductor. After looking at the ticket for some time, the conductor discovered the ticket had been bought 29 years ago, from the Washburn and Pacific Railway. It was still good, however. The man said that in 1886 he was traveling from Leavenworth to Gallatin. He arrived in Kansas City and bought a ticket to his destination, but was arrested and taken to Leavenworth, where he served 29 years in the Federal prison. A few days ago he was set free, and he started to resume the long-delayed trip.

Pastor's First Best Bandit.

Los Angeles Dispatch.

An armed highwayman was put to rout by the Rev. K. Lloyd Windsor, pastor of St. Luke's Episcopal church, who, while returning home from services here, complied with the robber's command to throw up his hands in a manner which astonished the footpad. After the minister had plied his fists with good effect for several minutes, he grappled with the robber, but the latter, a powerfully built man, wrested himself free and escaped.

Speed.

Pittsburgh Post.

"How about your new stenographer? Is she quick and accurate?" "Yes, sir; she can powder her face, arrange her bracelets and fix her hair quicker than any stenographer I ever had. And do it accurately too."
