JAPANESE WORKERS

Tokio, June 10 .- Correspondence of The Associated Press.)-The increasing tendency of the Japanese workers to assert their rights and to interest themselves in socialism is causing leading Japanese to study the means of meeting this labor problem. It is pointed out that strikes are increasing and that as Japanese labor has no organized voice, the strikers are liable to lead to dangerous violence, as in the case of. the rice riots last year.

The Herald of Asia says that there is considerable element affected by socialist theories, but that owing to the evere repression imposed by the auhow far socialism has spread. The journal adds: "That the bacteria exists here, there is no doubt. It is kopt under so far, but it only smoulders, ready to break out on occasion. If socialism cannot legitimately raise its an opportunity to qualify. Brookes and Patterson wen the English doubles and the result is Bolshevsm and anchampionship.

The journal recommends immediate and effective improvement of labor conditions in line with the suggestions of the League of Nations, political and educational reform, the elimination of bureaucratic methods and a true restoration of the ideal of democracy.

ASSERTING RIGHTS Gulf Stream Is Home of The Finny Tribe of Semi-Tropical Seas

Washington, July 16,-"How many fishermen realize that there are found in the Atlantic ocean offshore between Miami and Key West nearly 600 varieties of fish- an amazing total, which constitutes one-fifth of the entire fauna of the American continent north of Panama?" asks John Oliver La Gorce, in a communication to the National Geographic Society, which is quoted, in part, in the following bulletin:

"What the rolling prairie of the far west was to the buffalo in the olden days, when it roamed in countless thousands to and fro in search of pew pastures and salt, the ever-rolling gulf stream-that mighty warm river which parallels the east coast of Florida-is to the fish legions of our semi-tropical

"To even sketch the possibilities et sport fishing along the far-flung coral reef off Miami, the southernmost city of the Florida mainland and the fourth in size within the borders of the state, one must discount the old question, Are all fishermen intentionally disingenuous or do only liars fish?' For the facts concerning the variety, gameness, weight and diversified color of the citi-zens of the deep abounding in these waters require a high rating as to the personal veracity and the courage to prove that ancient proverb about truth being stranger than fiction.

"The fresh-water fisherman, armed with light tackle, matches his wits against the quickness of the black bass, the brilliant generalship of the brook trout or the fierce charge of the muskellunge, in his mland streams and lakes may not consider it superior sport to 'wet his line' in salt water along the north Atlantic coast for not many of the fish in cold seas are considered foemen worthy of his steel.

"Yet a different story can be told of their warm sea brethren, and he needs only to hunt out, for example, the fearless tarpon, the dashing sailfish or the powerful and valiant bonefish, not to mention a score of other finished fighters of the gulf stream, to realize that he is called upon to extend his every faculty and skill bring such game alongisde as trophies of his prowess.

"It would be interesting to have a motion-picture record of the thoughts which flash through the mind of even an experienced inland fisherman the first time he feels the tigerlike swoop of a five-foot barracuda, the yank of a hundred-pound amber-jack, or the sullen surge of a big grouper on his line, for even when armed with the heaviest rod, a reel as big in comparison as the cylinder of an automobile engine, and a line which approaches a hawser in thickness, he is pretty sure to wish, at least sub-consciously, that his equipment was twice as formidable and his arm thrice as strong.
"What, indeed, must his sensation be the first time, when, looking overboard at his baited hook thirty feet below in the clear waters of the gulf stream, he sees, as plainly as if in a mirror, the approach and attack of a giant jewfish, which is just as likely to weight 500 pounds as fifty, for it Eentertain Returned Soldiers sometimes grows as big as a pony along the Florida coral reef, and is just about a. strong."
