

KIWANIANS TO PUT ON SHOW TONIGHT

Will Give Entertainment in City Auditorium To School Children

The Kiwanis entertainment to the school children of Raleigh will begin promptly at 8 o'clock tonight in the auditorium. The doors of the auditorium will open at seven. Tickets slightly in excess of the seating capacity have been distributed, but some tickets will not be used and there is standing room for several hundred.

Apparently a capacity audience will see this initial entertainment, which is not only new and novel in its concept, but abounds in pleasing spectacular and humorous features.

Admission will be by ticket until 8 o'clock. After which time the doors will be open to all who desire admission and can find a seat or standing room, and to those who do not object to taking chances in the matter of gaining admission or do not object to standing during the performance, a cordial invitation is extended by the Kiwanians.

John S. McDonald and Dr. E. Robert Horton, with a corps of eighteen assistants from the Kiwanis Club and a special detail of police and firemen, will amply provide for the comfort and safety of the audience.

Much of the detail of the program has been published in the columns of the daily press. Complete programs, giving cast of characters, will be distributed at the auditorium. From the "Introductory" and "The Raising of the Colors" to "Taps and Dismissal," there will not be a dull moment. The single purpose in view has been to present an entertainment that would please the children.

In "moments of mystery" and in "peerless prestidigitations," Mr. A. F. Bowen will amuse and astonish his young friends, and he will be followed by W. C. Crosby and the pictures of the Raleigh-Durham High School football game, Mutt and Jeff and Puss in Boots.

Another very pleasing number, which is the last on the program, is a scene from "The Adventure of the Lady Utrana," which will be presented by the high school dramatic club. Every act is a feature. But it will all be seen and it will all be told at the big show tonight at the city auditorium.

EMPLOYEE OF COTTON MILL KILLS HIMSELF WITH GUN

Rutherfordton, Dec. 16.—Ed Branch, a white man about 45 years of age, who was an employe of the Henrietta mills at Henrietta committed suicide Sunday morning at 9 o'clock about seven miles southeast of Harris, at the home of Robert Parker. Branch and a fellow companion, Roland E. Goode, were supposed to be parking together near Harris Saturday afternoon. It is reported that they were drinking and had a fuss. Branch cut Goode several ugly wounds about the face and neck. Goode was rushed to Avondale hospital and is improving. Branch spent Saturday night at Mr. Parker's and called

STATE COLLEGE RAISES ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

A report of a special committee recommending that, beginning with September, 1921, fifteen units of high school credit be required to enter the freshman class free of condition, has been made to the faculty of State college.

This action advancing the requirement one unit beyond the former requirements is made desirable it is pointed out for two reasons: First, more and more State college graduates, both in agriculture and in engineering, are going for advanced work to higher institutions. Although these ambitious men have in the past done credit to the college, they are under distinct disadvantage in having to present to a university a diploma from a college not Grade A. Fifteen units in entrance requirement is all that is needed to make State college Grade A. The second reason for the advance in requirement is that as under the new order, all the freshmen will enter upon their work better prepared, the college will be spared the embarrassment of having to dismiss men not able to "keep the pace," and at the same time a higher grade of work will be made possible.

The advanced requirement is justified, furthermore, it is argued, by the fact that the high schools of the State are more numerous and are doing better work than ever before. No boy genuinely ambitious, and with capacity to take the higher education lacks now the opportunity to prepare himself to enter college with fifteen units of credit.

Of the fifteen units, eight and a half are prescribed: English, 3; history, 2; mathematics, 2-2, and science, 1. The remaining six and a half may be offered from a liberal list of subjects, including sciences, foreign languages, history, agriculture and farm practice, commercial branches, mechanic arts, and mill practice. Full details of the requirements for admission to the freshman class and to the other courses offered by the college can be had by writing a postcard request to the Registrar of the State College, West Raleigh, N. C.

RELEASE PEARCE BOYS UNDER BOND

Two White Boys Only Required To Give Bonds of $200 Each; Avery Also Out

Priestly Pearce, Cecil Pearce and Tom Avery, who have confessed to having aided in stealing merchandise, for receiving which, A. J. Honeycutt and T. E. Holding, Jr., two prominent Wake county merchants have been convicted in the United States District Court, were yesterday released under bond for their appearance at the May term of the court.

The bond of each of the white boys was placed at $200 each, while Avery was released under a bond of $500. The Pearce boys are only 19 and 17 years old, respectively.

Tom Williams and Jim Lawson, two other negroes who have also confessed, are still being held in jail.

Both of the Pearce boys had been in the Wake county jail since their arrest in mid October, while Avery has been out on bond before but was placed in jail after his appearance as a witness in the Honeycutt case. The negroes who are still being held both ran away and had to be brought back from points outside of the State.

Priestly Pearce, Tom Avery and Tom Williams were all used at witnesses in both the Honeycutt and the Holding cases and Cecil Pearce was used in the Honeycutt case.

District Attorney E. F. Aydlotte has announced that no more of the cases will be tried at this term of court. Two other brothers of the Pearce boys are under indictments. Vance Pearce has denied the charges against him and Herbert Pearce was only apprehended Friday and is now being held at Miami, Florida.

LIPPARD MURDER TRIAL CONTINUES

to know what to say finally said that he wouldn't swear what he did or didn't say. When he had concluded, it was evident that he had been worth more as a witness to the State than to the defense. Solicitor Huffman had at least left the impression on the minds of the listening crowd that he had scored the point that the State had been trying to make that it might have been any other night that Lou was with the party at Bum Town and had also given substance to his theory that it was a frame up between the boys to relate the story of another night as being the same on which the murder occurred.

Baxter Hildebrand, the leading witness of the afternoon, spent several days in jail just following the murder because of circumstances which seemed to connect him with the affair. He was released after Lou Lynn had told her story but it is evidently the theory of the State, yet from the way in which Hildebrand was questioned on cross-examination that he knows more than he has told probably, that he was a member of the poker party at first or had arranged to be absent when the murder occurred for some reason, possibly to replenish the supply of liquor.

His evidence, if believed by the jury, furnishes an alibi for Lone Young. He swears that he was with Young continuously from 8 o'clock that Saturday night until 12 and recounted where they were, what they did and who was with them.
