"Treties will always be scraps of paper until people think more of God than they do of their own purposes," said Dr. T. O. O'Kelley yesterday moraing The services at the First Baptist church. Dr. O'Kelley called attention during his remarks to the inaugural address of Governor Thomas W. Bickett when he said, "I have no genius for destruction," and declared that it is because the nations beyond the sea are consecrated to destruction that Europe is now in agony.

the physician did not know the trouble. The same thing goes on in Christian life because we do not know the truths of divine teaching. People are shut off from the joy of evalgelizing the earth holding on to a small hope for them-selves, because they do not know the great program Christ has outlined for His kingdom. The joys of fellowship with God are foreign to them. One might as well speak Greek to them. They do not know. How much fuller and more glorious would their lives be if they knew the wideness and height and the depth of the life they might live if they knew Christ. It is possible for one to be an honest kind of Chris tian, but he may not know Christ's great activity in the world and hence not get the great joy that comes from the knowledge of it.
