

LOCAL.

All advertisements must be handed in by Tuesday of every week, in order to be inserted in the issue of that week.

Visit Postponed.—We regret to state that Bishop Lyman has been compelled, on account of sickness in his family, to postpone his visit to this place, so that he will not reach here on the 6th, as stated in our last issue.

CHURCHES & SOCIETY.—We take pleasure in calling attention to the new advertisement of this firm of enterprising young merchants, who are deservedly obtaining so large a portion of the trade from Chatham. When you go to Raleigh, give them a call.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.—There was an unusual number in the marrying business last month, for our popular Register informs us that he issued only two licenses. This is truly alarming, for what will become of the country if such distressing data continues?

THE SUPERIOR COURT.—The next regular term of the Superior Court of this county will commence on Monday, the 22d, of this month. There are no cases of much importance of general interest on the docket, and the entire business of the court will doubtless be disposed of in two days.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.—In this issue we present to our readers the advertisement of this great Hardware House, so well and favorably known throughout all this section. One of their clerks is our popular young townsman, C. W. Hicks, who is always pleased to wait on his Chatham friends.

PICTIC.—The young ladies and gentlemen of this place had a very pleasant picnic on the 1st inst. at the old Lea place, three miles north of here. The weather was very favorable, there was an abundance of appetizing edibles, the ladies lacked their loveliest, and altogether everything passed off most delightfully.

GOTTEN BROOM.—The first cotton bloom that we have seen in the east end since our friend, Mr. A. H. Perry, which made its appearance on the 28th of June. Mr. Perry is one of those Hickory Mountain farmers who raise such good crops, and by the way we hear that the corn and cotton crops in that section are unusually promising this season.

BYNUM & HEADEN.—We take pleasure in calling attention to the advertisement of this enterprising firm. Their new and commodious store presents an attractive appearance on the outside, and when you enter it their large and well assorted stock seems still more attractive. Give them a call and you will be surprised at the good bargains offered by them.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Henry M. Cowan, associate Editor and Proprietor of the Ophelia (Ala.) Observer, is in our town on a visit to relatives. We are always pleased to welcome back to our town any of our Pittsboro boys who have gone out into the world to seek their fortunes.

Rev. Lucian Holmes has been in our village a few days, and was warmly welcomed by his old friends, many of whom were his pupils when he taught school here twenty years ago. He is now residing at Mount Airy, engaged both in preaching and teaching.

SNAKE STORY.—One of our citizens a few days ago set a rat trap in his pantry, and his little girl soon thereafter thought there was a rat in it, and taking the trap out in the yard opened it, when much to her horror she discovered a snake snugly coiled up in it. Her screams soon brought her father to the spot, who quickly killed the snake, which was a moccasin, and took from it a mouse that it had swallowed. It is said enough to have rats nesting in a man's pantry, but to have snakes also is rather crowding things, and calculated to make him give up eating if he has to obtain his supplies from that pantry.

CONTESTED ELECTION.—Mr. J. M. Monger, who keeps a bar-room at Carthage, has contested the election held at that place on the 5th of June, at which a majority of votes were cast for "Prohibition." He contended that there was some irregularity in the election that rendered it void, and also that as he had obtained a license to retail for a certain time he could not legally be deprived of his right until the expiration of that time. The case was argued before Judge Baxton, at Fayetteville, on the 27th of June, Mr. Manning of this place appearing for the prohibitionists, and was decided in their favor. Monger took an appeal to the Supreme Court, which will however doubtless affirm the decision of Judge Baxton.

CHRISTIAN CONFERENCE.—A District Conference of the Christian, or O'Kellyn Church was held at Hank's Chapel, three miles south-east of this place, commencing on the 27th and adjourning on the 29th of June. This was a Conference of District No. 6, composed of certain churches in this and Moore counties. The Preachers in attendance were Rev. Messrs. P. T. Klapp, W. S. Long, W. G. Clements, A. A. Boon, J. W. Hatch, and S. B. Klapp. The first named preacher was elected President, and Mr. Peter Hatch Secretary. Addresses were delivered during the session of the conference upon the different matters of interest connected therewith, and several sermons preached. On Sunday the attendance was very large, and notwithstanding the great crowd all were well cared for by the hospitable citizens of the neighborhood.

The next Conference will be held next November near Merry Oaks in this county.

A PLEASANT RESORT.—During this extremely warm weather such a delightful summer resort as Beaufort offers peculiar attractions. You will there enjoy the refreshing sea breezes, and the "inner man" will be treated with fish, crabs, scallops and other delicacies that make the mouth-water to think about. If you don't believe this, go to the Atlantic Hotel at Beaufort and try it. We speak from personal experience.

CRAB.—The well known negro blacksmith of this place, named Wright Fourrington has been insane, and has been confined in jail for safe keeping. He is a very large and powerful man, and while usually quiet and inoffensive yet at times he becomes dangerously violent. His insanity is doubtless caused by a life of domesticity, aggravated by troubles of a domestic character. It is said that he went into the store of one of our merchants one morning recently and upon his remarking that he must "kill some body," soon had the store all to himself, nor merchant friend not desiring to be the one to gratify him.

FOURTH OF JULY.—Tomorrow is the "Glorious Fourth," a day of patriotic grandeur and of national rejoicing. The temperature without and within the average parallel is about equal, and when the air is so warm with the smell of burnt powder and the sound of martial music, this is more especially true of the North, for of late years our Northern people have had cause to doubt the blessings obtained by exchanging British rule for Republican.

In our village the day will doubtless pass off without any excitement whatever, except that a number of negroes will deck town and eat cakes and drink weak lemonade.

Excursion trains will run to Fayetteville and Raleigh, so that those who are fond of dirt and heat, and crowds, can be suitably amused.

WHERE THEY INQUIRED.—There has been an unusual number of criminals hanged in the State within the past few weeks, and with only one exception they have all most solemnly requested their executors, even while standing upon the fatal scaffold which in a few moments would launch them into eternity. Many persons were so impressed with the earnestness of their protestations and the truth of their statements as to be induced to believe in their innocence. Now the question naturally arises, were all these men innocent? Have some of our fellow citizens been murdered by judicial process and though the terms of law be broken, is such a thing is to be indulged in?

And yet in each and every case (with one exception) the man has been hanged in North Carolina during the past few weeks, there are many persons who believed and still believe him innocent.

A negro, named Russel Jones, was hanged in Raleigh on the 27th of June for the crime of murder. He had two trials, and was acquitted each time, though afterwards he was found guilty. The point of his guilt was sufficient to procure a grand jury and two path-juries in his favor, and yet in each and every case he made most solemn and pathetic protestations of his innocence. Indeed his behavior during his last hour of life was most remarkable, and it is said that he was the calmest man ever seen on the gallows. He made a long speech, spoke of his religious experiences, and said he was going "straight to heaven." Another man, named Fay, was hanged the week before at Beaufort, and he too asserted his innocence to the last moment, and died with the air of a justly innocent man. A short time before that at South Hill, a man was hanged, who was publicly baptised, professed repentance of all his sins, manifested an assured hope of being eternally saved, and to the very last most earnestly protested his innocence. The case of the three Chapel Hill burglars is well known to our readers. They all asserted in their dying moments their entire innocence. Now, is it possible that all these men were innocent?

We believe not, and yet there are hundreds of persons who do believe in. They argue that a man will not die with a lie on his lips; that a man will not make false statements when he knows that in a moment he will be hanged, and that his dying declarations must therefore be true.

In all these cases the execution was public and witnessed by many hundreds of people, and this we believe is the great probability of the execution, the desire to appear to the best advantage before a gathering of thousands and the view of "going down" and with the air of a martyr in the presence of many, stimulate their courage and induce them to assert their innocence. If these executions were held in private we believe very different scenes would take place. As it is instead of having a good effect in deterring others from committing crime, and in striking terror into their minds, public executions seem to have the effect of exciting sympathy for the criminal and of creating a doubt as to his guilt.

Railroad Passes.—At the recent meeting of the stockholders of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad Company, the following resolution was adopted, so let "dead heads" look out!

"Resolved, That the practice of the Div. directors of the A. & N. C. R. R. Co., giving free passes over its road is highly censurable, and is an unwarrantable assumption of authority on the part of those who give them, and that all conductors be required to disregard such passes, and that in default of so doing they be held accountable to the Company for the fares of all such as travel on the road on such passes, and that the amount of the same be deducted from their wages, and that a copy of this resolution be placed in a conspicuous place in each passenger coach."

STATE NEWS.

Rat Killing.
Dr. Person and Mr. M. F. Jeffreys, of Fremont, killed in one day 124 rats, and a bad day for rats, at that, writes the Doctor.—Goldboro' Mail.

Irish Potatoes.
Immense quantities of Irish potatoes are being shipped from Norfolk to the Northern markets. Nineteen thousand barrels were recently shipped in one day to N. W. York.

A Normal Pedestrian.
A teacher made his appearance at the University, having journeyed on foot one hundred and thirty-six miles, from his home in one of the eastern counties. He expects to walk back after the school closes.

Late Watermelons.
It is often the case that watermelons are seen here by the 14th of July, but this year our vines are backward, and none will do in market before the middle of the month, at the earliest.—Observer.

Manlaughter.
The jury in the case of the State vs. Henderson Alford, charged with the murder of deputy sheriff Galt, more, brought in a verdict of guilty of manslaughter. Alford was sentenced to the penitentiary for ten years at hard labor.—Raleigh News.

An Impostor.
A fraudulent jeweler, giving his name as Nelson, walked off from Durham recently with a half dozen or more watches belonging to citizens of that town. His first act on entering the town was to attend a young man's prayer meeting, where he was very conspicuous.

Fined the Husband.
At Bekeville two women got into a fight. The husband of one proposed to take the place of his better and longer half, and the officer of the law was too glad to refuse the offer, so he beat up the head of the household before his honor, who imposed the usual fine.—Republican.

A Bazar.
A correspondent of the Raleigh News says that the smallest woman in Western North Carolina was in Winston some days ago. The correspondent adds she is a daughter of Fletcher Jones, who lives eight or nine miles from here. She is eighteen years of age, twenty-seven or eight inches high, and weighs thirty-seven pounds.

Lynched.
A white man named John J. Moore, living about 12 miles from Sparta, was murdered last week, was lynched for the murder of a young woman named Maggie Woodard, whose person he violated and then cut her throat. The lyncher numbered about 250, and a general invitation was extended to the public to witness the execution. The two oldest citizens of the neighborhood were selected for executors, and every thing appears to have been done systematically. The victim's wife and children were present, and so were the sisters of the murdered man.

Jail-Breaking.
We learn that on Monday last four prisoners confined in Lincoln jail, after a desperate struggle, and fight with the Sheriff effected an escape. One of these desperadoes carried a pipe, another a pair of trousers, and the other two a barrel. This is a bad lot of citizens to be at large, and we hope that a re-organizing will be reported at once.—Observer.

Too Lazy to Work.
Hundreds of lazy negroes were bawling around Raleigh last week, although nearly every morning there were wagons in from the country offering 65, 70 and 75 cents per day for their labor—with a free rifle, and from the farm. These fellows forget that the hog chit has lessened their chances for selling this fall and winter after a summer of idleness.—Farmer & Mechanic.

A Life For Cherries.
Mr. W. P. Doherty died last Saturday from injuries sustained from a fall from a cherry tree. He had been playing in the field last Thursday and climbed the tree to pluck some cherries, slipped and fell upon his head and shoulders injuring the spinal column. He went home and in a little while complained of feeling chilly, and grew worse till Saturday, when he died.—Greensboro' Patriot.

Dr. Winkler Declines.
We learn from a private letter received here on Tuesday last that the Rev. E. E. Winkler, D. D., lately elected President of Wake Forest College, has declined the position.

It is supposed that the Trustees of the College will be called together at an early day and the vacancy supplied. The declination of Dr. Winkler is much regretted, as he was regarded as the best man for the place.—Faye Leader.

Randolph Items.
The wheat crop of the county is reported as being very good, the corn crop is better cultivated and is looking better than for several years past. There is a good prospect for peas, and consequently there will be an abundance of pork-corn and flour in this county next year.

There will be held at Ashboro on Tuesday, 15th day of July, a railroad meeting for the purpose of taking steps to forward the interest of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railroad. Everybody is invited to be present and participate in the deliberation. Speeches from railroad men from different sections may be expected.—Randolph Regulator.

Horse Disease.
The Goldsboro Messenger reports a disease prevailing in some parts of the country to a certain extent among the horses. It commences with a swelling on the chest, extending like a knotted chain along the course of the jugular to the throat-latch where the glands are enlarged and treated: When first discovered, bleed freely; give 15 grain doses of iodine of potash three times a day, and rub the swelling with crude petroleum and 1 spirit of turpentine.

Normal School Economy.
We are pleased to learn that a club of young men at the University Normal School are having their own cooking done at an expense of only $5 per month. As they carried their own bedding and the University provided them a room their total expenses are meeting together at an expense of about $7 per month. A house in the village belonging to the University being without a regular occupant, it is arranged for the use of such ladies as desire to use similar economy. It thus appears that all really plucky students can attend the University Normal School and reap its great advantages.—Observer.

Our Roads.
We have our doubts whether any other fifty thousand miles in the civilized world abound in as bad roads as North Carolina, and the reason is obvious. We have the poorest system of laws for making and keeping up roads in the world. There is no tax imposed, nor money expended on them. The people between eighteen and forty-five years of age on two or three times a year, to spend a few hours in filling up mud-holes with loose dirt, and that is the end of it. No class is so interested in having good roads as the owners of real estate. The land in this country would be doubtless in value by the expenditure of one-tenth of their value in making good roads. It ought to be done.—Warrington Gazette.

Quick Communication.
A merchant sitting in his office in South street New York, recently received an answer to his dispatch sent to Shanghai only six hours previously. Shanghai is thirty-six thousand miles distant from New York, and the message, not making any allowance for delivery at the two cities) and have travelled at the rate of one hundred miles a minute, or a mile and two-thirds per second.

DIED.
At the residence of her son-in-law, Dr. Bent on the 17th of June, Mrs. Catherine Moxton.

Dorcas I. was the daughter of Andrew Henden Sr. of Grantham county N. C., and was married in 1818 to Col. S. J. Moxton, and immediately thereafter removed to Albemarle. She was about 85 years of age, and lived a consistent member of the Baptist church upwards of fifty years. J. H. Talbott, Ala.

It does not destroy the draft, it does not interfere with cleaning the boiler. It will not choke up, and requires no cleaning. It requires no direct impingement to be opened when raising steam (flappers being objectionable, as they may be left open and allow sparks to escape). It requires no water to extinguish sparks, which, by condensation, destroys the draft. Besides, when water is used, if neglected, the efficiency is destroyed by evaporation of the water, and the boiler is kept in a filthy condition. It is simple and durable and can be relied upon. It can be attached to any boiler. No painter should be without one of them.
