

RAILWAY SHOPMEN HERE JOIN NATIONAL STRIKE

Between Four and Five Hundred Seaboard and Norfolk Southern Men Quit Work

VOTE TO STRIKE TAKEN YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

Hundred Per Cent Movement On Part of Allied Craftsmen of Two Shops Here; Demand Increase in Wage Scale Petitioned For Seven Months Ago; May Tie Up Traffic

All the allied craftsmen of the Seaboard Air Line and Norfolk Southern Railway shops here numbering between four and five hundred men, struck here this afternoon at 6 o'clock in accordance with a resolution adopted at an Atlanta convention held July 15-17. The Raleigh shopmen were not represented at the convention and did not vote to strike until action had been taken by other Southern points participating in that convention.

Last night, only the foremen were on duty at the local shops. While the immediate effect of the strike on traffic will not be appreciable, labor men here anticipate that within four days embargoes will be placed on freight and traffic will be almost at a standstill. They anticipate that a settlement of the difficulty by the granting of their demands for increased wages will be forthcoming within three or four days.

The strikers yesterday afternoon came out of their meeting quietly and stood about the entrance for a bit and then dispersed. There was no disorder then or last night and none is expected. The headquarters will be in Union Hall over Wake County Drug Store and meetings will be held there each morning at ten o'clock.

O. R. Teague, General Superintendent of this division of the Seaboard, was not in the city last night, but it was stated from Seaboard offices that for the present at least the Seaboard trains would operate on schedule. J. S. Cox, Division Superintendent of the Norfolk Southern, anticipated no tie up within thirty days.

Request for an injunction from the Superior Court to prevent J. R. Asken, of Pitt county, from going upon plaintiff's land in Halifax county, was filed yesterday by Chief Justice Walter Clark, of the North Carolina Supreme Court.

The case is the result of a contract made by Judge Clark 12 years ago, with a gentleman in Halifax county, for the cutting of timber on Judge Clark's farms there, comprising 1,400 acres in Palmira township.

Mr. Asken bought the rights to the contract. One clause of the contract stated that it could be renewed at time of expiration, July 17, 1919, on certain terms. The time came, and Judge Clark received, he says in his complaint, no request for renewal. He therefore wrote Mr. Asken, informing him that the contract had expired.

The defendant, still according to the complaint, then sent application for renewal, which was refused. Mr. Asken then announced that he would go on the land any way. It is to prevent him doing so and cutting valuable timber that Judge Clark wants the injunction. The property is to be sold later this month, and Judge Clark desires to have it unencumbered at that time.

The Raleigh Real Estate and Trust Company yesterday started suit against W. F. Horner for collection of a note.

Any man would breathe a sigh of relief if he could only borrow enough to pay his debts.

CHAMBER DINNER PLANS ANNOUNCED

Committees Are Chosen From Chamber and Women's Club To Meet Mr. Marshall

OFFICE FORCE SWAMPED WITH MANY ACCEPTANCES

Directorate Establishes First-Come-First-Served Rule; Prospect of Capacity Crowd at Auditorium on Monday Night; Kirkpatrick Speaks To Bankers

Raleigh's reception committee of men and ladies who will formally greet Vice President and Mrs. Thomas A. Marshall upon their arrival here Monday evening to attend as guests of honor the big "Know-Your-Neighbor" dinner, were announced last evening respectively by President A. L. Baker of the Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. J. Bryan Grimes, vice president of the Woman's Club.

Following are the members of the committee selected to assist President Baker in receiving Vice President Marshall: William J. Andrews, J. W. Bailey, C. B. Barbee, J. C. Biggs, Joseph G. Brown, J. M. Broughton, Alebr Cox, E. B. Crow, W. B. Drake, E. C. Duncan, J. Bryan Grimes, D. H. Hill, J. I. Johnson, J. Y. Joyner, Fred Mahler, J. E. O'Donnell, C. B. Park, John Park, Clarence Poe, J. H. Pou, W. C. Riddick, W. H. Sawyer, Charles Lee Smith, Howard White, and R. W. Winston.

The reception committee which will extend the welcome of Raleigh's ladies to Mrs. Marshall was named by Mrs. Grimes as follows: Mrs. A. L. Baker, Mrs. Robert Bridges, Mrs. R. D. W. Connor, Miss Elsie Hayward and Mrs. J. E. O'Donnell.

Announcement yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce that Vice President Marshall had accepted Raleigh's invitation to speak at the "know-your-neighbor" dinner got about town mightily soon after Mr. W. H. Sawyer returned from Washington with the Vice President's acceptance. Mr. Sawyer had been delegated by the Chamber of Commerce to invite Mr. Marshall on behalf of the directors.

Word was received yesterday from Mr. Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the War Trade Board, that he was presented from coming to Raleigh. He had been asked along with Mr. Marshall. Mr. McCormick, however, in wiring his regrets to President Baker "wished for the Chamber of Commerce the utmost success in its efforts to develop the better relationship between the business men of the city and the business men of the farms."

The news of the Vice President's coming set the telephones of the Chamber of Commerce offices jingling all day with belated requests for reservations; each mail brought its bundle of acceptance and the clerical force at the offices was busy most of the day filling requests by many who called in person. The announcement that Mrs. Marshall was going to be a guest also, her first visit to Raleigh by the way, doubled the demand for places at the big banquet board of the City Auditorium—and it is safe to say that mighty few Raleigh husbands are going alone to the dinner Monday night—that is unless the wife has gone to the country or something.

The chief problem confronting the chamber's officials therefore is the question of taking care of those who want reservations. The capacity of the big hall is necessarily limited and the only solution that offers is to establish a "first-come-first-served" ruling. In order therefore to take care of the last minute rush which is anticipated today, the clerical force at the chamber will devote its entire attention today to handling reservations by mail, phone or personal call.

Details for the big dinner, including decorations, program, and so on, will be worked out today, as the chamber is planning to make this a gala affair of its kind in North Carolina's history.

The "get acquainted with your neighbor" spirit and message that is behind the Chamber of Commerce campaign and which will be more thoroughly demonstrated than ever before at Monday's dinner, was delivered to the assembled bankers of the city yesterday afternoon by C. C. Kirkpatrick at a meeting of the Raleigh Clearing House Association.

Mr. Kirkpatrick's talk was directed along the lines of better business relationship, co-operation on a more friendly and practical basis with the farmers of the community, in order to help solve the financial difficulties in boosting greater production on the farms.

That Raleigh's growth in an industrial, commercial and even civic way depends to a large degree on the development of the agricultural districts, the trade territory of Raleigh, in conclusion Mr. Kirkpatrick emphasized the importance of training and directing the young men of the community into proper channels of community endeavor. The establishing of a Junior Chamber of Commerce or division of the elder body to work with it along co-operative lines, was suggested.

The business men of the city are planning a visit this afternoon to Garner where the "know-your-neighbor" message will be imparted. Following this there will be a ball game.

Gets Thirty Days More. Captured after a third break from a convict camp for liberty, James Bullock, negro, was yesterday sentenced to 30 days additional on the county roads by Justice J. E. Owens. Bullock escaped from Camp No. 1, and was captured at Durham. His original sentence was four months for larceny.

NEW COTTON MILLS SECURE CHARTERS

Aggregate Capital Stock of Eight New Concerns Is More Than Three Millions

IMPOSING EVIDENCE OF STATE PROSPERITY

Three Textile Plants Are Chartered With $800,000 Capital Each; One Has Paid In Capital of $500,000; Goldsboro Gets Fayetteville Concern With Large Capital

New corporations aggregating more than three millions of capital stock chartered by the Secretary of State yesterday included three cotton mills, a bank, a motor sales company, a fertilizer factory, and a cafe. The three cotton mills are located, two at Belmont and one at Laurinburg.

Incidentally, yesterday's batch of corporations presented the most imposing testimonial of North Carolina business prosperity given during any one day of the year. The textile plants, two of them spinning mills, are capitalized at $800,000. One concern, the Seminole Phosphate Company, of Fayetteville, moved its offices to Goldsboro and increased the capital from half a million to a million.

Cotton Mill Prosperity. Since the first of the year, the cotton mill industry has had the biggest jump of any similar period during the last half dozen years, if the records of the Secretary of State's office is any indication.

The charters filed yesterday for corporations aggregating $3,285,000 undivided capital on $39,500 subscribers follows:

People's Exchange Bank, of Belmont, with $50,000 authorized capital and $5,000 subscribed. The incorporators are R. B. Suggs, D. P. Stowe and George W. Stowe, all of Belmont.

Crescent Spinning Company, of Belmont, with $800,000 authorized capital and $5,000 subscribed. The incorporators are A. C. Lineberger, R. L. Stowe and George W. Stowe, all of Belmont.

Sterling Spinning Company, of Belmont, with $800,000 authorized capital and $60,000 subscribed. The incorporators are R. L. Stowe, S. P. Stowe and A. C. Lineberger, all of Belmont.

Motor Sales and Service Company, of Salisbury, with $50,000 authorized capital and $15,000 subscribed. The incorporators are J. F. Somers, W. H. Hobson and J. E. Haynes, all of Salisbury.

Green's Cafe, of Asheville, with $5,000 authorized capital and $1,500 subscribed. The incorporators are E. C. Green, Burgin Pennell and Billy Borne, all of Asheville.

Half Million Subscriber. Prince Cotton Mill Company, of Laurinburg, with $800,000 authorized capital and $500,000 subscribed. The incorporators are A. L. James, John F. McNair and James L. McNair, all of Laurinburg.

Cape Fear Fish Fertilizer Company, of Southport, with $250,000 authorized capital and $3,000 subscribed. The incorporators are C. L. Cotton, of Southport; B. J. Coleburn, Camp Glenn, L. E. Coleburn, of Morehead City.

Amendment was filed to the charter of the Seminole Phosphate Company, of Fayetteville, changing the principal office of the concern to Goldsboro and increasing the capital stock from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

Amendment was filed to the charter of the Spray Cotton Mills, of Spray, enlarging the powers of the corporation.

GINNERS TO CHARGE TWENTIETH PART

Ginners of Wake and Franklin counties, in a meeting here yesterday, resolved to make a charge of one-twentieth part of the cotton, or the equivalent in money, for ginning this season. At the present price of the staple, this is an increase in last year's ginning charges—as fixed by the Food Administrator—of more than one hundred per cent.

The ginners also decided yesterday to wrap the cotton with bagging and ties, this being the same custom that prevailed before the war and was changed temporarily by the Food Administrator.

Secretary E. T. Beddingfield estimates that there are between 300 and 250 gins operated in the two counties and an invitation has been extended to each ginner to meet with the bi-county association in Raleigh, at the courthouse, August 22, at noon. G. W. Williams is chairman of the association.

SEX PICTURES NOT TO BE SHOWN HERE

That is, Health Officials Won't Approve Exhibition Before Mixed Audiences

STORM OF PROTEST ON "FIT TO FIGHT"

Public Health Service Withdraws Endorsement Given When Picture Was Released To Commercial Show Houses; Action of Executive Committee

Motion pictures relating to venereal diseases and dealing with sex questions will not be shown to mixed houses in North Carolina and other Southern States with the approval of the United States Public Health Service. This was assured at a meeting of the executive committee of the State Health Officers Association in Chicago last week, of which Dr. W. S. Rankin, health officer for this State, is a member.

Consideration of this question came up in connection with the withdrawal of the approval of the United States Public Health Service given sometime ago to the picture, "Fit to Fight," carrying authority to commercial companies to show the picture to audiences of men and women at the same time. When this picture was being exhibited by movie operators, endorsed by the Public Health Service, thousands of protests went to the chief of the service and to the Association of Health Officers, notably from the Catholics of the United States.

While the health officials have great confidence in the merits and purposes of the picture, as well as other pictures of like character, they do not approve of its exhibition before mixed audiences. This has been done lately, since the government released the picture to private concerns, and the avalanche of protests moved the Public Health Service to withdraw its approbation of the picture and to go on record as opposed to showing the picture before audiences of men and women.

For Co-ordination Health Work. The executive committee meeting, from which Dr. Rankin has just returned, also took further steps to co-ordinate and enlarge the health activities of the Federal government. This action is the outgrowth of suggestions contained in the annual address of Dr. Rankin, the retiring president, to the State Health Officers' Association at its recent meeting in Atlantic City and looks to centralization of all health work in the United States. At present, the health work of the country is distributed between the Departments of the Treasury, the Interior, Commerce, Labor and Agriculture, and without co-ordination more overlapping is foreshadowed in pending legislation. A definite program looking to this end will be perfected at the next meeting of the executive committee which will probably be held at the October meeting of the American Public Health Association.

The committee also considered, during the Chicago meeting, a proposal from the American Red Cross which contemplates the peace program of this organization. The Red Cross has adopted public health work as its effort, now that peace has been assured, and the health officials will, within the next month, have mapped out a definite plan for dovetailing the work of the Red Cross with that of the various health agencies, including the American and the Southern Public Health Association and the American Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis. Efforts of the committee, shaped after the suggestions of Dr. Rankin, look also to the aid of the labor organizations and the grange.

Members of Committee. In addition to Dr. Rankin, the members of the executive committee, consist of the health officers of Massachusetts, New York, Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, Kansas, Kentucky, Virginia, North and South Carolina and Montana.

TYPHOID CAUSES DEATH WAKE ROAD SUPERVISOR

Raleigh's first typhoid fever fatality this year came with the death yesterday at Rex Hospital of Mr. Sidney L. Lee, road supervisor from Wake County. Since Mr. Lee was brought into the city from outside, the case cannot really be counted against Raleigh's clean typhoid record, though of course it will be counted in the county. Mr. Lee's home was here in the city, at 511 New Bern Avenue. He was 46 years old. The remains will be taken to Cary for interment.

GO TO CHURCH

THE SABBATH DAY

There is one community in South Carolina, so it is said, that has such reverence for the Lord's Day that they won't say "Billy Sunday." They call him "William Sabbath."

If we had more reverence for the Lord's day we would have a greater store of Spiritual energy to run us through the next six days.

The man who uses the Sabbath to sleep, to loaf around the house, to read secular papers and magazines, to joy ride, is impoverishing his soul.

Such a man some day will awaken to the fact that he has no longer an interest in Spiritual things.

That he has lost love for God and man, that there is no real sympathy for those about him.

Go to church, hear God's word, get the cob webs of earth brushed from your brain, and give yourself to Spiritual thoughts.

You will be surprised to find that you will return to your business Monday morning with a firm tread, a clear eye, a sure purpose.
