GOV. WILSON HOME TONIGHT

Speech of Acceptance Completed and Governor Will Return to Sea Girt

WEEK TO BE BUSY ONE

Governor's Secretary Went Down to Meet Governor Today—Wilson Will Leave the Yacht Late This Afternoon and Proceed to Sea Girt by Automobile—Speech of Acceptance Will Be Sent to the Printer Tomorrow—Several Distinguished Men to Meet the Governor in Trenton Tomorrow and the Week Will be a Busy One.

Sea Girt, July 29.—Governor Wilson is expected at his summer home tonight. His secretary, Joseph Tumulty, announced that he would go down to the Jersey coast today to a small inlet to meet the private yacht on which the governor and his wife have been spending the past few days. The governor will remain on the vessel until some time late this afternoon, when he will disembark, further up the coast, and proceed by automobile to sea girt.

The location of the inlet is as much a secret as the name of the vessel which bears the democratic presidential nominee. After Mr. Tumulty has transacted his business with the governor he will land. The yacht will steam out and head for another haven up the coast. The governor will land during the afternoon and come by motor to Sea Girt. A week will have elapsed since his departure to seek seclusion in which to write his speech. It will be the governor's first public comment on the democratic platform as an entirety. It will be delivered here August 7, at the ceremony of notification. If the day is fine the governor probably will talk from a little knoll in his yard beneath a group of elms.

While the governor has declined to forecast his speech, it is known definitely here that the tariff will be dealt with as the leading issue. In close relation to this the governor places the high cost of living. The latter he is said to regard as but a development of the present tariff system. There are other points he has intimated with which he will deal.

Friends of the governor in the light of his past utterances on this question assert that the governor will declare in his speech for a tariff for revenue and not for free trade, and will urge a gradual rather than a sweeping reduction in tariff schedules until the tariff becomes actually an instrument for revenue, as he defines the word, and not for protection.

There is no doubt in their minds that the governor will devote some portion of his speech to the relations between what he calls "big business" and the tariff. They point to speeches made by the governor before his nomination in which he declared that the growth of "big business" has made the tariff theories, as originally propounded, antiquated; and upon these declarations they base their forecast.

ARCHBALD'S ANSWER MADE

Reading of Reply to Charges Made Against Judge Archbald in Senate Today

Washington, July 29.—Judge Archbald and his attorneys took the places at the counsel table a few minutes after the senate convened today as a court of impeachment. Senators Penrose, Poindexter, Kern, Watson, Foster and Bankhead, absent when the case first was taken up, were sworn in as members of the court. Gallinger, in the chair, asked if the defendant's attorneys were ready to answer the charges. "We are ready with our answer," said Attorney Worthington, and "would like to have it read from the clerk's desk." The reading of the lengthy answer began.

Archbald's Answer. Judge Robert W. Archbald, of the commerce court, in answer to the impeachment articles brought against him by the house of representatives, today formally denied that he ever used his office or his influence as a judge for profit, that he ever undertook for a consideration to compromise litigation before the interstate commerce commission, that he ever wrongfully used his position to obtain credit from litigants before him, or that he had undertaken to carry on a general business for profit or speculation in coal properties, as charged in the house indictment. To each of the thirteen articles of impeachment Judge Archbald replied that none, even if true, constituted a crime.

EMPEROR OF JAPAN DEAD

His Death Occurred Shortly After Midnight This Monday Night After Long Illness

WAS A LIBERAL RULER

Mutsuhito Succeeded to the Throne By Crown Prince Gushiko—Had Been Emperor For 40 Years and Was Regarded as the Father of Modern Japan—His Countrymen Proclaimed Him the Greatest Man of His Generation—Was of Retiring Disposition, But Called Around Him a Group of the Ablest Men of His Country—Was 121st Emperor of the Country.

Tokio, July 29.—Mutsuhito, the Japanese Emperor, died today (Tuesday morning) at 12:43 a. m. Acute Nephritis caused his death. Crown Prince Yoshihito, succeeded to the throne. His imperial majesty, Mutsuhito, was the 121st emperor of Japan. He was born at Kyoto on the 3rd of November, 1852, and was the second son of the Emperor Komei. In 1869, seven years before his father's death, he was declared heir apparent. He ascended the throne as a boy of fifteen, and on that occasion gave his solemn promise to grant some form of representative government. He fulfilled that promise in the most liberal manner and thus gave to his country, his new birth. He is acclaimed by the entire world as the father of modern Japan.

Under the reign of the late Mikado, Japan underwent almost miraculous changes. From the very first he displayed intuitive genius in fashioning the political affairs of his people and in forging out the destiny of his empire. So deeply did he impress his own countrymen, that they have almost with one accord, proclaimed him the greatest man of his generation, and some of them go so far as to say, of all time. Although Mutsuhito did not at first impress his personality upon the outside world, he did evince rare acumen in calling around him a group of the ablest men in his empire. These he called the "Elder Statesmen," and under their wise council, the Mikado saw his country develop into a world power almost in a night.

The two most conspicuous events of his long reign were the wars with China and Russia, both of which, was all the world knows, terminated happily for him. While Mutsuhito was a liberal and constitutional monarch who threw the doors of his country wide open to western civilization, there never was a time that his subjects regarded him as less than a god. To him and his virtues they attributed all their victories in war and triumphs in peace. The married life of the mikado was said to have been exceptionally happy. He leaves one child, a son.

NEGROES AND WHITES ENGAGE IN RIOT

Plainville, Ga., July 29.—Fears that the negroes who fought with the county officers yesterday would resume battle this morning, were unfounded. Plainville is quiet. Twelve negroes and three whites, hurt in the fighting, will survive.

The trouble began when several negroes attacked a white boy. Officers, who were sent to restore quiet, were ambushed by negro men. Until their ammunition gave out, the blacks stood off the posse. Then engaged citizens who backed up the officers, used clubs to beat the negroes. The display of weapons by the officers, probably averted a general lynching.

COMPANY TO LEAVE AUG. 1.

Jefferson Standard Offices to Go to Greensboro This Week

THE ACTION WAS FINAL

Directors This Afternoon Reaffirmed Their Decision to Leave Raleigh. All Propositions Looking to the Company's Remaining Here Having Failed—Believed That Some New Officers Will Be Chosen at Directors Meeting Tuesday, August 6.

The directors of the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company this afternoon reaffirmed their decision to remove the home offices from Raleigh to Greensboro and set August 1 as the time to move the offices. It had been rumored that the company might stay here, there being a project afoot, it was said, whereby the Raleigh company might acquire the interest of another company and move it to Raleigh. The action of the directors this afternoon effectually disposed of such a rumor.

The meeting of the directors was held in the company's office at noon, with a large attendance. What transpired was not made public, the officers saying that a resolution was adopted authorizing the removal.

That there will be changes in the personnel of the officers of the company there is no doubt. The directors will meet Tuesday, August 6, to elect officers and at this time at least one resignation, it is believed, will be filed. It is known, though he has said nothing about the matter—that President Joseph G. Brown will not care to continue his connection with the company in the capacity of president and a successor will likely be elected in his place. Mr. Brown has many important duties and he could not, it is said, spare the time from these. He could not give the company his best services and remain in Raleigh and there is no indication that would cause him to leave here.

The supposition is that the Jefferson Standard and the Greensboro Life, between who a merger was proposed in the spring, will renew their efforts for a merger on plan satisfactory to the majority of the policyholders of both companies.

THE MINORITY STEEL REPORT

Oppose Dissolution Favors Regulation—Majority Remedy Not Effective

Washington, July 29.—A recommendation favoring the legalization and regulation of big industrial concerns, instead of their dissolution to be submitted to the house today in a report by three republican members of the steel investigating committee. The report was signed by Representatives Gardner of Massachusetts, Young of Michigan, and Duntorf of New York. Representative Young submitted an additional statement, and Representative Sterling of Illinois, who believes in dissolving the big combinations will submit a separate report.

The report advocates the creation of an interstate commission of industry to be clothed with extensive powers of regulation, and with power to fix reasonable prices for the output of corporations. The report would require that all corporations capitalized at $50,000,000 or more operate under a charter to be issued by the United States, before engaging in interstate commerce. Smaller corporations might avail themselves of the federal charter at their own option.

All corporations availing themselves of the United States charter would be recapitalized at their actual value. The report commends the work of the bureau of corporations. It also approves the so-called Handeis bill which would transfer the burden of proof to defendant corporations to show that they (Continued on Page Seven.)

MOTOR TRUCK IS EXHIBITED

Big Red Fire-Fighter Demonstrated to Raleigh People Here Today

ANYWHERE

tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock a real demonstration of the La France fire-fighting machine will be made in front of the Centennial school at the lower end of Fayetteville street. The truck will run up to and around the capitol and down Fayetteville street to the school, where a massive bonfire will be extinguished. Signals of vehicles and all pedestrians are urged to bear this in mind and to be clear of the apparatus as it whizzes by at the rate of 60 miles an hour.

Several thousand Raleigh people today beheld for the first time a real automobile fire wagon, the machine being a combination chemical engine and hose wagon. It was driven over the city streets at a rapid rate of speed and there was no alleyway in the city that the big truck could not make. It took all that Fire Chief Sherwood Brockwell suggested, and on the better streets the truck ran at the rate of 59 miles an hour.

The truck, made by the La France people, is the property of Orangeburg, S. C., and was brought to Raleigh from Fayetteville, where the firemen's tournament was held, for the purpose of demonstrating its capabilities. Those who rode in the big red car were convinced that it could go, as its demonstrators claimed, "anywhere horses can pull a wagon."

Mayor Jas. I. Johnson, Aldermen C. A. Johnson, Sherwood Upchurch and Alexander Webb, composing the fire committee of the board of aldermen; Messrs. J. G. Ball and E. E. Broughton, members of the board of audit and finance; Mr. W. J. Peebles, of the sanitary department, and a representative of The Times composed a party that was carried over the streets of Raleigh today.

The board of aldermen, as is well known, has authorized the expenditure of something like $30,000 to give the city a first class fire department. The board contemplates the purchasing of three motor trucks, an automobile for the chief and other auxiliaries. Aware of this fact representatives of the La France Company brought their truck here today for the purpose of showing what it will do. That it met the expectations of the most optimistic seemed to be a fact.

Its Equipment. The truck carries one 36-foot ladder, one 140-gallon chemical tank, 200 feet of chemical hose, one fire axe, one crowbar, two three-gallon extinguishers, and has space for carrying 1,200 feet of 2 1/2 inch water hose. It is equipped with a fire bell and horn and other adjuncts. The truck is propelled by a 75-horse power motor and it has a speed capacity on level roads of 60 miles an hour. On ordinary roads, uphill and rough, it can do from 20 to 30 miles an hour. The roughest streets and alleys in the city were passed over today and there was never a balk.

Savannah, Ga., has 13 pieces of apparatus similar to the truck brought here, Macon has four, Jacksonville three and Wilmington has ordered two. The trucks cost delivered $5,950.
