BITTER BATTLE IN REPUBLICAN RANKS NOW BEING FOUGHT

Administration Republicans Try To Camouflage Surrender To Democrats

"AGRICULTURAL BLOC" WORRYING STANDPATS

Harding Makes Move To Disintegrate Western Senators by Offering Kenyon Job As Judge; Marion Butler Not Going To Fight Grissom; Take Care of Duncan

News and Observer Bureau, 603 District Natl. Bank Bldg. By EDWARD E. BRITTON (By Special Leased Wire.) Washington, Oct. 7.—Within the ranks of the Republican party, and kept as well behind the scenes as it is possible so to do, there is going on a spectacular political battle as to which faction of that party is going to control and dictate the policies. The East and the West in the Republican party are at grips. The organization Republicans of the Senate, under the leadership of Lodge and Penrose and Watson, of Indiana, are more and more realizing that the so-called "Agricultural Bloc," in which the Western Republican Senators play so prominent a part, threatens to control, even if the titular leadership remains with the Eastern group. It is the fight of the progressive Republicans against the reactionary and standpat group symbolized in Senator Lodge that is going on. The plans of the reactionaries of the organization are being skillfully worked out but it is to be seen if they will be able to upset the plans of the progressives.

BROOKS' PLAN FOR SUPERVISING HIGH SCHOOLS OUTLINED

Representatives of Higher Institutions of Learning Hold Meeting

MATTERS OF INTEREST TO COLLEGES DISCUSSED

Dr. Brooks Explains Plan For Better Supervision of High Schools of State By Co-operation of The Colleges; Much Opposition To Free Tuition Scholarships

Greensboro, Oct. 7.—Representatives of every institution of higher learning in North Carolina gathered here this afternoon for a discussion of the problems of the colleges of the State and tonight heard a general outline of Dr. E. C. Brooks' latest plan for the advancement and supervision of high schools.

In opening the evening meeting, Dr. Brooks declared that for some time he has been puzzled to solve the problem of satisfactory and efficient supervision of the high schools by the State Department of Education with the limited number of men it is able to employ. Then the plan, new in the annals of North Carolina and probably new in the annals of education in the United States, was announced.

As briefly outlined by Prof. J. Henry Highsmith, inspector of State high schools, the plan provides for the cooperation of the colleges of the State in the supervision of the high schools to the fullest extent. Eleven colleges designated by the Department of Education with the unanimous approval of the colleges, will through their department of education, have supervision of the schools in their vicinity and for a radius of at least 100 miles.

Dr. Brooks declared that nothing had been said of the proposition until tonight, as he wished to make sure that there would be no hitch in the program before making it known. After Professor Highsmith had outlined the details of the plan, Professor A. T. Allen, director of teacher training, delivered a talk, followed by a general discussion.

TWO BROTHERS WHO DID GOOD WORK WITH STICK YESTERDAY

It was "Brother Against Brother" from a hitting standpoint in the third game of the World Series yesterday, and the younger won out. Emil Meusel, better known as "Frisch" and star left gardener for the New York Giants, got three hits, including a double, scored two runs, brought two men home, stole one base and played errorless ball in his area. Bob Meusel, who performs in the right garden for the Yankees, made a good showing in view of the fact the majority of the hitting was done by the Giants. He was one of the two Yanks to get two hits—the other being Ward—and one of them was for two bases, the only extra base hit for the Americans. In addition, Bob's fast throw almost caught Emil off first after the latter had singled in the second inning. Bob went into the hall of fame Thursday when he made a clean steal of home plate.

New York, Oct. 7.—(By the Associated Press)—The Giants awoke from their two days' lethargy today and sprinkled the greensward at the Polo Grounds with such a shower of hits that the Yankees were swamped under a score of 13 to 5 in the third game of the World Series.

The National Leaguers had gone runless for twenty innings up to the third session of this afternoon's struggle. Then the outbreak of hitting started. Steal Yankees' Thunder. Stealing the Yankees' thunder, as the latter had stolen theirs in the previous games of the series in speed and daring on the bases, John McGraw's men after spotting their American League opponents to a four run lead, promptly cancelled this advantage, driving Bob Shawkey, who had started for Miller Huggins' team, off the mound in the third inning. Then, after the score had run along in a tie for three more innings, they broke out with an orgy of hitting against second string Yankee pitchers in the traditional "lucky seventh" inning, putting over eight runs in this chapter and piling up a total of thirteen runs and twenty hits in their eighth innings at the bat.
