

Army Reorganization Marks New Military Era in U. S.

Secretary Baker, in Annual Report, Reviews Nation's Military Activities

MUST HAVE ARMY AS GREAT WORKING MODEL

Provides Great for Swiftly Building Great Armies in Time of Stress

Washington, Nov. 28.—The post-war reorganization of the army marks a new era in the military history of the country, Secretary Baker declares in his annual report, made public today, as it provides an effective model on which great armies could be swiftly built in times of emergency.

Reviewing the military activities of the nation since 1776, Secretary Baker says that although the United States "the most peace-loving of all nations" it had been engaged in major domestic or foreign wars about one out of every four years during that period and that the military power of the country had been in active use in war or military operations of some kind about three out of every four years.

"It is apparent, therefore, that while we do not need a great standing army we must live in the world as it while we fight its battles outarmed and outstruggled to make it what it should be," Mr. Baker says. "We must have a body of trained men large enough in number to be an effective working model upon which great armies can be swiftly built in event of emergency."

"A justice-loving people may be forced by tragic necessity to resort to war, but it has no right to ask its sons to fight its battles out armed and outshielded by an adversary."

Lessons of World War.

In studying the lessons of the World War the War Department had proceeded on the accepted theory that the importance of other arms of the service had been greatly increased by the swift developments of war.

"Profound and fundamental changes in armament were introduced and many of the instrumentalities devised are apparently only at the beginning of their development," said the War Secretary. "The infantry itself is no longer the foot-soldier armed with the musket but the foot-soldier with the long range, high power repeating rifle, the automatic rifle and the machine gun, which, in some of its uses, is analogous to light artillery. The advance of the infantry is no longer merely covered by protecting artillery fire but the path of the advance must be cleared of obstructions and its position, once attained, must be protected by artillery of great power and extreme mobility."

Mr. Baker makes no comment on universal military training, a plan rejected by Congress in enacting the new army reorganization bill, but in reviewing the provisions of the new military law, he says that one of the most important features of the legislation is the provision for a "most efficient and systematic relationship between the National Guard and the regular army."

This provision, Mr. Baker declares, will do much to "prevent antagonisms which have in the past been the not unnatural but nevertheless unhappy characteristic of the relationships of the two forces."

Essentially New Army.

"The army is essentially a new army," Mr. Baker continues, "not merely another army that which existed prior to the war, but new in its attitude toward the country and the country's attitude toward it. The extent to which a new era has dawned for the army is shown by recruiting. The difficulty in securing the necessary enlistments of our small pre-war army has in a large part disappeared, although the stimulus of active operations has now entirely disappeared the total strength of the army November 3, 1920, was 213,067."

Mr. Baker declares that the one-year enlistment period authorized by Congress has not justified itself and asserts that "from the point of view of the efficiency of the army one-year enlistment periods are of little value."

The report reviews at length the new educational and recreational program established since the war and declares that "the time will come when the peace-time army will be throughout an educational institution from which men will graduate better equipped to enter civilian pursuits and with a larger and firmer grasp on citizenship and its responsibilities and privileges."

Total Cost of War.

The total cost of the war through the War Department is placed by the Secretary at about $15,730,000,000 and it is stated that in the liquidation of claims and contracts the department saved the government 87 per cent of the outstanding obligations at the end of the war.

Discussing the disposal of surplus war stocks Secretary Baker recommends that in the future the department's plans keep in mind an effort to have on hand at the termination of a war supplies of a character, so far as consistent with army needs, that could readily and quickly be absorbed into the country's commerce.

Declaring that he is happy to leave to his successors in the War Department the assurance that "in any national emergency they have but to use and direct the limitless capacity and willingness of the American people which spontaneously offers itself when a crisis comes," Mr. Baker concludes his report with a tribute to the navy and civilian war organizations for co-operation during and after the war, and declares that:

"In equipment, personnel and spirit the army of the United States today is an object of just pride to the country."

Quincy, Mass., Nov. 28.—The keel of the super-dreadnaught Massachusetts will be laid soon after New Year's Day, it was announced tonight at the Fore River plant of the Bethlehem Ship Building Corporation, Ltd. She will have electric drive, and engines of 60,000 h. p., and her speed is to be 23 knots. The armament will comprise twelve 16-inch guns and a secondary battery of sixteen 5-inch guns.

The keel of the Lexington, a battle cruiser, will be laid soon after that of the Massachusetts. She will have nearly the same beam, but her length overall is to be 800 feet and displacement 43,500 tons. The Lexington's engines of 180,000 horse-power will yield a speed of 35 knots under electric drive. She will mount eight 16-inch guns, and sixteen 5-inch guns, and also will have eight torpedo tubes.

Two unnamed scout cruisers with 90,000 horse-power engines and a speed of 35 knots also will be built at Fore River in the coming year. The plant now is working on naval construction that will total approximately $75,000,000.

GOVERNOR OF STATE OF TABASCO IS DEPOSED

Mexico City, Nov. 27.—Supporters of General Green, who recently was deposed as governor of the State of Tabasco, the state capital today and appointed Tomas Garrido as governor. The seizure of power was carried out without loss of life.

After an entire new official program of Green supporters had been named, a letter was directed to the State senate stating that the seizure was in retaliation for General Green's deposition.

General Green was deposed several weeks ago after soldiers, alleged to be acting upon his orders, killed two members of the chamber of deputies and wounded several spectators, while attempting to arrest Deputy Lassano, who had fled into the chamber after shooting an army captain.

General Green is now in a Mexico City prison awaiting trial.

CARDINAL DENOUNCES MURDERS IN IRELAND

Dublin, Nov. 28.—Cardinal Logue, the primate of Ireland, in a pastoral letter read today in all the churches of the archdiocese denounces the murders in Ireland and declares that if a balance were struck between last Sunday's assassinations of officers and the shooting by the police in Croke Park, he believes it "should be given against the forces of the crown."

The Cardinal's letter scathingly arraigns the methods the government is pursuing, but warns the people "against any association, secret or open which would lead them into any disorders or crime."

The Cardinal in a letter says the ardent hopes of the Irish people for peace are shared by European and other countries. In support of this he cites a letter from the Archbishop of Malines and all the bishops in Belgium conveying their cordial sympathy to the Irish people.

ENGLAND CANCELS COAL AGREEMENT WITH FRANCE

London, Nov. 28.—The agreement whereby England supplied France with 45 per cent of England's output of export coal has been cancelled. This action follows a conference of the British and French ministers at London on Friday.

With the lapse of this agreement allocations of coal for southern establishments also are withdrawn but the obligation to supply a certain quantity of coal to Italy, remains unaltered.

By virtue of the cancellation of this agreement British exporters will be free to accept or refuse the prices offered by French coal importers. The German press has recently been complaining that France is now so well stocked with coal as to be able to offer to sell the coal delivered by Germany at an exorbitant price.

WILL OFFER TWO NEW SAVINGS CERTIFICATES

Washington, Nov. 28.—Two new treasury savings securities, a $1 treasury savings certificate and a $25 treasury savings certificate will be issued during the coming year, Secretary Houston announced today. They will complete the line of government saving securities, he said, and place operations on a peace time basis.

The $1 savings stamp will be non-interest bearing and will carry the portrait of Alexander Hamilton, first secretary of the treasury. The $25 certificate will be similar in design and terms to the $100 and $1,000 certificates, which also will be offered in 1921 to mature January 1, 1926. The new securities will supply a $1 unit for saving and a registered government security in the $25 denomination, which may be purchased through accumulation of $1 savings stamps.

ICE BREAK IN MISSOURI RIVER CAUSES DAMAGE

Bismarck, N. D., Nov. 28.—The ice broke in the Missouri river here today and within an hour the stream had risen several feet, eight inches, causing out a large portion of a temporary bridge used while a new bridge is being built. Several workmen had narrow escapes from injury or death.

O. W. Roberts, weather observer, said it was the first time in the history of the local bureau that ice had broken up at this time of the year. The maximum thickness was about nine inches until a week ago when a spell of unusually warm weather set in.

Fears were expressed that live stock herds in the river bottoms might be caught in the sudden rise.

SAYS KITCHIN'S ATTACK "BLESSING IN DISGUISE."

Will Make Congressman More Careful With Diet; Is Getting Along Nicely

By E. E. POWELL. (Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 28.—Dr. Lewis J. Battle, Congressman Claude Kitchin's physician, thinks the attack of nausea which Mr. Kitchin suffered while in conference with Postmaster General Burleson yesterday is perhaps a "blessing in disguise."

"It will make him a little bit more careful as to his diet," the doctor said tonight. He said that Mr. Kitchin will be able to return to the Capitol and resume his work within a day or two.

"There is absolutely no symptoms of another stroke of paralysis," he added. "Mr. Kitchin walked up the steps in the House today and is resting nicely."

The Tar Heel will be able to assume the minority leadership in the next Congress as the successor to Champ Clark, who was defeated for re-election this time. He will also be able to take an active and, most likely, a helligent part in the consideration of the appropriation measures during the short session meeting next week.

CONVERT SEVEN CARGO VESSELS INTO TANKERS

Philadelphia, Nov. 28.—A security of tank steamers in the oil and molasses carrying trade has resulted in the conversion of seven of the Hog Island cargo carriers into tankers. Two of the converted ships have already had the necessary work done and are now operating from Gulf ports with excellent records. They are the Hesperus and the Hesperus. The former vessel recently established new records for three trips between Matanzas and Mobile and New Orleans, carrying 25,070 tons of molasses.

The five other vessels which are being converted into tank steamers for the oil trade are the Hesperus, the Hesperus, the Hesperus, the Hesperus, and the Hesperus. They are now having longitudinal bulkheads installed and the necessary angles and wash plates placed to enable them to carry crude oil. The work is being done at the Globe Shipbuilding Company's plant, Baltimore.

The Shipping Board sold the vessels at a price said to be $184 per deadweight ton, the owners receiving a 7,225 dead-weight ton tanker, delivery being made in about one month's time, about five weeks being required to make the changes.

MURDERER OF ROSE BELIEVED ARRESTED

Asheville, Nov. 28.—Word has been received here by local prohibition agents from Supervisor Braine, of Richmond, that a man believed to be J. E. (Babe) Burnett, wanted by Federal officers on charges of killing prohibition Agent J. H. Rose, in Swain county last month, has been arrested in Spokane, Washington.

A new description of Burnett will be forwarded the Washington officials, for a clearer identification, it is stated.

Rose was killed when he attempted to raid an illicit still on Burnett's place in Swain county, several weeks ago. The officers state that they believe the still belonged to Burnett but that they had been unable to prove it. Rose was shot down by Burnett, just as the former walked around the corner of a barn and Burnett made good his escape.

Only one ship entered port today and none departed. While none of the vessels in the harbor were damaged in the storm, many of them were in constant danger from drifting anchors.

Traffic in the city was tied up throughout the morning, streets in various sections of the city having been flooded at high tide. Regular trolley service was not undertaken until 3 o'clock this afternoon, when the water had receded sufficiently to allow cars to pass through the streets in the lower sections of the city. At high tide tonight the streets were again flooded.
