NEGROES TO WAGE BITTER FIGHT ON NAMING OF LINNEY

Raleigh Negro Leaders Write Vigorous Letter Of Protest To Senator Borah

BRING NEW CHARGES AGAINST REPUBLICAN

Favored Negro Segregation In 1916 When Former Governor Bickett Opposed It; Other Colored Leaders Ask To Be Heard Before Senate Committee; No Hearing Held

The News and Observer Bureau, 603 District National Bank Bldg., By EDWARD E. BRITTON (By Special Leased Wire)

Washington, May 20.—Back to North Carolina tonight was the order of the day for David H. Blair and Frank Linney. They go, but they will return next week, Blair to get his confirmation as soon as the Senate finds opportunity to go into executive session and take up his case, Linney to further fortify himself for the grueling that is to be his portion when he goes on the stand before the sub-committee of Senate judiciary committee which is to delve into the charges that he is a presumptive law violator in counseling that negroes be kept from registering and voting in North Carolina.

It is smooth sailing for Mr. Blair now, so smooth indeed that for some days he has been quietly going to the Treasury Department and unofficially getting acquainted with the duties of the position of Commissioner of Internal Revenue, that he do this has been the direction of Secretary Mellon and Blair is shaping up for routine work as soon as the O. K. brand is put on him by the Senate. It is said today that this will be done Monday afternoon after Senators Johnson, Borah, Reed and perhaps others have taken a whack at him, on the Republican National convention flying of track in not voting for Senator Johnson for nomination for President as directed by the North Carolina primary, with some other remarks about kinfolks and endorers having claims for statements and refunds before the Bureau of Internal Revenue. And his administrative ability will also be questioned.

Negroes Plan Open Warfare

But as for Linney, Well, that is another story, or his is to be a stormy scene for landing. Senator Ernst, of Kentucky, chairman of the sub-committee, before which he is to appear had a telegram from Prof. D. C. Suggs, of Livingstone college, at Salisbury, today asking that he and other negroes opposing the confirmation of Mr. Linney be heard by the sub-committee. Senator Ernst answered with the assurance that they would be heard, that they would be notified when to come to Washington. But as yet he has set no date for the hearing. Frank Linney left without giving out the statement today that he had promised, saying "After thinking the matter over I have decided that I will make no statement at this time. I feel that my first statement should be to the committee which will hear the matter, and I will have nothing to say until I go before it." But is talking with members of Congress it is reported he has said that he did not know about the now famous circular letter about putting the negroes out of the business of voting until after it was issued, that the publicity committee of the Republican executive committee had full authority to issue matters over his name, and that he had not repudiated the letter to the women of North Carolina.

Opposition From New Quarter

That the negroes have no idea of letting up in their fight on him is indicated from many sources in letters and telegrams to members of the Senate. They are hot in the collar about his position for a "Lily White" Republican party for North Carolina. And they are raising another point of grievance against him as shown in letter which came today to Senator Borah from Charles N. Hunter, former editor of Raleigh Independent, and W. H. Arum, a colored leader of Raleigh. In this letter not only is there opposition to Linney expressed as to the letter but also the attitude of Republican State Chairman Linney in favoring the enforcement of rural segregation of negro land ownership, the Linney position, according to the Hunter letter, being that no negro was to be allowed to own farm land adjacent to that of white land owners, the Hunter statement being that when Linney was the Republican candidate for governor in 1916 he had approved this policy, while on the other hand Thomas W. Bickett, Democratic candidate, stated that he was opposed to the policy. And he emphasized that Linney's position in eliminating the negroes from voting is in violation of the constitution, that no law violator should be made an officer charged with the enforcement of the law.

A Letter From Raleigh

Here is the Hunter letter to Borah: "Permit us to express through you to the Judiciary committee of the Senate the earnest hope and prayer that the nomination of Mr. F. A. Linney to be United States District Attorney for the Western District of North Carolina be not favorably reported. This petition is based upon the following reasons: "Article XV of the Constitution of the United States provides: "Sec. 1.—The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied, or abridged by the United States, or by any State on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude. "Sec. 2.—The Congress shall have

CONFERENCE ENDS AT FAYETTEVILLE

Woman's Missionary Society Of Methodist Conference Holds Successful Meeting

Fayetteville, May 20.—The Woman's Missionary conference of the Methodist Church in Eastern North Carolina at noon today closed a four days session here.

It was the unanimous opinion expressed by delegates that from the standpoint of the intense enthusiasm of the individual members, the attendance, and the perfect machinery provided by the Fayetteville women, this has been one of the very best meetings the conference has ever had.

Miss May Eida Smith, the gracious presiding officer said tonight, "The work of preparation for the conference under the management of Miss Elizabeth Lamb, chairman of the adult auxiliary of the Hay Street Church, has made our work very easy, and our stay in Fayetteville has been a delightful one."

The closing sessions heard an appeal for a forward move in social service from Mrs. W. A. Nowell, of Statesville, one of the South's foremost women authorities on this subject and encouraging reports on literature and of social service by Mrs. E. L. Hart, of Wilmington, on prayer specials by Mrs. S. H. Scott, of New Bern, young people's work, by Miss Lillie Duke, of Durham, from Mrs. Legrand Everett, of Rockingham, department editor of the Christian Advocate, and a vocal solo by Mrs. Henry Ware, of Greensboro, who has daily given her splendid voice to the conference. The convention closed with prayer by Mrs. Cobb, Mrs. Nowell, Miss Gist, Miss Steger and Miss Lamb.

Principal feature of the last evening's session was the presentation of a remarkably well enacted pageant by the young people's missionary societies of the Hay Street church portraying the beginning and development of woman's part in missions, under the title, "Methodist Womanhood's Great Adventure." The first act depicted the beginnings of the venture in the McConder church, Nashville, Tenn., on November 5, 1873, the women characters being Mrs. M. L. Kelly, Mrs. D. H. McGavock, Mrs. T. D. Fite and Miss Lucy Ross, the second scene showing Mrs. McGavock's gift of jewels for the venture, and scene three the obtaining of the charter for the adventure at Atlanta in May, 1878.

The second act depicted the beginning of home mission in the home of Misses Lucinda and Mary Helm in Elizabethtown, Kentucky, on October 2,

TINY GRAMME OF RADIUM IS GIVEN TO MADAME CURIE

Tiny Bit Of Precious Substance Cost American Women Hundred Thousand Dollars

PRESIDENT HARDING MAKES PRESENTATION

Ambassador Jusserand Gives Thanks In Name Of French Government; Little Phial Expresses Gratitude Of American Nation To Distinguished Guest For Her Services

Washington, May 20.—Madame Marie Curie, eminent French scientist, received from the hand of President Harding today the gramme of radium purchased for her by American women in the interest of humanitarian research.

The presentation ceremonies took place in the East Room of the White House in the presence of a notable group of American and diplomatic officials and leaders of science and philanthropy. Jules Jusserand, French ambassador, formally introduced Madame Curie and she responded to the President's presentation address with a little speech of thanks delivered in broken English.

In handing over the little phial with its precious contents, Mr. Harding declared it represented in small part the gratitude of the American nation to its distinguished guest for the years of effort which culminated in the discovery of radium. He took occasion also to reaffirm the friendship of the American people for France, and for Poland, the land of Madame Curie's birth.

Ambassador Jusserand Speaks

Giving thanks for the gift in the name of the government, Ambassador Jusserand said the occasion was one of many manifestations of the generosity of the people who always are watching for an opportunity to do good. "Madame Curie's speech of thanks consisted of only a few sentences telling of her gratitude and her regard for America. The radium, purchased at a cost of $100,000, was locked in a little ribbon-draped cabinet which was handed to the president with its key by Mrs. William Brown Maloney, of New York, chairman of the Marie Curie Radium Fund. After the ceremonies the guests, who numbered several hundred of the highest officials and most prominent scientists and philanthropists in the capital, were tendered a reception in the Blue room by the President, Mrs. Harding and Madame Curie.

Harding Extends Greetings

"On behalf of the American nation," said Mr. Harding, "I greet and welcome you to our country, in which you will everywhere find the most cordial and friendly reception. We greet you as foremost among scientists in the age of science, as leader among women of the generation which sees woman come tardily into her own. We greet you as an exemplar of liberty's victories in the generation wherein liberty has won her crown of glory. In doing honor to you we testify anew our pride in the ancient friendships which have bound us to both the country of your adoption and that of your nativity.

"It has been your fortune, Madame Curie, to accomplish an immortal work for humanity. We bring to you to pre-eminence in science, scholarship, research and humanitarianism. But with it all we bring something more. We lay at your feet the testimony of that love which all the generations of men have been wont to bestow upon the noble woman, the unselfish wife, the devoted mother.

Testimony of Affection

"The world today is appealing to its statesmen, its sociologists, its humanitarians, and its religious leaders for solution of appalling problems. I want to hope that the power and universality of that appeal will inspire strong, devout, consecrate men and women to seek out the solution, and, in the light of their wisdom, to carry it to all mankind. I have faith to believe that precisely that will happen; and in your own career of fine achievement I find heartening justification for my faith. "In testimony of the affection of the American people, of their confidence in your scientific work, and of their earnest wish that your genius and energy may receive all encouragement to carry forward your efforts for the advance of science and conquest of disease, I have been commissioned to present to you this little phial of radium. To you we owe our knowledge and possession of it, and so to you we give it, confident that in your possession it will be the means further to unveil the fascinating secrets of nature, to widen the field of useful knowledge to alleviate suffering among the children of men. It betokens the affection of one great people for another."

ENGINEER KILLED IN WRECK ON THE A. C. L.

Augusta, Ga., May 20.—Engineer Joseph Temple, of Florence, S. C., was killed, and a mail clerk and several passengers injured when train number 240, Atlantic Coast Line, Washington bound, was derailed early today on the South Carolina side of the Savannah river, four miles from here. Train wreckers were reported to have loosened a rail and lifted it from the cross ties, causing the derailling.

GOVERNMENT STOPS TO HONOR MEMORY OF FAMOUS JURIST

Executive Departments To Remain Closed Today In Honor Of Chief Justice

EIGHT JUSTICES TO BE HONORARY PALLBEARERS

Vice-President Coolidge, Senate Committee, Speaker Gillett and Leaders Of Majority and Minority In House and Louisiana Delegation To Attend Funeral Of Edward D. White

Washington, May 20.—The wheels of the government swung to rest in Washington tonight to stand idle until last honors shall have been paid tomorrow to the memory of Edward Douglas White, Chief Justice of the United States.

Under Presidential order, the executive departments were to remain closed all day, and the Senate adjourned late today until Monday. The House alone was to be in session after the funeral, driven by the urgent requirements of public business, having already suspended for a day in honor of the dead.

While the wishes of the family were for simple, private ceremonies, the great place Justice White held as one of the three co-founders of American organized society forbade abandonment of all official part in the mourning. After services at St. Matthew's church, the body will be carried to Oak Hill cemetery in Georgetown for burial accompanied by the eight surviving members of the greatest legal tribunal as honorary pallbearers, by Vice-President Coolidge and a select Senate committee, Speaker Gillett and the leaders of the majority and minority in the House and the full delegation in Congress from the dead man's native State, Louisiana. President Harding also was expected to attend and cabinet members and ranking officials of all the government departments.

Stream of Messages

The stream of messages attesting Justice White's high place in the legal fraternity continued today to pour into the Supreme Court from men of the law throughout the nation. Hardly an organized society of lawyers had failed to add its share to the flow of tribute and affection when the day ended. At the house, too, messages of sympathy piled up through the hours from every part of the world, but relatives of the late jurist did not make these public, perhaps out of respect to the life-long modesty of the man whose virtues the messages extolled.

As last arrangements for the funeral were completed, the President's orders were filtering over the world by cable to bring to half mast for 30 days, flags that fly over American diplomatic and consular buildings.

Tomorrow the world-old sign of mourning will also be observed on all ships of the navy and all forts and land stations of the army, from Alaska to the Philippine Islands and the canal zone and the islands of the sea to Porto Rico.

DR. ZAYAS BECOMES PRESIDENT OF CUBA

Succeeds President Menocal After Hottest Political Campaign In History

Havana, May 20.—Dr. Alfredo Zayas Alfonso today became the fourth president of the republic of Cuba. He took the oath of office before a brilliant assembly in the National Palace, the ceremony marking the end of one of the most bitter campaigns in Cuba's political history.

Immediately after the inauguration, Mariq G. Menocal, the retiring president, boarded a steamer for Key West on his way to Europe for a vacation. He had held the executive power for eight years.

Earlier in the day Francisco Carrillo took the oath of vice-president of the republic in the Senate chamber. The transfer of the presidential took place in reception hall of power National Palace, formerly known as the Red Salon. The hall was crowded with Cuban and foreign officials and a few invited guests. The foreign diplomatic corps was headed by Alfredo De Margu, the Spanish minister, and Boaz Lopez, the American minister, who occupied the places of honor. Major General Enoch H. Crowder, special representative of President Harding, also was present.

UNEMPLOYMENT FIGURES SHOW SLIGHT DECREASE

Washington, May 20.—Unemployment figures compiled by Secretary Frank Morrison, of the American Federation of Labor, from reports reaching him show that today in 210 cities there are 1,325,061 persons, both union and non-union, out of employment, as compared with 1,391,396 the last of March. A statement embodying the reports by cities was made public here tonight.

No Medical Properties In Beer, Dr. Wiley Declares

Famous Food Expert Tells Congressional Committee That Home Brew "Most Dangerous in World"; Not Possible to Draft Bomb Proof Law, Wayne Wheeler States in Closing Testimony.

Washington, May 20.—Declaring it was not possible to draft a bomb-proof liquor law, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, told the House judiciary committee today that some clerks employed by district prohibition commissioners were making more money in a week through dishonest dealing with fraudulent permits for withdrawal of alcohol than they could earn on straight salaries in two years.

Approximately 35,000,000 gallons had been withdrawn in the last year, or considerably more than a quart for every man, woman and child in the country, Mr. Wheeler said, in urging a more drastic law to correct the situation. His was the concluding argument on the Volstead bill to tighten up the law and prevent sale of beer as a medicinal agent.

Mr. Wheeler contended that of the 35,000,000 gallons, fully 80 per cent was used for beverage purposes, and that the percentage of fraud and graft could be reduced to a minimum by amending the law so that none of it could be removed until by medicating or denaturing it had been rendered unfit for drinking.

Doctors Oppose Let Down

Touching only lightly on the question of beer as a medicine, Mr. Wheeler presented hundreds of petitions from many states, most of them from doctors, opposing any let-down in the Volstead law under which beer could be prescribed for the ailing. The evidence, he declared, showed that medical beer did not have a chance to lift its foaming head.

Dr. Harry W. Wiley, who was once delegated to find out "what is whiskey" told the committee in a ten-minute talk, there were no medical properties in beer, and that it had never been recognized by the medical profession as a medicinal agent. As he concluded the brief attack on the beverage, Dr. Wiley warned some brewers to quit making it, unless they could employ a scientific brewer for their cellar or garret outfits.

No Medical Properties

"There are no medical properties in beer, whatever may be said of it as a beverage," Dr. Wiley declared. "The nearest thing to it is malt extract, which is so made as practically to exclude even a trace of alcohol. I never saw a prescription which contained beer as a medicinal agent. It is solely regarded as a beverage.

"The man who drinks too much beer is apt to develop obesity, and obesity is recognized as a disease. It is better to be under normal weight than over."

"How about home brew?" Dr. Wiley was asked.

"It's the poorest brew and the most dangerous in the world," he replied. "If you are going to have beer, it ought to be made scientifically."

"How about home-made liquor?" Chairman Volstead asked.

"Well, to get that you must have a still. I see where they arrested a Harvard professor for making it, which shows that the low brow habit has been picked up by the high brow."

PIE COUNTER WILL BE ENLARGED SOON

"Vacations" For Prohibition Enforcement Officers May Be Republican Scheme

The News and Observer Bureau, 603 District National Bank Bldg. By EDWARD E. BRITTON (By Special Leased Wire)

Washington, May 20.—There is much talk around Washington about the statement from Prohibition Director Kramer of the wholesale dropping of prohibition enforcement officers because of lack of money with which to pay salaries. It is the belief of many that the plan is to be worked so as to get rid of Democrats now employed, and while it is said the dropping will be only to give the officers a "vacation" for a while, that the practical working will have sought other employment before the time comes to go to work again, and that then the vacancies will be filled by Republicans.

There is no civil service examinations for these positions and so the jobs will be ready for the Republican politicians who are clamoring for them.

Here at the capital there is agitation about the lack of enforcement of prohibition, with talk of "bootlegging" being rampant around the Capitol itself. This state of affairs, or reported state of affairs, has caused Congressman Hammer to declare that he will call for an investigation of the matter, so as to find out if there is the drinking going on in the Capitol buildings that is being talked about. "I have seen nothing of this myself," he said, "but I have heard talk of it, and if such a state of affairs exists it ought to be stopped at once." He proposes to assist in finding a way to put an end to such alleged practices.

Vacant Postoffice Jobs

The Postoffice Department announces vacancies in Presidential postoffices in North Carolina existing today as follows: Elon College, LaGrange, Robersonville, Spencer and Spruce Pine. It states that the civil service commission has been requested to hold examinations to fill the vacancies. The time and places of the examinations to be announced later. These are with vacancies announced for other states and a long list of them the first that are to be filled under the recent executive order of President Harding. At the end of the statement of the examinations to be held there is this "information from whatever source permissible under the civil service rules touching the availability of eligibles will be given careful consideration."

This is to be given after examination when the list of three available is made known and the selection is to be made. The examination will not be scholastic, it is the understanding, but upon the qualifications, fitness and general adaptability of the applicants and the Republicans are figuring upon getting one of their number in the first three places, so as to be the selection of Postmaster General Will Hays.

The Postoffice Department also announces that the postoffice at Guyton, Bladen county, on rural route No. 2 from Bladenboro has been discontinued. Mail is to go to Bladenboro.

New Postmasters Named

Another postoffice announcement is the appointment as postmasters of offices of the fourth class in North Carolina as follows: Abbottsburg, Bladen county; John K. Baldwin succeeds Thomas O. Hall, resigned; Gem Succombe county, Mary D. Hill succeeds John H. Hill, resigned; Meigs, Chowan county, Artemus S. Bush succeeds M. S. Elliott, resigned; Paint Gap, Yadon county, Josie M. Higgins, succeeds Wiley.

THE TRUE TEST

It is Up To Raleigh To Meet It By Monday Night.

Years and years ago—long before he became chief executive of this great Republic—President Wilson said: "You can test a modern community by the degree of its interest in the Young Men's Christian Association. You can test whether it knows what road it wants to travel or not. You can test whether it is deeply interested in the spiritual and essential prosperity of its rising generation. I know of no test that can be more conclusively put in a community than that."

Later when he was chief executive, President Wilson in a great speech to the Y. M. C. A. at Pittsburgh, epitomized the spirit of the Y when he said: "The principle of the Association is to make a place where the atmosphere makes great ideals contagious."

Men and women of Raleigh: Let us meet the test by unflinching our Association, by brothering the boys, and making the Raleigh Y. M. C. A. a clearing house for great ideals.

OASIS SHRINERS HOLD CEREMONIAL

Thousands Of People Gather In Asheville To Take Part In Festivities

Asheville, May 20.—An ocean of bobbing scarlet fezzes, music by the Oasis Temple Band, flashing colors of the Arab patrol, and a big smile on everybody's face told the story of the invasion of Asheville by the Shriners hosts today.

Little matter that old Sol crept out of the landscape and turned the morning hours over to J. Pluvius, who sprinkled the caravans with aqua pura. Slight alterations were made in the program to conform with the inclemency, but even the weather man found it impossible to throw a wet blanket on the festivities.

Charlotte was selected as the place for holding the fall ceremonial at the business session held during the afternoon. The meeting will be in the latter part of September or early in October, the date to be determined later. The annual business session will be held in Charlotte in December, upon call of Potentate J. W. Grimes. At this time new officers will be elected. Since Winston-Salem has landed the annual meeting of the Grand Masonic bodies it looks favorable for the Twin City to land the next spring ceremonial.

Plenty of "Fresh Meat"

The preliminaries, including the band concert this morning and a short business session at noon, over the ceremonial is at hand, crowded with events anticipated for the past six months. Candidates numbering 365 are walking about the Masonic Temple with shaking step, not knowing when they will be hailed to the test.

Beginning yesterday afternoon Nobles and their ladies with a candidate here and there began to put in an appearance. By night Asheville was more than comfortably aware that the Spring ceremonial had arrived. This morning special Pullmans loaded with Shriners from Salisbury, Greensboro, Charlotte, Winston-Salem and points along the route reached the city bearing many members with the first.

With the first estimates placed at 3,000 this total swelled to 4,000 during the morning, many hundred additional Shriners arriving on the trains later in (Continued on page three)

TWO HIGHWAYMEN ROB HOTEL CLERK IN CITY'S CENTER

C. T. Stewart Knocked Unconscious By Strangers In Charlotte Hostelry

GET MONEY FROM CASH DRAWER AND ESCAPE

Man Arrested In Mecklenburg Hotel Identified By Hotel Clerk As One Of Men Making Attack; Scared Bell Hops Run Away From Fracas To Notify Proprietor

Charlotte, May 20.—Committing one of the boldest robberies in local police annals, two highwaymen knocked the clerk in the Piedmont hotel unconscious, rifled the cash drawer, and made a get away in an automobile about 3 o'clock this morning.

A man giving his name as James Wilson, identified by the clerk, C. T. Stewart, and two negro bell boys as one of the highwaymen, was arrested a half hour later in the Mecklenburg hotel by members of the night police squad. A detachment of detectives was in search of the second man tonight.

Stewart regained consciousness within a few minutes after the highwaymen escaped. He notified the police and men were put on the trail of the robbers. The highwaymen entered the lobby and asked for a room. Stewart was preparing to register them when the attack occurred. One of the men engaged the clerk in conversation when the other slipped around to the doorway leading into the clerk's room. He flashed a pistol in Stewart's face. The latter jerked away, whereupon the highwayman struck him across the head with the butt of the gun. A second blow was administered, which produced unconsciousness.

Two bell boys witnessing the attack and robbery rushed upstairs to the room of E. N. Clements, the manager. Mr. Clements went down stairs at once, but the men had made their escape. Wilson is identified by the clerk and bell boys as the man who made the attack on Stewart and who grabbed the money from the cash drawer. When officers entered Wilson's room at the Mecklenburg hotel they found him in bed. He reached his hand beneath the pillow for his pistol, but the police took him in charge before he could use it. Wilson refused to give his name until forced by the officers. He denied any connection with the affair, but would make no statement as to when he arrived in the city or as to his purpose here.

MRS. ASHE TO RECOVER DEVEREUX PROPERTY

Tulsa, Okla., May 20.—Just before returning to North Carolina, S. T. Stockard, attorney for Mrs. S. T. Ashe, of Wilmington, N. C., sister and heir to the late Judge John Devereux, was advised by lawyer from Bird S. McGuire that although the promissory note for $10,000 held by the late judge was missing, that he, McGuire would pay off the note. This promise of Mr. McGuire assures the sister of receiving something from her brother's property, which appears to have vanished into thin air in the last year.

Mr. Stockard expressed himself as well pleased with the way Franklin P. Gregg, administrator, was working to find the judge's missing property and money.

In looking over Judge Devereux private papers it was discovered that a pet Persian cat which the late Mrs. Devereux had before her marriage and which died 28 years ago, was kept in a pretty cherry wood casket. The cat was embalmed after its death by wish of Mrs. Devereux. It was burned last night.

JUDGE WEBB CONTINUES CASE AGAINST OFFICER

Greensboro, May 20.—Judge James E. Webb today continued the case against Policeman D. B. Oakes, of Greensboro, charged with killing Tom Robertson, until the August term of Rockingham Superior court. Oakes was indicted by the Rockingham Grand Jury for second degree murder. Many Greensboro people went to Wentworth today for the hearing. Robertson was killed near Reidsville early in May at the end of a chase that began when Policeman Tom McCuston, of Greensboro, was killed in Greensboro by a shot from a whisky car occupied by Robertson, Louis Edwards and a man said to be Carl Tolley.

Mrs. Carl Pauehal, aged 55 was thrown about 45 feet when she was struck by an automobile here today and sustained severe injuries, one arm being broken in two places and her body severely gashed.

WANT TO FINISH "Y" DRIVE IN WHIRLWIND CANVASS

Durham, May 20.—With over a third of the $30,000 objective to be raised in a single day, Durham Y. M. C. A. workers tomorrow will put on a whirlwind drive which is expected to yield the amount desired by midnight Saturday night. The amount reported today was $5,176 bringing the total subscribed to date to $18,160. The canvass tomorrow must yield $11,840 to put the campaign over. The workers, figuratively speaking, will throw off their coats, roll up their sleeves and go in to win.
