

ROTARIANS GREET COL. ALBERT COX

Fellow Club Members Give Him Delightful Occasion at Yarborough

RETURNED OFFICER VOICES APPRECIATION

Says Troops in France Were Sustained By Support From Back Home

The Raleigh Rotary Club last night welcomed Col. Albert Cox home with one of the most elaborate functions it has ever given—a delightful dinner in the Rotary dining room of the Yarborough Hotel.

The attendance of members, wives and guests taxed the capacity of the dining room. There were music by an orchestra, singing by the diners, feasting, flowers and general rejoicing over the return of Raleigh's gallant artillery colonel.

BELLANS FOR INDIGESTION

Kenneth J. Nixon, Col. and Mrs. Cox occupied seats at the right of the president, J. E. O'Donnell. The menu cards carried a picture of Col. Cox and he was given a welcome which he declared touched him deeply.

"No words of mine," said Col. Cox after he had been introduced, at the close of the dinner, in eloquent words, by Dr. George J. Ramsey, "could express the deep appreciation which I have for the kind words of Dr. Ramsey, the cordial welcome of my fellow Rotarians, and the manner in which the people of Raleigh receive me and the men of my command. Nothing could mean so much to us as the warm feeling which the people of Raleigh breathe out to us. It is a remembrance which every man of us will ever have.

"The Rotary spirit," Col. Cox continued, "seated before us to France. At all times, in traveling, or marches, or in the battles on the front, the motto of Rotary, 'He profits most who serves best,' was the guiding principle of the American troops. In carrying out the ideas of Rotary, the ideas of service, they were able to do things; to accomplish achievements which before they came the other allies had not been able to obtain."

Col. Cox warmly praised the support which the people back home gave the American troops. "There was," he declared, "the same unselfish spirit evinced by the American people at home that was shown by the American troops in France. We in uniform had the opportunity, but those who remained at home had the greatest task. We appreciated them then as news of the way they were supporting us came to us; we appreciate them more now that we are back among them. You who remained at home made it possible for us to accomplish what we did. We cannot express our gratitude for the outspoken, the hearty, the devoted support that the troops always had when they were in France and which they still find now that they are at home."

Enthusiastic praise for all of North Carolina's representation in the war was a feature of Col. Cox's speech. "It gives me great pleasure to say," he went on, "that no braver, truer, kinder men fought in France than your fellow North Carolinians, your fellow Tar Heels, whom you sent to represent you. And not only did they fight manfully and successfully against the Hun, but also to control themselves. Every man to whom you gave opportunity to fight on the soil of France comes home better qualified to be a citizen than when you sent him forth. They know what it is to accomplish things. They know what it is to see hard tasks, tasks beset with difficulties, through to successful conclusion. They have a broader view, higher ideals. They have broadened in mind, body and spirit. They can each of them be depended on to do a man's part in a man's world."

Col. Cox, concluding his address, which was interrupted frequently with applause, which Raleigh had given the 113th, adding as his final sentiment of appreciation, "It was worth while to go just in order to come back."

Introduced by Dr. Ramsey, Col. Cox was introduced by Dr. George J. Ramsey, who began by paying a tribute to the whole regiment which he said was in the very forefront of the mighty host that rallied to the nation's call, all exclaiming as with one voice, "Here am I, send me."

"And through those weary days last summer and last fall, though our hearts were torn with anxiety, they swelled with pride as the stories came back to us from that flaming battle line of their splendid morale, of their undying courage, of their heroic deeds."

"Following words of welcome for the regiment and referring to the demonstration which marked the parade of the 113th Dr. Ramsey passed to the immediate subject of his speech: "For our own little family of Rotarians long knit together by many ties of association and friendship there went out some who were peculiarly near and dear to us. Among them was one who had been our Moses, who had led us safely through the wilderness of our early days and by unselfish devotion and wise counsel had helped to make for us a sure name and place in this community."

"We who knew him accepted it as a matter of course when he cast aside the uniform to don the khaki. We were not surprised when he was chosen to high command, and we knew it already when word came back to us that in very truth he led his men over the top at Saint Mihiel and through the pitfalls of the Argonne forest."

"But now, the great adventure over, we are glad, we glad, to get him back, and we are here tonight to tell him so, to look into his eye and give his hand and say 'Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, thou shalt be in good time be ruler over many things.'"

"Our first in war, our first in peace surely none has better claim to be 'first' in the hearts of Raleigh Rotarians than Col. Albert L. Cox. Albert, we salute you."

It was explained that a musical number of the program had to be omitted because of a death in the home of the singers. "Songs by shock troops," Mr. Hulsh explained, was omitted because Manager Griffin had thought them possibly too shocking for Yarborough standards. When the smokes were passed cigars were offered the ladies and while several accepted and examined with some curiosity the specimens of the "soldier's solace" no one ventured to apply the match.

OPTIMISTIC VIEW OF INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE

English Workmen Made Demands in Secret Report To Committee

London, April 4.—An optimistic view of the work of the industrial conference, comprising representatives of the employers and the trade unions of the United Kingdom, was expressed at a joint meeting of that body held today to discuss a secret report made by the committee of ten that had been appointed to make recommendations as to an adjustment of the outstanding difficulties.

The transport workers and miners were not represented at the meeting today. The secret report, it is understood, recommended the following immediate reforms: A 48-hour week with a scale of minimum wages to be applied universally. Trade boards for organized trades. The wages and hours recognized and agreed on by the trades unions and the employers to be applied to all other workers and employers.

Trade conferences to be held on future war bonuses, the maintenance of the unemployed and old age pensions.

Thinks Increase Justified. Harrisburg, Pa., April 4.—Governor Sprunt tonight passed a statement declaring that as a result of his study of the anthracite situation in Pennsylvania, including the wage proposition, the railroad rates and general conditions, he had concluded "that the action of the producers in announcing a gradual increase of ten cents a ton for five months beginning May 1 is justified."

Martens, who styles himself ambassador from Soviet Russia, that he was ready to deposit $200,000,000 in gold as a guarantee to cover purchases to be made in this country for the needs of the Bolshevik government.

The Russian gold is believed to have been turned over to the Germans and its delivery in trust to the Allies is stipulated in clause 19 of the armistice terms.

IMMENSE SUPPLY OF OIL BOUGHT

U. S. Shipping Board Directs That Millions of Barrels Be Delivered

Washington, April 4.—Contracts for 7,500,000 barrels of fuel oil for delivery at Atlantic and Gulf ports during the next twelve months were awarded today by the shipping board. All bids for Pacific coast delivery were rejected as unsatisfactory.

Contracts were entered into with the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey for 3,500,000 barrels delivered at New York, 1,500,000 barrels at Norfolk and 300,000 barrels at Baltimore and with the Standard Oil Company of Louisiana for 2,000,000 barrels delivered at New Orleans.

The price at all three Atlantic ports for "B" grade, wharf or tank delivery was $1.15 per barrel and for delivery by barge within harbor limits, $1.22; for "C" grade, wharf or tank delivery, $0.85, and for delivery by barge, $1.05. The New Orleans price for "B" grade barge delivery was $0.97, and "C" grade barge delivery $0.80, no prices being named for wharf or tank delivery. All prices become effective tomorrow.

The shipping board late in February invited bids for a total of 34,000 barrels of fuel oil for the year beginning March 1. Contracts let today are the first of these bids to be accepted. Additional contracts are to be let for Atlantic and Gulf coast delivery as well as large contracts for delivery on the Pacific coast, Panama and Honolulu.

Belgian Affairs Considered At Peace Conference

(Continued from Page One.) has made and you know well that England does not regret them. She is ready to make fresh ones if it becomes necessary to guarantee the peace and independence of France.

"I have seen the scourge of war twice loosed on France by Germany. We do not intend that there shall be a third time, and should it be fifty years hence, France again will find England by her side with all her wealth and power for, mark well my words, the wild beast must be mastered."

"It is mastered at present but if one day it raises its head ready to spring it will find itself again faced by France and England united in brotherhood."

No Misunderstanding. The interview was sought, says a Havas Agency summary of it, because of the rumor recently in circulation to the effect that Great Britain would oppose in the peace conference the French demands for guarantees.

Although discussions were necessary to settle the knotty problems frequently brought to the attention of the conference, Mr. Lloyd George is quoted as saying, the understanding between the two nations remained absolutely unimpaired.

We wish France to know that it is the will of the British people that France should have complete security for the future, the British Premier declared.

Even if it were fifty years hence, the Premier added, England would be ready at that time again to make sacrifices for the French if Germany should let loose the scourge of war on France for the third time.

FARMS FOR SALE

The best farms in Nansemond county are being sold at a sacrifice today, owing to the high cost of farming last year, the low price of peanuts this year and the scarcity of labor. These conditions have put many Nansemond county farms out of business.

Several of these beautiful farm homes have electric light and water. We were encouraged last year to grow a large crop of peanuts for ten cents, which we are now selling for four cents. Labor has gone to public works and all wages are very high.

There were four North Carolina men who raised tobacco in this county last year which they sold from 40c to 65c per pound. I was one of them. Now we want more farmers to grow tobacco and less peanuts.

Remember Nansemond county stands first in Virginia in agricultural products. It also has the best railway service and the richest banks in the United States.

I will be glad to furnish any information I can regarding land for sale. Send self addressed stamped envelope to Box 42-3, care Suffolk Herald, Suffolk, Virginia.

MOURNED AS DEAD. HE RETURNS FROM FRANCE

Private Charles Lane, of Winston-Salem, Among Those Aboard Huron

(Special to the News and Observer.) Winston-Salem, April 4.—David G. Lane today received a telegram from the head of the Red Cross at Washington stating that a wireless message had been received from the steamship Huron saying his son, Private Lane, of the 119th infantry, was aboard en route home. On October 10 last Mr. Lane was notified by the War Department that his son, Charles F. Lane, was killed in action on Sept. 5, 1918. Then last Monday he received a letter from the War Department asking for instructions as to whether to inter the body in Arlington, Washington, or send it to Winston-Salem. Blanks enclosed were turned over to a local undertaker and instructions are now in the hands of the War Department for sending the remains home. This morning's message threw the parents in a quandary. Its wording indicated that their boy was en route home alive. The head of the Red Cross in Washington has been asked for an interpretation of the telegram received today.

A cablegram was received today from Secretary A. M. Craig, of the local Y. M. C. A., stating that he was sailing from Archangel, Russia, for home. The message was dated April 3.

A year and a half ago Mr. Craig volunteered his services for Y. M. C. A. work in war and was sent direct to Russia, the trip being made via Japan.

NEWTON WILL OPPOSE BEALL IN GOLF FINALS

One of These Players To Win North and South Title For 1919 Season

Pinehurst, N. C., April 4.—F. C. Newton, of Brookline, and Edward C. Beall, of Uniontown, will meet in the 36-hole final contest for the North and South amateur championship title at Pinehurst tomorrow. The semi-final matches were played on the number two course. Newton played against Franklin H. Gates, of Moore county, won by 2 and 1, although down at the turn. Newton, who came home in 38, squared the match at the fourteenth, won the fifteenth in 3 and took the sixteenth in par 4 after driving into a trap. The match ended with the halving of the seventeenth.

Ned Beall came through to the final by defeating J. M. Wells, of the Kenilworth club by 4 and 3. Beall was out in 37 and 4 up at the turn.

Donald Parson, and Edward Styles survived in the consolidation section. Parson defeated F. S. Danforth by 2 and 1, and Styles had a surprisingly easy victory against C. G. Waldo, Jr., winning by 4 and 3 without playing better than the law allows. The best golf of the day was played in the second sixteen: E. L. Scofield beat C. L. Becker by 4 and 3 and Sidney Sharwood disposed of Capt. A. T. Roberts by 1 and 4. Scofield went out in 36 and in a 4, 3, 4 for a 72. Becker was out in 38. Sharwood had a 4, 3, 4 for a 72 in his match with Roberts. If Scofield and Sharwood had not managed to miss the first sixteen there might have been a different line-up for tomorrow's final.

The North Carolina contingent fares as follows: Championship sixteenth: Franklin H. Gates, Moore county, lost to F. C. Newton, Brookline, 2 and 1. Fourth sixteen: O. A. Savari, Oxford beat G. T. Dunalap, Casbrook, 5 and 4. Sixth sixteen: H. G. Waring, Moore county, lost to W. B. Fife, Indiana Hill, 4 and 3. Ninth sixteen: John Sprunt Hill, Durham, beat S. M. White, Foxhills, 2 and 1. G. W. Watts, Durham, beat E. S. Graves, Wannamosselt, 1 up.
