

DOGS CHASE NEGRO WHO HAD SHOT MAN

Warren County Summer School For Teachers Closes; Plan For Celebration.

(Special to News and Observer.)
 Warrenton, July 12.—Excitement received another boost here yesterday afternoon when Chief of Police Bell and Deputy Sheriff Ellington received word from the Fosberg Lumber Company, of Hollister, eighteen miles below here, that one of their foremen had been shot by a colored laborer. The telephone line to Raleigh was made to jingle in a jiffy and the Nichols' bloodhounds immediately ordered here.
 The hounds reached here last night at 10 o'clock and Chief Bell, Deputy Sheriff Ellington and other Warrenton men left for the scene of the shooting. The run to Hollister was made in an hour, the dogs placed upon the trail, and after a three-mile chase the track ended at a colored man's house, where the fugitive had been known to frequent. It was impossible to obtain any information and the trial was ended because the negro secured a wagon here and thus left no clue. The country surrounding was covered in an effort to pick up the trail but the young darkey had evidently stuck to the wagon.
 The trouble, best information available discloses, was caused by the foreman's firing the negro and a resultant discussion over his time record. The young negro, Richardson by name, is said to be of bad character, having been implicated in two or more shooting affairs. The ball passed through the hip of the foreman but the wound is not serious.
 Over one hundred men were participants in the chase. The affair happened just over the line in Halifax county.

Will Have Celebration.

Warrenton's younger set held a delightful Gypsy tea at Amos Mill Thursday afternoon. The crowd motored out early, enjoyed a swim, then a delicious supper and returned by way of Henderson, where they witnessed a picture show.

July 29th is to be a gala day here. The boys who wore the gray are to celebrate with those of khaki and blue in Warren's Big Welcome Home to its soldiers and sailors. Every effort is to be made to develop several novel features of entertainment and a rally day of unusually large dimensions is being planned.

Aged Citizen Passes.

Mr. William Baskerville Jones, son of the late Sheriff Nathaniel Jones, of this county and a grandson of Hon. Robert Jones, once Attorney General of North Carolina, passed away here Friday morning at 5 o'clock in the sixty-second year of his life. Mr. Jones had spent practically his entire life in Warrenton. He was one of the landmarks of the town and his feeble health of the past six weeks has been regretted by many friends. The end was not unexpected. Interment was made this afternoon in Fairview cemetery.

Summer School Closes.

The Warren county summer school closed here Friday after four weeks of splendid work. The twenty odd teachers composing it were successful in their courses of study and the entire workings of the institute have been conducted in a most efficient manner.

In addition to Prof. J. Edward Allen, conductor, the faculty was composed of Mrs. D. P. Boyer, of Richmond, Va.; Miss Mary E. Young, of Henderson; Miss Annie Lee Rankin and Supt. Howard F. Jones.

The following resolutions were drawn by the members and faculty of the summer school and submitted for publication:

"Whereas, the Warren County Summer School was originated and obtained through the efforts of Supt. Howard F. Jones; therefore be it

"Resolved, that we, the members thereof, express our appreciation of his interest in us and our approval of his policies of expanding the usefulness of our schools."

The second resolution expresses grateful acknowledgment of the many things that have been done for pleasure, comfort and advancement of the teachers and especially to extend thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Jones for the enjoyable reception given in their home on Friday afternoon, and to the County Board of Education for the picnic dinner on July 4th.

CITY MOTORS MUST HAVE TAGS, HE SAYS

Lenoir County Sheriff Will Be No Respector of Persons, He Declares

Kinston, July 12.—Every motor, owned by the Municipal Water and Light, Street and Police Departments here theoretically is prevented from running by the sheriff's decision to "shut down the whole works." Not a single car or machine is tagged, according to Sheriff A. W. Taylor, while the city authorities are "making an awful fuss about private owners' negligence." Of course, in an emergency most of the machines may be operated until license tags are procured, but it has been decreed that of all vehicles the police chief's car shall not run. The county officials are waiting to pinch any person found driving it. An exception has been made in the case of fire apparatus.

Distiller Practised Hygiene.

High hygiene prevailed at a moonshine still three miles from Dover, raided by Federal and railroad officers. More than 1,000 gallons of mixed ingredients for the manufacture of alcoholic products of better quality than the average in this section were carefully covered with sacks. No flies could get to the liquids awaiting distillation. A clean, dry, sandy place had been chosen by the conscientious moonshiners for the plant. There wasn't anybody home. One of the shiners had let his coat and shoes on the premises. The coat contained nothing to identify the owner. The still was of 100-gallon capacity. There was to have been a lot of apple brandy.

Palmetto Tobacco Market Open.
 Tobacco markets in South Carolina will be opened July 15, a month before the usual opening date here. Eastern North Carolina tobaccoists and planters will watch the first sales there interestedly, since Palmetto opening results may be something of an indication of what may be expected in the local belt.

Picnic in Lenoir County.

A community picnic on a big scale was held at Pine Forest, Lenoir county, today. Hundreds of farmers and their families took the day off. Rev. Bernard P. Smith, of Kinston, made an address. Bureau of Health workers spoke to the picnicers on prevention of typhoid and other diseases.

MAKES ILLICIT STILL OUT OF TWO WASH TUBS

Two ordinary, galvanized wash tubs, moulded together in the shape of one large kettle, were converted into a good illicit still by some unknown blockader in the Shotwell section of the county. It was found yesterday by officers about 32 miles from Raleigh. It was in the furnace and showed signs of having been operated the night before.

Small Tobacco Report.

Major W. A. Graham's leaf tobacco report this month doesn't amount to much, as the only report made to him as Commissioner of Agriculture came from Winston-Salem, where 546 pounds first hand were cared for.

The number of pounds handled in June, 1918, one year ago, was 1,317. The shortage of ice doesn't affect the reamatory, but it's quite different with the ice cream-story.

PRISONERS SOON BROUGHT TO JAIL

Cumberland Men Escape From County Bastille But Deputy Soon Finds Them

Fayetteville, July 12.—Will Sikes and Homer Wall, white prisoners, charged with the robbery of a store in Cedar Creek township, had one brief hour of liberty when they escaped from the Cumberland county jail late yesterday, before Al Pate, veteran deputy sheriff and nemesis of Cumberland criminals, brought them back in front of an automatic pistol.

Deputy Pate, who is also the county's jailer, was absent from the jail when Sikes and Wall escaped. When he returned he at once summoned Sheriff McCashey. The sheriff proceeded in the direction of Massey Hill, where it was thought likely the men would go, while Pate followed the railroad until he reached the tracks in the vicinity of the Fayetteville Ice and Manufacturing Company's plant. By this time it was dark. The deputy approached an employe of the ice plant and asked if he had seen two strange men. The employe's reply was a nudge in the office's side. Pate then saw the retreating figures of the fugitives, revealed by the glow of an arc light, a hundred feet away. It was then that the deputy's Colt, which once stood a mob at bay, came into play, and the prisoners went up.

They were marched back to jail, and are still awaiting trial for the burglary of Daniel Carter's store in Cedar Creek, which was robbed in the early morning of July 8. The negroes held an accomplice in the burglary refused to go to jail and Sikes, in their break for freedom.

The Westinghouse generator to be used in generating the electric power for the street railway line of the Cumberland Railway and Power Company has been received by the company's representative here. The big generator will be stored for the present in a building near the A. C. L. station until the line is ready for operation. The first street car for use on the new street railway was received some time ago, and has been placed on the track.

Capized Steamer.

Key West, Fla., July 12.—A capized wooden steamer, 250 feet long, was sighted 25 miles west of here today and towed in by naval vessels. No name was visible and the identity of the ship remained a mystery tonight. It appeared to be a new vessel.

MRS. ANNIE D. HEARTY DIES AT HOME HERE

Widow of Late Major Heartt Succumbs To Stroke Paralysis

Mrs. Annie Dewey Heartt, widow of the late Major Leo D. Heartt, died at her home on Wilmington street last night shortly after 11 o'clock. The immediate cause of death was paralysis, following several years' suffering from Bright's disease.

Mrs. Heartt was 69 years old. She was married in 1860 to Major Heartt, who, at the time of his death, was clerk of the United States Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina. Prior to the residence of the family here she lived in Durham, and there, as in Raleigh, took an active interest in church and civic work. For the last few years she has been a constant invalid and the patience and forbearance with which she endured her sufferings was regarded as remarkable by those who knew her intimately. She was a life-long member of the Presbyterian church, and served as president of the United Daughters of Confederacy in both Raleigh and Durham. The veterans never had a better friend. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. E. H. Claypool, of New Bern; three daughters, Mrs. C. Felix Harvey, of Kinston; Mrs. Victor S. Bryant, of Durham; and Mrs. Joseph Graham, of Raleigh. Two of her daughters, Mrs. Bryant and Mrs. Graham, have been at her bedside constantly for several days. Her other daughter, Mrs. Harvey, is on a trip to the Pacific coast. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.
