NATION READY TO GIVE UP ALL IF FOUND NECESSARY TO VINDICATE PRINCIPLES

President Wilson Says in Address To Confederate Veterans That We Have Been Allowed To Become Strong That Our Strength Might Be Used To Prove Our Greatness

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, June 5.—In his address today to the Confederate Veterans assembly here for their annual reunion President Wilson said:

"I esteem it a very great pleasure and a real privilege to extend to the men who are attending this reunion the very cordial greetings of the government of the United States.

"I suppose that as you mix with one another you chiefly find these to be days of memory, when your thoughts go back and recall those days of struggle in which your hearts were strained in which the whole nation seemed to grapple, and I dare say that you are thrilled as you remember the heroic things that were then done. You are glad to remember that heroic things were done on both sides, and that men in those days fought in something like the old spirit of chivalrie gallantry. There are many memories of the civil war that thrill along the blood and make one proud to have been sprung of a race that could produce such bravery and constancy; and yet the world does not live on memories.

"The world is constantly making its toilsome way forward into new and dif-ferent ways, and I believe that one of the things that contributes satisfaction to a reunion like this and a welcome like this is that this is also a day of we have thankfully buried, and among them are the great passions of division which once threatened to fender this of our minds, gone out of our hearts which Uncle Sam is raising to fight the and one of the things that will thrill Kaiser's legious in Europe this country as it reads of this reunion is that it will read of a re-dedication on tion which we serve in common.

ting the things that once held days of rejoicing, because we now at least see why this great nation was kept united, for we are beginning to see the great world purpose which it was meant to serve. Many men I know, particularly of your own generation, have wondered at some of the dealings of providence, but the wise heart never questions the dealings of providence ecause the great long plan as it unfolds has a majesty about it and a definiteness of purpose, an elevation of ideal, which we were incapable of conceiving as we tried to work things out with our own short sight and weak strength. And now that we see ourselves part of a nation united, powerful, great in spirit and in purpe know the great ends which God in His mysterious providence wrought through our instrumentality, because at the heart of the man of the North and of the South there was the same love of self-government and of liberty, and now we are to be an instrument in the hands of God to see that liberty is made se-cure for mankind. At the day of our greatest division there was one common passion amongst us, and that was the passion for human freedom. We did not know that God was working out in his own way the method by which we should hest serve human freedom—by making this nation a great united, indivisable, indestructible instrument in his hands for the accomplishment of these great

"As I came along the streets a few minutes ago my heart was full of the MRS. DANIELS HOSTESS ought that this is registration day Will you not support me in feeling that there is some significance in this coin cidence, that this day, when I come to welcome you to the National Capital, is a day when men young as you were in those old days, when you gathered together to fight, are now registering their names as evidence of this great idea, that in a democracy the duty to serve and the privilege to serve falls upon all alike? There is something very firm, my fellow citizens, in the spirit of the volunteer, but deeper than the volunteer spirit is the spirit of obligation. There is not a man of us who must not hold himself ready to be summoned to the duty of supporting the great government under which we live. No really thoughtful and patrictic man is jealous of that obligation No man who really understands the privilege and the dignity of being an American citizen quarrels for a moment with the ides that the Congress of the United States has the right to call upon whom it will to serve the nation. These solemn lines of young men going today all over the Union to the places of registration ought to be a signal to the world, to those who dare flout the dig-nity and bonor and rights of the United States, that all her manhood will flock to that standard under which we all delight to serve, and that he who challenges the rights and principles of the United States challenges the united strength and devotion of a nation,

There are not many things that on desires about war, my fellow citizens, but you have come through war, you know you have been chastened by it, and there comes a time when it is good for a nation to know that is must sacrifice if need be everything that it has to vindicate the principles which it professes. We have prospered with a sort of heedless and irresponsible prosperity. Now we are going to lay all our wealth, if necessary, and spend all oud blood, if need be, to show that we were not accumulating that wealth selfishly but were accumulating it for the service of mankind. Men all over the world have thought of the United States as a trading and money getting people, whereas we who have lived at home know the ideals with which the hearts of this people have thrilled; we know the sober convictions which have lain at the basis of our life all the time, and we know the power and devo-tion which can be spent in heroic wise for the service of those ideals that we have treasured. We have been allowed to become strong in the providence of God that our strength might be used to prove, not our selflahness, but our greatness, and if there is any ground for thankfulness in a day like this, I am thankful for the privilege of self-sacri-fice, which is the only privilege that lends dignity to the human spirit. "And so it seems to me that we may regard this as a very happy day, be Germa sense a day of reunion, a day of noble player memories, a day of dedication, a day of open.

If there was outlawed act or occurrence throughout the day anywhere in the county it has not been heard. Especially notable was the cathusiastic response of the negro to the President's proclamation.

Diligent Work at Rocky Mount.

Rocky Mount, June 5,-It has been great day, not for patriotic outbursts, but for diligent work for the country's cause, in Rocky Mount, Allotted an exsected enrollment of 1,450, according to the census figures, there have been more than eighteen hundred sons who have registered themselves as willing to lay down their lives for their country, and the number is expected to reach nineteen hundred or two thousand before the registration places close at 2 o'clock. No difficulty whatever was experienced in registering the men, and the success of the registration exceeded the expectations of the registrars. There will be very, very few that did not register, if any, and the opinion is that there were none. Similar conditions prevailed throughout Edgecombe and Nash coun-

No Slackers in Davidson.

(Special to The News and Observer.) Lexington, June 5.—Registrations here and in Davidson county will go to 3,000 according to conservative mates 500 more than officials had predicted. Not a slacker reported in the county up to eight o'clock, and not a semblance of disorder anywhere. The day closed here with a parade and mass meeting of both races.

Day Quiet in Edenton. Edenton, June 5.—Registration day passed off quietly. Arm bands were placed on the men as they registered by the ladies of the town- It is thought that every one registered be-tween the ages. A very patriotic and enthusiastic meeting was held by Chowan Tride No. 12, Improved Order of Red Men, last night, at which time they subscribed five hundred dollars for Liberty Loan Bonds.

Not a Quitter in Lenoir. Kinston, June 5,—Lenoir county registered a few more than 2,000 for selective service. Kinston had more aught in attempts to register and re-ected. Sheriff Taylor stands responsible for the statement that there is not a quitter in the county. Federal and county officers say there was not an inimical act or word. While Lenoir eligibles registered freely and early to-day they declined to parade their patriotism. In a parade more than a mile long only 25 white men and 31 colored men of draft age could be induced to Nothing new developed in the cases vesterday, other than the statement by District Attorney Carr that the government had decided not to interfere with the several trunks of liquor that have been seized by the local police and are now confiscated at headquarters.

Deputies from Marshal Dortch's office, assisted by local authorities, yesterday continued to serve subposens on the fifty odd witnesses summoned by the government to testify in the Norris and enger liquor smuggling cases that will be called at the special term. The action of the Department of Jusice sanctioning the calling of the Federal grand jury into special session was made upon the recommendation of Special Agent D. E. Phillips, who has unearthed the principal facts bearing on the case. Taking it up at the time the two girls were sent to jail in lieu of bail following their appeal from police court sentences, Mr. Phillips has been continuously persevering in his efforts to ferret out the mysteries that seemingly have buffled the local and State au-thorities for some time. CARD SYSTEM CUTS DOWN USE OF SUGAR IN FRANCE

Paris, June 5. The demand for sugar in Paris has fallen to one-third of what it was before the card system was adopted. Advocates of the system conclude from this result that the cards have imposed frugality. They ask for the extension of the system to meat, bread, coal and gasoline. It is asserted, however, that this reduced demand for sugar is not necessarily due to decreased consumption.

Most housewives, anticipating the introduction of cards, had laid in a supply that will last another month or more, A great many retail dealers, grocers, bakers and butchers are in fayor of the Jennic Clement, Mary Lily, Sue and card system in preference to mentless Alics Hussey, Ethel Mac Boney, Ellen days and other restrictions that disturb Rose, Mary Virginia Bryant, Ellen the routine of business.
