

BIG CROWD HEARS COCROFT LECTURE

Noted Woman Physical Culturist Talks On Woman's Place In New America

DISCUSSES TRAINING FOR WOMEN OF COUNTRY

Gives North Carolina Women Credit For Being First In Movement For United States Training Corps Camps, Thinks One Will Be Located In State

"North Carolina women were the first to make a move for the United States Training Corps camp and if my opinion counts for anything they will get it," declared Miss Susanna Cocroft last night at Meredith College in her lecture on "Woman's Place in the New America," in which she touched largely on the United States Training Corps, an organization which came into being because of the work which Miss Cocroft did in Washington as a "dollar-a-year man" during the last months of the war.

Miss Cocroft's talk, delivered in her gracious and witty manner, received frequent applause and was thoroughly enjoyed by the large audience of Meredith students and Raleigh folk present. She took the view that woman's mission is now, as it ever was, that of a stabilizer. In the days of the cave man, it was woman's influence which bound the man to his cave, since it was for her interest and that of the child that he should have a local habitation. From this it is true, he roamed far and wide but always returned to the home. The stabilizing influence of woman is even more necessary today in the present condition of our war-torn world, she said.

New Stabilizer Now.
She defined the new America as an America whose soul has been stirred as never before; who has had no time to think of herself for the last few years, but who is now turning the search light on herself. She declared that the men of America stood for love and kindness and that in order to be restored in mind and body and made happy and successful again in normal pursuits they need now as never before the help of good women. She urged her hearers to fit themselves physically, mentally and spiritually for their mission.

"Remember that four walls today do not make your home," she said. "The man of your family and the children spend more time outside of their home than in it, and the community in which you live is also your home. It must be kept clean, it must be made beautiful. Miss Cocroft declared that it is just as rational to exercise a vital organ as to exercise an arm or limb.

"Keep up your illusions and do something different every day even if nothing more than to walk on the other side of the street," she urged.

She advised the use of the prescription given by a physician friend of hers: "A good laugh before each meal."

"The patient," she said, did this in a restaurant. The person sitting from him inquired, "Are you crazy?" "No, I'm laughing for my liver," was the reply.

"Well, I ordered mine thirty minutes ago, believe I'll laugh for mine."

Keepers of Ideals.
Women, she continued, are the keepers of ideals; men haven't time for such. Every man has, she said, a home in the heart of some good woman. She declared that it was as much the duty of a woman to keep herself wholesome and attractive as to keep pictures on the walls of her home. She pleaded for women to continue to keep themselves beautiful physically as well as mentally. "What is the use of bringing a person to the efficiency age and then quit?"

"Women called to work in offices in Washington in order to release the men for war were confronted with very trying conditions," said Miss Cocroft, explaining the organization of the United States Training Corps. They were much crowded in their living quarters. The hours were long because of the rush work. The women were away from friends and lived under depressing conditions. As a result, the work of the government was handicapped by "burn outs."

Miss Cocroft was called in for consultation. Her advice was "physical exercise." Seventy-five officers were detailed to her and 2,000 women employees were drilled by these officers under the direction of Miss Cocroft on the Ellipse in the White House grounds.

SAYS BUBONIC PLAGUE IS IN NEW ORLEANS

Correspondent of Philadelphia Paper Learns Condition Are Serious

(Washington Correspondence of the Philadelphia Public Ledger.)
Bubonic plague in its severest form, the Public Ledger correspondent learns, has broken out in New Orleans. Officials of the Public Health Service are greatly concerned over the situation. The seriousness of conditions and the virulent form of the plague are demonstrated by the fact that out of eleven cases among human beings five have proved fatal, and the mortality of rats is very great. An extensive survey has revealed the presence of a great number of rats carrying the infection, many of them having been found dead as a result of the disease.

The Public Health Service is doing everything in its power to check the spread of the plague, and the rats, the usual transmitters of the plague, are being hunted with cyanide gas by experts assigned to the work by public health officials. Quarantine, which might under other conditions be ordered with a view at least of isolating the disease in the Louisiana port, has not been resorted to because of the earnest opposition of the chamber of commerce of that city, whose efforts in that direction are supported by Senator Randall, of Louisiana. The annual Mardi Gras is now approaching and it is felt that were the nation generally to become aware of the fact that this disease has firmly established itself in New Orleans, and that the germ-carrying rats are at large in the city in incalculable numbers, it would greatly militate against the success of the pre-Lenten festival which each year attracts great crowds of tourists to New Orleans.

So vigorous have been the representations of the Louisiana Senator in this respect that even the appropriations which are being taken by the public health service are extended by every possible measure designed to insure secrecy and thus to have New Orleans from what its friends and sponsors in Congress would prove a serious blow to its social prestige and commercial prosperity.

SECRETARY DANIELS GOES TO PHILADELPHIA TO SPEAK

Chairman Will Hays Puts Judge W. P. Bynum On His Advisory Committee

The News and Observer Bureau, 508 District National Bank Bldg., (By R. E. POWELL.)
Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—Secretary Daniels went this afternoon to Philadelphia where he delivered the annual commencement address at the school for the Piers School of Business Administration, an institution with some 1,800 students. Mr. Daniels was accompanied to Philadelphia by his Secretary, Mr. E. E. Britton.

Chairman Will Hays, of the Republican national committee, released through Washington headquarters today the additions to the Republican "platform" committee—other than members of the national committee appointed for this undertaking in December. Judge W. P. Bynum, of Greensboro, is added to the list which previously included John Motley Morehead, of Charlotte. Almost a hundred names compose the committee and it is to work independently of the chairman under sixteen who, lured by a prize of $10,000 are busily engaged in writing a platform for the Republicans, he said.

According to a statement issued today from the office of John Shelton Williams, Comptroller of the Currency, national bank resources in North Carolina have increased $171,400,000 during the past twenty years, or exactly 1955 per cent. North Carolina is one of the sixteen states showing an increase in resources above one thousand per cent. The statement is by twenty year periods only.

PARKER ANDERSON QUILTS THE GREENSBORO RECORD

Greensboro, Jan. 28.—The Greensboro Record, of which Parker Anderson has been editor and manager for some time, today carries the following announcement:
Parker B. Anderson, who has had the management of The Daily Record for the past ten months, has retired from active service with the paper. The successor to Mr. Anderson in the business management is Capus Wainick, former associate editor. The change of managers is effective now. Mr. Anderson is in Washington, where a major portion of his newspaper life has been spent, and he has not announced his plans for the future. The resignation does not mark the abolition of the purposes of The Daily Record nor its policy.

heard as to the manner in which the people of Greensboro had entertained their guests and all were enthusiastic in their praise of the kindness and courtesy shown them.

The Morning Session.
The convention reconvened at 9:30 o'clock this morning in the Blue room of the O. Henry Hotel for the first meeting of the second day. A splendid attendance marked the beginning of the day's business. The meeting was featured by addresses and discussions of unusual interest and value.

Mrs. Raymond Brown, vice-president of the American National Woman Suffrage Association, and one of the foremost women in national suffrage circles, delivered an inspiring address on organization showing the great need for organization in this and other states.

Reports were received from twenty-six different organizations throughout the State indicating an encouraging growth in membership and interest in the suffrage cause.

Advocates More Publicity.
The last address of the morning was delivered by Miss Marjorie Shuler, a member of the press committee of the national association, who discussed at some length the importance of publicity in building up suffrage organizations. She predicted that the North Carolina Legislature at its special session next summer would ratify the suffrage amendment to the Federal Constitution. "It would be such a wonderful tribute to the women of America," she said.

STELLA VITAE FOR WOMAN'S ILLS

For two generations the suffering women of America have found relief from "woman's ills" through the famous prescription of a famous and Southern doctor—STELLA VITAE.

Women know when they need a remedy for weakness and misery in body and mind. Sufferers know that their young daughters at the critical age need a harmonious regulator and a wholesome tonic.

STELLA VITAE supplies this need. Sold by your druggist.

"I can cheerfully recommend your STELLA VITAE. Before I used it I suffered with general period, severe headache and pain across my abdomen. I do not use any other medicine, and when I take STELLA VITAE all my pains and aches have disappeared, and I am now the most healthy person."—Mrs. Dora Adams, Ala.

to the women of the State if your Legislature would ratify," she said. She expressed the conviction that the press of the State would more and more come around to the advocacy of ratification, as it saw the drift of sentiment throughout the Nation.

Officers Elected.
At 12:30 adjournment was taken for lunch, reassembling at 2:30, when officers of the association were elected as follows:
President—Miss Gertrude Weil, of Goldsboro.
First Vice-President—Mrs. Palmer Jordan, of Raleigh.
Second Vice-President—Miss Bettie Windley, of New Bern.
Third Vice-President—Mrs. A. L. Brooks, of Greensboro.
Recording Secretary—Miss Harriet Elliott, of Greensboro.
Corresponding Secretary—Miss Louise C. Vann, of Goldsboro.
Treasurer—Mrs. Julius Cone, of Greensboro.

All of these were re-elections with the exception of Miss Windley, who succeeds Miss Hattie Berry, of Chapel Hill, and Miss Vann, who succeeds Mrs. Lillian D. Wooten, of Kinston.

Reception For Delegates.
The reception given this afternoon by Mrs. A. L. Brooks at her handsome home in Irving Park in honor of the delegates to the convention was one of the most brilliant and delightful social events of the year. The Brooks home is one of the loveliest in the State, and hundreds of guests called during the afternoon to meet the attractive honorees.

Throughout the house, with the exception of the library, the suffrage colors of yellow and white were used most effectively. A profusion of panjols and California daisies, together with the dainty butterfly notes, carried out this color scheme. In the library red carnations were used.

The guests were greeted at the front door by Mesdames James R. Young and P. P. Hobgood, and directed to the library door where they were met by Mesdames E. Sternberg and M. D. Broadhurst, who introduced them to the receiving line. The line was composed of Mesdames A. L. Brooks, third vice-president of the state association; Josephus Daniels, wife of the Secretary of the Navy; Raymond Brown, third vice-president of the national association; Miss Marjorie Shuler, associate editor of the Woman Citizen; Miss Gertrude Weil, president of the state association; Miss Mary Owen Graham, president of Peace Institute; Miss Hattie Berry, second vice-president of the state association; Miss Harriet Elliott, corresponding secretary; Miss Louise Alexander, president of the local suffrage league; and Miss Marjorie Haywood.

What is Health?

Webster says it is a state of being free from disease or pain, a hale and hearty condition. The chiropractor says it a condition of being free from disease caused by pressure upon nerves at their point of exit from between joints of the backbone.

Mr. Daniels Hopes For Ratification.
Washington, Jan. 28.—Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels tonight sent the following telegram to Miss Gertrude Weil, president of the North Carolina Equal Suffrage League:
"North Carolina took the lead in the amendments of the Constitution guaranteeing the bill of rights, freedom of religion, freedom of the press and other guarantees of freedom which give the chief glory to our national Constitution. Our State stood for the eighteenth amendment, which was ratified by forty-five States. I covet for our great State the honor of taking its place with other commonwealths in ratifying the amendment for the largest freedom by asking the women of America to share with the men the problems of government, home-keeping and preserving the foundations of real Americanism.

"Women's participation in politics will bring her clear intuition, devotion to home and belief in cleaner politics to bear in helping to solve with wisdom the great and far-reaching problems before us."

in agriculture in North Carolina and in the other southern States that it will be impossible for these States to produce anything that approaches a normal crop of cotton and food and feed products this year unless the farmers are able to obtain a liberal supply of commercial fertilizers. The factories are now shipping the fertilizers to the local merchants, and in order to get the fertilizers in the hands of the farmers in time, it will be necessary for the fertilizer companies to be supplied with the cars for the transportation of these fertilizers.

"The factories advise me that they are getting about fifty per cent of their requirements, and I earnestly urge you to take steps to supply this deficit. This is a matter of such supreme importance to the farming interests of my State, and indeed, to the entire population,

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is no preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview of the subject, made the revealing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of these wise applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation, send ten cents to Dr. Kilmor & Co., Birmingham, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure to mention the Swamp-Root and Dr. Kilmor.
