

LOCAL RECORDS.

Different things very often go down about the same time: the Court House is down and goods are certainly down at Bynum & Headen's store, particularly Straw Hats and Ladies Dress Goods. Call and get a bargain.

A large lot of Tin and Iron just received at London's. If you need a Bed-Steep cheap you can find it at London's. You can buy a Satohel or Trunk cheap now. A fine set of Buggy Harness at very low bargains. You can get a bargain in a Sewing Machine if you want one and have the money.

One Senator for the great State of N. Y., and one more time your attention is called to the splendid stock of Hats London is offering at cost and less. This is the last week, next week you will have to pay the regular prices. Save money while you can. A few more of those cheap Dress Goods on hand at a great reduction in prices.

In order to carry few Summer Goods over until next season Shaw & Harris are offering their entire stock at greatly reduced prices, for cash; Dress Goods, White Goods, Ladies and Gents Hats, Parasols, &c., at special bargains. They have just received a new stock of Newport Ties and Sandies, also a fresh stock of Canned Goods. They would again remind those who have not settled their accounts that they must do so at once.

Postal Change.

Mr. W. A. Rives having resigned the office of Postmaster at Pedlar's Hill, in this county, Mr. James L. Fields has been appointed as his successor.

Ladies at the Election.

Although the ladies cannot vote they can exert great influence in inducing the men to vote as they wish, and the ladies in Albright Township have resolved to be at the polls on election day and encourage their sons, husbands and brothers to vote for prohibition. It will be a novel scene.

Public School Teachers.

Rev. P. R. Law, county superintendent of public instruction, has examined and granted certificates to the following teachers, viz: Messrs. J. E. Hoey and J. T. Turner, first grade; S. A. Alexander, J. A. Marks and Miss S. A. Wilson, second grade; and A. A. Bright and H. S. Sellers third grade.

A Woman Lost.

On last Saturday Miss Biddie Smith, who lives about four miles from here, disappeared from home and strayed off. Search was at once instituted, the neighbors all turned out, and next morning she was found quietly resting in a pine thicket about two miles from home. She is very old—nearly eighty—and her mind has become impaired, and she wandered off without any particular reason.

Mass Meetings.

We are requested to announce that Mass Meetings of the citizens of Chatham county will be held at the following times and places, viz: Gulf, July 28th. Elmore's School-house, July 25th. Carter's School-house, July 29th. Matthews X Roads, July 30th. The ladies are especially invited to attend.

At these meetings there will be a joint discussion by the advocates and opponents of Prohibition. The people are invited to come out and hear both sides.

A Newspaper "Dead-Head".

We have received a circular letter (and we suppose that every newspaper in the State has received a similar one) from our respected Commissioner of the Department of Agriculture, requesting that the Record be sent to that office, to which request we most respectfully decline to accede. We see no reason why this department should be "dead-headed" by the press of the State, for it is better able to pay subscriptions than publishers are able to send their papers free.

Surveying the Midland.

Two surveying parties are now busily engaged in surveying routes between Salisbury and Goldsboro for the Midland railway. One of these parties will reach this place to-morrow, being to-day two miles from here. The other party started from Salisbury, and will come by Ashboro'. We hope none of our countymen will be frightened by these surveyors as was a Johnston countymen, of whom the News and Observer tells the following story:

"A good story is told on a farmer down in Johnston county. He was, with his wife, traveling in a buggy to Goldsboro last week, when he was startled to see by the roadside some tents pitched and men in and around them. He pulled up his horse and eagerly inquired what was the matter. He was answered by a wag that there was another war, and the whole country was in an uprising. Frightened out of his wits, the countryman turned to his wife and said: "There, by gosh! I told you so. When I see that star with a tail to it in the element I was afear'd of just such a thing as war. I know'd it was coming. Mary, lets git back home." And they "got." It turned out that the people in the tents were a surveying party of the North Carolina Midland Railroad."

Old Landmark Gone.

On last Tuesday an old negro, of this place, died whose death is like the removal of an old landmark. His name is Robert Hall, but he was always known as "Doctor Bob." He was the body-servant of the late Dr. Isaac Hall, and was a well known character in this community.

Rain Storms.

From nearly every portion of the State we have heard of violent rain storms during the present summer. At many places these storms have been very destructive to property, and several persons have been injured and some few killed by lightning. Quite a heavy storm passed through this section last Sunday afternoon, the wind blowing almost a tornado and overturning fences, trees, &c., by its violence, but no material damage was done. Several trees in this place were struck by lightning but fortunately no person was injured. It rained for two hours quite heavily, which has greatly refreshed and revived all animal creation, and caused a most delightful change in the temperature of the atmosphere.

Fancy Ball.

The scholars of Mr. J. A. Remm's dancing school and others of our young folks had a grand fancy ball at the Pennington hotel last night, that was much enjoyed by all who had the pleasure of attending it. We have not the space to describe the various costumes, but the characters represented were the following: viz: Queen Mab and her attendant Fairy, the Goddess Diana, Little Bo-Peep, Maid of the Mist, Spanish Lady, Gypsy, Glee Girl, A Reaper, Agud Muller, Josephine in Pinefore, Fisher-Kill, Italian Fruit-Girl, Dew-Drop, a Turk, a Cavalier, Sir Walter Raleigh, a Sailor, a Soldier, a Fireman, a Jockey, a Gentleman, and a Pop. Many of these costumes were quite elaborately gotten up and the persons wearing them well sustained the characters represented by them. It was a gay and joyous occasion that will long be pleasantly remembered.

Hope Temperance Society.

We had the pleasure of attending, on last Friday, at Love's Creek Church, the celebration of the sixth anniversary of Hope Temperance Society. This Society is a branch of the old Pleasant Hill Society, and was organized in July, 1875, and now numbers between four and five hundred members. The attendance on this occasion was very large, and everything passed off most pleasantly. The proceeds were opened with prayer and reading the Bible by Rev. A. D. Cohen. The Secretary, Mr. W. B. Hardin, then read the constitution and regulations of the Society. The President, Mr. S. J. Taly, announced speeches next in order, and introduced as the first speaker the editor of the Record. After him Rev. A. D. Cohen delivered an address, and then a recess was taken for dinner, of which the greatest abundance had been provided by the good people of the neighborhood. After dinner J. J. Jackson, Esq., was introduced as next speaker, and upon the conclusion of his address short speeches were made by Messrs. William M. Brooks and O. A. Hanner.

The Prohibition Campaign.

The prohibition campaign is waxing warm in Chatham and much interest is being aroused on both sides. An active canvass has begun and meetings are of almost daily occurrence, and indeed on some days there are several meetings. On last Saturday there were three meetings held in this county. On that day John Andrew Barrett, of Moore county, came over to Harper's X Roads to enlighten the people of that neighborhood and to expose the evils of prohibition, but Oran A. Hanner replied to him so effectually that he will hardly venture on another such mission.

On the same day Rev. T. J. Gattis and B. I. Howze spoke at Christian Chapel, in Cape Fear Township, and made a most favorable impression in a community where prohibition has not been popular. W. T. Gunter, the leader of the anti-prohibitionists in that section, attempted a reply to these gentlemen.

Also on the same day at Chatham Church, there was speaking by Hon. John Manning, Rev. Mr. Klapp and J. A. Womack, Esq., all for prohibition. But the "field day" for speaking was on Tuesday at this place, being "Tuesday of court-week," when a large crowd is always here. The first speaker was Hon. John Manning, who delivered an address that was eloquent, forcible and convincing, and that will no doubt do much good. Col. John A. McDonald, of Raleigh, also made a strong speech for prohibition. He is well known in Chatham as a stalwart republican, and his speech will have much influence with his party friends here. We are pleased to know that he will remain and take an active part in our county canvass, and he hopes that his old republican friends, especially, will come out to hear him. He will speak at the meetings elsewhere published to be held in Chatham. After Col. McDonald's able speech the anti-prohibitionists called out lustily for their champion and favorite speaker, West. Farrell, who mounted the stand and poured forth a violent tirade of abuse that did his cause more harm than good, shocking the decency of the better class of his friends. If this negro is the best standard bearer the anti-prohibitionists of Chatham can bring forward to espouse their cause they should certainly be ashamed of both of their cause and their champion! After his harangue a stirring speech was made by Rev. William Holt, a colored preacher of this place, who gave some most wholesome advice to his colored friends.

Inferior Court.

The July term of our Inferior Court began on last Monday and closed today. More business has been disposed of than at any previous term, and a greater number of prisoners sentenced to the penitentiary than at any court held here during several years past. These prisoners are assigned by law to work on the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railroad, and their names and terms of imprisonment are as follows, viz: Nick Thompson, one year; Henderson Cowan, four years; Charles Parrish, one year; Charles Farrar, one year; Nat Burns, one year; and Charles Lanier, two years.

Anti-Prohibition Resolutions.

A meeting of anti-prohibitionists was held in this county, on the 9th inst., at Johnson's Bridge, and certain resolutions were adopted which they have requested us to publish as follows:

WHEREAS, The Legislature of North Carolina, that august body, with full knowledge and foresight, did at its last session enact a law to be ratified or rejected by the people, known as "Prohibition," the principles of which are at war with justice and equal rights to the citizens of this commonwealth, and in our judgment begotten by fanatics and brought forth by designing politicians, is imperfect in form, unjust, as all laws should be, and has never been, and if enforced will tend to connect Church and State, an event to be deplored by all good people everywhere; and whereas, said law is in conflict with the Bill of Rights of our State Constitution, section seven of which declares that "No man or set of men are entitled to exclusive or separate emoluments, or privileges from the community, but in consideration of public services," resolved therefore,

1. That we, citizens of New Hope township, Chatham county, feeling such an act to be detrimental to the interests of the State, we pledge ourselves to use all honorable efforts to defeat the same at the polls on the 4th of August next, and ask that no man stay away from the polls, but come and deposit his ballot as freemen do.

2. That in the future we will be on the alert for fanatics and fanatical measures, and will sustain no man who has voted, or who may hereafter vote, for or against either directly or indirectly such a law as the one in question.

The threat contained in the last resolution will of course intimidate no true man from voting as his conscience dictates, but it manifests a despicable spirit of intolerance. Surely our anti-prohibition friends must be desperate when they thus resort to threats and try to intimidate voters!

Appeal for Prohibition.

PITTSBORO, N. C., July 19, 1881. To those who compose the nine congregations to which I have had the privilege of preaching the gospel during the last four years, and to all others who may be concerned, I address this letter: I am not conscious of having failed, at any time, to expose and denounce error and wrong—and many of you will testify that, as opportunity has offered, I have declared the whole counsel of God. And, as you have listened to me respectfully during all these years, I now ask you to give a few moments' thought to the earnest words my pen is about to indite. I write as a citizen, a lover of humanity, a Christian, and a minister of our Lord Jesus Christ, and I beg you to hear me, not for myself, but for the cause I advocate.

On the first Thursday of August next, one of the most important questions that ever came before an enlightened and free people, is to be decided at the ballot-box, the issue of which is to tell for wear or woe upon society, the Church of God, and the whole country in our own lifetime, and possibly, for generations yet unborn. It is not a partisan question, the great leaders of both our political parties have denounced the effort to make it so.

THE ISSUE.

One has said that this attempt is a league with hell, and a covenant with death; another has said it is joining the devil against prohibition, but this is a great moral question and when stripped of a few idle issues, which have no real bearing upon its merits, it is simply a contest between right and wrong, virtue and vice, good and evil, God on one side and the devil on the other. It is this, shall the law of this State any longer keep its strong arm around those dens of iniquity—the whiskey distillery and grog shop—which for a hundred years have tempted and led some of our fathers, husbands, and brothers to financial, physical, moral and eternal ruin. Shall the three thousand men, who manufacture and sell intoxicating liquors, continue to flaunt their licenses in the face of the poor helpless drunkard, his suffering wife and starving children, and say to all those, "the voters of North Carolina gave us the authority to do this work of sin and Satan;" or, will we arise in our majesty, in the love of our common humanity, in the strength of right and God, and now, and forever, wash our hands of all copartnership in this nefarious traffic, this accursed evil, upon which the woe of Heaven itself has so long rested?

THE TWO SIDES.

I said this is a contest between good and evil, and a little observation will show you that the advocates of the respective sides are arranging themselves accordingly. Opposing this moral reform, on the side of anti-prohibition are found all these three thousand makers and vendors of ardent spirits, these have all raised the cry, "Great is Diana of the Ephesians, let this goddess alone for by her we have our gain." In the same company are many of the victims of intemperance, men so much in love with strong drink that they are governed by appetite instead of reason, men, who in madness are fighting for that which has already made some of them curse the day in which they were born, and alas! will soon bring many of them into drunkard's graves. There are others, doubtless, in the same company, some through prejudice, some because of their love for office, and many who have unwittingly been led by designing men to adopt the cause of error and sin. And this company is led by those who curse our Bible, call God a tyrant, blaspheme the name of Jesus, and declare that our ministers of the gospel have all become fanatics, and some of them with vile oaths attached, affirm that if it were not for the churches they would have no trouble in crushing this reform.

On the other side, that of prohibition, have already gathered the purest and best men of all political parties, the great majority of the makers and administrators of our laws, our Legislators and the judges of our courts, the Governor of our State, and President of these United States, the men who educate our sons and daughters—presidents and teachers in our colleges and high schools. Need I tell you that all such men as Drs. Craven, Jones, Burwell, Heppburn, Pritchard and Battle are in this company? All our evangelical churches as churches, and nearly all the ministers and representative men in these churches, (the primitive Baptist is not evangelical, but grossly heterodox). In a District Conference of the church to which I belong, held in this town during last week, composed of seven (fourteen being present) there were only two not in full sympathy with prohibition. God grant they may not be found on the other side fighting against the cause of truth. And what is true of my own Church, is in the main, true of all the other evangelical Churches in our State.

In eloquent and burning words, such men as Drs. Wilson and Smith, of Greensboro, Skinner, Burkhead and Bishop Lyman, of Raleigh, and many others like them, are pleading for this cause. In the same company you will probably find nine tenths of the virtuous women of our State, mothers, wives, sisters and daughters, pleading for fathers, husbands, brothers, and sons. Where, I ask, will you be found on the fourth day of August, among the rum-makers and sellers, who are growing rich off the hard earnings of our people, men under the influence of appetite and those who would ride into office, if possible, over the defeat of this cause? Will you join this company against humanity, right, the church, the ministry and God himself? Would that you could see this company pass in review before you to day, composed as it is, of whiskey distillers, grog-shop-keepers, drunkards, office-seekers, skeptics, infidels, and atheists, and the poor misguided ones, who have been led by falsehood and sophistry and the specious cry of liberty, to swell their ranks. Will you add one more to their number, give your influence and vote to continue this curse to North Carolina for a few years longer? Or, will you, for the sake of your neighbors, your own children, the generations yet unborn, for the honor of God, in the advancement of the church for the elevation and salvation of humanity, come out on the side of prohibition, and in the strength of true manhood, help to rid our good old State of this disgrace, this legalized sin? Our work now, and our votes on the day of election, may help to crowd still more our poor-houses, jails, and penitentiaries, send men to the gallows, to drunkard's graves, and down to hell; or, on the other hand, we may help to empty our prisons, wipe away the tears of suffering, hush the wail of anguish and cause even the angels to rejoice over those freed from drunkenness, delivered from hell, and saved in heaven.

I appeal to you men and women of North Carolina, friends of humanity, lovers of the church, you who feel your moral responsibility and are to be rewarded or punished according to the deeds done in the body, to you who would meet the death hour in peace, nerve yourselves for the fight and go forth to glorious war, and let us ever keep in mind, that we are engaged in no doubtful issue. The prospect of immediate success is bright now and growing brighter daily, and at most can only be delayed a little while.

"Truth, crushed to earth will rise again, The eternal years of God are hers, While error woundeth writhes in pain, And dies amid her worshippers." Success is guaranteed to us in the Bible. Jesus came to destroy the works of the devil, and he will accomplish the objects of his coming. This giant evil knows and feels his doom, but just now he is gathering his strength and shaking himself for the death struggle. Let it come; we go forth to the battle in the name of our God, and when it is ended and the smoke clears away, we know the enemy will be seen prostrate and lifeless on the ground. It is well for us to remember that great moral revolutions never fail and never go backward to any great extent, they do ebb sometimes, but only for a little season, by-and-by the on-coming flood overcomes all opposition. So shall it be in this case, after a while we will, under God, be free from this demon which has been a greater curse than war, pestilence and famine.

DIED.

GUTHRIE.—On the 14th inst., Mrs. IDA GUTHRIE, wife of E. G. Guthrie, in the 22nd year of her age, leaving an infant six weeks old.

State News.

Warsaw Brief Mention: We learn that the house of Mrs. Henry Colwell was destroyed by fire on the 9th inst. It was evidently accidental, having probably caught from a box of ashes which had been placed the day before under the house about the cook room, the fire being at the top of that part of the house, and all the floor and sleepers being burned out beneath. When Mrs. Colwell opened the door of her bed room, the fire from the adjoining apartment caught to the furniture, giving them time to save only a few things from the house, there was no insurance.

Raleigh News-Observer: A portion of Auditor's report has been prepared. The total of State taxes for 1880, as shown by the report, was $455,086.42. Of this amount we give the receipts from some sources, as follows: On land $97,533.42; town lots $20,762.03; farming utensils $12,748.55; horses $7,552.22; mules $5,194.98; money on hand $4,268.49; solvent credits $16,896.20; other personal property $14,111.59; marriage licenses $5,561.10; special taxes for Insane and Deaf, Dumb and Blind Asylum $96,307.04; for Penitentiary and support of convicts $96,307.04.

A correspondent of the Tarboro Southerner from Kinston, says: "Last week a young man named Pate, came to town to sell some cattle, and made himself gloriously drunk, and started home in the buggy with another drunken white man and a negro. On the way, he and the negro agreed to get down and fight and in the struggle the negro stabbed him in the back. He bled very freely, but went home, and during the night put his head out of a window, and the window fell on his neck. Unable to help himself on because drunk, he remained there until some one awoke and assisted him. He then sat down, went to sleep, and was found next morning sitting against the wall dead."

Reidsville Times: Interest has been excited in Reidsville, especially among physicians, who now predict President Garfield's certain recovery, by the fact that Capt. David A. Walker, an ex-Confederate soldier, who lives near here, was wounded exactly in the same place as the President. Every one of Capt. Walker's symptoms at the time were precisely the same as have been developed in the case of the President. It was affirmed in Capt. Walker's case, as in the President's, that he could not possibly recover; but after four weeks' confinement he was able to join his regiment, with the bullet still in his body. The ball has never been extracted.

No good Preaching.

No man can do a good job of work, preach a good sermon, try a law suit well, doctor a patient, or write a good article when he feels miserable and dull, with sluggish brain and unsteady nerves, and none should make the attempt in such a condition when it can be so easily and cheaply removed by a little Hop Bitters.—Albany Times.
