

LOCAL RECORDS.

We would call attention to the advertisement of Stafford, Henly & Co., the enterprising proprietors of the Farmount foundry.

Everybody who has seen any specimens of the Record's Job-printing is greatly surprised that such stylish work could be done in Chatham. Send in your orders.

Go to Bynum and Heaton for Clover, Hops, Grass and Orchard Grass Seeds, Garden Seed, Early Rose, Peppers and Goodrich Potatoes. Don't forget we are still selling Ready made Clothing and Ladies' Dress Goods at cost. Agents for the Anchor Brand Gano, a first class Fertilizer.

Well, the crowd in town on Tuesday was tremendous, and London's store was packed full. Customers didn't leave because they could not be waited upon. But he still has plenty of goods left and can supply you with anything you wish, as he is getting fresh goods every week. Just received another lot of Double Shovel Plows, Sweeps, Ball Tongs, Scissors, &c.

If you are going to paint you will find a large stock of Paints, Oils and Varnish at Shaw & Harris at bottom prices. There can be found also a good selection of Farming Utensils, which they offer as low as the Goods can be bought. Heavy Water Boats and Shoes, at N. Y. prices. Clothing at cost, to close out, for Spring Stock. All in debt to them will please call and settle at once.

Remember when your merchant goes North, they like to carry the money with them, and if you have not settled your last year's account, how can they do so? W. L. London will go North soon. "A hint to the wise is sufficient," but for fear that all may not be wise, will say in plain language he wants you to pay what you owe him. Extra bargains for the next ten days for cash. A 3rd money will go a long way at London's.

Prohibition Convention. We were mistaken in stating in our last issue that the Prohibition State Convention would be held on the 4th day of next May. The Executive Committee will soon meet and appoint the day.

Judge Phillips. Hon. Samuel F. Phillips, formerly of Chapel Hill, N. C., has been appointed a Judge of the Court of Chancery at Washington City. He is well known in his country, having practiced in our courts for many years, and until his appointment, in 1872, to the position of solicitor general.

A Church Courtesy. While the Methodist Church at this place is being repaired, the use of the Presbyterian Church has been kindly tendered to that congregation, and we are requested to announce that, on next Sunday, the Rev. T. J. Gattis will hold services at the latter church.

A New Bridge. A bridge has been built by Rev. G. P. Moore over Robertson's creek near this place, on the road leading to Lockville. Mr. Moore had built a mill on the creek, and the dam lacked the water up into the ford so much as to render a bridge necessary, which he has erected at his own expense.

The D. & H. P. Railroad. The zealous friends of the proposed Danville and Haw River Railroad are up to sanguine of success regarding their efforts in behalf of this important work. A meeting was held at Graham, on the 17th inst., of the persons named as incorporators in the charter granted by the late Legislature, and much important business transacted. Commissioners were appointed at various places to open books of subscription to the capital stock of the company. The following were appointed in this county, viz: At Bynum's Factory—L. B. Bynum, R. L. Sutphin, James Pace. At Pittsboro—R. J. Powell, W. L. London, A. J. Bynum. At Lockville—J. H. Wisler, John W. Scott, Glover Arent. At Love's Mill—T. J. Lamb, Henry Love, Dr. E. D. Mann.

The books of subscription will be opened on the 7th day of April, and remain open for forty days. As soon as the sum of $25,000 is subscribed and five per cent. of that paid in, the chairman (R. J. Powell) of the late meeting is to call a meeting of the subscribers, or stockholders, to be held at Graham, for the purpose of organizing the company. At the recent meeting in Graham, Maj. W. T. Sutherland, of Danville, was present and made a speech that greatly encouraged the friends of the proposed road. He has had much experience in railroad affairs for the past thirty years, and his views are entitled to great weight. He advocated the building of a "narrow gauge" road, and said that such a road could be built from Danville to Lockville and thoroughly equipped for $500,000; and he believed that stock in it would pay as large dividends as factory stock. The meeting was also addressed by Col. Thomas M. Holt, who earnestly urged the advantages to be derived from the construction of such a road, and pledged himself to subscribe liberally.

We sincerely hope that persons in Chatham, who live anywhere near the proposed route, will promptly and liberally subscribe towards the building of a railroad that will so greatly benefit them.

Chatham Gold.

We were shown this week a nugget of gold found upon the land of Capt. Len Ellis, of New Hope town ship, in this county. The nugget was found on the surface of the ground, and is a lump of almost pure gold, and is worth at $20. If that land produces many such rocks, it will pay better than cotton or tobacco.

Dinner and Festival.

The dinner and festival of the ladies of the Methodist church at this place was quite a success, and was largely attended and liberally patronized, the receipts amounting to $106. The ladies who worked so zealously deserved success, and we congratulate them upon their efforts being so well appreciated. The fresh oysters, ice-cream and other "goodies" prepared by them, were all enjoyed and no one begrudged the money spent for such delicacies.

An Escaped Murderer.

We have heretofore alluded to Bone Taylor, the man who murdered Sea-wal in Moore county, about two years ago, and for whose arrest a reward of $700 was paid, and who afterwards escaped from the Carriage Jail. On last Monday, as we are informed, several of the friends of the murdered man went in search of Taylor, and coming in sight of him, near Prosperity (in the northern part of Moore), they fired on him, one bullet grazing the back of his neck, but he escaped. It is said that Taylor is running an illicit distillery, and that some days ago certain Revenue officers made a raid on it, but injured it so little that he was using it again on the next day.

Court Items.

The Spring term of the superior court of this county began on last Monday, Judge Avery presiding. His Honor arrived and opened court on Monday, as is usual with our Judges, since Tompage's days, who was always behind time and kept witnesses and suitors waiting two or three days. The grand jury was sworn and empanelled, with J. D. Braxton as foreman, and the Judge delivered his charge, which fully set forth the duties of grand jurors and the crimes and misdemeanors of which they have cognizance. He alluded to the condition of the county, which public rumor said was unsafe, and directed the grand jury to examine the same and if they found it to be in a dangerous condition then it was their duty to make a presentment against the magistrates, whose duty it was to provide a suitable and safe court house.

The state docket was disposed of by Tuesday, there being no criminal case of any importance whatever. Indeed, there has not been so small a State docket at any court held here since the war. We hope this is an indication of the improved morals of our people and that we may have fewer criminal cases at each succeeding term of our court. The civil docket was taken up on Tuesday afternoon and thus far several cases have been disposed of, but none of any general interest or much importance, and all the business of the term will be disposed of this afternoon, when the Judge will take his departure. And, by the way, we take pleasure in stating that his Honor has made a most favorable impression upon all—suitors, witnesses, lawyers, and the public generally—and will be pleasantly remembered by the people of Chatham.

The crowd in attendance at court was unusually large, and on Tuesday it really seemed as if every man in the county had come to town. All the streets, lanes, and lots in and around the place were crowded with the horses of the multitude, and the people swarmed around the court house like bees around a hive. The horse-swappers were out in full force and busily engaged in trading. It seemed as if every old spavined, blind "bug of bones" in the county, that could be hauled here, was on exhibition and for trade. One of the "trades of the trade" was the would-be horse-swapper dashing through the crowd, riding in his saddle and a parrot perched on his back, whereas it was his pretence and intended to induce other swappers to think that he was too drunk to know what he was doing.

It is quite remarkable that none of the patent medicine quacks, no "Dennis and Snow," no "cheap-John" or other such money traps that usually attend our courts, were present at this term.

Among the visitors from abroad attending court we had the pleasure of meeting Gen. Cox, our Congress man-elect, who came to renew his acquaintance with his many friends in Chatham.

One of the attractions of court-week was the music, both vocal and instrumental, furnished by the jovial Harden brothers, from Bear Creek township, which was much enjoyed.

Quite a large number of our subscribers called at the Record office and paid their subscriptions, which were duly appreciated, and we would commend their example to others, who forgot(?) to do so.

CORRESPONDENCE

DEAUMONT, March 21, 1881.

EDITOR RECORD: I have been reading with interest a work published at the Department of Agriculture at Washington city. The chapter giving a history of the Rocky Mountain locust or grass-hopper of the West, its habits and natural history, looks almost fabulous; and the many different patent machines invented by different parties for their destruction, the effort made by the States visited by this numerous plague in passing laws giving various prices or bounties per bushel for their eggs, and so much per bushel for the insects, leaves on our mind the impression that their powers for the destruction of growing crops is not overestimated. It is stated that one county paid in one season for twenty-five thousand and fifty-three bushels of locusts, makes us to feel glad that in our old North State, though not blessed with such fertile soil, we do not have to contend with such a numerous and destructive enemy, with its excessive multiplication, though the insect is small itself, but mighty when collected, they fall upon a country like a blight; the farmer cultivates his crops, watches with delight his waving growing fields, harvest almost at hand, gladness lightens his sunnier labor, when suddenly the sun is darkened, clouds of the locust light upon his field and on the tomorrow the country is a barren waste. I will not speak more of their history just now, but turn to our North Carolina locusts that visit us occasionally, but very much unlike the locusts, in their habits, of which we have just been speaking. If my memory serves me correctly, there is an insect that is known by the name of locust that visits this section of North Carolina every 13th year. It made its appearance in 1829, 1842, 1855, and 1868, and consequently, there is not some unusual hindering cause, they will make their appearance again during the summer months of this year. I think we may confidently look for our rare visitors without a probability of disappointment.

Mr. Editor, I would like for you to tell your readers where they are during this long time; does it take their eggs thirteen years to hatch? or do they change from one insect to another until the complement of their thirteen years is reached and turns them up a locust again? I would like to have this mystery explained for I have searched works on entomology for years to get at their true history and confess I never have been able to find anything in regard to their history that meets the question I ask. It used to be believed, in olden times, that they went through the earth and back again in thirteen years, spending a summer with the antipodes, taking six and a half years to get to the same length of time to return, being summer there when it is winter here. They took their round trip apparently fit. It would seem that they might make the through trip back easier than going down, for their drillings and being dirt would fall back out of their way, and would not inconvenience them in their tireless and laborious under-riding. I myself, do not believe these fog notions, for they make their appearance almost simultaneously, proves that there is not such a long and tiresome trip spoken of, for it is very likely that the labor of the unfortunate ones in striking hard granite and blue flint would come in late in the season. It is also said by some old folks having superstitious notions that they had a "w" on the wing when they came, that letter was ominous of war before they came again. The three last times that they were to see as they had the dreaded letter on their flying appendages which used to be looked upon as the sure sign of war. Of course these notions are about equal to wars flowing concrete, which is believed by many persons. The "w" seems to be very well defined on the wing of the locust, but I think it is in the regular nature of the insect. Should it be a prognostication, I hope when they come this summer there will be a well defined "w" on their wings, that we may feel easy on the war question for the next thirteen years.

On their arrival, which is about July, they emerge from the ground about right-hand and climb up the weeds, trees, stumps, and in fact any elevated place a foot from the ground, and during the night they divest themselves of their travelling robe which looks like it was made of gum-silage or glue, and as thin as paper, representing a grub before they slip out of their old pellicle which they leave sticking on the elevated position they take for this purpose. The old hull will split in the back and in a short while they come forth like peeling the hull from a kid glove, a fall fudged locust, representing a large fly. A few hours warm sunshine and they are on their wing, singing their low and doleful notes. I cannot say from the noise made that this is the insect that so much annoys the wicked oppressor of the Israelites, but the intonations of the r'creations seem to sound his name.

In their habits they are very much unlike the locusts of the Rocky Mountain, they are almost harmless as to the injury of growing crops; in fact I hardly know what they subsist upon. Also unlike the western locust, which deposits the eggs in the ground, ours deposit theirs in the soft sweet limbs of the rose, apple, gum and other sweet shrubbery which they split, and deposit from twenty to thirty six eggs about the size of a seed flax and similar in shape. Now I will ask, does it take this egg thirteen years to hatch and make a locust, or does it pass through various years as different insects like the caterpillar to the butterfly, the grub worm to June bug? and various other moths and flies that come from grubs? There certainly is something very peculiar and interesting in their nature, which is hard to fully understand. I think each periodical visit they make their numbers diminish. It is said when they came in 1829 they were so numerous that hogs fattened on them; in 1842 they were very numerous, more so than any year since. They visit us so seldom and are almost entirely harmless they will be looked for with much interest. If my calculation is not at fault, they will come this year, and I hope locust doctors may learn more of their history as their visits are so rare, they ought not to let the opportunity slip by unimproved. State News.

Moore Gazette: On the 3rd inst, near Long's in Randolph Co., Mr. Shaddy Johnson, while at work about the mill, got his leg caught in the saw, and before it could be extricated the limb was so terribly mutilated that he died on the 8th inst, of the injury received.

Wilmington Star: Mr. A. A. Cromatic of Cumberland county, informs us that Peter Cause, of Turbitt Township, lost a horse last week that had attained to the age of 36 years, and that he has a mare "colt" of the above, aged 31 years.

Winston Sentinel: There is a good citizen in Yadkin County so ardent in the cause of prohibition that even his hogs seem to have drawn a lesson of total abstinence, refusing, we are told, to swallow the still slip of a neighboring distiller, of which swine are so usually fond.

Fayetteville Examiner: There have been a number of sales of real estate lying near this town within the last few weeks. The country on the east side of the Cape Fear is rapidly developing. Canals and ditches have been opened, the lands drained and forested cleared. The soil there is very superior for cotton and grain.

Charlotte Observer: Mr. William Washam has a rooster, a genuine L'ghorn rooster, that lays eggs. For six months Mr. Washam has been finding large rough-shelled eggs lying round his yard. He never thought of accusing his L'ghorn rooster of it, but the other day he caught and confined him so as to have him within easy reach for a man who was coming to buy him. He left him (the rooster) alone over night in a small coop by himself and next morning found one of those curious looking eggs.

Profit $1,200. "To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness, costing $200 per year, total $1,200—all of this expense was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters, taken by my wife. She has done her own house-work for a year since without the loss of a day, and I went everywhere to know it, for their benefit—N. J. F. Mer.
