

SHORTAGE OF SHIPS LIMITS TOURISTS

Labor Troubles And High Costs Delay Return Of Vessels To Lines Of Travel

N. Y. Evening Post.
It seems that Europe is not, after all, to be invaded by a vast army of American tourists this summer. Reports that the transatlantic liners are all booked for months to come and that until the end of July the only chance for a passenger lies in a cancellation here led to the belief that an unprecedented rush is on. But the Nautical Gazette, after making inquiries from the passenger departments of the various lines, announces that the assumption is without foundation. Difficultly in obtaining accommodations might be due to an increased demand and it might be the result of a reduced supply. The key to the present situation lies in the fact that the available liner tonnage for taking passengers to the other side is less than half what it was in previous years.

The shortage was partially caused by the destruction of shipping while the submarines were waging war unrestricted warfare, and it has been augmented by the fact that much liner tonnage which survived the war is not now in shape for service. Many of the biggest ships on the ocean are withheld, awaiting conversion from troopships into passenger tonnage. It will be twelve months or more before the Devonian will sail out of the Hudson with a European passenger list. The next three largest ships afloat, the Imperator, the Olympic and the Aquitania are out of service at the present time, although they are expected to be ploughing through the North Atlantic this summer. The combined gross tonnage of these four vessels is 198,237 tons, or equal to the tonnage of twenty ships which would be considered big, even judged by the standards of today.

The unrest in the world is also held responsible for the fact that existing tonnage is out of service. In almost every large ocean port the efficiency of operations has been interrupted by strikes and threats of strikes, and in many cases ships have been tied up for long periods. A harbor strike at Rotterdam has been in progress for two months, and not since the Niuew Amsterdam cleared on February 21st, has the Holland-America line had a sailing out of New York. This liner, together with the Rotterdam and the Noordam, are held by the trouble in the Rhine port. Four boats of the Danubian Line are tied up at Copenhagen by a harbor strike. During one week six years ago, twenty-seven transatlantic liners sailed from New York. In the corresponding week this year there were but ten sailings with less than one third as much gross tonnage. The average number of passengers per ship had increased, however from 444 in 1914 to 1,067 in 1920.

The idea of a tourist movement to Europe is again disproved by the personal comments of the would-be passengers. Most of those going over, according to steamship men, are business people or travelers seeking to combine business with pleasure. Others are going to visit relatives from whom they have been separated by the war. Almost always it is either business interests or family ties which is taking them to the other side.

Regarding the prospects of an increase in tonnage on the north Atlantic the belief is that it will only be increased slowly. The shipyards are handicapped by the labor troubles, while everything that goes into the making of an ocean liner is high in price and difficult to get. But while the increase of tonnage will be slow it will be constant, is the encouraging prediction. Practically all the big lines have building programmes in process of development and some of the largest ships afloat will soon be in service again. The situation will not be helped by construction in our own country, as the nineteen passenger vessels contracted for by the Shipping Board will probably be used on the Pacific and in the South American trade.

Benson Had Hard Job Keeping Sims Straight In War

States that Admiral Sims was being persuaded to give too much attention to British shipping and was using American destroyers too largely in connection with British vessels. The witness testified that when he was in London he told Admiral Sims of this feeling, and advised him as a friend to be more careful not only for his own sake, but because of his official position.
"To say that I repeated the language Admiral Sims says I used before he went abroad is absolutely untrue," declared the witness.
"I never had any unkindly feeling or anything along that line that the quotation could indicate. He said he knew that I was anti-British. I don't think I ever had a conversation with him along that line. My attitude then was one of enthusiastic co-operation. I deny now any unfriendly feeling. I feel that a great injustice has been done that should be corrected. I can never visit Great Britain as I should like to, and I have many dear friends there and have been honored with one of the highest decorations that a government can give."

Albany, N. Y., May 6.—Removal of Colonel Samuel Maurice Morgan as commandant of the soldiers and sailors home at Bath, and of Dr. Raymond C. Hill, as surgeon in chief of the hospital at the home, are recommended by Lieut. Governor Walker, who made an investigation of the institution, in his report to Gov. Smith. Made public tonight. Evidence was produced, the report says, that nurses and attendants have taken money from patients by force, it having been charged and evidence having been produced to the effect that the attendants were shocked, unaccounted, abused and otherwise mistreated in the process of taking money.

ANOTHER HALF BILLION WANTED BY RAILROADS

Need That Amount To Purchase Rolling Stock Carriers Tell Senators

Washington, May 6.—Railroad executives today asked Congress for an additional $500,000,000 with which to buy rolling stock during the coming year. Appearing before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, representatives of the carriers declared that a serious and general car shortage existed through the Middle West and that they were unable to borrow money on their own credit for freight cars needed to remedy the situation.

Some idea of what the roads needed in the way of equipment was given the committee by E. N. Brown, chairman of the St. Louis and San Francisco, who declared the present shortage amounted to 226,000 freight cars, 3,190 locomotives and 6,000 passenger cars. He believed they could get along for a time with 100,000 freight cars and 2,000 locomotives, total cost of which was estimated at $616,000,000.

Mr. Brown testified that the carriers had paid as high as 7 1/2 per cent interest on equipment funds in the open market and finally had been told that $150,000,000 was all that could be borrowed for that purpose.

Carranza May Go To Mexican Coast From Mexico City bakeries where bread may be bought cheap.

The attitude of the working classes is threatening and grave disorders are expected at any moment.
President Carranza was reported as having held conferences with Bobles Dominguez, a leader of the opposition, in an effort to reconcile the revolutionists. The results of the negotiations, however, were not known here.
"Arrests are the order of the day in Mexico City," Beltran said. "Recently Jose Castellino, a congressional deputy, was jailed on suspicion of favoring the party of General Alvaro Obregon, candidate for the Presidency of the republic."

"Castellino is one of the many victims of Carranzista tyranny, without regard for their rank or for the duties that they are discharging under the constitution."
For three days the city of Guadalajara, in the state of Jalisco, was without electricity and water as a result of the activities of a column under Colonel Felix Barajas, who has been operating in that state for some time, Beltran said.

TRIES TO MAKE COMPROMISE ACCORDING TO LATE MESSAGE

El Paso, Tex., May 6.—That President Carranza is endeavoring to effect a compromise with the Revolutionists was indicated in advice received today by T. R. Beltran, commercial agent of the Liberal constitutional party at El Paso.
Aguirre Berlanga, secretary of the interior in the Carranza cabinet, has conferred with Bobles Dominguez, a recognized leader of the opposition to the present government, in an attempt, it was said, to "save the country from revolution." No information was given as to the result of the negotiations.

ADVANCE GUARD READY TO ADVANCE INTO CHIHUAHUA

Agua Prieta, May 6.—An advance guard led by several members of the staff of General Pallas Calles, commander of the rebel troops in northern Sonora, has gone through Pupillo pass and is preparing a camp site in Chihuahua for the 2,000 troops which left here today.

General Calles will remain in Agua Prieta several days, it was announced, planning invasion of Chihuahua and a concentrated attack upon Torreon. Additional troops from inland points in Sonora have been ordered to mobilize in Agua Prieta where they will be given a rest, fully equipped for the field and then sent to reinforce forces in Chihuahua, especially in the Torreon district. It was declared at military headquarters here today that a battle at Mazatlan is imminent within the next few days. Additional reinforcements are being sent to General Flores who is reported to have sent several messages to the commander of the Carranza garrison at Mazatlan urging him to join the revolution or surrender before Sonora forces make a concentrated attack upon the city.

GOOD ROADS SALVATION OF COUNTRY, HE THINKS

Work in Town, Live in the Country, Raise Your Own Grub, Speaker Says

New York, May 6.—That good roads will reduce appreciably the national output because they will facilitate communication and lead to a better understanding and more even distribution, was the contention of Leland J. Henderson, of Columbus, Ga., in an address delivered late today before the annual convention of the Southern Commercial Secretaries Association.

Mr. Henderson, who is secretary treasurer of the Dixie Overland Highway Association and secretary of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, advocated a system of good roads usable in all kinds of weather, radiating from each city for a distance of ten miles and the division of the bordering lands into acre units. Thus, he explained, the city man may, with his automobile, live in the country and produce on from one to ten acres a great share of his food necessities. He will even have a surplus to sell or trade for other things, Mr. Henderson stated.

He stated plans now made for highway construction indicate that during the next ten years from ten to twenty billion dollars will be expended for that purpose in the United States.
"Owing to certain well-known conditions," he said, "we can expect little more railway expansion." Therefore, the transportation required for our further development as a nation must come largely from improved highways."

LITTLE HEADWAY MADE IN REDUCING PRICES YET

New York, May 6.—Reviewing general business conditions for the first four months of the year, the local Federal bank, in a statement issued today arrives at the conclusion that little headway has been made "towards a reduction of either commodity prices or credit volume."

Referring to the necessity of improving conditions the statement says: "When we realize that in another few weeks southern harvests will begin and in another four months we shall be in the autumn period . . . it is important that both bankers and business men should carefully study the situation at once, calmly but frankly, to see what can be and should be done to prepare for these demands and to effect meantime, not only prevention of further credit and price inflation, but a measurable reduction of both."
Officials of the Branch bank stress the bankers responsibility towards his clients and the country in exercising stricter control of credits, with further gradual deflation of loans as the objective.

FOOTWEAR PRICES REACH PEAK, TANNERS DECLARE

Atlantic City, N. J., May 6.—The peak of prices in footwear has been reached, but it would take three to four months for any reduction to reach the consumer, the executive committee of the Tanners' council of the United States reported at the council's annual meeting here today.
President F. A. Vogel of Milwaukee, deplored the attitude of manufacturers affiliated with the council who do not look with favor upon suggestions made by its labor bureau to meet demands of workmen for improvement in working conditions and surroundings.
"It has become very clear," he declared, "that notwithstanding all the talk about bringing about a better understanding between employer and employee, the mental attitude of either side is still so far apart that a great struggle lies before us."

Lumberton, May 6.—In the courthouse tonight Cameron Morrison, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, spoke to the largest crowd that he has addressed on his campaign. He was met at the depot by Lumberton friends who had employed a brass band to furnish music for the occasion. Leading in the applause at the courthouse were a dozen or more former Red Shirts, men of this section who had been associated with the speaker in the campaign for white supremacy. Mr. Morrison was introduced by W. N. Britt of the local bar. He speaks at Orrum and St. Paul tomorrow; at Smithfield Saturday and Dunn Saturday night.

"WANDERER" PRESENTS PLAY HERE AGAIN

"The Wanderer," the world-old story of the prodigal son, swept two big audiences here yesterday through three acts of petted and spoiled and wayward youth, riotous living, the eventual husks, and parental forgiveness.
Once before this year, the same company presented the same play and yesterday its presentation was a repetition of the former success. If anything, the art of Robert Fraser, the pampered son, Henry Duggan, the aged father, Florence Auer, the loving mother, Richard Thornton, the un sympathetic brother, and Miss Louise Orth, the vampire of Jerusalem was the more striking.

Western Roads Need Money

Washington, May 6.—Western railroads need an additional $32,000,000 to bring their net income up to the 6 per cent on their property investment of $6,953,883,000, provided by the transportation act the Interstate Commerce Commission was informed today by Samuel M. Felton, of Chicago, chairman of the western executive committee. To provide this sum, freight rates in the territory west of the Mississippi must be increased 24 per cent.

JOHNNY WILSON WINNER OF MIDDLE-WEIGHT TITLE

Boston Boxer Awarded Referee's Decision Over Mike O'Dowd In Bout

Boston, May 6.—Johnny Wilson, of Boston, won the middleweight boxing championship of the world when he was awarded a referee's decision over Mike O'Dowd, of St. Paul, here tonight. The fight went twelve rounds.
O'Dowd was the aggressor throughout the contest, but Wilson, a left-handed boxer, scored repeatedly with his right. O'Dowd excelled in in-fighting but seemed unable to fathom Wilson's style of boxing. Eight of the rounds went to Wilson, two to O'Dowd and two were even. The only knockdown in the bout came in the second round when Wilson caught O'Dowd going down for the count of four. Wilson surprised his followers of the game by scoring on many times with his right, breaking through O'Dowd's defense often.

The pace set by the men was fast and at the end of the twelfth round both were unsteady on their feet. The St. Paul boy was a big favorite before the bout, the general betting being ten to three.
Wilson has participated in many bouts against second rate boxers in the last year and has appeared in many cities, principally in New England. Tonight's bouts was his first against a leading boxer. O'Dowd won the title from Al McCoy in 1917. Hector MacInnes, of Boston, was referee.

The committee on state of church has voted to report favorably a resolution which would instruct the conference officials to send to the President of the United States and congressmen, a paragraph from the address of the Bishops relating to the League of Nations and which practically indorsed a League as a guardian of world peace. There was considerable debate before the committee touching on the religious and political phases of the question. Practically all of the general session today was devoted to presentation of various reports on the centenary movement and expenditure of funds.

Barker, former president of the union, from disposing of any of his property holdings, pending the outcome of an investigation by grand officers of the brotherhood of charges that Barker misappropriated union funds.
The petition charges that Barker, who relinquished the presidency last March, had drawn, or caused to be drawn from the organization's treasury $172,000 and alleged that the greater part of that amount had been invested by Barker in real estate.
The court is asked to order an accounting by the former Union head and to direct that the property he held in trust for the brotherhood.
