

OFFICERS ELECTED BY ENDEAVORERS

Young People's Convention Hears Inspiring Addresses at Burlington

Burlington, June 7.—The State Christian Endeavor Convention, which is meeting in Burlington, had a very instructive program of exercises today, closing with a meeting tonight in the Presbyterian church at Graham.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Rev. F. V. Knight, of Greensboro; vice-president, Mr. E. P. Barker, of Greensboro; secretary, Miss Eunice Long, of Greensboro; treasurer, Mr. W. P. Smith, of Graham.

The convention was opened at 9 o'clock this morning with devotional exercises, led by Rev. L. A. Peeler, of Newton. Mr. H. Gault Braxton, Kingston newspaper man, presided. A debate by some of the Endeavorers was very lively, the subject being, "Resolved, That the High School young people can be reached and trained better through an intermediate society than through the Y. P. S. C. E." The affirmative was represented by Mr. Alford Lindley, of Guilford College, and Mr. E. B. Peck, of Newton, and the negative by Miss Jennie Gallant, of Charlotte, and Mr. Paul Hawkins, of Greensboro. The audience awarded the decision to the negative.

Mr. Karl Lehmann made an inspiring address on Christian Endeavor work and was followed by Rev. H. S. Handcastle, of Elon College, who spoke on the "Christian Endeavor Quiet Hour," and Rev. C. W. Bates, of Greensboro, spoke on "Fighting."

Devotional exercises were conducted in the afternoon by Rev. Chas. G. Lynch, of Charlotte. Mr. H. Galt Braxton led a conference in Christian Endeavor social meetings and a conference on missionary work was led by Mr. Lehmann. During the afternoon, Mr. Lehmann also spoke on several other phases of Christian Endeavor work.

Reports of the State officers were made, the president's and the secretary's being especially interesting. The convention was photographed and the delegates were then taken for an automobile ride, after which they enjoyed an outing at the Graham Country Club. The meetings of the Junior Endeavorers are being held in the Methodist Protestant church. Rev. J. E. Pritchard, of Burlington, and Durward Stokes, also of Burlington, welcomed the visitors, and Mrs. McFarland, of High Point, spoke on the call of the church. In the afternoon Miss Nellie Hipp, of Charlotte, and Mrs. Howell, of Wilmington, made very instructive talks.

The Night Session. Following a picnic for all the delegates at six o'clock this afternoon, the Christian Endeavor meeting for the night was held at the Presbyterian church, of Graham. Rev. A. C. Carmichael, of Burlington, conducted the devotional exercises, and the Rev. Mr. Turner directed the musical program and sang a solo.

Mr. Karl Lehmann delivered an address on Christian Endeavor progress in North Carolina and in Dixie during the past year and the needs of Christian Endeavor for the next year.

Following this came the "Dixie Chart Parade" in which delegates held up for inspection charts of the various organizations showing the work of the year. Thereafter, the delegates pledged $1,022 for Christian Endeavor extension work during the next year.

Dr. Charles Meyers, of Greensboro, delivered the principal address of the evening on the subject of "The Christian Endeavor Mission." He spoke for 20 minutes or more on the qualifications of young people for Christian Endeavor work and suggested that the great need of young people is leadership and a perfect heart. At the afternoon session, Mrs. W. H. Howell, of Wilmington, was elected junior superintendent.

Paris, May 2.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—"I once saw the Countess of Paris," writes a woman in an evening paper, a day or so after the recent death of the Countess. "I was a little girl but I have never forgotten it. It was at the station, St. Germain-des-Près.

"Look at that lady," my father said, "she might have been Queen of France." "I looked and saw a lady wearing a widow's long veil and smoking an enormous cigar. On each side of her was a beautiful young girl, the Princess Isabel and Princess Louise of France, her daughters. The Countess strode along the platform, her long black veil floating behind her crepe bonnet and her cigar preceding her.

"I could not imagine that my father was joking because of the respectful way the crowd of passengers made way for her, but my illusions of what a queen might be suffered a permanent shock."

This little story explains why the courteous and courtly figure in chronicling the death of the Countess referred to her manners as "rude" and "vile."

18,000 Drinks on Truck. Anticipating an unprecedented rush for mild beverages this summer, a huge steel tank lined with glass enamel has appeared as a new form of motor-truck body. The tank's capacity is 650 gallons, which divides into 10,200 half-pint drinks. It is made in three sections, casketed and bolted together, and easily taken apart for cleaning. The silicate enamel used is seamless, impervious, and noncorroding, and is unaffected by expansion or contraction of the steel upon which it is fused. A manhole with enamel-lined cover is fitted with a 2-in. istake connection. The outlet cock, of the same size, at the rear may be packed. A 2½-ton truck chassis forms the mounting, from which the tank is readily removed.

REVIVE MOVE FOR INDUSTRIAL HOME

Plan To Provide Haven For Needy Blind Women Taken Up Again

WAR RESPONSIBLE FOR SUSPENDED PLAN

Sunday Schools Are Urged To Set Apart One Sunday's Collections Each Year for Benefit of Home Which Mr. J. F. Costner, of Raleigh, Is Promoting

The movement to build an industrial home for needy blind women is to be revived. It had gotten under pretty good headway in 1915, when the war pressure became such that it was thought best to suspend activities for the time.

Mr. J. F. Costner, of this city, himself a blind man, and a teacher in the School for the Blind, is treasurer of the fund, and he and Mrs. Costner have done much in getting the undertaking as far along as it is. Miss Florence Duncanson traveled for the fund a while and did fine work, but her health is such that she can hardly resume her activity in behalf of the undertaking.

Form Organization. In hand from contributions and association fees, some of the alumni of the blind school having formed an organization to promote the home and other objects of interest to the blind, is a fund of about twelve hundred dollars, and two ladies at Roseboro have offered to give the land for the home.

Various ways of raising money and they have come to the conclusion that the best plan is to urge the Sunday schools of the State to set aside one Sunday's contribution each year for the home. They have had this plan in mind for some time, and had a peculiarly discouraging experience in connection with it, but they are disposed to try it out again unless some friend of the movement has a better one to offer.

Few Responses. "Five hundred letters sent in 1915 to Sunday school superintendents in various parts of the State," said Mr. Costner, "brought only five answers. One of those who answered was Mrs. A. D. Ezzell, of Durham. She sent a letter the year the letters were sent out. She has sent one every year since, and increased it every year, sending ten dollars this year."

While the general response from the superintendents was discouraging, as stated, the response of Mrs. Ezzell was very gratifying, and that is the reason the friends of the movement are disposed to make another effort to get the superintendents interested.

Urges Schools to Act. Mr. Costner particularly urges that Sunday school superintendents who see this item take the matter up with their school right away and see if it is not agreed by all concerned that the work of the needy blind women of the State fully justifies the granting of the appeal to set aside one Sunday's contribution in every year for this purpose.

"So many persons," said Mr. Costner, "have the idea that the School for the Blind is a home. Of course, it is nothing of the sort. After the students leave there they have to make their way as best as they can. Many are badly handicapped in life, and some of them without friends and money, land in the poor house. There has long been a need for an industrial home for needy blind women."

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR MRS. W. B. ROYALL

Beloved Christian Woman Laid To Rest at Wake Forest; Many Attend

Wake Forest, June 7.—The funeral services of Mrs. W. B. Royall, who died last evening after only a short illness, were conducted at the home on Faculty avenue this afternoon at 6 o'clock. Dr. C. D. Graves conducted the services, while the music was directed by Dr. H. M. Poteat, assisted by Dr. W. L. Poteat, Prof. J. L. Lake and women of the town.

The services were simple, but impressive. Dr. Graves read the scriptures, led in prayer, and concluded the services with appropriate remarks. The high Christian character of Mrs. Royall demanded no eulogy, for she was loved and esteemed by all who came in contact with her life. The services were concluded at the grave with another scripture reading and two hymns.

The active pallbearers were: Messrs. J. G. Mills, A. J. Medlin, Jr., Roy Martin, R. L. Brewer, I. O. Jones and W. W. Holding. The honorary pallbearers were: Drs. W. L. Poteat, Benjamin Sledg, J. F. Lanneau, N. Y. Guiley, J. H. Gorrell, C. C. Pearson, G. A. Aiken, G. W. Paschal, H. M. Poteat, J. W. Nowell and T. D. Kitchin; Profs. F. K. Poole, J. L. Lake, I. E. Carlyle, E. W. Timberlake, H. A. Jones, E. E. Cochran, R. B. White and Messrs. E. B. Earnshaw and J. C. Caddell.

Mrs. Royall is survived by four sons, Messrs. William, John, Robert and James Royall, and two sisters, Mrs. J. A. Briggs, of Raleigh, and Mrs. Flynn, of Jacksonville, Fla., and a brother, Mr. Bruce Hall of Wilmington. Only two of the sons were present at the services. Robert and James Royall were in Silver City, New Mexico, and consequently could not reach Wake Forest in time for the funeral.

Numerous friends of the family attended the services, among the out-of-town people being: Dr. B. T. Vann, Mr. Livingston Johnson, Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Brewer, Mrs. W. R. Cullom, Dr. J. Rufus Huster, Mr. V. O. Parker and Miss Lula Briggs, all of Raleigh, and Dr. and Mrs. F. P. Hogood, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hancock and Mrs. B. S. Royales, of Oxford.

CITY COURT JUDGE GOES TO NEW YORK

Judge Harris Anxious To Get New Ideas On Running a Juvenile Court

Judge W. C. Harris will be missing from his usual place in the city court room this week. He is to study juvenile court methods in New York City.

Since the passage of the juvenile court act by the 1919 General Assembly, Judge Harris has been making the juvenile work a thing apart from the other matters in his jurisdiction. It is in the hope of improving his system that he is taking this trip. He stated last night that he might return by way of Norfolk, and that his one purpose was to get new ideas.

During his absence from the bench Mr. J. W. Bunn will be fine and road sentence dispenser at the municipal building.

MORE SALARY FOR RALEIGH POLICE

Mooneyham Gives Officers Pleasant Surprise; Now Wants More Men

When Raleigh policemen yesterday received their week's pay checks they found an increase in salary. According to Commissioner Mooneyham's announcement about two weeks ago, each officer except the chief gets a raise of $10 monthly. Captains now receive $110 monthly, while the patrolmen get $100 per month.

The increase in pay is the commissioner's first step toward improving the police department. His next move will be to increase the force by probably six or eight members, including another motorcycle policeman. The addition of more officers, however, will depend upon the status of the new city budget.

If Commissioner Mooneyham is able to increase his force, his reorganization plans call for a complete squad of traffic police. The traffic officers would be used for no other purpose than regulating the travel of automobiles and vehicles.

It is now planned to have at least six men for traffic work alone. These would include two motorcycle policemen and patrolmen for four of the most dangerous street crossings in the city. Mr. Mooneyham and Chief Harbour think it is necessary that an officer be stationed at Fayetteville-Martin, Martin-Salisbury, Fayetteville-Hargett and Martin-Wilmington intersections.

The proposed plans will depend on the money available during the administration of the new year.

INJUNCTION AGAINST AUTO TRADES COUNCIL

WILL AGITATE FOR CENTRAL HIGHWAY

Chamber of Commerce Asks Other Towns To Make Coordinated Effort

Active campaigning for the completion of a central "mountain-to-sea" highway will be started at once, was the point of a statement made yesterday afternoon by Mr. M. R. Beaman, secretary of the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber has written to mayors and Chambers of Commerce all along the proposed route, asking them to call a conference at some central point, preferably one of the towns on the highway.

Towns which Mr. Beaman thinks should be on the highway are Salisbury, Marion, High Point, Greensboro, Burlington, Durham and Raleigh.

"We would like to see the Asheville-Charlotte-Wilmington highway completed, but we do not believe it should be the main route from the mountains to the sea," said the secretary yesterday.

A committee of the local chamber, consisting of Mr. C. M. Miller, Mr. W. S. Falls, Mr. Gilbert Crabtree, Dr. Clarence Poe and Mr. J. M. Broughton, chairman, is in charge of the matter.
