Annual Presbyterian Gathering Will Take Place May 31-June 7

The annual conference for young people, conducted jointly by the Presbyterian Synod of North Carolina and the Women's Synical auxiliary will be held at Peace Institute May 31 to June 7 and the program for the session has been announced.

GREENVILLE TO HAVE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Greenville, April 24.—Announcement is made by the board of directors, Greenville Chamber of Commerce, that an intensive effort will be launched immediately to expand their organization.

WARREN WINS THE CARR MEDAL AT UNIVERSITY

Chapel Hill, April 24.—The Julian S. Carr medal, highest oratorical prize open to members of the junior class at the University of North Carolina, has been won by Thomas L. Warren, of Lenoir, who spoke on the subject "Liberty and the Blue Laws."

NEW BERN BOX CONCERN WILL REBUILD ITS PLANT

New Bern, April 24.—It has been decided at a meeting of the board of directors of the Neuse Veneer and Box Company that the plant will be rebuilt at New Bern at once, if a spur track can be obtained from the Norfolk Southern to the site of the plant at Union Point which was destroyed by fire about two weeks ago in one of the most disastrous and fierce fires to occur in this city in many years.

Daniels Tells How Clever Spy Got Truth of Big German Conspiracies

That plans of such importance should fall into the hands of the enemy; but he congratulated the German spy on the Argentinean upon having so wise and discreet and skilled a leader as Count Luxburg, who no doubt, had been able to negotiate many a vital bit of business for the fatherland without discovery.

Brecht Leaves for Berlin.

On the other hand, even though it were true that the enemy had obtained some rather valuable information from them, was it not true a thousand times over that the marvelous secret service of Germany had kept the imperial authorities familiar with every thought and move of the enemy? Germany's secret agents were everywhere.

"Spurio Versenkt" Message

Then came a bolt from the blue. The famous "spurio versenkt" message of the clever and gracious and devoted Count von Luxburg was given to the world.

Of course, it was never intended that the world should get that message, and least of all that it should be printed with big headlines and in black-face type in the newspapers of Buenos Aires.

If you are the guest of a government and you send word to your own government suggesting that should it have occasion to destroy any of the shipping belonging to your host it should do so "spurio versenkt"—without leaving any trace—the government of which you are a guest is likely to feel as if its hospitality were not wisely bestowed.

The regret of Dr. Brecht that he might not do this service for the fatherland was even deeper than his words betrayed. His regret that the count must leave, under such circumstances, possibly overshadowed the disappointment he felt at being denied the privilege of sending messages to the imperial government.

Born German Club

The night of the day upon which Count von Luxburg had his passport Dr. Brecht dined at the Bismarck restaurant with some of his German friends. He left for his home in the company of one of them. They had not gone far before their attention was attracted by a glare on the night sky which plainly indicated that a big fire was raging not far away.

Then Dr. Brecht Chuckled

When the doctor was at last alone in his room, with the door securely closed and no fear of any listening eavesdropper, there is good reason to suspect he chuckled audibly.

Not the Only Secret Service

I have told this story—one of not a few that might be told about naval intelligence—in order that my readers may realize that Germany's secret service was not the only service of its kind which operated effectively during the war.

Plot after plot was circumvented by American agents. Capt. Frans Papan wrote of us as "those idiotic Yankees," little thinking that we should give his opinion of us to the world and turn the laugh on him and his government.

The German character and habit of thought thoroughly.

When in February of 1917 war loomed as a practical certainty he was enrolled, at his own request, in naval intelligence and on March 3, more than a month before we entered the struggle, he sailed for Brazil, from which country there had come rumors and reports of skeleton regiments of German veterans, stores of ammunition, and even submarine parts ready for assembling when the hour for us arrived.

of the country. The War Department had sold in the last nine months about 80,000,000 pounds through city and town officials, bankers and business men and civic associations, and declared that having fed into all marketable channels all the canned meats the country would absorb, holds that it has made a good sale, and that it also releases thousands of feet of warehouse space costing many thousands of dollars a year.

Sold Liquor As Quinine.

North Carolina corn liquor came into the limelight with the arrest yesterday of a negro tailor for retailing at 50 cents a three per drink from a bottle labelled "quinine hair tonic" and it was in gallon bottles. The negro was taken in a raid made on the place, charged with illegal possession and retailing, and was released on a bond of $1,000 to appear in court.

A vigorous "drive" is being conducted to get the veterans of the world war to come forward or send after their Victory Medals. Churches have been asked to call attention to this, and today several ministers here spoke on the matter.

Camp Bragg Stopping Point

Camp Bragg at Fayetteville, is to be a stopping place on the air route from Augusta, Maine, to Miami, Fla., a chart of which has been made by the War Department. The proposition has not yet gone through, but it is understood that all signs point to its being adopted.

Representative Rankin, Democrat, of Mississippi, is after putting a stop to inter-marriage of whites and negroes in the District of Columbia, which is permitted under existing law. He has introduced a bill placing a fine of $800 and two years imprisonment upon Caucasians and negroes or Mongolians who inter-marry.

Former President and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, with Miss Margaret Wilson, and his brother-in-law John Randolph Bolling, were attendants at Keith's vaudeville theatre last night. They occupied seats on the last row of the orchestra, taking seats there because of Mr. Wilson's not desiring to attempt the steps in the theatre.

Wilson Attends Theatre.

There has been quite a bit of comment here about the pigeon-holing of a "dry" resolution offered in the Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution. It called for a strict enforcement of the Volstead act. But there was no report made to the Congress on the resolution.

CITY PAYS TRIBUTE TO FALLEN SOLDIER

Hundreds Attend Funeral Services For Corporal Marshall Teachey

Impressive funeral services for Corporal Marshall Teachey, one of the eleven members of Raleigh's Company B, 120th Infantry, 30th Division, who made the supreme sacrifice in the memorable drive against the Hindenburg line on Sunday, September 29, 1918, were held yesterday afternoon from the Tabernacle Baptist church and concluded with full military honors at the grave in Oakwood cemetery.

Several hundred relatives, friends and veterans of the World War crowded into the Tabernacle church at 4 o'clock for the funeral services. The casket, covered with a large American flag and beautiful flowers, was brought into the church by members of Company B, and placed near the altar, which was also banked high with floral tributes.

Members of the family of the deceased soldier and American Legion members and former service men occupied special sections of seats. As the body was brought into the church the choir sang "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me." Chaplain Huffman read appropriate passages from the Scriptures, following which the choir rendered "In the Hour of Trial."

The funeral procession formed on the person street side of the church, with the firing squad, composed of former soldiers of Company B, in charge of Col. Don E. Scott, of Graham, who commanded the regiment to which Corporal Teachey belonged.

Following the firing squad and the hearse were over one hundred American Legion members and former soldiers in uniform. Several hundred persons were at the grave when the funeral procession arrived, the crowd being augmented by a large number who accompanied the body to the cemetery.

After the casket had been lowered into the grave and the mound piled high with flowers, including many attractive designs, the choir sang "Weaver of God's Web" and "Abide With Me." Dr. Bruner read several verses of Scripture and Chaplain Huffman then pronounced the benediction. The firing squad fired three for the final salute and C. C. Smith, bugler, concluded the last rites.

Corporal Teachey was a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Teachey, of Raleigh, and Col. Scott paid him the glowing tribute of being one of the best soldiers in the regiment. Corporal Teachey was posthumously awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for courageous service in Belgium. Ten companions of Corporal Teachey were killed on the same day and over fifty were wounded. The remains of the fallen hero arrived Saturday morning from New York and remained at the home of the parents until the hour for the funeral.

The pallbearers at the funeral were: L. P. Denmark, an old friend of Corporal Teachey; N. M. Patterson, Arthur Biggsbee, Clyde Greene, G. O. Watson and Warren Falcher.

State Board Will Re-elect Rankin At Coming Session of the work of the whole board, which included specific mention of the things that have been complained of in some quarters.

Fight "Socialized Medicine." The Guilford County Society passed resolutions last winter condemning the socialization of medicine by the State Board, and Dr. Rankin answered the attack with a vigor that amounted almost to a sensation at the time. No more has been heard of the attack in recent months, but a move to renew it before the State society will not be surprising to any of its members.

Expulsion of Dr. Proctor and Dr. Ellington from the Wake County Society last winter because alleged association with catheptic practitioners caused some talk of a stir among the local medical fraternity, and their efforts to obtain reinstatement during the coming week will be watched with considerable interest, not only by the physicians, but by the public generally. Dr. Rankin, it is understood, will appear on behalf of the two dismissed practitioners, and Dr. H. A. Royster against their reinstatement.

U. N. C. EXTENSION WORK WELL-KNOWN IN THE WEST

Chapel Hill, April 24.—The extension work of the University of North Carolina is well known and favorably commented on all over the United States, according to Chester D. Snell, newly appointed assistant director of the bureau of extension, who has just returned from the annual meeting of the National University Extension Association at the University of Iowa.

Mr. Snell visited also the universities of Wisconsin, Chicago, Indiana, and Cincinnati on his trip, investigating methods of extension work, especially at Wisconsin where the idea of university extension was born in this country and where it has met with greatest success.

CAMPBELL UNABLE TO SHOW RESULTS

Prominent Republican Lawyer Gives Damaging Testimony At Hearing

Albany, April 24.—Congressman R. L. Doughton concluded his hearings in Steady county here yesterday in which he has been taking evidence in defense of his right to hold his seat in the present Congress which is being contested by Dr. J. I. Campbell, Governor Bickett has been in attendance at the hearings since Thursday morning.

Mr. Doughton expressed himself before leaving for his home as well pleased at his showing in this county. He stated that his evidence has rebutted many of the claims of Dr. Campbell, besides gaining much valuable affirmative evidence for himself.

Perhaps the most interesting evidence given during the hearings was that given by Attorney G. D. B. Reynolds, who is a leading Republican of the county, and one time Republican leader in the Eighth Congressional district. Mr. Reynolds testified that Campbell, the contestant, a day or two after the election last November, stated in the presence of several Republicans that if Doughton didn't receive more than 1,000 majority that he (Campbell) would contest the election; that he believed he could locate 600 illegal votes and then with a margin of 500 votes a Republican Congress would give him the seat in Congress instead of Doughton.

The conditions of the new marriage law worked a hardship on a young couple who came to Albany on yesterday for their license when it was found that the physician who made a certificate for each of them resided in an adjoining county and the registers of said county had not issued the license. The young people both live near the county line and their family physician lives near by in an adjoining county. It is not known what alternative has been chosen but Cupid seems not to have been dismayed. But this case certainly demonstrates the fact that past criticism of the new marriage law is entirely justified.

Prof. J. H. McIver has announced that the new city graded school building will be opened on next Monday with appropriate ceremonies, and the ten primary and grammar grades which have attended school throughout the entire winter months in the Sunday school rooms of the city will again have class rooms.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR HIGH POINT SERVICEMEN

High Point, April 24.—Funeral services over the body of Corporal James W. Pegram, who was killed in action in France during the World War, were conducted this afternoon at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Pegram, Rev. W. A. Lambeth, pastor of Wesley Memorial Church, was in charge of the services and members of the local posts of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign War attended in a body. Young Pegram was killed on September 1, 1918.

The funeral of Rubin E. Davis, who was also killed in action, was held this afternoon at Trinity. Davis was a son of Mrs. Alice Davis, of near High Point. Bodies of both soldiers reached High Point yesterday.

NARROW RANGE IN PRICES OF COTTON

Range Of Prices At New Orleans 40 To 65 Points From Highest To Lowest

New Orleans, April 24.—Prices moved within narrow limits in the cotton market last week because of the conflicting nature of the main trading features. The range, from the highest to the lowest, was 40 to 65 points, May trading as high as 11.88 and as low as 11.33, finally closing at 11.54.

At the highest trading months were unchanged at 11 points up, compared with the close of the preceding week, while at the lowest went from 250 to 261 points down. In the spot department middling lost 15 points in the net results, closing at 11.35 against 41.90 cents a year ago.

There was much liquidation in the early session of the week, both in the contract and in the spot departments, but in the later sessions new buying came in and during the last two sessions Texas spot markets reported a much better spot demand, with important interests apparently buying against forward commitments which was taken to mean that they, at least, thought the market was at bottom.

The highly unfavorable weather conditions of the week were a supporting influence of importance and toward the close a buying movement developed following the dispatches from England announcing a prospective settlement of the coal strike.

On the other side the balance were the general trade reviews showing little change in retail conditions and the cable messages from Germany to the effect that German spinners were well supplied with cotton.

At the end of this week most observers thought the barometer line spoke for stormy weather for the belt, to be followed by colder weather since there was a marked storm area in the Northwest with a cold wave back of it on the Pacific coast. More cold weather would further damage young cotton and would seriously retard planting and preparations to plant and probably would result in general buying.

A copy of the rules of the first public schools in Philadelphia, bearing the date of December 10, 1795, recently discovered, shows that school hours were from 8 to 12 in the morning, and from 2 to 5 in the afternoon.

WAKE FOREST MAN WINS PRIZE FOR ORATORY

A. Z. Whitehurst Takes First Place In Speaking Contest At High Point

High Point, April 24.—Five contestants spoke in the annual intercollegiate oratory contest in the high school auditorium here Friday night, and after 10 minutes deliberation the judges awarded first place to A. Z. Whitehurst of Wake Forest, whose subject, "The Nemesis of History," carried a powerful and logical appeal for world peace. Second place was awarded to Phillip Hettiman of the University of North Carolina, who spoke from a slightly different angle on "The Struggle for Supremacy." First and second places carried with them cash prizes of $75 and $50, respectively.

Other contestants were George Harmon of Trinity College, H. G. Self of Elon and William A. Wolf of Guilford. Mr. Harmon's subject was "National Pride Against International Peace," Mr. Self's, "International Court of Justice," and Mr. Wolf's "The Rejected Method."
