FOR THE FARMER'S HOUSEHOLD,

Notes for the Farm.

Pear blight has in several instances been arrested in affected trees by syringing them with a solution of potash, and it has proved a preventive when applied to the healthy trees.

Guinea fowls will keep all bugs and insects of every description off garden vines. They will not scratch like other fow is or harm the most delicate plants.

To cure gails on the shoulders of horses: At morning, noon and night wash the shoulders well with water and apply theroughly with a feather six chms of iodine dissolved in a half pirt of alcohol.

Pl at tanzy at the roots of your plum trees, or hang branches of the plant on the limbs of the trees, and you will not be annoved with curcuito. An old and successful fruit-grower furnishes the above, and sixs it is the most successful curculio preventive he has ever tried.

A good way to get rid of rats is to put pounded potash in their holes. The potash gets into their coats and irritates their skin, and the rats descri the pla-To prevent their dying in their holes and becoming offensive, poison them by mixing half a pound of barytes with a quarter of a pound of lard. ## Fertilizers for Potatoes.

As a general thing I try to avoid th firect application of either manures of commercial fertilizers for potators, beleving they have a tendency to caus-cust or blight on the tops or vines, and are more or less the cause of either ret or scab on the tubers. If a piece of lat-is not rich enough I would manure 1 with previous crops to get its condition up to the desired standard. If a turf of clover lot were to be followed with potatoes I would spread manuae on th turf in the fall before; or, if it was failow or stubble ground, I would som rye or oats in August or first of Septem ber, to plow under as green manuring or manuring in the spring much as cochooses, and plant to corn one year, following with potatoes the next, which makes a very good seed bed for them If manure is to be used directly for the potato crop, care should be taken the it is well rotted before using, which makes it safer.
