

LOCAL RECORDS.

During these long nights how can a man better amuse or instruct himself and family than by reading for an hour The Record?

Read the card of our popular countyman, Mr. C. C. Hamlet, who will take pleasure in waiting on his friends when they go to Raleigh.

Job Printing neatly done at The Record office. Magistrates' blanks furnished at low prices. Have your tickets, hand-bills and circulars printed at The Record office. Good work and low prices.

Cold weather is on us, and you can get at LONDON'S CHEAP STORE, splendid blankets very cheap. His stock of Cassimere, Kersey Jeans, is very large and at bottom prices. Now is the time to get Boots and you can find any kind you wish at London's Cheap Store.

Over Coats for men and boys, Shawls and Cloaks for ladies, Hoods and Sashes for children, all at the lowest prices at LONDON'S CHEAP STORE; still getting new goods; just opened a fresh lot of Candies, Cocoanuts, Crackers, Cheese, Cigars, and other good things at London's Cheap Store.

Roll of Honor.

Again we are called upon to announce the names of those scholars of the Pittsboro Academy that are entitled to be placed upon the "roll of honor"—Misses Fanny Thompson, Laura Brewer and Lizzie Manning.

What has become of the boys?

Investment in Pork.

We mentioned in our last issue about a certain pork speculation made by a citizen of this place, and the Raleigh Visitor after copying our article adds:

"But we can beat that. One of our subscribers says he bought one pig, paid two dollars for it, fed it regularly every day for eighteen months, and then sold the pig and pen for one dollar and fifty cents. What did the pig cost?"

Christmas is Coming.

Only one month from to-day until Christmas! The months roll by so rapidly that we can scarcely realize that another Christmas is so near. The little folks are beginning to be anxious about Santa Claus and are impatiently awaiting his presents. Housekeepers are beginning to busy themselves about preparing their "goodies" for the famous Christmas dinner, and many pleasant anticipations of "a merry Christmas" are indulged in by all classes of persons.

The Randolph Fair.

The annual fair of our neighboring county (Randolph) was held week before last, and we are pleased to learn from the Courier that it was a highly creditable success. We had feared that amid so much political excitement the people might not take sufficient interest in the fair. The Courier publishes a long list of the premiums awarded at the Randolph Fair, and next year the Record hopes to publish the list of premiums awarded at the Chatham fair. Why can't Chatham have a fair as well as Randolph?

The Bird Law.

A correspondent of the News and Observer of the 20th inst., states that he saw fifty dozen partridges shipped by express, one day last week to New York, from a railroad station in this county, and asks if this is not a violation of the law? We reply, no. There is a law, local in its nature and applicable to certain counties, forbidding this, but it does not apply to Chatham, and thousands of partridges are every year caught and carried from this county. Alameda is one of the counties, in which the "bird law" is in force, and in order to evade the law persons in that county bring their birds here for shipment. One man, last week, came through here from Alameda with eleven hundred partridges to be shipped from Moncure.

A Pleasant Wedding.

As Christmas times approach the young folks (and sometimes old ones) think more of marrying, and so weddings begin to be plentiful. The "first of the season" at this place occurred on the night of the 23rd inst., and the many friends of Dr. Lucian A. Hanks will doubtless be somewhat surprised as well as pleased to learn that he was the groom. Yes, our "village old bachelor" is at last rendered happy in the possession of a lovely bride and has verified the old saying, "there is luck in leisure." The occasion was one of pleasure not only to him, but to the guests who were invited to the marriage feast of unusual excellence at the residence of the bride's father, where innumerable delicacies and "good things of this world" were greatly enjoyed. The Record extends to the happy couple its best wishes for long life and much happiness.

A Cold Snap.

It seems that winter has suddenly seized us in its icy embrace, for the weather this week has been as cold as it is in mid-winter, the thermometer on Tuesday morning showing a temperature of sixteen degrees below the freezing point, and Wednesday was no warmer. The telegraph brings intelligence of the intense cold all over the country with heavy snows at several places. The predictions of a severe winter will doubtless be verified, and will make us look back with longing regrets for the mild weather that we enjoyed last winter.

STATE NEWS.

Mr. David Sands, of Watanga, 90 years of age, walked two miles to vote the Democratic ticket. He has voted at every presidential election since 1812.—Statesville Landmark.

At a late hour on Wednesday night after the family had retired, the upper part of the dwelling of James C. Curran, Esq., was discovered to be on fire. Some members of the family barely escaped before the building was burned down. Cause accidental no insurance.—Granville Free Lance.

The abstract of listed taxables in Randolph county shows that the total valuation of taxable property in this county to be $2,476,651.00. Our county pays for general State purposes $2,996.98 and for general State purposes $2,996.98 and for special State purpose $2,971.98.—Asheboro Courier.

Amos Gray, a colored employe of the Atlantic, Tennessee & Ohio Railroad, met with a terrible fate at Asheville night before last. He went out on the little platform which surrounded the tender to uncouple the cars which were being shifted from one track to the other. When the engineer Gruber next saw him, his body was cut in two and badly crushed beneath the engine.—Charlotte Observer.

Isaac Lenthal, a colored man on W. Y. Werren's farm, adjoining Eleuton, has raised nine 500 pound bales of cotton, 75 barrels of corn and 15 hogs, all within himself and his children, having paid only $3 for labor; 4 bales of cotton pays his rent, leaving him 5 bales; of cotton, 200 bushels of potatoes 75 barrels of corn and 15 hogs to live on for a year to come.

A negro at Halifax, was shot in the face by an unknown person one night last week, under the following circumstances: He was passing through a corn field of Mr. John Grego's and hearing some one near him he called to know who it was, when the discharge of a gun followed, the contents taking effect in his face, tearing his teeth out and making an ugly wound in the nose and face. The next day a bag was found where the negro had been stealing corn. After firing the gun he fled leaving his bag and the corn he had gathered behind.—Enfield Sentinel.

Many years ago when the Legislature first met in Raleigh, one of the legislators stopped at a hotel—the first hotel he ever was in. A dish of red pepper was sitting on the table, and the legislator man seeing everybody else helping themselves to it, he thought he would try it, although he knew not what it was. The very first time his mouth came together on the pod he found out his mistake. With tears streaming down his cheeks he slowly pulled it out of his mouth, turned it over and over, and as he laid by his plate, he exclaimed: "D—n you. Lay there and rot!"—Raleigh Visitor.

A correspondent of the Asheville Citizen, writing from Jackson county says:

"In 1876 this county gave Oliver H. Dockery, Elector at Large on the Hayes & Wheeler ticket, 261 votes. In 1880 it gives Oliver H. Dockery, Elector at Large on the Garfield and Arthur ticket, 261 votes. Can any other county in the United States show where it has given the same person as Elector at Large in two consecutive campaigns the same number of votes?"

We have authentic information that the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad authorities will commence work on the Oxford and Henderson Railroad in a very short time. The delay has been occasioned by the immense amount of freight that has been done. The quantity of cotton transported over this road during the last two months is unprecedented. We would state that the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad has purchased a large lot of new iron to replace the old iron, which they will take up to build our road.

We believe there is no obstacle in the way of an early consummation of our long deferred hopes.—Granville Free Lance.

The next regular meeting of the Board of County Commissioners, to be held the first Monday in December, is an important one to every county. Besides qualifying and taking the bonds of the several county officers, the newly elected constables are then required to execute their official bonds, or in default their office will be declared vacant, and filled by appointment. Another matter of importance to be attended that day concerns every justice of the peace. They are required to make full report to the Board of their transactions the past year, amount of fines collected, &c. Let all whom it concerns bare these facts in mind.

Inventors and Patentees should send for instructions, terms, references, &c., to Edison Brothers, Solicitors of Patents, Washington, D. C., who furnish the same without charge. Edison Brothers is a well known and successful firm of large experience, having been established in 1868.

"Battle of Roanoke Island."

All famous battles and sieges have been immortalized in song and story. Homer through long ages has perpetuated the siege of Troy, and future generations will doubtless read the following description of the "Battle of Roanoke Island" written by brother Creery of the Elizabeth City Economist:

"On Friday, at Roanoke Island, a soaring eagle, towering in his pride of might, turned his proud eye from gazing at the sun, upon the quiet yard of Walter Dough. A flock of fat geese that nipt the tender yard grass, invited his eye and tempted his taste. The glance was father to the thought—and down he pounced. The feathers flew, the geese squawed, and there was a sensation in that farm yard—and there was a dog there, too. A goose is put down as a fool, but it is a vulgar error. A goose is a particular smart fellow. And so was this one the eagle struck in Walter Dough's yard. As soon as the eagle struck the goose ran under the house; which was some two feet above the ground; with the eagle fastened to her back, and the rest of the flock in hot pursuit. And there the fight grew fast and furious. Forty biting and flopping geese on one side, and the king of birds on the other. Although outnumbered the eagle maintained the fight and clung to his victim.

But soon another enemy presented himself. An enemy more terrible than an army of geese—a full-terrier dog—little, but full of fight. It wasn't fair; and the dog had no natural, belligerent rights in a combat between birds but he came with a bound, and the eagle had no time to settle questions of military ethics; so he threw himself on his back, (eagle fashion) to do his best in this hard fight between to the end and to-morrow. The dog made a lunge at the eagle's breast and the eagle stuck his claws deep into the dog's fore-shoulder. The blow was simultaneous on either side. Both blew out. But a terrier never, and an eagle, hardly ever, says die. The only witness of the dread combat were the geese who now stood off and looked on; and Miss Martha Brothers, who was singing to her spinning jennies, in the house alone, when the fight began, and who in the end was to be the conquering hero, crowned with the laurels of victory. The battle raged. Teeth gnashed. Claws staved. Eyes flamed. But eagles, like men, contend against odds when fighting against fate, and so this eagle's great heart sank within him, and turning tail upon his foe he sought safety in flight; but his retreat was slow and full of difficulty—for he had fifteen pounds of bull terrier swinging behind him. He reached the yard fence. With one desperate effort he sought to scale it. He reached its topmost round. He bore a weight he could not further carry. There they stood, victor and vanquished. Then it was that Miss Martha B. others, the true hero of the fight, came to the front, and won the palm of victory. Seizing a rail with one fell swoop, she came down with a crash upon the eagle's head, and left him prostrate, struggling in the agonies of death; the victim of a combination too powerful to be resisted. Alas poor eagle! He measured nine feet between the tips of his outstretched wings."

MARRIED.

Tired of Politics.

The country wants a rest and the people want a rest. We have had a surfeit of politics of late, and the system absolutely revolts now from a continuance of the non-ens dose. The country is not going to the dogs. Lamed-ally—not to day, at all events—and a little rest, a little recreation from the wear-and-tear of politics should be acceptable to all.

The people of the South can find lots of things to talk about and think about that will pay them better than speculations on the next Presidential campaign. They are much more deeply interested now in cotton futures than in Presidential futures. They have evidenced very plainly that they can take care of themselves. They will remain solid; solid in principle, solid in practice; solid in their own self-respect and for their own self interest; and solid, too, for the D mocratic nominee in 1884, whoever he may be. But in the meantime they are glad that the political excitement is all over with for the present and will be in no hurry to renew it.—Wilmington Review.
