Watts Brothers Delivered Final Addresses At Meetings Held Last Night

PLEASANT SURPRISE FOR DR. B. W. SPILMAN
Dr. Joseph T. Watts and Dr. Hight C. Moore Speakers At Meeting At Tabernacle Yesterday Afternoon; Special Addresses At Three Churches In The Morning

The celebration of the 25th anniversary of modern Sunday school development among the Baptists of North Carolina, which began here Friday, came to a close last night with addresses at the First Baptist and Tabernacle Baptist churches by Drs. J. T. and T. J. Watts, Sunday school secretaries in South Carolina and Virginia, respectively. The Watts brothers, former Raleigh boys, made a splendid impression by powerful talks in connection with Sunday school work.

Yesterday was the big day of the celebration. In the morning special speakers occupied the pulpits at the First Baptist, Tabernacle Baptist and Pullen Memorial Baptist churches, Dr. Hight C. Moore, of Nashville, Tenn., editorial secretary of the Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist convention, spoke at the First Baptist; Dr. J. J. Van Ness, of Nashville, corresponding secretary of the Sunday School Board, addressed the Tabernacle congregation, and the Rev. Joseph B. Moore, of Little Rock, Ark., Sunday school secretary for Arkansas, occupied the pulpit at the service of the Pullen Memorial church in Pullen Hall at the State College.

Afternoon Program.
In the afternoon an interesting program was furnished at a joint meeting of local Baptists at the Tabernacle church. Addresses by Dr. Joseph T. Watts on "Men and the Sunday School Movement," and by Dr. Moore on "Development of the Lesson System" were among the features. Interesting reminiscences by the Watts brothers, and Mr. Mosely, all of whom "grew up" in Raleigh, were given in response to their introduction by J. M. Broughton, superintendent of the Tabernacle Sunday school, who presided at the meeting. Dr. Van Ness also spoke briefly on organization and the human touch in the development of worth-while Sunday school work.

A pleasant surprise was sprung on Dr. B. W. Spilman, of Kinston, pioneer Sunday school worker, who is now field secretary of the Sunday school board of the Southern Baptist convention. Because of his tireless and valuable service in the development of the department of Sunday school work in the State and in South, the speakers yesterday afternoon took opportunity to praise him in glowing terms and voice their appreciation of his advice and example. E. L. Middleton, State Sunday school secretary, interrupted the usual order of the program and proceeded to launch into an eulogy of Dr. Spilman, which ended with the presentation of a silver pencil, appropriately engraved, as a token of esteem on the part of the Sunday school field workers of the South.

Dr. Watts' Address.
Dr. Watts of Virginia made a powerful address on "Men and the Sunday School Movement." He said organized Bible classes antedated the founding of Mr. Hudson's Baraca class in 1890, although they were not as large. Dr. Watts declared he was not in favor of large classes of men of from 250 to 500 members. "These classes are great factors and they constitute a powerful force in the Sunday school work, but I believe the best results can be achieved with classes of reasonable size. I had rather have twenty classes of reasonable size than one class of 500 men."
The speaker told of the launching of the Baptists of a Bible class movement of their own in 1908, and stated that the success of the movement has been demonstrated by the thousands of men and women who have become interested in them. He stated that in Virginia only about 40 per cent of the Baptists were in Sunday schools, and he emphasized the importance of adult studying the word of God through organized classes. He gave three reasons why men should align themselves with Sunday schools:

"First, they owe it to the rising generation of young men and women. You cannot expect to make great progress unless you succeed in holding the men and popularize Bible classes for men. It's a man's job. Get strong men interested and you can get the women and children without difficulty."

"Second, men need Bible classes for themselves, and not for bringing in others alone. To be useful Christian workers they must know the Bible, and with the bustle and hurry of business these days they have little chance for Bible study except through organized Bible classes."

"Third, to save yourselves through men of Christian character. The safety of the nation depends on its men of Christian character. Secure the leading men of your community for your Bible school, and you will have no trouble holding the attention of the young people. The men's Bible class movement has taken in men of virility and business sagacity and has given them opportunity to exercise their ability in religious life."

Dr. Watts stated that attendance was not all to be desired in furthering Sunday school work, and said that it was the work that counted. A large class that doesn't produce results is not a potent factor, he added. Dr. Watts then told of a new plan by which every member of men's classes was given something to do, and added that this intensive organization plan was producing excellent results. In closing he paid a tribute to the splendid work of Dr. Spilman in development of the Sunday school movement.

"There is not a Sunday school man in the Baptist Church that does not lay laurels at your feet today," he declared, addressing Dr. Spilman.
Dr. Moore Speaks.
Dr. Moore, in speaking on the "Development of the Lesson System," gave an interesting account of Bible study methods from the time of the Hebrew patriarchs until the present day. He discussed the subject in four sections, as follows: First, the Hebrew lesson system; second, the English lesson system;

SECOND ANNIVERSARY OF VANGUARD CHAPEL

Exercises In Handsome New Chapel Attended By Large Crowd Yesterday

The second anniversary of the establishment of Vanguard Chapel, North, was celebrated yesterday afternoon in the handsome new edifice on the road between the Bloomsbury crossing and the Wake county home, well over a hundred persons attending.
The second anniversary of the establishment of Vanguard Chapel, North, was celebrated yesterday afternoon in the handsome new edifice on the road between the Bloomsbury crossing and the Wake county home, well over a hundred persons attending.
Secretary Jackson made his report covering two years of work, and stated that on one occasion the attendance reached the 300 mark. E. B. Crow, teacher of the Vanguard Bible Class and leading figure in the successful establishment of the North chapel, made a short talk, and was followed by the Rev. J. G. Garth, of Charlotte, executive secretary of the Presbyterian young people's conference, which is now in session at Peace Institute. Mr. Garth preached an inspiring sermon, and urged all to take an spiritual inventory of themselves and strive to lives of greater Christian service.

A special music program was rendered in addition to mass singing by all present. Mrs. J. W. Kellogg rendered "Like as a Father Pitieeth His Child" in a pleasing manner, and Miss Winona Page sang "In the Secretory of His Presence."
Two years ago the Vanguard class established a Sunday School in the chapel of the Wake county home and it grew with such rapidity that a movement to build the chapel was launched and successfully carried out. The new edifice, erected at a cost of $17,000, was formally opened last January.

WHISKEY CASES INCREASE IN WAKE SUPERIOR COURT

Eight Cases For Distilling and One Capital Offense For Trial This Week

Now that prohibition agents have been temporarily laid off, still seizing operations are on the part of Sheriff D. Bryant Harrison's force are on the increase and eight cases of alleged illicit distilling, involving twelve defendants, are on the docket of Wake County Superior Court for trial at the June term which convenes today.
The outstanding case on the docket is that against Fred D. Sanders, a negro charged with burglary in the first degree. Sanders was bound over to the grand jury for the capital offense by Mayor John M. Mills of Wake Forest. According to the evidence presented at the preliminary hearing before Mayor Mills, the negro is said to have entered a dwelling occupied by J. B. Hutson, of Atlanta, who is installing a water plant in the college town and was discovered standing over Mr. Hutson's bed in a threatening manner.
It is understood that the defense of the negro will be that he was intoxicated and entered the dwelling without any felonious intent.
Another interesting case coming from Wake Forest is that against a negro, giving his name as Charlie Tucker and his home at Pittsburg, Va., who was arrested on the charge of fraudulently obtaining money on the pretense that he was an authorized agent of the News and Observer. Tucker is alleged to have solicited subscriptions from a number of colored people in Wake Forest and to have given at least one receipt for money taken in payment for a subscription to this paper.
There are a total of 43 cases on the docket, most of which involve offenses of a minor nature.

MORRISON THINKS NO EXTRA SESSION NEEDED

Asheville, June 5.—Governor Morrison here for last week's rest was not inclined to talk week's rest was not inclined to talk of the State to-night, but said he believed the Supreme court's ruling in declaring the municipal finance act invalid did not constitute sufficient reason to call a special session of the North Carolina General Assembly.
Chickens are permitted to wander at large in the French vineyards, where they do invaluable service in destroying insects.
tem in the closing years of the 18th century; third, the American lesson system in the first quarter of the 19th century, and fourth, the International lesson system. Dr. Moore traced the development of Bible study through the ages in an interesting manner, and dwelt especially upon the progress made in the development of affairs of the International Sunday School Lesson system and standardized courses of study. Forty-two leading teachers and religious workers are on the International committee, he said, the Southern Baptists having three members, of whom Dr. Van Ness is one, and the Northern Baptists three. In concluding he explained the courses of uniform lessons and graded lessons now in use by the Baptists.
The celebration was a success in every way, and brought a large number of out-of-town visitors to the city. The inspirational addresses by the men who are blazing the trail in Sunday school work proved most valuable to all persons interested. The celebration marks the beginning of the modern era of Sunday school work among the Southern Baptists and the workers in the State expect still greater progress.

HONOR MEMORY OF GREAT SERMON TO LATE ROBERT GRAY WOMEN GRADUATES

Chadborn Woman Named As Member Of Executive Committee Of College Board

News and Observer Bureau, 603 District National Bank Building, By EDWARD E. BRITTON.
Washington, June 5.—I spent Friday and Saturday in Greensboro at the annual meeting of the board of directors of the North Carolina College for Women of which I am a member, and there is one action of the board which I do not think has been reported, an action that will be learned of with much interest in Raleigh and in other parts of the State. It is that by unanimous action of the board the new dormitory building of the college now in course of erection was named the "Robert Gray building" to do honor to the memory of the late Mr. Gray, who was one of the members of the first board of directors in 1890, holding that position till his death, and the donor of part of the land which forms the college grounds.
The latest completed dormitory was named the "Anna Howard Shaw building" in honor of the memory of the late Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, that at the request of the alumnae association and the student body of the college upon whom Dr. Shaw had made a great impression, and who in her will specifically named the North Carolina College as one institution to have one of the scholarships established by it.
Another matter of interest, and especially to the women of the State, was the election of Mrs. Joseph A. Brown of Columbus county as a member of the executive committee of the board, Mrs. Brown being the first woman to be elected to this important position, the other members being Judge J. D. Murphy of Asheville, J. L. Nelson of Lenoir and State Superintendent of Public Instruction E. C. Brooks. Mrs. Brown, who was the first woman member of the board, is an alumnae of the college.
Alumnae Girl Honored.
By popular vote elected the first president of the students council, one of six to receive high honors, Miss Mary Archer Williamson, daughter of James N. Williamson of Alamance county, a junior next session of the National Cathedral School for Girls here, has made a record of especially high grade and goes to her home for vacation with complements from her teachers and her school mates. She is an attractive young woman of high ability, her family one among the best known in North Carolina.
An order has been made by the Interstate Commerce Commission by which the Southern Railway is authorized to pledge and repledge all or any part of $7,229,000 of its development and general mortgage 4 per cent gold bonds, now held in its treasury, as collateral security for any note or notes which it may issue within the limitation of paragraph 9 of section 20 of the Interstate Commerce act, and except as authorized, said bonds are not in any way to be disposed of until so ordered by the commission. A supplemental order states that as the Southern Railway has withdrawn its application for a loan from the United States in the sum of $3,825,000, under section 210 of the transportation act, as amended, the commission's certificate of said loan was cancelled by an amended certificate of May 16, 1921, that the order of the commission of December 31, 1920, so far as it authorizes the Southern Railway to pledge $5,000,000 of its development and general mortgage four per cent bonds, series A, with the Secretary of the Treasury as security in part for such a loan is vacated and set aside.

200 REPUBLICANS TO TELL HARDING THEIR TROUBLES
promised, nobody sent any donations to hire laborers for the harvest, and now —no suggestions are welcome. If the Tar Heel Republicans can get 242,000 votes without the Negro, it's their own business, and all that sort of thing.
Something also may be intimated, if not said, about hurt pride. It has been the current boast of all Republican politicians in these parts since November 2, 1920 that the Republicans cast two-fifths of all the votes cast in North Carolina in the election. They were proud, and proud, and will be proud of it. And on top of that prodigious feat, comes Johnson's meddling with things that he knows nothing about, and saying not a word of encomium about the 242,000.
They want to let the President, the Senate, the House, and all the sundry know that they are here, but if they are going to be nestled about being here, they are hard for some of them to say that they'll turn Democrat, but not a few of them say they had rather be a white Democrat than a mixed-blooded Republican any election day that ever dawned.

Washington Minister Preaches Baccalaureate Sermon At Training School

Greenville, June 5.—Dr. George A. Miller, for 14 years pastor of the Ninth Street Christian church of Washington City and president of the International convention of the Disciples of Christ, preached a great sermon before the graduating class of East Carolina Teachers Training School on Sunday morning, delivering a message of power that was a rare combination of practical advice and inspired wisdom to the 78 young women who are leaving school to start out on their life mission as teachers.
Paul's words, "I am debtor to both Greek and Barbarian," was the text. "Whatever I have that will benefit the world, that do I owe the world," was the personal application made in the sermon. The contrast was drawn between the two spirits with which one may enter the world; one of struggling to get all possible out of the world; the other of giving all possible to others.
The former spirit is that which brought forth the idea of the divine right of kings and that has dominated all tyrants from Nero to the Kaiser. There are people today that are guided by this spirit when they feel that life, the community, and the church owe them all; they are like the devil fish reaching out tentacles to fasten on to anything.
The other is the spirit of true democracy and in this "Whatever I owe to the world," as one becomes more and more capable, one owes more and more to the world. Power is given a person for use, but not to be used for self or to be allowed to go unused. Wealth, music, knowledge, all are power whatever one gains by brain or brawn is his own but not for self alone. Some people refer to themselves as self-made, but he said he had never known a man who was really self-made, it always takes some one to lead out, to open out a wider field. Education he defined as this leading out, this growing into a larger environment; a very different idea from the old idea that it was a putting in process.
"Life corresponds to environment, and when you add to your environment you add to your life." Education means getting a broader vision, and one can get that only by ascending. The educated person has no right to shut himself away from others. In bringing out the idea that no man lives to himself alone, he said the palace and the alley are close together and that poverty and ignorance will rise up and smite the man who forgets that they are associated and related.
One who doubts that the hand of God is in history sees only the eddies and not the main currents in the center of the stream. Dr. Miller called on the young women listening to him to have great faith, faith in God and humanity. He recalled the old picture given to represent Christianity and the saved soul, the cross in the middle of a tumultuous sea with the woman clinging to it, and asked that they picture her now with one hand reaching out to save another from the water, Christianity is perpendicular and horizontal, reaching up to God and out to mankind.
The call to the ministry he gave as the call to service. The call to the young women to teach is a much a call to service. He uttered many sentences that were almost epigrammatic sentences. "What I've kept I've lost, what I gave away, I have. "You cannot truly live by merely possessing, but you live by serving."

PRESIDENT HARDING PLEDGES AID FROM THE GOVERNMENT.
Valley Forge, Pa., June 5.—President Harding, who is spending the week-end at the country home here of Senator P. C. Knox, today wired Governor Shoup of Colorado expressing sorrow and offering the aid of the Federal government to the flood sufferers of that State. The telegram said:
"I am deeply distressed to read of the great misfortune which has come with its toll of death and destruction to the citizenship of Pueblo and the valley of the Arkansas river. It is most reassuring to know how nobly your State has met the great emergency. If the Federal government can be of aid to you, pray do not hesitate to advise me, because all the people of the United States are touched by the sorrow and distress which have come to the people of Colorado."

WOMAN AVIATOR KILLED WHILE LOOPING-THE-LOOP

Minneapolis, N. Y., June 5.—Miss Laura Brownwell, holder of the Loop-the-loop record for women, and one of the best known women pilots in the world, was killed at Mitchell field this afternoon.
Miss Brownwell, whose home was in altitude of about 1,000 feet. She had just completed one loop and was about to make a second when something went wrong with the plane and it crashed to the ground.
Miss Brownwell, whose home was in Cincinnati, was 23 years old. She established her loop-the-loop record May 15, when she crested 199 loops in an hour and twenty minutes. The same afternoon she piloted her airplane over a two mile straightaway course at the rate of 135 miles an hour.
