

WILL TEST PANAMA CANAL AS ASSET

Strategic Movement of Pacific Fleet Which Sails July Nineteenth

Washington, July 14.—The newly organized Pacific fleet will sail from Hampton Roads July 19, instead of July 22 as previously arranged, it was decided late today at a conference between Secretary Daniels and Admiral Hugh Rodman, commander of the fleet. The date of the fleet's arrival at San Diego, Cal., was fixed at August 7 or 8. Passage of the fleet through the Panama Canal will furnish the first great test of that artery as a strategic asset in connection with the operation of the nation's naval forces. It was announced that every effort would be made to put the fleet through the locks on exactly the same basis that would be used in time of war. A stop of a day or two in Gatun Lake will be made, however, to give the crews of the ships an opportunity to see the canal.

Two squadrons of 54 destroyers will lead the fleet out of Hampton Roads. They will steam in the form of a triangle with the main body of the fleet (made the triangle). The run to the Atlantic entrance of the Panama Canal is expected to take six days.

About 100 ships will make the cruise, the slower auxiliary vessels have been ordered to proceed to the west coast independently and arrive as already en route. Several of the older battleships also have been ordered to precede the main squadron so as to go into navy yards for repairs.

The fleet will remain at San Diego about three days and then proceed to San Pedro for a stay of four or five days before going to San Francisco, August 18. Tentative plans call for the review of the fleet by President Wilson who is to go aboard the flagship New Mexico with Secretary Daniels, outside the Golden Gate and enter the harbor with the Armada.

From San Francisco the fleet will proceed to Puget Sound and anchor at the Bremerton Navy Yard. The New Mexico, with Secretary Daniels and his official party aboard, and one other dreadnaught escorted by two divisions of destroyers, will then go to the Hawaiian Islands where Mr. Daniels will inspect the naval school establishment and participate in the opening of the immense new naval dock at Pearl Harbor. The secretary will return to Puget Sound and make the journey back to Washington by train.

Coincident with the arrival of the fleet, the Navy Department will launch a recruiting drive on the Pacific coast. Recruits will be allowed to enlist on any ship they choose.

Admiral Rodman said tonight his force would devote every effort to defeating the American fleet in the competitive war games and target practices planned for next winter. Admiral Rodman and Admiral Henry B. Wilson, commander of the Atlantic fleet were classmates at Annapolis and grew up in the service together, have been life long friends and competitors and as they develop their fleets an interesting rivalry is expected by naval officers.

Dry Law Enforcement Advocates Knock Out Strong Beer Element

Mr. Longworth frankly told the House that if it got by he would move to strike out the whole war-time title, so like a man who wanted to save himself a second job, the House defeated it.

Two minor amendments ran the blockade, one being passed on a record vote when the forces split to such an extent that Chairman Volstead, of the Judiciary Committee, leader of the prohibition fight, was counted with leaders of the minority. This was an amendment by Representative Benson, Democrat, of Maryland, to change the word "liquors" to "beverages." It seemed a small matter, some members said, but they contended that it would permit the sale of flavoring extracts, hair tonics and the like, against which a fight had been made in committee because of the reported tendency of some folk to drink them. The vote was 86 to 78 and anti-prohibition forces said tonight they doubted if the factions would be that close together again. The other amendment made a slight change in the bill's wording.

There were many references to President Wilson during the debate, and several speakers read that section of the message recommending repeal of the wartime law so far as it relates to the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer.

Open Wilson Will Veto It.
In lifting his voice for two and three-quarters per cent beer, Representative Rainey, Democrat, of Illinois, declared these were uncertain times, that the people were in peculiar frame of mind and that poverty was causing more misery than alcohol. He brought a volley of applause from the "wets" when he expressed the hope that the President would veto the enforcement bill because of its drastic provisions.

attacked by external aggression, and does not apply to revolution within a nation. A nation's internal affairs are left undisturbed. Nationality with its vital stimulating patriotism, would be preserved, given new life and opportunity.

"Thoughtful persons recognize the independence of giving such a guarantee now, at least for a limited period, if the peace of the world is to be maintained. The autocratic governments that controlled Russia, Germany, Austria and Turkey, have been overthrown but as yet no real, stable governments established. Some of the new States created out of this immense territory, without the guarantee of the league, would be overthrown and would return to the domination of their former oppressors.

"Hon. Elihu Root recognized the great immediate need of this article and recommended its acceptance with an amendment providing that any member could after expiration of five years, from the signing of the covenant, terminate its obligation under the article. But under this covenant the United States by giving notice of withdrawal from the league, can limit her obligations to a time not far to exceed two years. If this treaty is ratified, the United States can fully perform her obligations to her allies, discharge her duties to the new nations she has aided in creating, and then honorably retire.

Receive Like Guarantee.
"It should be noted that when in this article we guarantee the territorial integrity of all members of the League we receive at the same time from all of them a like guarantee of our territorial possessions. The Philippine Islands have occasioned us great apprehension. In order to safeguard these islands it will be necessary for us in the present disturbed condition of the world to construct the largest navy afloat and have an army equal to that of any nation. Shall we embark upon this great military expense or accept the League and with it the honorable pledges that
