- Denver, $50,000.
- New Haven, $50,000.
- Washington, $50,000.
- Louisville, $50,000.
- Portland, $50,000.
- Birmingham, $50,000.
- Atlanta, $25,000.
- Memphis, $25,000.

Governor Cox added that he intended to pass this evidence to the Senate campaign investigating committee.

Was To Be Kept Secret.

On the question of keeping secret all local subscriptions Governor Cox quoted from the official bulletin of August 16 as follows:

"The names and amounts subscribed by local donors should not be made public locally."
"I hereby give it wide and non-exclusive publicity," Governor Cox continued. "Why were the names of local contributors not to be made known? Was it because each contribution would carry its own meaning to the voters in the local communities? Certainly there is some reason. What is it? The public is entitled to know. If Mr. Hays and Mr. Upham do not come forward with the information, the Republican National committee ought to remove them both. Furthermore, there should be some explanation of this being made pure by a business affair, participated in by business men and business men only. Unexplained, it carries its own condemnation and exposes the purpose of the whole shameful business."

Quoting from a "message" written by Senator Harding, the Republican nominee, in the official bulletin of August 5, Governor Cox said that Senator Harding expressed his gratitude for "the enthusiasm shown" in raising the campaign fund.

Harding Approves Plan.

"That Mr. Harding is acquainted even with the details of the enterprise evidenced by a subsequent passage," added Governor Cox, "which is as follows:

"Through the fine work of your organization, we are hearing that form of political patriotism which expresses itself in support from every county, every State. I want all members of your organization to feel that their efforts are essential to our success in planning for national enlightenment and deeply appreciated by me."

Governor Cox, in addition to his statement on Republican finances, touched upon industrial problems.

"The 'normalcy' voiced by their candidate as envisioned by his masters," said Governor Cox in this connection referring to Senator Harding, "is bayonets at the factory door, unrestrained profiteering at the gates of the farm—the burden of government on shoulders other than their own, and the federal reserve system an avenue to big business."

Returning to the campaign fund question Governor Cox reminded his audience in order, he said, to reach a proper understanding that recent contributions of large sums by business interests began in the case of Senator Newberry, of Michigan.

Recalls Newberry Conviction.

Senator Newberry, the candidate continued, was convicted in a Republican State and community, before a Republican judge, grand and petit juries.

"One could have thought," said the speaker, "that this experience would have had its restraining influence on subsequent events but the resolve of certain interests to take over the affairs of our government amounts apparently to a mania. Unaffected by the Newberry episode money was spent after it had been collected from business interests in the pre-convention campaign in such sums that the whole country was shocked by the scandal."

"The Newberry lesson went unheeded by the interests behind presidential candidates in the spring and early summer of 1920."

Governor Cox recalled how the Republican Ways and Means Committee was organized last December and its work, he said, was "vigorously pushed from the very first." Its local chairmen, he said, were "business men, in most instances very wealthy men." In this connection he quoted from a letter of John Kirby, Jr., chairman of the Dayton, Ohio, committee, of February 7, last, stating: "This is a purely business men's movement."

Quotes From Bulletin.

"The plan was not only to organize every State, but every county in the United States. In addition to the local chairmen State managers were engaged, traveling representatives operated, salaries running as high as five hundred dollars a week and expenses have been paid in order to create and maintain enthusiasm and morale."

Governor Cox quoted at length from many issues of the Upland "Bulletin." A statement by Mr. Upham said that Senator Harding's election was the "job" and involved "the simplest principles of salesmanship, knowledge in our goods, faith in our goods, tact and energy in presenting our goods," Governor Cox declared.

"The quotas were very soon announced," said Governor Cox. "The meeting was held in Chicago. Mr. Hays addressed it and spoke his blessing. Typewritten sheets were distributed to those assembled. I produce herewith, one of those sheets which carries quotas as indicated."

Eight Million Not Limit.

"The sum of $8,145,000 is to come, not from 27 states, but from the largest cities in 27 states," said the Governor.

"But let us see whether the quotas placed upon the largest cities were exceeded. Again we come for proof to the official bulletin which, under date of August 10, says: Boston, Mass., a 90 per cent attendance at an organization meeting on August 4. Real interest was aroused. Senator Weeks inspired them with an understanding of the situation and they agreed to produce."

"That they did produce is proved by the bulletin of August 10, 1920, when telegrams received that day were published. Among others we see the following:

"Metropolitan Boston Wills to contribute more than 250 per cent of its original quota, which would turn the Boston fund from $300,000 to $750,000."

"The Columbus, Ohio, quota is $100,000 and yet in the bulletin of August 10, a telegram from Columbus is inserted, carrying these reassuring words: 'Then, too, the end is not yet, for it is probable the sum of $150,000 for the State and National treasury will stand to the credit of Columbus before the first day of September.'"

"That the eight million dollar fund is not to be the final total in the country at large is already being clearly proved. Further information is supplied by official Republican documents. For instance, the bulletin under date of August 5th announces: 'The following cities in Tennessee are all organized for the production of their quotas, Chattanooga, Nashville, Memphis and Knoxville.'"

North Carolina Goes Over.
"Only one of 158 cities is in the eight million dollar list—Memphis is assigned twenty-five thousand dollars. The bulletin of August 16 announces, 'Chattanooga oversubscribed its quota this week. The balance of the Tennessee cities are being carefully canvassed.'"

"Not a city in Arkansas is listed in the eight million dollars class. Only one city in Louisiana—New Orleans. Only one city in Georgia—Atlanta. Not a single city in North Carolina and yet David H. Blair wired the bulletin as follows:

"Why not urge the rest of the United States to emulate the example of Arkansas, Louisiana, Georgia and North Carolina, which are all over the top. North Carolina went over on the 27th of July and the end is not yet."

"In the State of Michigan, only one city, Detroit, is put in the eight million dollar class and yet the bulletin under date of August 10 says that 'Flint, Mich., business men decided to make their campaign short and snappy and finish by August 15. Grand Rapids, Mich., committee of large business men working enthusiastically to bring campaign to speedy conclusion.'"

The bulletin of August 16 says: Campaign in Pontiac, Saginaw, Alma, Bay City, Ann Arbor, Jackson, Battle Creek, Grand Rapids and Grand Haven started during past week. Forty counties in Michigan now campaigning."

And Florida Too.
"The 'money diggers' struck pay dirt in Florida. C. C. Buhen, of Eau Gallie, under date of August 7, wired the Bulletin as follows: 'Many counties of Florida organizing. Dade and Palm Beach counties very strongly lined up. Key West shows much interest. Also Fort Pierce.'"

"Speaking of Florida, the Bulletin carries this paragraph under date of August 10: 'Florida Republicans say they wish to help pay the freight for return of good Republican days.'"

"Maine is not found in the King row and yet under date of August 16 the Bulletin places her in the list with these words: 'With this contribution Maine, the Pine Tree State, oversubscribed $5,000.'"

"Coming to Ohio, we find Portsmouth is not in the Ohio list, yet the Bulletin of August 16 says: 'Portsmouth raised its quota at one meeting.'"

"New Hampshire is not named and yet the bulletin of August 16 says: 'New Hampshire money is being sent every day to the eastern treasury.'"

"Only one city in Colorado, Denver, is mentioned, yet the bulletin of August 16, says: 'Colorado—S. C. Hamlin, State chairman, guarantees State's quota by September 1.'"

"Even South Dakota reports to the bulletin of date, August 10, that 'Sioux Falls promises its quota by August 15.' It is not in the $8,000,000 list."

"I am sure the country will be interested," the Governor continued, "in some of the methods that were adopted that kept things going. In the bulletin of August 16, Harry M. Blair, Mr. Upham's first assistant, under his own signature, contributed an article entitled, 'Step on it.'"

These are his slogans: "Harding and Coolidge have the confidence of the people,—but, boys, get the money." The platform is sound enough to hold the weight of the nation, but, boys, get the money. It takes time to organize, but we haven't any more time left. Boys, get the money. The weather is hot; the men are on vacations; meetings are hard to get, but boys, get the money. There are hills to climb but if you want to make a hill at the same speed you have been running where the road was level, you have got to give it more power. Give her the gas; stop on it."

Governor Cox closed his statement on contributions thus:

"When my charge of a corruption fund was first made, Will H. Hays, Chairman of the Republican National committee made a distinct threat in these words: 'If, at the instance of our adversaries, this campaign is finally resolved into a question of personal characters, we know of no reason aside from natural distaste why we should not meet that issue as readily as any other.'"

"I renew the charges and accept the challenge."

Big Crowd Cheers Cox.
A capacity audience cheered and cheered Governor Cox's address. The applause was heightened by tin horns, whistles and whistles which stretched their approval of the governor's statement.

"As he read the list of cities 'report' quotas, Governor Cox coming to the $800,000 set opposite to Dayton, Ohio, his home, interjected: 'It will take sixty times sixty thousand dollars to carry Dayton.'"

Governor Cox mixed into his prepared address humorous and sarcastic references to the reports of Republican subscriptions and he laughed with the crowd at his thrusts.

Commenting on the reported "underwriting" of contribution quotas Governor Cox suggested that a small group of men would guarantee payment in the event of deficits in the popular subscription.

"They'll need the money," Governor Cox interjected.

Besides declaring, as he concluded his statement on Republican contributions that he renewed his charges and accepted Mr. Hays' challenge, Governor Cox said:

"I prove the charges."
The governor asked whether anyone in the audience was not convinced. A man in the gallery stood up and shouted back: "Yes." Cries of "throw him out" were still by Governor Cox, who asked the man to stand up and insisted that he be given a hearing.

"Why are you not convinced?" asked the governor.

"Because you have not named a single individual or a corporation that has contributed one penny," the man replied.

Amid considerable confusion, Governor Cox replied that the Republican leaders could produce the names of contributors.

Crowds rushed the stage to shake hands with the governor after his address. Governor Cox left here at 11:10 p. m. for New Haven, Conn.

MOVIE SHOW FOR CITY CHILDREN

Every Boy and Girl Under 15 Invited To Executive Mansion Tonight

Every boy and girl in Raleigh under the age of 15 has a special invitation to be a guest of Governor and Mrs. T. W. Bickett at the Executive Mansion tonight at 8 o'clock. Moving pictures on the laws will be the entertainment, and the Governor and Mrs. Bickett are particularly anxious that the spacious grounds of the Mansion be thronged, that every child within reach of the place will be their guest.

The full resources of the community department of the State Board of Education will be called into service to provide a show for the youngsters, and the show will be a thriller. The service has every sort of picture from rib-fracturing comedies on up to geography lessons and history lessons taught by the pictures. Among the reels are many scenes taken right in Raleigh, and in other places. It is not unlikely that the guests may see themselves as the camera sees them.

The show will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. There will be plenty of seats on the grass, music as good as at any picture show, and a generous welcome from the host and hostess. The show will end when the guests get sleepy. The resources of the service are practically inexhaustible.

TRAFFIC VIOLATORS GET VARYING FINES

Four defendants in a short session of city court yesterday were convicted of various violations of the traffic ordinance. Officer W. E. Mangum gave testimony that brought fines ranging from $5 to $50 on the unlucky ones.

C. L. Jenkins, convicted of speeding at 15 miles an hour on North Saunders street Wednesday at 10:15 p. m., paid a fine of $25 and costs.

W. J. Daeschner, Grove 30 miles an hour on West Martin street and also drove his machine while drunk. He was fined $50 and costs.

Sherwood Scott, for operating his machine with the cut out open, was fined $10 and costs.

G. E. Lloyd, for driving with defective brakes, was taxed $5 and costs.

H. E. Smith, for cutting the corner on the left-hand side of the street, paid a fine of $5 and costs.

road law, and a commission to draft a proper workmen's compensation act, but in none of these did the House concur, and they lie on the unfavorable calendar or in committee.

The most interesting, but as things have turned out, not the most important thing to the State itself, done at the special session was the strangling of the 19th amendment. Not in any former session has there been such a scene as was enacted the day the Governor read his suffrage message, nor again when the Senate after a dramatic debate, voted under the leadership of Senator Warren, to postpone any action until next January.

Signs of Relief.
Members, pages, clerks and newspaper men who have followed the session so closely, sighed with relief when the gavel fell that spelled the end of the vigil.

TENNESSEE ANTIS WILL CONTINUE THEIR FIGHT

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 26.—Despite news from Washington that Secretary Colby had signed the proclamation announcing officially that the suffrage amendment to the constitution had ratified, leaders of the anti today continued preparations for mass meetings throughout the State on Saturday as protests against ratification.

Mrs. O. T. Hester Severely Injured.
Mrs. O. T. Hester, wife of a farmer, living near Neuse, eight miles from Raleigh on the Millburne road, suffered a compound fracture of the leg yesterday afternoon at 6:00 o'clock while working with her husband in a tobacco field. A wheel of the small cart which hauls the tobacco from between the rows crushed the limb when Mrs. Hester slipped in front of the front wheel just at the moment the horses pulled away.

She was brought to Rex Hospital last night, treated by Dr. B. J. Lawrence, and was reported late last night as resting well.

SECRETARY COLBY SIGNS DOCUMENT

happy stride. When his eyes met the eyes of the little group of anxious, tired but happy women in the passage way, a smile lighted his face and he raised his hat. But before he could speak a chorus of voices fell on his ears:

"Where is the proclamation?"

"Why, I issued it two hours ago," replied the Secretary with the feeling of assurance that he had beaten the court injunction.

Every face in that little group of fighting women flushed with anger. The secretary in his haste to beat the anti had beaten the militants and they turned on their high French heels in a mood of wrath and disgust worthy of militants.

About an hour after this scene, Mrs. Catt, Mrs. Upham, Mrs. Williams and Miss Dana returned to call on the Secretary. While they were there, some one who had seen the crestfallen militants depart, sent word to Miss Paul that Secretary Colby wanted to see her and her party so that he could re-enact the signing and issuing of that proclamation for the picture. Miss Paul and her friends immediately went to the Secretary's office but on their way they saw Mrs. Catt and her party retiring. For fear Mrs. Catt would see them they concealed themselves in an alcove till Mrs. Catt had passed out.

Miss Paul was then informed that the Secretary wished to see her at 4 o'clock.

"But we came here to get our picture taken, and not to see the Secretary himself."

This straw was enough to break the camel's back for the Secretary had not sent for them. They took an elevator to the basement and slipped back to their quarters.

Tonight Mrs. Catt's party is celebrating. Miss Paul has been invited to occupy a seat on the stage. But she will hardly do so after the statement of Mrs. Abby Scott Baker of her party. Mrs. Baker said:

"It was quite tragic. This was the final culmination of the women's fight and women, irrespective of factions should have been allowed to be honored when the proclamation was signed. However, the women of America have fought a great fight and nothing can take from them their triumph."

KEEN MINDED MEN, ENERGETIC AND SUCCESSFUL Rely on It Asserts Prominent N. Y. Physician.

Men and women, nervous and fretful, easily upset and often fatigued, need plenty of organic phosphate, and the sooner they heed this advice the better their health will be. In every one of the millions of cells that make up your body, phosphorus is a most important part.

Your nervous system, your brain, your blood and even your bones must have a sufficient supply of phosphorus or weariness, nervousness and a general run-down condition, as well as lack of mental power is sure to result.

Big men of affairs—mighty men who control industries because of sheer will power and nervous force, know this, or if they don't are clever enough to have a physician who does.

Physicians more and more are realizing that Nitro-Phosphate, as dispensed by Hicks-Crabtree and all leading drug stores, is a necessity to every forty per cent of men and women, because present day foods do not contain enough phosphate to give the body and especially the nervous system the supply it needs.

Speaking on this very subject, Dr. Frederick S. Koelle, Editor-in-Chief of "Hygiene" and a nationally known author of medical text books, in a most emphatic statement said:

"If I had my way, Nitro-Phosphate should be prescribed by every doctor and used in every hospital."

Later, Dr. Koelle said: "What the nerve tissues begin to lose its vitality, woman begins to lose her youth and vivaciousness. Her lively, pleasant disposition fades away—she becomes irritable, unaccomplishable, moody and despondent. It would indeed be a godsend if more men and women were aware of the efficacy of Nitro-Phosphate."

Hot weather is dreaded by men and women who are weak, thin, nervous, timid and lacking in vigorous development because it saps their vitality almost to the breaking point. To all such people Nitro-Phosphate is recommended because it is the one organic phosphate which, when absorbed by the system, will supply the element necessary for a vigorous, healthy body free from any suggestion of weakness or disordered nerves.

Your druggist has Nitro-Phosphate in the original package with complete instructions for best results.—(adv.)
