Taftites Shut the Doors in the Face of the Third Termers, Cutting Them Out of the Convention of the Republicans-Failed to Fuse any State Ticket-Tom Settle Heads Regular Ticket on Local Option Platform-Zeb Vance Walser Candidate of the Third Term-

Charlotte, Sept. 5 .- The Republican State convention met here yesterday, preserved "its integrity and autonomy" by excluding from participation all but avowed Taft supporters, nominated Thomas Settle, of Boucombe for Governor, and a full state ticket, and by a vote of 606 to 150 adopted a platform demanding local option on the liquor ques-The convention adjourned at midnight, having crowded considerable work into a very short time It was in actual session only three hours and a quarter. The rejuvenated steam roller was never in finer shape. It began its deadly work at the morning meeting of the state executive committee, which turned the far-famed engine of destruction upon itself and expelled six members who were avowedly anti-Taft. When this resolution, introduced by J. J. Mott, declared that no persons except supporters of President Taft had a right to voice or in the committee had been adopted by a vote of 8 to 6 after a prolonged discussion, an inquisition followed which resulted in the un-scating of Charles H. Cowles, C. E. Green, George E. Butler, J. J. Jen-kins, I. B. Tucker, and J. D. Parker. The big game thus disposed of,

Thomas Settle introduced a resolution even more sweeping in its nature. It slammed shut the doors of the convention hall to all delegates who do not propose casting ballots for the present President. It passed Roosevelt men became inevitable.

With most of the unruly elements safely out of the way the course of true love ran smooth. Unanimous was the re-election of Chairman John M. Morehead. By acclamation was the nomination of Settle. Enthusiastic was the motion to declare the seat of Richmond Pearson in the national committee vacant, and the virtual election of E. Carl Duncan to All the elections were without contest.

The first was over the question whether the convention should proceed to nominate a full state ticket, or should stop for the present with the nomination of a candidate for Governor, and leave the other positions open for negotiations by a committee to deal with disaffected elements unfriendly to Democracy.

Mr. Harry Skinner favored the postponement of action and engaged in a sharp verbal tilt with E. Duncan, precipitated when Mr. Skinner intimated that Mr. Duncan had got what he was after from the convention and was not further concerned for the party's good. This

The second fight was over the local option plank in the platform by the majority of the platform committee. The majority report was offered by W. J. Andrews, of Wake. Regulars Rule Out the Bull Prospects For Securing Berth In Carolina Association Are Bright

How would you like to see Raleigh represented in a Carolina League with such towns as Charotte, Durham, Wilmington, Greensporo and Winston-Salem?

Wilmington wants entrance into the league, and that is the reason why the teams are showing off down there. Raleigh would like to be in the league, and by spring could secure a good park.

A letter received by Dr. Joel Whitaker from Mr. Manlius Orr of Charlotte today stated that Raleigh could secure a berth in the Carolina Association. The old arrangement has been abandoned, the South Carolina teams not being able to keep company with the North Carolina

Large Number of Future Builders Arrive At State's Big College

Young Men Sleeping on Cots Last Night-President Hill Optimistic Over Prospects For Next Year-Busy Scenes Depicted By Times

Every now and again a man stands at the heart of a big machine and watches it as, with the adjustment of its many parts, it starts off i do the work for which it is designed. This morning a Times reporter went out to see a big machine start, the biggest of its kind in the state. We a big machine because it deals with human hearts and human in-telligences. This machine, representative of power derived from ev ery part of the state, was the A. and M. College at its annual open ing. One has to be present at such an opening to realize what a little world in itself a large college is. A long line of students was at one place, waiting to see the president sions, another long line was in front lass records for the year. cards to admit them to their classes all the students, who poured out from the other offices assembled to sight which always impresses man, woman and child, a collection of splendid young men representing the industries of the state.

One man passed in entering on the textile course, with the view some day of running a factory of his own. Another wanted to be farmer, another had visions of splendid engineer and was entering on his course with a heart full of anticipation. Here was a youngster who wanted to be a chemist, Every where were these young men, representing the spirit of a new age, age which wants to be trained for clentific and practical work. The machine, representing the different parts just outlined, is so guided that by the close of day, all these various men, both old ald and new will be registered and assigned to their class rooms and the machine will move off tomorrow morning without any friction.

Every room in college is now oc unied and the great question with he college authorities is what is to night quite a crowd slept on cots in were destroyed and fifty thousand recitation rooms. During the day, The college, unfortunately, Monday night, can take into its dormitories only few over 500 and is decidedly in need of a larger dormitory to ac commodatee the increased number.

The spirit of the student body is fine, full of enthusiasm and a desire to make this year a great one in col-lege history. The registration closes at nine o'clock this evening and up to that time the exact number can not be known accurately. It is far n excess of any previous registra-

Felled By Engineer After Nomination of Two State Robbing Passengers of a Thousand Dollars

New Orleans, Sept. 5.—Suffering a severe scalp wound, the bandit, who single handed, robbed the New York Limited on the Louisville and Nashville railroad twelve miles east of here last night, later to be felled by the engineer, was brought here this morning and placed in a hospital. The bandit said his name was Howard E. Edwards, and his family lives at Jupiter, Florida. He gave the police information that may lead to the arrel of three other members of the gang, believed responsible for a series of sensational train robberies in this section. Edwards is in precarious condition. His recovery is doubtful.

After Edwards completed his round of the coaches, he went for-ward to the engine. Caught off his guard for an instant, he was hit by Engineer Baer who wielded a heavy oil can.
