Recused Drowning Boy.

Your correspondent was informed this morning by an eye witness to the recent tragic death of Lieut. David Prince, Jr., of this city, who was drowned while attempting to save the life of a little boy during the recent floods, that Mr. Ben Lewis, agent of the insurance company, refused to pay the $10,000 policy on the life of the boy, because the boy was not a resident of the city at the time of his death, and while almost prostrated at the sudden death of his friend, plunged into the same waters and fought his way back to land with the boy whom Lieutenant Prince attempted to save.

BERTIE ROUNDS OUT WEEK OF WELCOME

Fighting Men Received With Exercises Carrying Out Full Seven-Day Program

Windsor, Aug. 8.—As a part of Bertie's Welcome Home Week the Bertie County Confederate Veterans' Association held a meeting here yesterday. Forty or more of the members were present. Hon. J. C. Ehringhaus, of Elizabeth City, made the address.

After a vivid picture of the bravery of the Confederate soldiers and a contrast entirely favorable to them of modern warfare with theirs, the speaker gave an illuminating address on various problems that have grown out of the world war.

Bertie county's week of welcome for its returning soldiers, sailors and marines began on Sunday last when every church bell in the county was rung at 10 o'clock and services held which were largely attended by the troops.

On Monday family reunions were held in all parts of the county and something like sixty of these reunions gathered large numbers of kinspeople to welcome their soldier kin. On Tuesday an enormous gathering was held at Windsor addressed by U. S. Senator J. T. Robinson, of Arkansas, Hon. Cameron Morrison, of Charlotte, and further featured by the presence of submarine chasers, airplane, hydroplane, a blimp, the Norfolk Navy Yard band and a half dozen carrier pigeons, gold starred veterans from the French flying corps which had seen service for several months on the front.

On Wednesday township meetings were held in the ten townships of the county and large gatherings of people attended. On Thursday the Confederate veterans met and the returning troops attended their meeting. The veterans were honored guests on all these occasions and automobiles were sent to their homes to convey them to the meetings.

Today the soldiers, sailors and marines of each township visited their friends in their particular localities and on tomorrow the club rooms in the Rascos building at Windsor, dedicated to their use, will be open for their comfort and convenience.

At the meeting on Tuesday addressed by Senator Robinson and Mr. Morrison, ringing resolutions were adopted endorsing the course of the President and urging ratification of the peace treaty and League of Nations with out reservation, explanation or amendment. At this meeting the Hon. Cameron Morrison was also an honored guest and delivered a very strong speech fully endorsing the President and League of Nations and suggesting practical solutions of many of our post-war problems.

The first carrier pigeon was released by Mrs. F. D. Winston and conveyed to Admiral Fichtler, of the naval base, the thanks of the people of Bertie county for having provided the various interesting features of Tuesday's celebration and the bird made the trip from Windsor to Hampton Roads, nearly one hundred miles, in an hour and five minutes.

Norlina, Aug. 8.—Lieut. Marvin W. Hardy returned to Camp Dix several days ago expecting to get his discharge but when he was examined by the army doctors it was found necessary for him to undergo a slight operation before he could be discharged. He was sent to base hospital, where on Tuesday he stated the operation and a telegram to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hardy, states that the operation was successful. Lieut. Hardy returned from France July 5, landing in Boston, Mass., after having spent eighteen months in France and Belgium. He was in several battles and continually exposed to danger, but came out without a scratch.

The King Business in Ireland.

London Daily Express. The fate of the 76 kings who attempted to rule Ireland between 4 A. D. and 1172 should be encouraging to the first "President of the Irish Republic."

Eighteen were murdered, assassinated or killed, 18 were slain in battle, 7 were slain by their successors, three were killed by thunderbolts (?), one was poisoned by his sister and another choked by a fish bone at supper. Four died natural deaths and several of the remainder had unfortunate ends, whatever that may mean!

FIRST CORPS ARTILLERY PARK IS HOME TO STAY

Newport News, Va., Aug. 8.—Washington may have crossed the Delaware, but the First Corps Artillery Park crossed the Rhine at 4 after 14 months service, seven months on six fronts in France, seven months in the army of occupation, half month in crossing the Atlantic; the hold of the Artemis, the First C. A. P. now goes into military history and the men to their homes. This outfit bears the distinction of being the first of its kind ever organized in the American army and of also having among its members a man from each State in the Union and every nationality represented. North Carolina has the largest number of men of any State and her boys true to her history did their part well in placing and leaving "Old Glory" floating over the Rhine. Major E. C. Potts, of New Orleans, La., was in command.

Excellent also for Poison Oak, Prickly Heat, etc. If you want a sample of this powder, free of charge, write to J. S. Tyree, Chemist, Inc., Washington, D. C.
