

PASTORAL LETTER WILL BE DRAFTED

Episcopal Church Will Call Attention of Members To Social Problems

COMMITTEE NAMED TO FRAME ITS WORDING

Indications Are That Question of Changes in Prayer Book Will Be Fought On Floor of Lower House; Bishops Spend Day in Discussing Proposed Canonical Revision

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 9.—By means of a pastoral letter, the duty of church people of America in facing the social and industrial problems and after the war unrest will be brought sharply to the attention of the membership of the Protestant Episcopal Church, the Triennial General Convention of which is meeting here. The House of Bishops, the higher legislative body of the convention, today delegated preparation of the letter to Bishops Charles P. Anderson, of Chicago, and Charles H. Brent, of Western New York, with one other yet to be named.

The convention is prepared to deal at considerable length with after-the-war problems and a great part of the church work extension plan is being formulated along this line.

Fight Over Changes.
The convention today began discussion of proposed canonical, Prayer Book and liturgical revision, a fight developing in the house of deputies for postponement until the next general convention of action on the latter two.

This fight was led by Rev. Floyd W. Tomkins, of Philadelphia, supported by Randolph McKim, of Washington, D. C.

Indications are that the question will be fought out on the floor in a line-up of the conservatives and progressives.

Another argument developed in the lower House as to whether the twenty-one changes in the morning prayer service suggested by a committee appointed six years ago would be adopted as a whole or individually. It is understood many delegates object to several of the amendments. This argument will be resumed tomorrow.

Bishops Discuss Proposals.
The House of Bishops spent the greater part of the day in discussion of canonical revision, particularly the canons of ordination. The proposed revision would modify examination of the candidates and interpretation of Holy Scripture, add an elective study subject prior to ordination and admit ordained priests of other churches to preach in the Episcopal church.

The Bishops concurred in approval of the election by the lower house yesterday of Dr. Charles Sumner Burch as Bishop of New York and the deputies concurred in decision of the House of Bishops to discharge the war time commissions, leaving its unfinished duties to a committee.

Wants League Endorsed.
Something of a fight is expected on a resolution introduced in the lower house today by a Southern delegate asking the United States to ratify the peace treaty and League of Nations covenant.

Approval was given several amendments to the church constitution adopted at the last triennial convention including that providing for the election of presiding bishops instead of promotion by seniority.

Bishops Stringer, of the Church of England in the Yukon, and Roper, of Ottawa, presented the convention the greetings of the Canadian church and a delegation will be sent to the Canadian Synod with the greetings of the American church.

Accidental to the convention was the united triennial offering of the women's auxiliary societies of the church, a total of $464,495.16 being realized for the works of missions or about $100,000 more than was presented in 1916 at St. Louis.

A side feature of the gathering is the open forum for discussion of problems of capital and labor the first meeting of which was addressed today by Bishop Benjamin Brester, of Maine, on Americanization work among immigrants to remove the possibility of their becoming a social menace.

Controversy Draws Attention.
The controversy over alleged Roman Catholic practices in the Episcopal worship in parts of the Philippine Islands during the period of Bishop Brent's service there and condemned by Bishop Frederick B. Graves, of the missionary district, of Shanghai, is attracting much discussion among delegates. Action of the convention on the controversy may be asked. The issues raised, Bishop Graves holds, are whether the Episcopal church is to be Roman Catholic or Anglo-Catholic, and he refuses to allow Bishop Brent to take responsibility and stand trial for the alleged offenses in place of the missionaries, as he has offered to do.

Tonight a mass meeting on "The Effect Of The War On The Church And World" was addressed by prominent labor men, and men of the Episcopal, Congregational and Roman Catholic churches.

had virtually freed his slaves. General Grant, she continued, was a slave owner until the very time the slaves were freed by Lincoln's proclamation.

In an effort to prove that the cause of war was not the desire of Southern people to continue slavery, Miss Ruth-erford asserted that there were 300,000 slave-holders in the Union army and 200,000 in the Confederate army.

Holds Memorial Service.
Memorial services in honor of the Confederate dead were held today at a joint meeting of the veterans and auxiliary societies. Sacred and Southern music featured the services and the Rev. J. W. Bachman, of Chattanooga, 82 years old, chaplain general of the United Confederate Veterans, delivered the invocation.

"We will forget," he declared, "all the bitterness and the desolation the privation and the sufferings of the war and we will remember only the truth and righteousness of the Southern cause, the principles for which the South fought, and the cherished ideals which today are dearer than never before."

A grand ball was given tonight at the auditorium armory. The reunion will be concluded tomorrow with a parade.

Mayor of Fayetteville Takes Steps To Reduce High Cost of Living

Fayetteville, Oct. 9.—Forty thousand pounds of foodstuffs from the surplus food stores of the war Department have been ordered by Mayor John Underwood of this city from the War Department's food supply service. Mayor Underwood took this step in order to believe in a measure the high cost of living, in accordance with the plan of the government outlined when the President made the surplus army food supplies available to the public.

In the foodstuffs to be brought to Fayetteville for sale to the consumers are included 25,000 pounds of dried vegetables and fruits and 15,000 pounds of meat.

Frederick Archer, superintendent of the city schools of Greenboro will address the Parent-Teacher Association of this city at the Central school auditorium Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

Aviation flights will be made by machines from Pope Field each day during the Cape Fear fair, according to announcement made by Major R. J. Lamb, chief marshal of the fair. Major Lamb also stated that all World War, Confederate and Spanish War veterans would be admitted free to the fair grounds on Military Day, October 29.

Mr. Hughey Out of Service.
Mr. C. O. P. Hughey, Chief Army Field Clerk, Camp Personnel Office, Camp Jackson, has received his discharge and has accepted a position in Columbia, S. C. Prior to his entry into the service, Mr. Hughey held a position as cashier with the Raleigh Iron Works. He was a member of Judge George Pell's Law Class and passed the State Bar examination, in August 1918.

President's Report Favorably Received.
High Point, Oct. 9.—The annual report of Mrs. Felix Harvey, president of the North Carolina Division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, was the principal feature of yesterday's meeting of the division in the Wesley Memorial church. The report showed much progress made during the year and many activities by the President to keep the various departments up to a high standard of efficiency. The report urged the daughters to be always ready to offer cheer to the men who fought for the South in the War Between the States and to organize children's chapters throughout the State.

In appreciation of the great work she assumed office, she was extended a vote of thanks by the convention. At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the delegates toured the city in automobiles through the courtesy of the chamber of commerce and at night they were tendered a reception at the Commercial Club.

Yesterday at 1 o'clock in the dining room of the Wesley Memorial church, the Daughters were guests at a buffet-luncheon given in their honor by the Elks Club.

Before the luncheon was served, Rev. T. L. Trott spoke a few words in behalf of the Elks and offered a short prayer.

The luncheon was a two-course affair and was served by ten local daughters. The Elks' color, a beautiful purple, was used in the mints and the paper dollies were decorated with the Elks' emblem.

Delightful Reception.
Tuesday night following the opening exercises at the graded school auditorium, the Daughters were entertained at a delightful reception at the home of the Misses Alexander, 210 English street.

As the guests arrived they were met at the door by Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Pollock, after which they were escorted upstairs by Misses Mary Elizabeth and Helen Long.

On their return they were shown into the music room, where they met the long receiving line, which extended from the music room through the beautiful sun-parlor and which was composed of the following:

A. E. Alexander, Miss Ida Alexander, Mrs. Felix Harvey, Mrs. J. F. Hayden, Mrs. Charles F. Long, Mrs. Newton Baker, Mrs. J. E. Kirkman, Mrs. Josephus Daniels, Miss Minnie Alexander, Mrs. F. N. Norman, Mr. L. E. Barnwell, Mrs. J. J. Farris, Miss Nancy Gary, Mrs. Carter Dalton, Mrs. J. Taylor, Mrs. J. A. Hart, Mrs. T. J. Gold, Mrs. R. L. Gwynn, Miss Helen Brockett, Mrs. L. P. Fisher, Miss Mary Alexander, Miss Shuford, Mrs. J. B. Richardson, Mrs. A. H. Witherington, Mrs. Otis Mendenhall, Mrs. L. H. Townsend, Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Lambeth, Mrs. Houston Hlatt, Mrs. Henry White and Mrs. J. W. Pless.

As the guests left the receiving line and entered the luxurious parlor, they were met by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lyon and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Idol.

Through the hall, in which Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gilliam, Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Coffield, and Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Pollock stood, the guests were then met at the dining room door by Mr. and Mrs. Chase Idol and Mr. and Mrs. George Matton.

In the dining room there presided Misses Marguerite Kirkman and Mary Sherrod, Mesdames Clifton Ring, Cyrus Wheeler, Fred Ingram, and Charles Lee Smith.

The color scheme was beautifully carried out in the flower decorations, which were red arrangements, and in the refreshments, consisting of cake, mints, cream, red and white. On each plate of cream, there rested a miniature Confederate flag, giving the needed colors of the Confederacy. The white block cake, too, was ornamented with a large red cherry, again bringing out the red and white color-scheme. Through the whole of the evening music by a local orchestra was furnished.

- "Bill, who makes your clothes?"
- "Hickey-Freeman. Why?"
- "What did that suit cost?"
- "Tell me how you like it first!"
- "It's fine, but what's the idea?"
- "Well, I'll tell you; Harry, I don't judge a suit of clothes by the price and I don't want anybody to judge my clothes that way either. This suit cost me fifty dollars."
- "Only fifty dollars?"
- "Only fifty dollars!"
