

ALLEGED TROUBLE MAKER ARRIVES

Runs Into Deputy Sheriff Perry Who Offers Some Pointed Advice

The appearance of an alleged strike-breaker on Orange Hill yesterday morning, declared to be the same man who figured in the Albemarle disturbances, furnished the only excitement for the village yesterday, and the 23 families ejected this week, now comfortably housed, with their goods stored and a temporary mess hall provided under the third tent, appeared to be happy enough.

Deputy Sheriff Perry, who had been warned against the alleged strike-breaker, was one of the first to meet him. At the time, the officer said yesterday, the man was engaged in an argument in the village street with several of the union workers, bitterly denouncing the union, union methods, and getting in a fair way to start trouble. Warning the workers against hostilities, the officer gave some pointed instructions to the visitor, insisted that order is to be maintained in the village, and the stranger made his way back to town.

First warning as to the stranger came from Mrs. Mary Gallagher, organizer for the United Textile Workers of America, who has been here this week. She described him as a red faced, red headed individual, with a glass eye and freckled face. The glass eye, she further detailed, was black whereas his good eye was brown. The description tallied perfectly with the hill visitor, it is said.

Before Deputy Sheriff Perry conversed with the stranger, he reported to the sheriff's office and, he says, received instructions to use every effort to prevent any disturbances.

A neat combination kitchen and dining room has been installed in the latest tent erected on the camp of the unionists. Yesterday afternoon steps were taken to screen it properly and otherwise improve the sanitation.

Letter of June 22nd read. Brassfield served under me in France as a Lieut. and because of the manner of his service I have the highest regard for him both as a soldier and a man. He was exceptionally cool under fire and I could always rely on him to carry out his orders no matter how difficult the conditions or situation might be. It was due largely to his ability of leadership and the care of his men that I never had any trouble with his battery. He was recommended three times for promotion and failed to receive higher rank only because of the order of the Secretary of War stopping all promotions after the armistice. Were I a resident of North Carolina I would fight for Brassfield's election both tooth and nail . . . as he is the type of American we need in public office. You can tell any A E F for me that Brassfield is a he man all through.
