

ANNUAL B. OF L. E. MEMORIAL SERVICE

Impressive Service Last Night in The Church of The Good Shepherd

MEMORIAL SERMON BY THE REV. C. A. ASHBY
 Rector Preaches Strong Sermon On "Faith In Others" To Large Number Of Knights Of The Throttle and Members Of Woman's Branch Of Engineers' Brotherhood

Impressive services in memory of deceased members of Divisions 339 and 549, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and Division 507, Grand International Auxiliary, were held last night at the Church of the Good Shepherd, and the rector, Rev. Charles A. Ashby, preached the memorial sermon. The services were attended by a large number of members of the local brotherhood and the auxiliary, which is the woman's branch of the engineer's organization.

The subject of Mr. Ashby's sermon was "Faith in Others," and he took his text from the 22d verse of the 5th chapter of St. Matthew: "Whosoever shall say to his brother, Raca, shall be in danger of the council; but whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hell fire."

"The sermon on the mount," said Mr. Ashby, "is the divinest statement of man's relationships we have. It is made up of what we may call maximum-short guides of conduct. I have always believed in the memory system, the training of the mind to retain verses and poems. It is a difficult act of the will, but it gives the will power. It puts at our service saving ideas in the times of danger and by learning thoroughly, we make such ideas ourselves. I have often said that a human being was a small quantity of sublimated dirt, water and gases embodying words. If the right ideas flow, the machine moves; the wrong, it goes to smash. Correct notions make safety; incorrect, disaster.

Stresses Golden Rule.
 "I see that the motto of your order is the Golden Rule. You state it shortly: 'Do unto others as you would they should do unto you.' It is one of the greatest principles of all living. Lived up to, it would clear our civilization of sin. Does any man doubt for one moment what he desires of others? What do you wish of your wife? You know. Well, just do that way to her. This motto is intended only for Christian people. As we use it by the vulgar, it would mean that he wishes all others to be as dirty as himself. A man with unclean passions would ask that others respond to his miserable nature. You see that when we make this as our motto we take a definite stand for good. We would ask good, therefore, we will do good."

"I say it justly, I do not know a body of men more entitled than yourselves to set up this ideal, Locomotive engineers, as I know them, are first-class citizens. Your profession is such that you cannot be anything else and long retain your position. Sin destroys a man's will power. To take one of these heavy trains of ours, freighted with human beings or valuable property, calls for a will of iron. Nearly every one knows to me has profound respect for the fellow in the engine. I am going to do for these people on my train, the babies, sisters, sweethearts, fathers and mothers just as I would have one do by mine, were they aboard."

"This is the simplest and easiest way to be a Christian to do what Jesus asked us to do. The history of religion we may never learn; its dogmas may remain a sealed book—but such a principle of conduct makes a man, takes a man and keeps a man."

Faith in Others.
 Mr. Ashby, in referring to the text, said "to say 'Raca' to another is a term of disgust. Its danger lies in the fact that we may lead in jail; before the counsel in Jesus' day. It is a danger, but not nearly so fatal as to say 'Thou fool.' Hot-headedness may cause us to cry 'Raca,' but the withering up of sympathy makes us say 'Thou fool.' The first is a quick-spoken term; the other is an attitude. The 'Thou fool' attitude is the result of a mean spirit; a small spirit. What we have to do is to believe in others; to make up our minds to trust democracy. Lack of faith in possibilities for good are fatal. Men are made by faith. O, for men and women with genuine faith in the capacity of others. Fewer of the 'Thou fool' sort—the hell fire people."

"I see from the preamble of your constitution that you are committed to the duty, or privilege, of extending a hand of fellowship. No one can say what it may mean to another. To hold your brotherhood in friendship is a noble aspiration. The principles upon which you have laid it out will give you strength. I see that you stand not alone with a brother when he is in health, but your love passes on when he goes; the widow and the orphan are remembered. I have held funerals for your men, and I have been struck with the manner in which you respond at those trying times. Everything that solicitude and love could devise was done."

Memorial Ritual.
 A beautiful floral design of a crescent and stars was placed at the chancel entrance in memory of Mrs. Christina King, the only deceased member of the auxiliary. When Mr. Ashby had concluded his sermon, J. H. Hinderlite, secretary of Division 339, and Meslames W. A. Horton, M. G. Diggs, R. E. Ray and E. E. Harris, of the auxiliary, carried out the memorial ritual. As Mr. Hinderlite called each name in the list of deceased knights of the throttle, a little bunch of sweet peas and roses was placed in the crescent of the floral design. Mr. Hinderlite stated that during the past year there had been no deaths in the ranks of the brotherhood here.

LEGION RALLY ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Great Mass Meeting Planned in Academy With D. S. Hollenga Speaker

Raleigh Post No. 1 of the American Legion has secured the use of the Academy of Music for Wednesday night, June 15, and will stage a great mass-meeting in the interests of the American Legion's national Americanization program. Dan S. Hollenga, one of the most enthusiastic apostles of Americanism in this State has ever developed, will be the speaker of the occasion, and his address will be worth hearing. He has been touring the State for the past two weeks and everywhere he has appeared he has made a big hit.

Mr. Hollenga was secretary of Fayetteville's Chamber of Commerce for some time, and after he got out of the army he was secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at Hamlet. At both places he was a great force for good. In Hamlet he was the first wife in the American Legion post, and his spirit undoubtedly helped to make it a 100-per-cent post, standing fourth in the State in membership. He went to Wilmington last summer as a representative of his post in the State convention, and he made such a hit there that he was elected a delegate to the National convention at Cleveland.

TWO MEN ARRESTED ON STORE-BREAKING CHARGE
E. G. McKeenan and Clayton McPherson Held As Result Of Theft Of $124

E. G. McKeenan and Clayton McPherson are in the city jail charged with store-breaking as a result of the alleged theft of $124 in cash from the store of T. B. Workman, a local interior decorator and paper-hanger, on South Wilmington street, Saturday night. The two men were arrested at Durham several hours after the safe was rifled on advices from the Raleigh police department and were brought back to the city yesterday morning by Officer Bailey.

The original warrant charges the two men with store-breaking, but the police state the charges will probably be altered because of the circumstances surrounding the affair. At headquarters it was ascertained that McKeenan, who is Mr. Workman's son-in-law, had a key to the shop and knew the combination to the safe, as he had been in Mr. Workman's employ for some time. McPherson's connection with the theft of the money has not been definitely established, but it is understood that McKeenan stated he took the $124 himself. The police stated that McKeenan and McPherson went to the home of S. L. Workman, brother of the interior decorator, evidently after the money had been taken from the safe, and caused somewhat of a disturbance, it being asserted that the two were under the influence of an intoxicant at the time. One or two members of the department went to the house in response to a call, but McKeenan and McPherson had departed when they arrived.

Because of preparations by McKeenan to leave the city, Mr. Workman's suspicions were aroused and he and an officer went to the store to investigate in regard to the money. They found the front door unlocked and upon opening the safe the $124 was found missing. Acting on information that the men were headed for Durham, the police of the neighboring city were notified to arrest them. They were caught later after they are said to have purchased tickets for Asheville and were brought back to the city yesterday morning and lodged in jail. Of the money taken from the safe, $111.57 was recovered.

DINNER TO START COMMUNITY WORK

Present Appeal For Support Of Activities At Woman's Club Tonight

Community service will be put on a substantial basis in Raleigh at a dinner to be given at the Woman's Club tonight at 7 o'clock when more than a hundred representative citizens will gather to pledge their support and cooperation, personal and financial to the work that has been developed here. The dinner will be given by the Community Service department of the club.

Six thousand dollars will be spent by the service in Raleigh during the coming year. Much of the fund has already been contributed, members of various organizations having pledged it, and the remainder will be subscribed today. The fund will be expended in the interest of various community activities that have been growing rapidly in the city during the past few months. Mrs. Jane McKimmon is directing the program here.

Scores of letters have been received by Mrs. McKimmon pledging co-operation of citizens. Typical among them is a letter received yesterday from A. B. Andrews, pledging his interest and support. The letter follows:

"Answering your request to write something about community service I can only say that it is to provide diversion and recreation for the whole community, which now a few by reason of possession of this world's goods or membership in certain organizations are enabled to provide for themselves and their own."

"The world war taught us how to use team work and to operate with each other. The building and lease association through similar co-operation shows how the few dollars of the many can be pooled and usefully applied to building up a town and providing necessary homes. Community service seeks to get all to co-operate in providing innocent, healthy amusement for all, which can only be done by cooperation of the many. I sincerely hope that all citizens will take an interest in the movement and regret that I will not be present to assist, owing to absence from town."

RAILROAD EARNINGS FOR APRIL SHOW DECREASE

Washington, June 12.—Railroads of the country earned $29,201,000 in April, or $1,494,000 less than in March, according to reports transmitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission by the carriers and made public today by the Association of Railway Executives.

The earnings for April represented a return on the valuation tentatively fixed by the commission for rate making purposes of 2.18 per cent against 2.30 per cent for March, and were $51,296,000 short of the amount contemplated by the transportation act, the statement of the Railway executives said.

Operating expenses for April were 68.74 per cent of the amount of the revenues against 67.19 per cent of the amount of the revenues for March, showing, the statement said, that while expenses were reduced during the month, revenues also fell off. During the eight months since the Federal guaranty period expired, the roads have earned $279,008,000, the statement said which would be an annual rate of return of 2.41 per cent on the tentative valuation of the roads, or $414,253,000 less than the amount contemplated to be earned from the rates-established by the commission.
