

TELEGRAMS EXCHANGED BY BAILEY AND GARDNER

Latter Insists Revenue Men Were Called To Meet To Work For His Defeat

Wilson, June 28.—Lieutenant Governor O. Max Gardner, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, upon arrival here today, received a telegram from J. W. Bailey, collector of internal revenue, requesting that he give information as to the source of a statement made by Mr. Gardner in a speech at Rocky Mount in which he stated that he had received reliable information to the effect that the revenue officers of North Carolina had been called in conference for the purpose of planning his defeat at the polls on July 3d.

Mr. Gardner immediately replied. The two telegrams follow: "Raleigh, N. C., June 28, 1920. To Hon. O. Max Gardner, Wilson, N. C. Your information that revenue forces have been summoned to meet for any political purpose or motive absolutely false. I respectfully request the source of your information. All the men attached to his office are free and independent citizens. They have received no political suggestions or directions from me, and if they had received them they are above accepting them. (Signed) J. W. Bailey, Collector."

Bryan Offers His Plan For Victory On League Issue

representatives of their own choice in the august tribunal which will consider the welfare of the world. "These delegates should be instructed not to vote for war without specific instruction from Congress or from the people given by referendum vote. Our nation's delegates should also be instructed to insist upon the disarmament of the world in order that the burden of militarism may be lifted from the shoulders of those who toil and the foundation of an enduring peace laid in friendship and co-operation. Benefactor of the Plan. The benefits of this plan may be briefly summarized as follows: The Democratic party plants itself upon an easily understood and easily defended principle of government. It has the votes to compel ratification immediately upon ascertaining the wishes of the majority of the Senate. It can by casting votes or withholding votes convert a majority into the two-thirds majority required by the constitution. It cannot only end the deadlock now, but it offers a plan that will make future treaty deadlocks impossible and thus save the nation from the disgrace that this two-thirds provision has brought upon it. We alone of all the great nations have found it impossible to get out of war a fact that impairs our example in the countries that are striving to establish republics. The plan presents a method of electing delegates that will insure to the people the right to choose their representatives in this great tribunal which offers the world its only hope of peace. Be compelling the delegates to await authority from Congress or from the American people direct before giving their nation's sanction to war we answer practically all the objections that have been made to the covenant and yet do so in a manner entirely consistent with our nation's rights and the genius of our institutions. When we instruct our delegates to demand universal disarmament we turn away from the theories of the past—the human history in characters of blood and hasten the coming of the day when the song of the angel "On Earth

Peace and Good Will Toward Men" shall become an international anthem. The world is weary of war; enough tears have been shed within the last few years to wash away all the sins of the world; enough blood has been poured out upon the earth to fertilize in every land the soil from which will spring the hopes of new civilization. Our allies owe us nearly ten billions of dollars which it will take them generations to pay and they cannot pay it without exacting from the vanquished a toll that will preclude the establishment of friendship. We can afford to use any part of this indebtedness that may be necessary to secure such a readjustment of the terms of the treaty as may be required to bring friends and foes in to accord so that the world may turn over a new leaf at once and the world's commerce be revived. Force G. O. P. To Act. Such a plan would compel the Republicans to accept or reject the proposition offered. If they accepted it would remove the issue from politics permit the consideration of pressing domestic problems, quicken the world's progress towards peace and win the undying gratitude of those who cry out against the cruel program of the militarists who would build a peace on terrorism. If the Republicans reject the plan they would forfeit the support of a large part of their party—the part that follows conscience and is not untrue to the vision of better things. Such a plan cannot be considered a rejection of anything the President stands for. On the contrary, it is a vindication of the greatest purpose he has proclaimed, namely, to make the "World safe for democracy," and it opens a way by which he may during the remainder of his term become the moral leader of the world.

Mr. Gardner's answer: "Wilson, N. C., June 28, 1920. To J. W. Bailey, Collector, Raleigh, N. C. Your telegram received. My information the revenue forces were to meet in Raleigh early this week for conference with Col. Austin Watts and renew their work for my defeat, comes from a reputable member of your force, and it is only my solemn promise not to divulge his name that prevents my complete exposure of the efforts directed against me by Watts and the greater part of your force. It surely cannot be denied that a large percentage of your force have been working night and day against me. Their activity has been notorious; so notorious that my friends have taken it up with your department in Washington. I state as a fact that my informant was correct in the first part of his statement as Colonel Watts was in Raleigh Sunday night with many of your revenue force, and my informant is that your men are to be sent to their home sections under the direction of Colonel Watts to man the polls Saturday and strive to control the election. (Signed) O. Max Gardner."

echoes of the storm still lurked in the air. He was repeatedly interrupted by the clamor of approval that greeted every thrust at the Republican party or at any reference to President Wilson.

When Chairman Homer S. Cummings, of the National committee, had been elected temporary chairman and escorted to the platform, they finally hushed and prepared to listen with close attention to his key-note address. Delegates expected something to cheer at. They were in the mood for it and they were not disappointed.

Cummings' Keynote Speech. Mr. Cummings began in a quiet voice. A few shouts of "louder" came from far back in the hall, but he had not proceeded far before the great throng was so still that every word carried to the highest galleries. It was a long speech. Mr. Cummings suggested that to his hearers, but cries of "go on," "take your time," met him. He drove his points home hard and his audience was alert to catch them with shouted approval. At one point he chided the Chicago platform of the Republicans, because it contained, he said, no word of hope for Ireland, no mercy for Armenia and because it "concealed a sword" for Mexico.

Back among the alternates, a woman leaped to her feet at the mention of Ireland, shouting hysterically something about "British tyranny in Ireland."

"That's the answer; we are not members of the league," chairman Cummings called back at her, but even as he spoke the sergeants-at-arms were moving down to prevent further interruptions and delegates intent on their chairman's arraignment of Republican policies, shouted "sit down."

When Mr. Cummings characterized the Chicago platform as a masterpiece of evasion, a shout greeted the attack and a moment later when he declared that the "Old Guard" had sold the honor of the nation at Chicago to name a reactionary candidate" it grew into a roar, punctuated with cries of "go to it," "hit 'em again," "that's the stuff."

Gives League History. The chairman went through the history of the League from the first mention of it in diplomatic correspondence before the United States entered the war, to the second refusal of the Senate to ratify the treaty that contains

it. He quoted utterances of Senator Lodge and the late President Roosevelt as saying that some concert of powers must be formed. He said the last of the fourteen points enunciated by President Wilson had contained practically the language of Article Ten of the covenant and that no word had been raised then against it. "The real trouble with the treaty," Mr. Cummings said, "is that it was negotiated by a Democrat." Uproarious applause welcomed the jibe.

Calls Roll of Nations. When the chairman called the roll of nations already in the league and asked the delegates if they wanted to hear also of neutral states that had, or were about to join, shouts of "tell us" answered him. Nation by nation he named them and then asked if the delegates wished to know what nations had not joined the league. Cries of "yes, yes, tell us," came from all parts of the floor.

"Revolutionary Mexico, Bolshevik Russia, Unspeakeable Turkey, and—the United States of America," he answered. A roar swept the hall that took minutes to quiet.

When Mr. Cummings concluded there remained but routine business to be done, and it was rushed through without incident and adjournment taken until tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock. Meanwhile committees are at work.

RECOUNT WILL GET MORE POPULATION TO HENDERSON

Henderson, June 28.—A letter from the United States Census Bureau at Washington received yesterday by the secretary of the Henderson Chamber of Commerce is to the effect that the population of this city will show an increase over the figure returned in the official enumerations because of the work of the Chamber of Commerce to prove that it was entitled to more population. After taking a volunteer census and checking it over with the official results at the Census Bureau in Washington, representatives of the bureau were sent to Henderson to secure information about those who had not been taken on the original enumeration. The letter received yesterday stated that something over seven hundred would be added to Henderson's official population.

At the Soldiers' Home last night, Prince's Novelty Orchestra conducted by 16 year old Graham Prince, assisted by Miss Mallard of Boylan Heights, gave a unique concert, in which the veterans themselves lent a hand. One of the latter, 90 years of age, played on his fiddle tunes of other days which set the feet to shaking, and another played several pieces, one of his own composition, on the accordion. Popular songs were sung by the whole company. The auditorium was well filled, very few of the men now being in hospital.

Try This If You Have Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This dissolves it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—(adv.)
