

CAMP GLENN FROM AIR LOOKS SMALL

Newspaper Scribe Inspects Encampment From Above and Reports Results

By JONATHAN WORTH DANIELS (Staff Correspondent.)

Camp Glenn, July 22.—Camp Glenn from the air is a study in geometry and solid lines. Through the courtesy of Mr. Gus Leazer, of the Raleigh Aero Club, the News and Observer correspondent had the opportunity to see the encampment from above.

Flaring over the rifle range where a battalion on its stomach looked up at the plane and over the camp the machine soared to a height of several thousand feet. Below stretched the camp like a box of pasteboard tents and toy soldiers. White ribbons of sand marked company streets and patches of gray green the roofs of mess halls. Tin soldiers, craned their pointed necks at the high flying aeroplane.

Great the camp and the work land of the Guardsmen to his playground, the beach, and back again with a few heart-rending stunts on the way that made the camp look like the dear old home after a twenty-year's absence. A final vertical plunge down towards the companies on the range that sent them leaping and back to camp with a bang of infantry fervor.

Officers Go Fishing

Today a number of the officers of the encampment set out on a fishing trip and returned with around a hundred trout, hogfish, and blue fish. In the party were Col. Don Scott, Col. S. W. Minor, Major Gordon Smith, Capt. A. L. Fletcher, Captain Sprague Silver, Captain C. A. Gosney, Lieutenant Andrew Green, and Lieutenant John H. Myers.

Boats and the Service Company are still going strong. Tonight will see while to find an opponent. Bobbie Wood of Raleigh, issued a challenge to the whole camp at any night. Troy Baucum, also of Raleigh, challenges the camp in wrestling. C. C. Presley, of company, of Charlotte, claims the wrestling championship of the camp in the 135 pound weight. The redoubtable Gallagher, of Durham, claims the regional championship in boxing at 135 pounds.

The first boat last night between William Shipman and Eugene Painter lasted not long and ended in Painter's favor. The outcome of this boat, does not affect Shipman's holding the 115 pound championship, as he was out-weighted by Painter to a considerable degree. Herbert Bush felt that the Painter-Shipman boat was decidedly unequal and in the defense of Service Company fought Painter's second fight which was as closely matched and hard fought contest as any of the encampment. After several bitterly contested rounds Painter gave up and Bush's arm was raised in victory.

B. E. Hearn, of the Service Company, and C. C. Presley, of Company F, staged one of the longest and hardest fought mat battles of the encampment. Hearn on the offensive from the start was unable to put Presley's defensive shoulders to the mat and after a great while of fruitless feeling both men agreed that it was a draw. Troy Baucum's challenge to the camp in wrestling was answered by E. R. Higgs, of the Signal Company. The man were nearly equally matched in weight but Baucum had little trouble with the man from the Canton company.

Lightweights Have Bout

Kennan Smith, of Raleigh, mascot of the Service Company, and Leo McIntosh, of Morehead, featherweights, met with the gloves on last night in one of the fastest of the encampment's ring battles. Smith had a little on McIntosh in weight and reach but the Morehead boy made up for it in speed. After five rounds of give and take, referee Walter Simpson was unable to pick the winner and the bout ended in a draw. McIntosh walked all the way from Morehead for the fight. After the fight a purse was made up for the fighters. Kennan Smith waived his right to half of the amount, and the Morehead boy went home several dollars richer.

This morning the swimming and diving matches of the encampment were held. Before the entries began, Lieut. Walter Simpson, camp athletic officer, gave a demonstration of life saving and resuscitation work.

Instructors Trained Army Men

Hard at work with the men of the National Guard at Camp Glenn is a group of instructors from the regular army who are particularly well fitted for the work. These instructors, well trained for the work by long service in the army, are especially well fitted for the difficult duty of the intensive training of the Guard.

Major R. F. Rietz, the senior instructor, who is permanently detailed with the State troops, is an officer of long service in the army. He has been with the North Carolina National Guard since October, 1919, and his great experience in handling matters of training in the regular army, both before and during the World War, has been a valuable asset to the Guard. Captains J. E. Heywood, H. D. Gibson, and term of the Infantry school at Camp F. A. Ryder are graduates of the last Denning, Ga., and are highly proficient in the very latest methods of modern infantry training.

Sergeants Edward Ellsworth and L. D. Wagner, sergeant-instructors, permanently with the State troops, are men of 20 and 10 years' service, respectively. Sergeant Ellsworth served as a major of infantry at Camp Gordon, Ga., during the war, and Sergeant Wagner served during the same period, as a first lieutenant at the Machine Gun training center at Camp Hancock, Ga.

Public Vehicles Heavily Bonded

Rocky Mount City Fathers Take Drastic Measures To Stamp Out Immorality

Rocky Mount, July 22.—Provisions for a drastic tightening of the laws governing for hire vehicles and the elimination of all such cars that may be used for lawlessness or immoral purposes were adopted at the regular meeting of the board of aldermen this week and have been put into effect in the opening of public car licenses this year as of June 1.

The new ordinance, which was drafted by the ordinance committee at the request of the board, and immediately adopted after the rules had been suspended so that the usual procedure of allowing an ordinance to lie on the table for two weeks might be done away with, provides that every person, firm or individual seeking license to operate automobiles for the transportation of passengers for hire must furnish a bond of $1,000 as a guarantee that the car or cars "shall be operated with due care and proper regard for the safety of passengers and the general public; shall not use or permit any such automobile or automobiles to be used for the sale, hauling or transportation of any poisonous, vicious or malt liquors or narcotic drugs; and shall not use any such automobile or automobiles for any immoral purpose."

The ordinance then provides the stipulation that should the operator of public cars violate any of the above requirements after having been granted his license and having placed his bond he shall be subject to a penalty of five hundred dollars for each offense, recoverable by civil action upon the bond of the person, firm or corporation so offending.

New Afternoon Paper For Elizabeth City

Elizabeth City, July 22.—A new evening newspaper, the Evening Journal, will begin publication here next Monday. The managing editor is R. G. Shackelford, who comes to this city from the Tarboro Southerner. He was previously editor and principal stockholder of the Scotland Neck Commonwealth, and eight years ago was city editor of the Winston-Salem Journal, one of the State's leading daily newspapers. Mr. Shackelford enters his new venture with his son, A. E. Shackelford, who will return to his studies at the University of North Carolina. The Evening Journal is being financed by a local stock company in which the elder Shackelford is a leading shareholder.

Taxes Is Pasquotank Raised By Commissioners

Elizabeth City, July 22.—Due to the increased expense of Pasquotank's road-building program, the higher salaries paid teachers, and the considerable reduction in valuations, the general county tax was fixed by the Board of County Commissioners in session early this week at 89 cents per $100 valuation, as compared with 63 cents for the preceding year. The poll tax will be $2.07, as against $2.01 for 1920. The following special school taxes were fixed: Elizabeth City township, five cents per $100; Providence, 15 cents; Newland, 20 cents; Mt. Hermon, 13 cents; and Salem, 10 cents.

Special Train Handled Through To Wilmington

Sunday seashore travel to Wilmington, for Wrightsville Beach, has been so heavy in the past until the Southern Railway has arranged with the Atlantic Coast Line Railway to operate the special train handling the excursion travel through to Wilmington, eliminating change of cars at Goldsboro on both the going and returning trip. For the past two Sundays the Southern Railway has been operating a special train on schedule of No. 112, handling excursion travel exclusively. This special train will be continued throughout July and August, except that it has been arranged to extend the train through to Wilmington during the remainder of the season.

Peach Crop Failure In East North Carolina

Scotland Neck, July 22.—The large peach crops that are annually raised on the banks of Roanoke River about seven miles from here, are this year almost a complete failure and this year shipments will move by the train loads that have been going out in previous years. The growers are unable to account for the crop failure this year as the weather just over the river in Northampton County are said to be exceptionally fine and no little discussion is heard as to the why and wherefore of the difference.

Greenville Cafeteria Opens

Greenville, July 22.—The Kiltow cafeteria opened its doors to the public today for an inspection tour. The doors swung open at an early hour this morning and remained open for the entire day, during which time hundreds of people passed through the building, inspecting the up-to-date arrangement of the kitchen and the beautiful equipment in general.

Another Playground Opened

Kinston, July 22.—The Community Club late yesterday opened another playground for local juveniles at Mrs. Leveaux and Gordon streets. Mrs. James A. Powers is head of the supervising committee. A recent lot was taken over for the purpose. The lot is located between two churches and is a block in depth. The club last year purchased equipment for two playgrounds, which found immediate favor with hundreds of youngsters.

Ordered To Vacate His Home Because Of Arrest

Kinston, July 22.—George A. Everington, chief of police here, today announced that he had been ordered to vacate a dwelling occupied by himself and family because he had caused a warrant to be issued against James Parker, a street driver. The municipal authorities recently declined to renew Parker's license. Parker, Everington said, continued to operate his automobile without the license. He was ordered to court next Monday. John Smith, Parker's father-in-law, owner of the house in which Everington lives, notified him that he would vacate when the premises, the police chief stated. Everington said he would vacate when he had found a suitable dwelling, but that a verbal lease on the house did not expire until next year and he could not be forced out. He is now in court.

New Courthouse In Montgomery

Dedication Takes Place With Appropriate Exercises When Court Opens

Troy, July 22.—The formal opening and dedication of Montgomery county's new $200,000 courthouse took place this week. The county officials and their wives, the commissioners with their wives, and the members of the local bar and several visitors took seats in the bar. The program was opened with prayer led by Rev. J. W. Hazzell, and Attorney R. T. Peole was master of ceremonies.

W. A. Cochran, who is the oldest member of the local bar from the standpoint of service, delivered an impressive speech, giving some of the history of Montgomery county. He said that Montgomery formed a part of Anson county about 140 years ago. The first courthouse was built at Old Town, near Lowder's Ferry, where the bridge is being built across Poe Deo river on the new highway from the eastern to the western part of the State and making the shortest distance from Raleigh to Charlotte. Montgomery has had five courthouses during its history. The county has been represented in 21 sessions of the National Congress, the first representative being John Kimbrough in the year 1779. Speaking of the great men who had begun practicing law here, Mr. Cochran mentioned several, among them being Judge T. J. Shaw, now on the Superior Court bench.

Other speakers were Attorneys Bob Howell, B. S. Harley, C. C. Broughton, Charles D. Wilkes, R. E. Hamlet of Mt. Gilred, John T. Brittain of Asheboro, and E. R. Burt, representative of Montgomery county, of Biscoe. Solicitor Hayden Clements, of Salisbury, said that the people of Montgomery county and the State ought to be proud indeed of this "Temple of Justice," it not being a place to punish people, but a place for correction. He also stated that this was the finest courthouse in his district.

Free Dispensaries In Rutherford This Year

Rutherford, July 22.—The Board of County Commissioners have completed arrangements with the State Board of Health at Raleigh, for the free dispensaries for the anti-typhoid and diphtheria vaccination campaign, for Rutherford county, which will begin on Monday, August 1, and will continue for four weeks. More than 2,000 people availed themselves of the opportunity last year in Rutherford county by taking the anti-typhoid treatment, and so far as learned, not a single case of typhoid fever has developed where the people took the vaccination, but it is learned that there are several cases of fever in the county, which might have been avoided. It is hoped that a large number of persons in Rutherford county who have not already taken the treatment will do so during the coming county campaign, and become immune against this dreaded enemy for at least three years.

Mrs. Sneed Says It's Wonderful

"I pin my faith to Tanlac for it never fails me," States Nashville Woman. "I pin my faith to Tanlac, because it never fails me," said Mrs. Louis E. Sneed, 1215 Fifth Ave., Nashville, Tenn. "I have kept a bottle of Tanlac on the shelf ever since it restored me to health three years ago, and I take an occasional dose whenever I feel run down. When I first took it I was in an awful condition from stomach trouble and also suffering a great deal from rheumatism. I had lost almost all of my strength and energy and was just about as weak and miserable as a person could be. "It was simply wonderful the way Tanlac helped me. I began to improve almost from the first dose and it wasn't long before I was as sound and well as I had ever been in my life. I could eat anything, my digestion was perfect and I could sleep all night long like a child. Since then Tanlac has been my standby and I always expect to keep it in the house. I am glad to recommend it for I know it is a wonderful medicine."—(Adv.)
