In view of the unprecedented drought that now afflicts our people and the fears of a famine, it would I remain your obt. serv't. seem natural that everybody would spend money only for the necessaries of life, and yet thousands of dollars will be squandered on circuses. Hundreds of people from this county, who will probably suffer during this winter, will attend the circus to mor-row at Baleigh or on Saturday at results. I will take great pleasure in doing row at Raleigh or on Saturday at Sanford. Well, such is life, to-day we dance, to-morrow we die!

The Drought.

The drought still continues. If, weeks ago, we thought it was so very dry, what shall we say now? It is not only dry but it has been oppressively hot for the past week—even the nights being hot, whereas last our crops—they are parched up—but long remember the drought of this year.
