

Tobacco Warehousemen
 Advertise Your Opening in the News and Observer
 The growers read our paper every day.
 Write, phone or wire us for rates.

PALESTINE DRIVE HERE SEPT. 2-3

Campaign For 3,000 in Raleigh Under Direction of J. M. Broughton

Plans are being perfected for the Palestine Restoration Drive, to be held in Raleigh, September 2-3, under the chairmanship of Mr. J. M. Broughton. For the purpose of rehabilitating and maintaining the existing settlements and institutions in Palestine, and in order to create a homeland for the harassed and persecuted Jews of Eastern Europe, a nation-wide drive is being conducted throughout America to raise $3,000,000. The quota assigned to North Carolina is $30,000, of which sum Raleigh is expected to raise $3,000.

On Wednesday afternoon, the general committee conducting this drive for Raleigh, met in the assembly hall of the Chamber of Commerce and unanimously approved the assignment of the quota of $3,000 for Raleigh, and selected Mr. E. A. Brown, to act as treasurer for the fund.

Mr. Arthur Aronson was appointed to take charge of the publicity work in the theaters in the city and he has secured the cooperation of several of our leading citizens to make four-minute speeches at the theaters in behalf of the campaign.

Mr. Broughton announced that the ministers of all the churches in the city will make mention on Sunday from their pulpits, of the forthcoming drive, and have assured the committee of their hearty endorsement and active cooperation.

Mr. Arthur James Balfour, the secretary of foreign affairs for Great Britain in November, 1917, said:

"His Majesty's government views with favor the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people, and will use their best endeavors to facilitate the achievement of this object."

Hon. Louis D. Brandeis, associate justice of the Supreme court of the United States, appointed there by President Wilson, is honorary chairman of the Zionist organization of America. During July and August of this year, Justice Brandeis has visited Palestine and Paris for the purpose of investigations with regard to the future of Palestine, and through his efforts secured the incorporation into the treaty of peace of the clause assuring the homeland for the Jews. In his reports, he has made it very clear, that not all Jews are to be, or want to be, Palestinians, and that very few, if any, American Jews, are expected to leave America to colonize there.

Miss Ethel Greenburg, of Durham, State organizer for the Zionists organization, delivered a very strong and enthusiastic appeal to the committee, on the purposes to be achieved in this work.

CONCRETE CULVERT WILL REPLACE OLD BRIDGES

A new concrete culvert will replace two wooden bridges over a small stream on West and Johnson streets. The one culvert will take the place of two bridges by converting the stream from its present course and making it about 100 feet to the north. The present bed of the stream where it crosses Johnson and West streets will be filled. Work on the new culvert will be started at once by the Department of Public Works.

ADVERTISING

What Blood Is To The Body—LIFE!!

NORRIS ADVISED; WAS NOT ATTORNEY

Wake County Solicitor Denies More Than Passing Interest In Marmon Roadster

WHOLE QUARREL OVER COLLECTION OF REWARD

The Main Trouble Being That No Reward Has Been Forthcoming So Far; Mechanics At Norris Garage Feared Chief of Police Might "Double Cross" Them

Ex parte explanation by Solicitor Herbert E. Norris of just why he interfered in a matter of police jurisdiction without invitation, involving a Marmon roadster which is alleged to have been stolen from J. Howard Wood, of Syracuse, was made in a 40-minute speech to the city court yesterday morning.

Both Mr. Norris and Mr. James J. Barrett, first assistant district attorney of Onandaga county, New York State, spoke by permission of Judge W. C. Harris, that the position the two gentlemen had taken might be fully understood by the court. Mr. Barrett, however, took less than ten minutes.

After the two attorneys had finished, Mr. W. B. Jones, attorney for Mr. P. V. Humphrey, who is charged with tampering with the car, receiving it knowing it was stolen, and retaining it after he had been ordered to give it up by the Chief of Police, waived examination of his client on the last two charges, and Mr. Humphrey was bound over to the Superior Court under a $200 bond.

Mr. Norris explained, insisting that he was not attorney for either his brother, Mr. J. R. Norris, in whose garage at 310 South Salisbury street, the car is held, or for Mr. Humphrey, but that he had merely "advised" them. Mr. Norris launched into the story of a controversy over a reward that was never offered.

According to Mr. Norris the whole trouble was over the reward. The garage men felt that they were entitled to it, and were afraid that Chief of Police Harbour would best them to it. Since the garage is owned by Mr. J. R. Norris, Mr. H. E. Norris felt a little interest in it.

"This is a very undesirable position to be placed in," began Mr. Norris. "Whatever I shall say, however, will be to place myself straight. After seeing the morning paper, I think it proper that I should tell all about the matter."

"In the first place, I am not the attorney for Mr. J. R. Norris, or for Mr. Humphrey. I merely advised when they came to me."

The Solicitor "advised," "My first knowledge of this matter was when, last Saturday morning, Mr. J. R. Norris, the local agent of the Marmon Company, who is entitled to a commission on every Marmon car sold in North Carolina, came to my office and told me how two of his employees had picked up a car."

"He had been out of the city at the time, and when he returned his employees informed him that they had seen a strange Marmon roadster standing outside of the Blind hotel. They told him that they had ascertained enough facts to make them believe that the car was stolen."

"He wired the company then," continued the solicitor, "to find out if the car with those numbers on it had been sold in North Carolina, and the company responded that it had been sold in New York to a man named Wood, and had been stolen."

"In the meantime, the car had left town. Mr. Norris declined to allow his employees to follow the stolen car, but he communicated with the chief of police. The solicitor proceeded to tell how George Grant, alias D. Tyler Young, the confessed thief of the car, and Della Thompson, alias Estella Young, were apprehended and arrested."

Affraid Chief Would Collect. "Mr. Norris told me," Mr. Norris said, "that a Mr. Byrnes, of the insurance company, was coming down to get the car, and that the chief of police had sent these boys (meaning the mechanics), that he would take the check for the reward in his own name, and make it right with them later."

"I phoned Chief Harbour. He came to my office. He admitted that the prisoners had been taken, and that he was holding them in jail without placing a charge against them. The chief said he would see about the reward, and that he would see that the boys got two-thirds. I warned him to see that the prisoners did not turn on him for illegal imprisonment."

"To my surprise, I read in Monday morning's News and Observer that a conference had taken place, between a Mr. Barrett, who said he was the district attorney from Syracuse, and who had come down here after a murderer, a Mr. Byrnes, who said he represented the owner, and Detective Crabtree. Nothing was said in the article about a reward, but it said that the men came prepared to take the car back. That led me to suspect that they were not down here after the man and woman, but after the car."

Enter Mr. Hornaday. "I went by the garage. 'Have you read that?' I asked Mr. H. Humphrey. He said he had. 'Well,' I said, 'you want to be on your guard.' They can't move the car, anyway," he said. "That's a matter for you," I answered him. I gave no orders to dismantle the car, and the statement that I did is entirely false."

Mr. Norris then told of how Mr. C. E. Hornaday, local representative of the Springfield Fire and Marine Insurance Company, came into the garage, looked at the car over, and said that it was not the car covered by an insurance policy in his company and that the company therefore would not pay any reward. Following that statement Mr. Norris advised Mr. Humphrey to "stand pat, I'll call the chief."

The Solicitor did call the chief, and found Mr. Barrett, Mr. Richard P. Byrnes and Mr. George Forough, who came down as a personal friend of Mr. J. Howard Wood, millionaire paper manufacturer and owner of the car, to drive it back to Syracuse, all in the chief's office. The meeting adjourned to the Solicitor's office in the court-house.

"The man who said he was Barrett was there," assumed Mr. Norris. "I asked him what proof he had that he was who he said he was. He answered that he expected to be treated honorably. I said, 'hold up there. If you are going to take that attitude you'll have to get out of this office.'"

Identifying the Car. Mr. Norris next brought up the question of identifying the car. The identification given by Mr. Forough did not satisfy him, and he proceeded to tell the entire party to "bring Mr. Wood or someone that can identify the car here before the car will be released."

Mr. Hornaday, the Solicitor said, told him that he went to examine the car at the request of the chief of police and the gentlemen from Syracuse.

The party left, and later that day, Mr. Norris said, Mr. Barrett, Mr. Briggs, Mr. J. W. Bailey and Mr. Barrett went down and threatened Mr. Humphrey with arrest if he continued his attitude. "I told him to stand pat," said Mr. Norris.

The Solicitor went on to say that Mr. Barrett testified him late that afternoon, and that he ended the interview by showing Mr. Barrett the door. "I believe I'll resist extradition, too," the Solicitor quoted himself as saying, but he didn't as the extradition papers were issued Wednesday morning.

Mr. Norris closed his speech in a few more words.

Barrett Given Floor.

Mr. Briggs rose and asked that Mr. Barrett be recognized by the court for a few minutes, stating in addition that he knew nothing about any reward. Mr. Norris broke in again to add that he had not been cussed out, though he had heard that somebody said he was. "Whatever I say, I will be brief in saying," said Mr. Barrett, in rising to the floor. "Some of the misstatements made by the previous speaker, however, make it necessary for me to say a few words."

"I came down here as the first assistant district attorney of the county in which I live. I brought no passport with me. I brought no photographs by which I might be identified. I believed that the word of a man would be good in the South."

"I never knew of a proceeding before where a prosecuting attorney deliberately obstructed justice. No proof!" asked the New York man, answering the claims of Solicitor Norris that they could not identify the car or convict the thieves. "Mr. Norris knows himself, has known all along, as well as anybody else, that that was the car."

Held For Ransom. "The car is simply being held here for the payment of money. Right here I want to say that the Chief of Police is entirely clear in this matter, and that he has treated me very courteously during my stay here. My only hope is that, in this Southern court, justice will prevail in this matter."

Barrett's 15' court could proceed, Mr. Norris was on his feet again. "I don't know that in the car," he said in an angry tone. "I am known in 'is district; people know who I am. But who knows who they are?" indicating the visitors from Syracuse.

Mr. Jones made the announcement of waiver, and Mr. Briggs called the attention of the court to the fact that none of the facts in the case had been developed. Judge Harris agreed, and permitted Mr. Humphrey to leave court under the same bond, $200, that he had been under since arrested.

Barry Goes North. Mr. Barrett Sheriff Edward G. Ten Eyck and his deputy, Mr. Edward Hoffman, with the prisoners, Mr. and Mrs. D. Tyler Young, left yesterday for Syracuse, where the Youngs will be put on trial for larceny of the automobile.

Mr. Byrnes, who is Mr. Wood's personal attorney, and Mr. Forough, still remain here, and will probably stay until they can get the car, which is still in the Norris garage, with part of its innards removed so as to make starting impossible.

Mr. Forough, who is an ex-racing driver and at present general traveling representative for the Haberle and National Brewing companies, has a number of papers identifying the car, including the insurance policy, Mr. Wood's certificate from the manufacturers, the original order for the car, and so on. He is entirely satisfied that the car is that one stolen, just as the chief, Mr. Young, said it was.

PLACE BOY IN CARE OF JUVENILE COURT

Clinton Thompson Brought Into Court, Bruised and Beaten By His Father

Probation of the 14-year old son of Fred Thompson in the custody of the Juvenile Court was the decision Judge W. C. Harris made in the case brought against Mr. Thompson yesterday morning for beating the boy.

Mrs. Hogan, a half-sister of the boy, and Mr. Thompson's step-daughter, brought the charge. The boy had been forced to work at the Western Union to help support the family of eight, and he disliked the work.

He ran away from home while his father, a railroad brakeman, was away. Thompson returned, and learned that the boy had quit work and was at the home of Mrs. Hogan. He sent for him, and the boy refused to return home, and Thompson went after him with an officer. On the way home, he beat the boy, and finished the job when he got the boy in the house. The boy's back still shows the marks of the beating he received.

Under the law, it was necessary to show permanent injury to convict, so Judge Harris shifted the case to the Juvenile Court, and ordered Mr. R. N. Childress, probation officer, to keep in touch with both parent and child. The boy will remain with his father.

Frank Hamilton was bound over to the Superior Court under $100 bond on the charge of larceny of $200 from Winnie Frances. The finding was for probable cause. The evidence was circumstantial, the money being taken from Mrs. Frances' stocking as she slept, and Hamilton being found later with a $20 bill.

Yank Barnes was fined five dollars and costs for careless and reckless driving, and the following the same sum for speeding: R. B. Tucker, 25 m. p. h. going North on Wilmington street; W. F. Jones, 27 m. p. h. going East on New Bern avenue; Dr. L. E. McCauley, colored, 26 m. p. h. going West on New Bern avenue. W. D. Oterway was fined five dollars and costs for being drunk.

LAMB BARBECUE AT CONVENTION

Appetizing Interruption In Work of Farmers and Farm-women Here

FARM LIFE PLAY IS PRESENTED AT NIGHT

Afternoon Session Featured With Address By Miss Mary Sweeney, Who Canteened With American Army In France; Convention To Hear O. J. McConnell Today

FRIDAY, AUGUST 29. Joint Men's Sessions.

9:00-9:30 a. m.—The State Warehouse Law—O. J. McConnell, N. C. Dept. of Agriculture.

9:30-10:00 a. m.—The Uses and Value of Lime in Agriculture—Prof. E. O. Phippen, Lime Association.

10:00-10:30 a. m.—The Best Type of Cattle for the Farmer's Needs—J. L. Torney, American Shorthorn Breeders' Association, Chicago. Joint Men's and Women's Sessions.

10:30-11:00 a. m.—Thrift—B. R. Andrews, Director Savings Division, Treasury Department, Washington, D. C.

11:00-11:30 a. m.—Country Concern About Country Well-being—Prof. E. C. Branson, University of North Carolina.

11:30-12:00 p. m.—The Family Cow—Prof. Oscar Erf, University of Ohio.

12:00-12:30 p. m.—Why Poultry Pays—A. G. Oliver, N. C. Extension Service.

12:30-1:00 p. m.—Election of Officers. 1:00 p. m.—Dinner.

North Carolina Farmers and their wives—about 700 in all—were last night officially introduced to mutton, by means of a lamb barbecue at the State fair grounds. The barbecue was a part of the Farmers' convention which will continue through one o'clock today.

The barbecue came after a butchering demonstration, 16 lambs being killed for the feast. Fresh milk and butter-milk from the State College farm were the beverages. The other trimmings were at hand, and after a couple of preliminary speeches that seemed long because of the hunger for the tempting fare, the crowd started to eat.

There was enough for all, but the way the food disappeared would have startled even a professional magician. Half an hour later little was left but a few bones and the empty paper plates and cups.

Speaks on Canteen Work. Somewhat different from the rest of the program was the hour's talk given in Pullen Hall yesterday afternoon by Miss Mary Sweeney, of the University of Kentucky, on "Canteening With the American Army in France."

Miss Sweeney isn't very tall, so they put her on the platform, where she kept the audience amused with her stories of the overseas men, throwing in now and then a bit of philosophy or perhaps of history.

The attitude of American men toward women Miss Sweeney characterized as a lesson to the French and a revelation to Germany. She also told of the surprise of the French women that the American women should leave their homes to come to France.

In the contents, Miss Sweeney said that what the men wanted wasn't so much chocolate or cigarettes as someone human to talk to. She proceeded to tell how a doughboy would come in.

"You Remind Me—" "One of them would come in," explained the little woman, "and he'd explain where you were from and you would find out where he was from, and then you'd talk about home and the war and everything, and then he'd say:

"Do you know, you remind me of a lady friend of mine—it was always a lady friend. Then I would answer, 'Do I,' and he would say, 'Yes, wait a minute, and I'll show you her picture,' and then he'd take out a picture of someone with black hair and weighing about 200 pounds, and you'd wonder how on earth you ever happened to remind him of her."

Miss Sweeney and her sister kept two different canteens, the other being for the officers. She told in detail how they made lead lemonade for the doughboys and ice cream for the officers, and how the high command used to come down to turn the freezer so as to get the dasher a reward.

The morning sessions yesterday were group meetings of the men and women and made up with addresses on various phases of agricultural work. Particularly interesting to the women was a talk by Miss Josephine Schiffer, of Meredith College, on the selection and buying of clothing, or art in dress. She discussed the value and bearing of appropriate clothing on success in life and how to accomplish it with the least cost. Other talks were by Miss Flax Andrews, of Lumberton, on interior decorating; Mrs. Kate Brew Vaughn, on infant hygiene; Mrs. W. R. Hollowell, on fire prevention; Mrs. Clarence Johnson, social welfare; Miss Rose Ehrenfeld, of the State Board of Health, on rural childhood; Mrs. J. E. Hendley, laundry problems, and Mrs. W. L. Caphart, of Oxford, on canning rolls.

Play Presented Last Night. Last night "Kindling the Hearth Fire," a play of rural life, was presented by members of the convention and thoroughly enjoyed. It is a bright sketch with lots of funny lines written to contrast life in the country with that in the city.

The cast was composed of Miss Mazie Kirkpatrick, Reidsville, as the over-worked farm wife; Mr. Cowan Ned, her young son; Miss Lucille Clark, of Whiteville, her daughter and others who were clever in their respective roles.

WARSAW GROWS RAPIDLY IN SALES OF TOBACCO

The Warsaw tobacco market will open next week on September 3, at the same time the other big markets open, this market having now been put in a class with them.

It is a far cry back to the time when the first market opened in Warsaw sixteen years ago, when one small warehouse operated by the J. H. Carter Company comprised the tobacco business of the town. But the men who looked that enterprise saw the vision of a tobacco market for Warsaw just as other men today are seeing still greater visions of the growth of the town into a city. And that small nucleus of a tobacco business has grown into three large warehouses, a stemery, and a number of prize houses, which constitute facilities for handling even the immense quantities of tobacco that will be brought here this season, the expected amount reaching somewhere between eight and ten million pounds.

In war there is only one favorable moment; genius knows when to seize it. He that despairs measures Providence by his own little contracted model. Moral changes are slow; God's footsteps are sometimes centuries apart.

CITY WILL ISSUE $95,000 OF BONDS

Purpose Is To Retire Old Bonds And Provide Cash For Sewers and Gutters

The City Commissioners yesterday authorized a new bond issue of $95,000 to take care of municipal improvements and retire old bonds becoming due soon.

The combined issue will be for four purposes—$50,000 will be refunding bonds to retire $25,000 of street bonds sold in 1889 and $25,000 of consolidated debt bonds sold in 1897; $15,000 will be funding bonds to take care of the appropriation for health work; $25,000 will be sewer lines and $5,000 will be for curbing and gutters.

The new bonds will probably bear 5 per cent interest and run for 30 years. The details of this nature will be arranged today by the commissioners. When these bonds are sold it will make $120,000 worth that Raleigh has issued during the present year. In the spring an issue of $55,000 was sold for the purpose of purchasing sewer lines in Cameron Park, Glenwood and Boylan Heights and buying the Rex Hospital annex. The money for the purchase of the sewer lines is now in a local bank but the lines have never been transferred to the city.

After a young man has had his fing and has reached middle age he sees where he dug away several thousand dollars in his flinging, out of which he got very little pleasure.

Buy Here Kline & Lazarus Pay Less

Economy Sale
 Keeping Prices Down For the People
Startling Bargains for TODAY and SATURDAY
 The Last Two Days of Our Economy Sale. Matchless Underpricing—Unequaled Values

STANDARD PERCALES
 Mill Price, 25c; Ours, 19c Yard
 36-inch Standard Percales, worth 25c at mills; special for this sale, 19c yard

NAINSOOK
 35c grade Nainsook; fine goods; in 27-inch widths; on sale at, 25c yard

1,500 Yards of BEST 45c GINGHAMS
 In Standard Brands. Here 39c Yard Best 39c Gingham; well known standard brands; 1,500 yards in lot; 39c to go in this sale at, yard

10 yards Curtain Scrim, 98c. White, cream, ecru; special, 10 yards 98c for

$2.50 bolt, Diaper Cloth; special, 10 yard bolts $1.98

98c Window Shades; colors: Blue, Green, White; special today and Saturday 79c

45c yard 40-inch White Organdy; special today and Saturday 29c yard

50c yard 40-inch Underwear Crepe; colors: White, Pink, Blue and Rose; special today and Saturday, 35c yard

35c Children's Socks; colors: Black, White and Tan; special today 19c day, yard

35c yard 27-inch Dress Voiles, fancy designs; special today 25c and Saturday, pair

10-4 Bleached and Unbleached Sheeting, full 90 inches wide. A dandy 74c value; special, yard

$2.49 yard Georgettes—Colors: Black, White, Grey, Rose; $1.98 yard

35c yard 36-inch Bleaching; nice quality; special, yard 25c

25c yard Laces—Val, Torchon, Cluny, Shadow, yard 10c

25c yard Apron Checks; 27 inches wide; special, yard 15c

35c yard 27-inch Checked Dimity; special, yard 25c

SPREADS
 $2.50 Spreads $1.98
 $3.00 Spreads $2.48
 $3.50 Spreads $2.95
 $4.50 Spreads $3.50

TOWELS
 25c Towels 19c
 35c Towels 29c
 50c Towels 39c
 75c Towels 59c

HOSIERY BARGAINS
 Silk Hose—Brown, Navy, Grey, 69c at, pair (10 dozen pure Silk Hose at 69c)
 $1.25 Silk Hose, 98c Pair—$1.25 grade Silk Hose in black, white, cordovan, seam in back. These Hose great bargains at 98c
 Lisle Hose, 39c Pair—25 dozen Lisle Hose; colors: black, white, brown, grey. Extra values at 39c

TAFFETA SILK
 36-inch Taffetas, in good selection of colors; worth $2.00 and $2.25 yard; prefer giving you the benefit. That's why it is, yard $1.79

DRAPERIES
 3,000 yards of dandy Cretonnes, 36-inch goods, in Fall shades and designs; our sale price, yard 29c

50c MIDDY TWILL
 Our Sale Price, yard, 35c
 Good quality; regular price 50c; 36-inch width; on sale at, 35c yard
 75c yard—36-inch Khaki Cloth; special, yard 49c
 29c yard—36-inch Sea Island Sheeting; special, yard 19c

We Will Fill Mail Orders. Raleigh's Best Store.