Our Heroes. Who move as knights of old. Who save as knights of old. With usage firm. To meet the coming foe. Nor heed the flying death. From air and earth and distant field. They stand and fight and die. Till lines give way. Opposing armies yield. To hands of liberty. From across the seas. They fight for rights of man. Nor ask reward. No foe too hard to dare. Ideals high enwrap their souls. And urge their footsteps on. The field is won. The battles cease. The flag of liberty. Now waves on high. With gladdened hearts we hail. We greet their safe return. To home and friends and native land. Our heroes now from down below. —JAMES MONROE DUNN, Boone, N. C.

The Woman Hater Chapter XII At the Shore

Dave bounded up the steps and through the door, letting it slam behind him in his haste. "Oh, sis," he called from the hallway, "do you want to go to the shore this afternoon?" "Indeed, I did—who wouldn't? Quickly I gave my affirmative answer. "That's splendid," he replied with enthusiasm. "Barbara and I are going down in her roadster and Harry Evans will take you in his car. We'll meet you at the pier. So that was his plan. I smiled inwardly at Dave's scheme to be alone with Barbara. However, I blessed him for it and hurried to get ready. We met as arranged. First, we splashed in the surf for an hour, and later we strolled along the esplanade watching the spectacle of the summer crowd. I like to study people as I mingle with them. This afternoon I was much impressed with the number of women who were badly sunburned. Really their faces were most noticeably red and roughened. If they had only used Hagan's Magnolia Balm they could have enjoyed swimming and boating and yet kept their complexions attractive. It is unquestionably a boon for the vacationist for it opens beauty and protects the skin. Magnolia Balm imparts charm without harm. It is a liquid powder, easily applied with the most soothing result. Freckles are prevented by it. Hair growth on the face never follows its use. The cost is 75 cents, from dealers, or postpaid from the Leon Manufacturing Co., 100 So. Fifth St., Brooklyn, N. Y. It comes in three colors—white, pink and rose red. Dave didn't come in until some time after Harry brought me home. I had just come to bed and I was amazed to hear him whistle a love melody as he came upstairs and entered his room. To be continued.

Cuff Links

A good looking shirt deserves a good looking pair of cuff links. And not every good looking pair of cuff links looks good in each good looking shirt.

That's why a man needs several pairs of cuff buttons. Maybe you never thought of it, but cuff links show up a man's taste.

We have a stylish line of them that you ought to look over. In gold, silver and enamel we show the very newest patterns, and a wide variety in each.

Entertainment For Bride-To-Be. Durham, Sept. 1.—Thursday afternoon from 4 till 6, Mrs. Fred Thomas charmingly entertained at a miscellaneous shower for her sister, Miss Sallie Thomas, a bride of September.

The guests were received on the porch by the hostess, the bride-elect and Miss Grace Osborne. They were immediately served punch by Miss Lucile Phillips from an attractive bower of ferns and potted plants. The guests were then asked to exercise their ingenuity by making something appropriate from scrap-basket materials. At the close of this contest, Mrs. John Dailey had made the prettiest article, Miss Matilda Michaels the most ingenious and Miss Hulda Jones the most useful.

After much laughter occasioned by this unusual and unique contest, the guests were invited into the dining room, which was lovely in its decorations of green and white. Shaded candles cast a soft glow over the room. The center-piece was a silver basket, filled with roses, resting on a handsome plateau. Mrs. J. L. Conard and Mrs. R. H. Clayton assisted the hostess in serving a dainty salad course. After the guests had returned to the parlor little Annie B. Brown, Jerome and Robert Clayton entered, bringing

Boy "Armies" Have Parades. London, Aug. 4.—(By Mail.)—The war is ended and the peace treaty signed, but dozens of boys "armies" continue daily to parade, drill or stage mimic battles in London streets. Trafalgar Square is one of their favorite "drill grounds." Battered tea trays, biscuit tins and pans are made to serve as drums, a bit of petticoat does for regimental colors and there are generally more drummers and color bearers than others, for apparently none of the youngsters relish the idea of being a
