

JULES JUSSERAND TO BRING LATEST VIEWS ON LEAGUE

French Ambassador Will Return to United States From France November 24

COMMERCIAL RELATIONS ALSO OF IMPORTANCE

Think Principal Allied Powers Willing to Meet Desires of United States in Regard to League Covenant, But Not Through the Lodge Reservations

Washington, Nov. 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Jules Jusserand, the French ambassador, who went home several months ago and who later was assigned to special duty in connection with the settlement of the Polish question, is to return to Washington on November 24. He is expected to bring with him the latest news of his government regarding the recasting of the League of Nations covenant and to be prepared to discuss the subject with the officials of the Harding administration as soon as they are in office and ready to proceed.

It has long been known in diplomatic circles in Washington that the principal allied powers were prepared to go far towards meeting any desire of the American government for changes in the plan of the covenant, but it has been stated in at least one important quarter that such changes must in no way violate the reservation principles.

It does not believe that such changes would be made by reservations such as were proposed in the so-called Lodge plan. In their opinion amendments would be necessary. These would require the approval of the various signatory powers.

Commercial Relations.

Another matter that will engage the attention of Ambassador Jusserand is the status of the commercial relations between the United States and France under existing treaties. France last spring gave notice to all powers with which she had commercial treaties of the termination of these covenants, her purpose being to replace them with a complete set of new treaties shaped to meet the new conditions in trade and commerce resulting from the war. Before the denunciation took effect, however, the French government withdrew the notice so far as it concerned the United States.

France, however, has not abandoned her plan of revising all of her commercial treaties and is understood to be deferring the opening of negotiations with the United States until after the change of administrations in Washington on next March 4. Before the negotiations are opened, M. Jusserand is expected to acquaint himself with the plans of the Republican leaders in the matter of tariff revision, which might greatly influence the character of any new commercial convention.

Commissioner Page Builds 803 Miles of Road in Year

economically a cent more than we are spending now. We haven't the material nor the labor will it do any more than we are doing. We can't get it."

"Will conditions materially change during the coming year?"

"They ought to," the commissioner declared. "Cement is cheaper now than it was, but we are still having a Dickens of a time getting it moved. Labor is cheaper and more efficient. It is a little more plentiful."

Silent On Bond Issue.

The commissioner refused to be drawn out over the proposed plans of Col. Tom Kirkpatrick to build 1,800 miles of hard surfaced roads next year. He smiled broadly at the suggestion, but nothing more in the way of answer would be made. Neither would he say what the Legislature ought to do about new road legislation.

"I'm trying to build roads. I am not in the Legislature," he said. "But whatever they do, they ought to do it on a five-year program. It would hardly do to spend five million next year and none the year after that."

"We might do very well to take over the State system of roads and build it. I would like to see the automobile fund devoted entirely to the maintenance of the roads that we have built and about two and a half million dollars annually for five years or more could be raised by an ad valorem tax without burdening anybody."

These matters Mr. Page intends to leave to the General Assembly to determine without any suggestion from him. Two things will ask for an appropriation of about a quarter of a million dollars with which to erect and operate two rock quarries to provide crushed stone for hard surfaced roads, and about an equal amount to build a cement mill in one of the western counties where raw material is available.

With these things working full time, road building will have passed two of its worst difficulties, and there will remain only the problem of transportation of material and finding somebody to do the work. Construction could be expanded to twice the present scale, and done very economically, and at a cost of about half the present cost of roadbuilding under the conditions at present prevailing.

WILL DECIDE BASEBALL REORGANIZATION TODAY

Whether or Not There Will Be War in Major Leagues Will Be Decided Today

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 7.—Whether war is to break out in the major baseball leagues or the dove of peace is to continue to soar above the professional ranks of the national game probably will be decided here tomorrow when separate meetings of the two factions in the proposed reorganization of baseball will be held.

Today preliminary conferences were held by both sides. President Ben Johnson, of the American League, met with Clark Griffith, of the Washington club, and Connie Mack, of the Philadelphia Americans, the other three members of what Johnson terms the "loyal five" failing to appear. They were expected to be here tomorrow, however, for the league meeting, which President Johnson has called. Meeting a few blocks away with John Heydler, President of the National League, were 12 representatives of the National League clubs. Tomorrow they will hold another meeting.

The National League men, who with the Chicago, New York and Boston American League clubs have gone on record in favor of the "Civilian Tribunal" of three financially disinterested men as the controlling body of professional baseball, conferred from 2 o'clock this afternoon until late tonight. Only a brief recess for supper interrupted the meeting.

It was known that methods of avoiding a war were discussed by the National Leaguers, but there apparently was no let-up in their determination to force reorganization of the game or else force a 12 club league without the five American league clubs, which with President Johnson so far have refused to approve the Lasker plan which is fostered by the National Leaguers.

President Heydler said after the meeting the situation was the same now as when the eleven clubs signed their agreement to form a twelve-club league if the other five American League clubs do not believe that such changes would be made by reservations such as were proposed in the so-called Lodge plan.

Commercial Relations.

Another matter that will engage the attention of Ambassador Jusserand is the status of the commercial relations between the United States and France under existing treaties.

NEW EXPORT CORPORATION READY JANUARY FIRST

New Orleans, La., Nov. 7.—Dr. P. H. Saunders, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the Federal foreign finance corporation, which was organized here Saturday at a meeting of over 100 prominent Southern bankers, announced today that the new corporation would be ready for business by January 2, 1921.

The corporation was organized with an authorized capital of $60,000,000 which it is estimated, will give it a financing power of at least $60,000,000, which will be used to assist producers of the South in marketing their products in foreign countries, with special attention to cotton, sugar, rice and lumber. It is altogether probable that capital stock, which will be subscribed by bankers of 12 Southern states, will be doubled within a few months.

The directors elected at the meeting Saturday will meet at an early date to elect officers and outline a program. Organization plans will be rushed in order that the work of assisting the producers of the South will be well underway by January 1.

"By that time," declared Dr. Saunders in discussing plans for the organization today, "the cotton, sugar, rice and lumber people are expected to have at their call the facilities of an institution sufficiently strong to finance a large amount of exports and to begin to extend credits to foreign countries on commodities raised in this section."

IRISH SYMPATHIZERS MARCH AROUND THE WHITE HOUSE

Washington, Nov. 7.—Hundreds of Irish sympathizers marched for an hour tonight in single file around the White House as a protest against the recent death of Terence MacSwiney, Lord Mayor of Cork, who starved himself in Brixton prison. The demonstration was organized at a meeting of the local branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom earlier in the evening, and it was announced it would be repeated each night for 73 days, once for each of the days MacSwiney fasted before his death.

REJECTED SUITOR KILLS YOUNG GIRL

Albert Ellis Admits Murder of Eighteen-Year-Old Typist at St. Louis

St. Louis, Nov. 7.—Edna Ellis, the 18-year-old typist, whose body was found with the throat slashed in a vacant lot near her home here Friday morning, was killed by Albert Ellis, 21, a rejected suitor, according to a signed confession Ellis made to the police today.

According to Ellis' alleged confession, he intended to commit suicide, but the blade of the razor he used broke as he slashed the throat of his victim the third time.

Ellis, who is an electrician, only admitted killing after several hours' grilling, according to the police. He was arrested Saturday morning on information furnished by Mrs. Marie Ellis, mother of the slain girl. She said Ellis, who formerly lived at her home, had threatened her daughter for breaking off their engagement after a quarrel.

According to the alleged confession, Ellis waited at the corner Thursday night where she left the car on returning from work, but she refused to talk to him, the police say, and started to cut through a vacant lot to her home. Ellis is said to have stated that he followed the girl and struck her, knocking her down. When she arose, according to the alleged confession, he attacked her with the razor.

When the girl's body was found both hands were badly lacerated.

The alleged slayer is said to have admitted that he saw the razor and struggled with him, at the same time begging him not to cut her.

The report that Ellis had confessed to the murder was made at the police station where he is held. Police made unsuccessful attempts to keep the people moving, but there was little talk of violence.

PALMER CHIEF FEATURE IN CONSPIRACY CASE

Attorney-General's Part in Soft Coal Case to Be Investigated in Court

Indianapolis, Nov. 7.—Investigation of Attorney General Palmer's connection with the soft coal conspiracy case is expected to take precedence over the case itself tomorrow when it is called for trial in the Federal district court of Judge A. B. Anderson. A continuance will be asked by the government; it is expected, due to the resignation of Dan W. Simms and L. Ert Slack, special assistant district attorneys, to bring about the removal to the jurisdiction of the Indiana court a number of the defendants living in Illinois and Ohio.

Judge Anderson recently notified the attorney general that an investigation would be held in open court regarding his connection with the case. Mr. Simms resigned early in October, giving as his reason that he had received instructions from the attorney general regarding elimination of certain evidence. These instructions, Mr. Simms said, "literally cut the heart out of the case."

Arguments regarding a continuance are expected to precipitate the investigation inasmuch as those precipitated Mr. Simms' resignation.

Frank C. Dailey, one of the attorneys representing the bituminous coal miners under indictment, and Mr. Simms, have been subpoenaed to appear in court tomorrow. They are expected to testify regarding the attorney general's connection with the case.

prominence as a unit of State government. Like some of the counties of the West, it has been heard from in the past only on election day and for more than twenty years it has been returning a big Democratic majority.

TENSE PRESSURE ON HER HEAD

"My Sides, Back and Head Pained Me Just All the Time," Says Alabama Lady, Who Took Cardui and Got Well.

Uniontown, Ala.—"After the birth of my baby, I came near dying," writes Mrs. Maude Felts, of Uniontown. "I was in an awful condition. . . . It just looked like I would die."

"I couldn't bear anyone to even touch me, I was so sore, not even to turn me in bed. My sides, back and head all pained me, just all the time."

"We had the doctor every day and he did everything he knew how, it looked like. Yet I lay there suffering such intense pains as seems I can't describe."

"Finally, I said to my husband, let us try Cardui. . . . He went for it at once, and before I had taken the first bottle the . . . came back, the soreness began to go away, and I began to mend. The intense pressure seemed all at once to leave my head, and before long I was up."

"I took three bottles and was well and strong and able to do my work. I believed Cardui saved my life. . . . I cannot praise it enough for what it did for me."

If you are a woman, and need a tonic—

The most outstanding political figure of a generation is Senator Joseph Addison Brown, of Chadbourn, and looming large in the Democratic horizon is Congressman-elect Homer L. Grand Lyon, Tucker, class-mate, once a law partner and now co-editor with the next Congressman, is most prominent in the opposition party and though the two have waged political warfare on every stump in the district they have remained the warmest personal friends.

Senator Brown right now is not the most optimistic person in the county. Like many another Democrat, he looked for the election of Senator Harding and was surprised only in the majority. As a large cotton grower, banker and merchant, in addition to a Democratic war horse of no mean proportions, he appraises the situation mostly from the standpoint of its effect on trade conditions in the South.

The downward trend for the last day is not encouraging, he declares, and it is crying wolf now to talk about diversified farming. The farmer ought to have been preparing for this condition and his salvation lies in the measure of his ability to recoup in the face of over production of the staple.

The American Cotton Association, of which he is a prominent officer, is faced with the critical condition of the Federal banks, he fears, and the hope of the South is in a steady reorganization of international conditions. To Republicans will attempt nothing so long as Mr. Wilson remains in the White House, and the hope of the grower is that a Republican administration in full control can bring relief after March fourth. The problem of financing next year's crop is upon the merchants and the most of them must yet solve it.

"In July when I attended gatherings at Asheville, I secured rooms for both of us at the Grove Park Inn, but she found excuse for not going. Again I offered to take her with me to New York later, and expected her to go, but she again made excuse and stayed at home."

We informed her that Mr. Varner had delegated us to tell her that he could no longer live with her, and to ask her to go to the home of her mother in Salt Lake City, Utah. After some protestations, she agreed to do this.

"I assisted her in securing proper baggage. She selected the route over which she wished to travel to Salt Lake City. The ticket was purchased here and I handed it to her on the morning before she left in the afternoon for Salisbury, where she boarded a train. Considerable excess baggage was checked here for her on the day proper checks. Before leaving Lexington for Salisbury, to which point I drove her in automobile accompanied by an aged colored servant, Anna Miller, I told Mrs. Varner that Mr. Varner had left town for the afternoon and did not desire to see her as he was fully convinced."

"Mrs. Varner had requested that I convey her to Salisbury, where she might board a train in order to avoid embarrassment at the station here from any curious persons who might be around."

Women Who Need Strength Should Read and Consider These Facts

Why will women continue to drag around sickly, nervous, ailing, tired all the time, no energy or ambition to do anything when it has been demonstrated over and over again right in our midst, that Vinol, the cod liver and iron strength-creator and body-builder will make rich red blood, quicken the circulation and restore strength, vitality and energy to every organ and muscle of the body.

If women would only stop and consider that their weakened, sickly, ailing condition is almost always caused by poor blood and how quickly Vinol increases the red corpuscles and enriches the blood, druggists in this town would not be able to supply the demand.—(Adv.)
