

WORMS FOLLOW PATH OF FLOOD

Devastating Crop in Eastern North Carolina According To Reports

SOY BEANS PRINCIPAL CROP INVOLVED NOW

Clovers, Peas, Vetch, Alfalfa and Various Other Crops Are Threatened; Cowpeas, Peanuts and Velvet Beans May Also Be Attacked; Sherman Offers Remedy For Evil

Complaints are now pouring into the offices of the State Department of Agriculture and the Extension Service about an insect known as the Green Clover Worm, which is now epidemic in Eastern North Carolina and other States, and is rapidly destroying large acreages of soy beans in the eastern half of the State. The complaints were first made known to Hon. B. F. Latham, member of the Board of Agriculture in Eastern North Carolina, who promptly secured the services of Mr. K. W. Leiby and drove over the entire soy bean section adjacent to Belhaven.

Observations made then and experiments now under way show that the worm can be controlled by persons sprayed or dusted on the affected plants.

Attacking Soy-beans. The worm is rapidly destroying large areas of soy beans. Many farmers have already lost thousands of bushels on account of its attacks and some a lot that they will not get their seed from the area over which the worms have appeared.

According to Mr. Franklin Sherman, Chief of Division of Entomology of the Agricultural Extension Service, the worm is now attacking only soy beans, but it is known to feed on other legumes, including clovers, beans, peas, vetch, alfalfa and various weeds. It is feared that this worm may later attack cow peas, peanuts and velvet beans.

Sherman's Suggestions.

Therefore, Mr. Sherman offers the following suggestions for immediate practices: "1. Spray with powdered arsenate of lead (or cal-arsenate) 2 pounds to 20 gallons water, or, if paste arsenate is used, 4 lbs. to 50 gals. "2. Dust with powdered arsenate of lead (or cal-arsenate) 1 pound to 8 lbs. dust lime or land plaster. Dust enough to whiten. Can use it stronger (equal parts arsenate with lime or plaster) or even pure arsenate alone—the stronger it is used the less should be applied. If pure, barely enough to be seen. Regardless of the dilution with lime plaster, at least two pounds of the poison should be applied per acre.

Act Quickly.

"Spraying may be with compressed air, knapsack, or field potato sprayer. Dusting may be with sack, or pole with two bags carried horseback, or dust-gun. The main point is to get the poison on, quickly—perhaps even waving broadcast by hand in a breeze.

"If arsenate is not to be used, Paris green may be used, but carefully, sparingly, and with some risk of burning the leaves: "Spray—At rate of 2 pounds Paris green to 100 gals. water. "Dust—1 pound Paris green to 20 pounds dust lime or land plaster.

"Working in the Taps. "The worms are working chiefly in the tops—hence aim at this—enough will get on lower leaves to kill many worms. Watch, and if they later attack other parts or other crops, modify operations accordingly. "The use of poisons can not injure the beans which are produced. Advice will be made public later a. to use of the poisoned plants for forage. In case poisons can not be used and the injury is serious, cut the crop for hay at once, or pasture it to hogs or cattle."

LOVE MILL GRINDS AT REGISTER DEEDS OFFICE

Five Couples Married Last Three Days by Cupid Penny and Deputy Cupid Medlin

To say the least, the past few days have been busy ones at the office of the county cupid, Register of Deeds William H. Penny, and his co-conspirator, M. H. Medlin, chief deputy. Each of the gentlemen is a justice of the peace, and in the past three days they have performed five marriage ceremonies, in addition to the issuance of 11 marriage licenses.

Two couples were married Saturday, two Sunday, and two yesterday. The start of the series was the marriage of Mr. Fred Oakley and Miss Geneta Holt on Saturday afternoon, by Mr. Penny. Mr. Medlin took the next couple under his wing, and pronounced Miss Janie E. Houser of this city Mrs. Raymond P. Melvin, of Elizabethtown.

Mr. Penny returned to the job of officiating officer on Sunday, when he married Dexter D. Pennac, of Garris, to Mrs. Mabel M. Buck, of McCollers, route one, and Mr. Leslie L. Moore to Miss Ailene Roberts, both parties being from Kingston.

The last of the five was the marriage by Mr. Medlin, of Mr. Leslie L. Davis, of Wilson, and Miss Irene E. Lee, of Raleigh, yesterday afternoon.

COMMUNITY CLUB BECOMING POPULAR

Young Men and Young Women Are Interested in Establishment

The Community Club is becoming more and more popular with the young men and women in the city. To the soldiers and sailors passing through, and those at present attending business college the community center is a blessing. On the second floor of the Pullen Building, there is a comfortable room fitted up with easy chairs, billiard and couches where any man is welcome.

The young women engaged in the near-by business houses often drop in at noon time for rest and amusement. Some eat their lunch there. An old lady resident of one of the mill villages in the western part of the State spends the biggest part of the State in the comfortable rooms, and brings cantaloupes, peaches, etc., and asks that they be prepared for her. She is very interesting as she relates her young grand son's achievements in the war, and has had on display a large box of trophies of the battlefields, and of "gay Paree."

Lonesome Soldier.

On Saturday a lonesome soldier en route for his home dropped in to know if there was going to be a dance "for," said he, "we soldiers have gotten used to having people do things to keep us cheerful." When told that there was to be no dance that night but that he was welcome to make use of the rooms, he said "gee, but it is lonesome, and think it will be Sunday-aint it fierce!"

Miss Roe is anxious to get the names of half dozen families who would be willing to invite a soldier like this to Sunday dinner and entertain him afterwards.

Headquarters for Service Men.

A number of troop trains are passing through and it has been suggested by the director of the club that these boys make the center their headquarters, and she promises refreshments for all who come. To entertain them, it will be necessary to have volunteers from the rank and file of the pretty girls in Raleigh.

The Christian church Sunday school orchestra will furnish music on Thursday night, and each night there is music of some sort. What is needed more than anything else is the co-operation of the young women of Raleigh. It is a responsibility that is theirs, whether they accept it or not, and by attending the center, contributing some entertainment or interest, entering into the games it is possible to make the needed haven for the girl away from home so popular that she will not be able to stay away.

THIRTY-TWO HUNDRED RAISED FOR CHAPEL

Plans Will Soon Be Finished; Hold Regular Session at County Hospital

For the chapel which the Vanguard Class will build in Bloomsbury, near the County Hospital, $3,200 has already been raised, quite a handsome part of this coming from the Bloomsbury residents. The chapel will be at a point midway between the car line and Pamlico junction. A well known architect has contributed the design and is now working on the plans, so the latter will soon be finished and bids invited.

Sunday afternoon Mr. E. E. Crow, superintendent of this Sunday school, now held at the County Hospital, spoke on the Sunday school lesson for the day. Little talks were made by Mr. J. H. Kellogg and Col. Olds. A solo was sung by Mr. William Fort of the navy, and prayer was offered by Mr. B. H. Winslow, who had just come from the Sunday school at the State Prison, in which he is a teacher. There were 110 present, of which 37 were children, taught by Miss Nanette Lacy.

Superintendent Crow and his co-workers, as well as the people of the neighborhood, are delighted with the progress of the work. Next week the children are to be given an ice cream party at Pullen Park by the grown-ups of the community.

A number of inmates of the County Hospital will attend this park party. They are all members of the Sunday school and show great interest in it. The singing at the school is exceptionally good.

EPILEPTICS RIDE IN HOBBY TRUCK AGAIN

Col. Olds Directs Sightsaencing Party About the City; Is Second Joy Ride

In July Mr. S. M. Hobby furnished one of his largest new trucks for a hay ride for female inmates of the epileptic colony of the State Hospital, and about 25 went.

Mr. Hobby was himself so much pleased that he informed them they were again to be his guests on another such affair and this was enjoyed yesterday evening.

Two nurses and 30 of the members of the colony participated in this affair and one of them expressed the sentiments of all when she said that it was a big event in their lives, for it was the second ride they had ever taken. Another said it was her happiest hour in three years.

Dr. Jenkins was present and informed his girls that he was extremely proud of them. They saw the suburbs in various directions and went in most parts of Raleigh, keen-eyed, vivacious, singing, cheering and waving handkerchiefs.

Mr. William H. Whitaker, who had before driven the truck was again in charge of it and one of the girls declared that it was almost like riding in an airplane. Young and old in Raleigh, on the streets and in the homes, caught the spirit of the occasion and gave the joy riders a most generous welcome by word and gesture.

It was a great joy to Mr. Hobby's friend, Col. Olds, to again be in charge of interest in Raleigh, for these youngsters sure enough. A trip to New York, London or Paris could not have been any finer or more fall of human interest to these girls, who fairly trembled over with happiness.

CITY COURT GETS $214 IN SESSION

Monday Morning Docket Is Profitable One to City; Mostly Speed and Booze

If the city court receipts were as large every morning as they were yesterday, there would be a chance to reduce the city tax rate. Thirteen separate fines brought $214.95 into the city coffers yesterday, which wasn't a bad day's work.

Of the total amount, $160 was in fines and the rest, $54.95, was costs. The offenders were mostly either fast or drunk, or both, one assault being the exception.

The speeders and their speeds were: M. A. Rushton, 32 m. h. p.; W. H. Byrd, 25 m. p. h.; J. E. Gant, O. G. Thomas, 33 m. p. h.; G. A. Scarborough, 34 m. p. h.; James McKee, 33 m. p. h. The penalty in each case was five dollars and costs.

Drunkenness brought five dollars and costs penalties to the following: John Brown, William Gooch, M. Chavis and Charles Taylor.

A combination of the two, drunkenness and driving an automobile at the same time, was the source of a fine of $50 and costs for Claude Kimball and S. C. Hamrick. Hamrick ran into A. D. Harris' automobile while under the influence of liquor, the evidence showed.

Henry Hutchins hit his wife because she refused to move to Wendell to live. It being his first offense, the court let him off with $10 and costs. Eugene Lewis was found not guilty of assault with a deadly weapon.

BORAH AND HUGHES IN DISAGREEMENT

Ex-Justice Sees No Objection To Article XI; What's The Matter With Article X

Bolton Landing, N. Y., Aug. 4.—No reservations are necessary in regard to Article XI of the covenant of the League of Nations in the opinion of Charles E. Hughes, who in a letter to Senator Borah made public at his summer home here tonight, rejects the Senator's claim that Article XI is equally as objectionable as Article X. Mr. Hughes' letter is in reply to one written to him by Senator Borah on July 29. In it he expresses the opinion that Article XI contains "no injury to American interests."

"I find in Article XI no guaranty of territorial integrity," said Mr. Hughes, "or of the political independence of any state, or any assumption of any obligation to make war, or to maintain an economic boycott or blockade, or to take any other action whatever, unless the United States, willing itself of its privilege as a member of the council, concurs in a decision that such a course is both wise and effectual. The United States, as it seems to me, will be entirely free to reach its conclusions according to the merits of the case."

Continuing his explanation, Mr. Hughes says that his objection to Article X is that unlike Article XI, "it is not properly limited to an agreement to confer and to decide in the future upon the course of action which would then seem to be in accordance with the dictates of justice and our views as to what, as a nation, we should undertake."

FOR THREE MONTHS MILITARY TRAINING

Baker Presents War Department Recommendation on Universal Training

FOR ALL ELIGIBLE YOUTHS IN THEIR 19th YEAR

Bill Proposed By General Staff of U. S. Army and What It Calls For; No Mention of National Guard, But Secretary Assumed Defense Act Would Continue To Apply

Washington, August 4.—War Department recommendation for a system of universal military training of three months for all eligible youths in their nineteenth year was presented by Secretary Baker today to the Senate and House military committees for their guidance in determining the permanent military policy of the nation.

The proposal is contained in a bill prepared by the general staff of the army at the Secretary's direction. In transmitting the bill, Secretary Baker in a letter said that General Pershing had not been consulted and the plan was tentative to that extent.

The department's bill calls for a regular army of twenty-one divisions and necessary auxiliary services, with a peace strength of 510,000 enlisted men, and a war strength of 1,250,000. The reserves to fill up the divisions to full strength would be provided through a modified form of the selective service act under which the National Guard was raised for the war with Germany. For training purposes, only youths in their nineteenth year would be called to the colors for a three-month period, to be attached to regular divisions for that time. It is estimated that this would provide an annual class of 600,000 men to be given intensive military instruction stripped of all vocational or other educational features.

For two years after training the youths would be required to submit certain reports giving their addresses, changes in status as to dependents, physical condition, etc. They would receive $1 for each report called for and submitted, thus encouraging the making of a report. In the event of war all men in this status would be called to the colors to fill up the regular divisions and compose the first replacement units. The bill provides for reorganization of the regular army in substantially the same terms as previously recommended by Secretary Baker when the current army appropriation bill was under consideration.

No mention of the National guard is made in the bill, but in his letter to the committee chairman, Secretary Baker said he assumed that the National defense act would be continued in force, making the guard subject to federalization for war.

One feature of the universal training plan of the department is complete federalization of the registration and induction machinery. Local and appeal boards would be created as during the war, except that compensation at $10 a day is provided for board officials, but no mention is made of employing State officials or agencies in carrying out the project.

Youths in training would receive no pay, but would receive payment for all expenses and an allowance of $5 a month for incidentals. No exemptions would be granted, except to soldiers, sailors, members of the merchant marine, public or private, or to those mentally or physically deficient. To meet the case of those with dependents, however, provision is made for deferring the training period.

The theory on which the bill rests is that an army of 1,250,000 would be available for rapid mobilization at need. It provides that the complete organization of a field army of that size shall be maintained, the only difference between peace and war-time footing being in the enlisted strength. The twenty infantry and one cavalry divisions would comprise the field army.

To support the plan, general staff officers have prepared full detailed studies of cost, systems of mobilization, administration and all other features which the department is prepared to submit whenever the congressional committees call for them.

MUCH TOBACCO LOST, DUE TO RECENT RAINS

Recent rains and flooding caused the loss of millions of pounds of tobacco in North Carolina, said Col. John S. Cunningham, of Durham, last night. Colonel Cunningham, who has had much experience in growing tobacco, advises the tobacco farmers to cut their tobacco ripe and to be sure to cure it promptly. The bright types, according to reports which have come to him, are now selling in South Carolina at over thirty cents per pound.

A part of Colonel Cunningham's interest in the farmer takes the form of the tobacco State Fair, the North Carolina State Fair, and he urges that the tobacco farmers will bear in mind the fact that the fair offers desirable premiums for tobacco. His talks would be a fine thing if the Chamber of Commerce of Raleigh would cooperate with the farmers in seeing to it that Wake county's agricultural exhibit at the fair is one fully worthy of the county.

CAMERON MORRISON WILL SPEAK IN BERTIE

Gubernatorial Aspirant Is On Big Program With Senator Robinson

Cameron Morrison, one of the three candidates for governor of North Carolina, spent yesterday in Raleigh, en route to Windsor, Bertie county, where today he delivers an address. The occasion is Bertie's celebration for her returned soldiers, and Mr. Morrison will share the big program with United States Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, who is going to talk some about the League of Nations.

Ex-Judge Francis D. Winston is master of ceremonies for the Bertie celebration, and announces the biggest event staged in Eastern Carolina since the armistice. Mr. Morrison went from Raleigh to Plymouth and from there will go by boat to Windsor. He will return here Tuesday night, on his way to Lenoirville, in Anson, where he speaks Wednesday.
