Detachments of 306th Sanitary Train Reach Newport News On Amphion

Newport News, Va., June 16.—More "Wild Cats" returned today in the 306th Sanitary Train detachments which included the two ambulance companies of this unit. They arrived on the transport Amphion, which sailed from St. Nazaire, June 3. There were four officers and 272 men in the crowd. The ambulance men were in charge of Lieut. Col. Elmer F. Shaul of Scranton, Penn., who was commander of the Sanitary train during their service in France. They were with the 306th division during all their trying career in the Argonne and on other fronts.

Lawrence E. Biddle, of Raleigh, Lancelo Darden, of Fayetteville, Dillard Mitchell, of Durham, and Robert Swain, of Winston-Salem, were among the ambulance men from the Tar Heel State in the group. They told of the experiences of the unit over there, how they worked day and night to keep the organization in fighting shape and how they later carried them to the rear of the Hun had met them.

The ambulance men, a great many of whom were from North Carolina, reached camp in time to see the 323rd infantry broken up into detachments preparing for their departure from this port to demobilization camps.

A consignment of the Wild Cat Infantry together with a small number of the 11st division military police will leave here tomorrow for Camp Jackson. Others will go to Camp Bowie, Texas, while small groups of them will be scattered throughout the United States.

H. Stacy as chairman of the faculty in 1918. He held that position until the death of Prof. Stacy, when he became chairman of the faculty.

Dr. Chase has made a favorable impression upon the executive committee of the board of trustees, with which he has been in conference frequently since he has been chairman of the faculty. His appearance before the legislative committee in the General Assembly of 1919 likewise called forth favorable comment.

University Men Pleased. Chapel Hill, June 16.—The news received here from Raleigh tonight that Doctor H. M. Chase, was elected president of the State University, was received by the University community with a genuine feeling of satisfaction. The announcement was made public just at the close of the commencement debate and produced prolonged applause. As acting dean of the University Dr. Chase has gained favor and as acting president this spring he won the hearty approval and sympathy of the faculty and students.

HEELIN PRAISES WILSON'S RECORD

In Washington. The educational bill as fostered by Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia in the Senate and Representative Horace Turner in the House of Representatives, would establish a department of education with a cabinet member in charge. The measure is being actively championed by Dr. James Y. Joyner, of Raleigh, who has written a bulletin for distribution by the committee promoting the bill.

Dr. McDonnell urged the graduating class to combat "the inane, senseless desire for change, which has seized upon us, undermining sacred and accepted principles, shattering customs and precedents, tearing the ship of state from the firm, fast moorings fixed by the framers of the constitution, and setting it adrift upon an unknown sea."

"And now in the land we love to call the home of the free, we are no longer free, but fettered with shameful restrictions upon our personal liberties."

"Last of all, but by no means least of all, our freedom is still further threatened, and still greater power is proposed to be given to the central government by a bill in Congress, known as the Hoke Smith bill, by which the whole educational system of the country is to be placed under control of one autocratic overseer here in Washington."

A poplar was planted this afternoon in Georgetown University in memory of Esauq Edwin S. Pou, of Smithfield, son of Representative E. W. Pou. The fourth district congressman and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. R. Pou attended the ceremonies.

No Decrease in Prices.

J. W. Peeler, president of the Rock Hill bank, of Rowan county, N. C., writes the United States Department of Labor that "there is only one thing to do, and that is to get busy. The man who waits on lower prices will be a loser."

The testimonial of the Rowan county banker is made public by the Department of Labor to indicate the business conditions as reflected by statements from bankers and business men throughout the country. S. W. Straus, a well known financier of New York, writes "building costs will continue upward for the following reasons: Tendency towards better standards of living among the masses; constantly increasing scale of wages; shortage of unskilled labor; inflated credit conditions; present abnormal shortage of buildings; tremendous amount of necessary public construction work." The Department of Labor states that the change of feeling as to the course of prices is leading to a resumption of business activities.

Villa's Mexicans Fled Under Fire of the U. S. Troops

Villistas. Senator Fall read a telegram from R. M. Dudley, State Senator of El Paso, Texas, stating that the American movement was in aid of Carranza and placed in jeopardy every American in Mexico.

The New Mexico Senator declared that President Carranza was unable to protect Americans in Mexico and charged that news regarding Mexican affairs had been suppressed by the American press at the request of Secretary Lansing.

Statement by Secretary of War.

Washington, June 16.—American troops which crossed the Rio Grande under agreement with the Mexican government for the purpose of protecting life on the American side will be withdrawn as soon as the rebel hands near Juarez are dispersed but the United States will continue to maintain a watchful eye over the border.

Secretary Baker in a formal statement late today said the withdrawal of the American troops, which crossed the border last night under orders from Major Gen. Cabell, commander of the border forces, would be completed as soon as the menace to American life and property along the Rio Grande had been removed. Press dispatches said the withdrawal was under way this afternoon but the war department had no information to that effect communication with the border being greatly delayed.

Following the announcement by the secretary, the war department made public orders issued by Major General Menoher, director of air service directing that eighteen airplanes be sent from Ellington and Kelly fields, Texas, to El Paso immediately. The planes, it was said will be used along the border for observation purposes.

The director of air service also issued an order for the twelfth air squadron, which will arrive tomorrow at New York from France where its members saw considerable service at the front, to go direct to El Paso. Crews for the eighteen planes will be provided from the personnel of the Twelfth squadron.

No Misunderstanding.

Secretary Baker in announcing that American troops had crossed the border, said the operation was with the agreement of the Mexican government and there could be no misunderstanding between the two governments. The movement he said, was entirely in the interest of protection to life on the American side.

ducted to the reading room of the Hotel Reservoirs.

Here the party was grouped along one side of the room. In front of M. Dutasta was a large marble topped table, upon which the documents were placed in two piles. There was a considerable wait before Legation Secretary Simon and Baron von Loersner arrived, escorted by two French officers. The Germans took their place at the other side of the table.

At 6:49 o'clock Herr Simon informally reached across the table and took the documents and handed them to Baron von Loersner, this actually constituting the formal receipt of the treaty and the ultimatum. A receipt from the Germans for the documents was required by M. Dutasta.

After the brief conversation between M. Dutasta and Herr Simon, the Germans returned to their apartment in the hotel, Von Loersner carrying the documents under his arm in a green portfolio. Later Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau boarded a train for Weimar, taking the papers with him.

SENIOR CLASS HAS CLOSING FEATURE

University Graduates Smoke Peace Pipe Under Venerable Davie Poplar

By R. W. MADRY. Chapel Hill, June 16.—The closing exercises of the senior class were held under the Davie Poplar this afternoon. Seated around the venerable tree in a semi-circle, the seniors smoked the peace pipe and tied the lasting knots of friendship. The scene was a most impressive one.

The class history was narrated by E. S. Lindsey. J. L. Aycock furnished some interesting class statistics. H. G. West was responsible for making the last will and testament of 1919. The task of prophesying the class' future was undertaken by W. E. Price.

Deliver Camps to Juniors.

The delivery of the campus to the care of the juniors was another ceremony that stood out for its impressiveness. Following a short and appropriate speech by President Hodges of the seniors, to President J. P. Washburn, of the juniors, the latter marched into the circle of the seniors and lustily cheered the graduating class.

The annual commencement debate was held tonight in Gerrard Hall, followed by an anniversary meeting of the societies in their respective halls. Alumni of the societies took charge and many rounds of speech-making and applause ensued. Reminiscences were in abundance.

Class Breaks Precedent.

The class of 1919, with 40 members already on the Hill, plans to break a precedent with its first year reunion by having the largest number of its return of any class yet turned out by the University. The record is some over 50, it is understood, and 1919 expects to safely pass this mark by a good margin. In fact 70 or 80 are expected back before the finals come to a close. Headquarters have been established for the class at the Y. M. C. A. and they have already started their celebrating.

The class of 1909 is also well represented.

seated. J. W. Umsted, Oscar Coffin, O. C. Cox, Duncan McRae, C. B. Ruffin, Elmer Ottlinger, Jas. T. Johnson, are among the early arrivals. The members of this class are bringing their families and have reservations in special dormitories.

The annual commencement debate held here tonight was won by the Dialectic Literary Society, represented by S. H. Willis and R. B. Gwyn, who championed the affirmative. L. W. Jarman and T. S. Kittrell representing the Philanthropic Society supported the negative. John W. Umsted, an alumnus of Greensboro president. Forest Miles acted as secretary. The judges were Professors W. Del. Machider, Kent J. Brown and P. H. Winston.

Commencement Debate.

The question for debate tonight was: "Resolved, That in respect to immigration and citizenship the citizens of Japan and China should be accorded the same privileges as those of European nations," was the query discussed by the representatives of the two literary societies in the annual intellectual scrap.

The affirmative argued in substance that the existing conditions are discriminatory, that restriction means class exclusion and therefore is contrary to the best principles of the nation, and that the coming of the Orientals would be an economic advantage to the United States.

The negative insisted that the United States had a moral right to exclude these immigrants, citing the cases of other countries, that exclusion would be advantageous to both parties concerned, and finally that exclusion was a matter of self-preservation.
