

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:

One copy, one year, $2.00; one copy, six months, $1.00; one copy, three months, .50.

The Chatham Record.

VOL. IV.

PITTSBORO', CHATHAM CO., N. C., SEPTEMBER 22, 1881.

NO. 2.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

One square, one insertion, $1.00; one square, two insertions, $1.50; one square, one month, $2.50.

For larger advertisements liberal contracts will be made.

Mother's Huckleberry Pies.

How oft you remember, back to childhood, When picking berries on the hill, With pail in hand I'd strip the bushes...

A KIND HEART.

The woods were gayly bedecked with their autumnal foliage, and the robins had ceased chirping their sweet lays; but the brook murmured on, with its lulling intonation, beneath the rustling branches of the trees, as happily as it did when its banks were luxuriant with summer's green verdure.

father, who was an ambitious old man, and had chosen the daughter of a peer for his wife. Considering himself dishonored by his heir marrying so far beneath him in rank, the old gentleman disowned his son, and forbade him ever to enter the home of his childhood days again.

"Well, I declare!" ejaculated the girl. "This is a revelation to me, mamma. But my possessing noble blood does not alter our situation. What shall we do?"

The next day Lennox called at the cottage, and Nettie told him her misfortune. He tried to comfort her as best he could, and then left her. He called several times after that, but seemed to grow less affectionate as the time passed by.

He left Roselle for four months, and returned again when the flowers were beginning to bud into beauty with the advance of another spring. By this time Nettie and her mother were sorely pressed for money; they had lived comfortably through the winter, owing to the kindness of the grocer, who had brought them such groceries as they needed every week.

Nettie and her mother returned to Roselle the next day, and both seemed to be greatly excited at something which had occurred. Lennox called again in the afternoon, and as he approached the garden he saw Nettie weeding the flower-beds. A little cry escaped her lips when she saw him, and she flew to him with a hearty greeting.

Nettie and her mother returned to Roselle the next day, and both seemed to be greatly excited at something which had occurred. Lennox called again in the afternoon, and as he approached the garden he saw Nettie weeding the flower-beds.

Nettie and her mother returned to Roselle the next day, and both seemed to be greatly excited at something which had occurred. Lennox called again in the afternoon, and as he approached the garden he saw Nettie weeding the flower-beds.

Nettie and her mother returned to Roselle the next day, and both seemed to be greatly excited at something which had occurred. Lennox called again in the afternoon, and as he approached the garden he saw Nettie weeding the flower-beds.

Nettie and her mother returned to Roselle the next day, and both seemed to be greatly excited at something which had occurred. Lennox called again in the afternoon, and as he approached the garden he saw Nettie weeding the flower-beds.

Nettie and her mother returned to Roselle the next day, and both seemed to be greatly excited at something which had occurred. Lennox called again in the afternoon, and as he approached the garden he saw Nettie weeding the flower-beds.

Nettie and her mother returned to Roselle the next day, and both seemed to be greatly excited at something which had occurred. Lennox called again in the afternoon, and as he approached the garden he saw Nettie weeding the flower-beds.

ment in the papers for the heirs of Lord Borrowdale, who had died in London, leaving his title and fortune to his only son, Herbert. Knowing this to be your dead husband's name, I sought out the lawyer in the city who had inserted the advertisement, and telling him I thought you were Herbert Borrowdale's widow, I advised him to communicate with you.

He said nothing, but kissed Mrs. Borrowdale, and all that day there was rejoicing in the cottage. He did not mention then that he had paid the village grocer to see to their wants, and it was long after he married Nettie before they found it out, and that his cold demeanor was assumed, that they might not suspect who their benefactor was in their distress.

It was necessary for Mrs. Borrowdale and her daughter to go to England to make good their claim, and after Lennox had married Nettie, they all three went. They had little or no difficulty establishing their identity and gaining their inheritance. It was ascertained that the old peer died repentant of his injustice to his only son, and had used every means of trying to find him and bringing him to his heart and home again; but, living quietly in the seclusion of the pretty little Jersey village, it is not strange that Herbert Borrowdale never heard from his father, as they never corresponded.

How the Prince Obeys His Mother. In Europe, as you know, royalties are nearly all related. When one dies, all the rest go into mourning and suspend pleasure. A common result of this is a little passage of arms between the Queen and Prince of Wales at this moment.

Curious Sea Inhabitants. There is a continual warfare going on in the deep—a constant struggle for the means of sustaining life. The carnivorous devour the vegetarians, and the mud-eaters swallow both animal and vegetable forms; and this runs all the way down the scale, from the shark and the equally voracious bluefish to the least of the anemones.

Method of Artificial Respiration. We think it advisable, says the Canadian Journal of Medical Science, to direct attention to the following rules for resuscitating the partially drowned: 1. Instantly turn patient downward, with a large firm roll of clothing under stomach and chest.

Ladies with small mouths are in favor in the South this season, and it is feared that not a permission will be left on the trees to ripen.

A Connecticut woman presented her son with a bed quilt made of hair cut from her own head. It will go down to posterity as a family heirloom.

The Susquehanna has less water than during the great drought of 1864. The current is not strong enough to carry off the sewage at Harrisburg.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Life in High Altitudes.

The greatest height to which men have ever mounted is about five and a half miles above the sea level, and the balloonists who ventured on that experiment were very glad to come down. Short as their stay in the upper regions was they were almost frozen and almost suffocated.

The census shows that the elevation at which men can live and work to advantage, and which they therefore generally choose, is a very low one. The average height of the United States above the sea level is about 2,500 feet, but the mean elevation of the population is only about 700 feet.

Not only men but other animals and plants as well, find the struggle of existence harder as they rise higher. As plants and animals diminish in number, the means of supporting human life rapidly decrease, so that the upward growth of the population, so to speak, is checked long before the cold becomes too severe to be endured or the air too thin for breathing.

The bulk of the little band who reached a height of ten thousand feet are miners, and could be nothing else. More than three-fourths of the whole population choose to live at less than one thousand feet, or considerably less than one-fifth of a mile above the sea, and only three per cent of the inhabitants make their homes at a height of two thousand feet.

As every thread of gold is valuable, so is every minute of time; and as it would be great folly to lose horses with gold as the Roman Emperor Nero did, so it is to spend time in trifles.

Boys Reared by Wolves. In his eminently interesting work on "Jungle Life in India," Mr. Ball has advanced good reasons for believing that the old classical story of the rearing of Romulus and Remus by a she wolf may be founded on fact.

The Judicious Waters at Carlsbad. Not the least curious part of the effect of these wonderfully impregnated waters are the exactly opposite effects they have on different people.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Words of Wisdom.

Dissolute people let their soup grow cold between the plate and the mouth. Learn to say no! and it will be of more use to you than to be able to read Latin.

No better advice could be given an aspirant than the terse little counsel of Emerson: "You want success, succeed."

A great step has been gained when one has a high standard for himself, and measures himself on that ideal standard.

Life is so complicated a game that the devices of skill are liable to be defeated at every turn by air-blown changes, inadmissible as the descent of the thistle-down.

As every thread of gold is valuable, so is every minute of time; and as it would be great folly to lose horses with gold as the Roman Emperor Nero did, so it is to spend time in trifles.

Boys Reared by Wolves. In his eminently interesting work on "Jungle Life in India," Mr. Ball has advanced good reasons for believing that the old classical story of the rearing of Romulus and Remus by a she wolf may be founded on fact.

The Judicious Waters at Carlsbad. Not the least curious part of the effect of these wonderfully impregnated waters are the exactly opposite effects they have on different people.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Green Beauty.

Much has been said in praise of Grecian beauty, and the men are handsome in every sense of the word. We might well imagine them to have been models of Phidias and Praxiteles.

"One soweth and another reapeth," is a verity that applies to evil as well as good.

A great step has been gained when one has a high standard for himself, and measures himself on that ideal standard.

Life is so complicated a game that the devices of skill are liable to be defeated at every turn by air-blown changes, inadmissible as the descent of the thistle-down.

As every thread of gold is valuable, so is every minute of time; and as it would be great folly to lose horses with gold as the Roman Emperor Nero did, so it is to spend time in trifles.

Boys Reared by Wolves. In his eminently interesting work on "Jungle Life in India," Mr. Ball has advanced good reasons for believing that the old classical story of the rearing of Romulus and Remus by a she wolf may be founded on fact.

The Judicious Waters at Carlsbad. Not the least curious part of the effect of these wonderfully impregnated waters are the exactly opposite effects they have on different people.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Items of Interest.

In an effort to enforce, in St. Louis, a law against carrying concealed weapons, fines as high as $100 for a pistol and $200 for a slungshot are being imposed.

George Darn, an attorney of Erie, became suddenly crazy in the presence of a great multitude at an open-air meeting and announced himself the Son of God and appointed to convert Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Three Michigan girls made up a party and eloped with a young man. By going to three different ministers, he married all three of his companions; and then they went on a trip to the bride's home.

E. M. Darnell, a dwarf, four feet four inches high, caused a sensation in Columbus, Ga., by appearing in the streets with a son only 33 inches high, though nine years old. The father has four children, two of whom are dwarfish, while the other two are of the ordinary height.

The South has never seen anything to equal the preparations being made for the International Cotton Exposition. Hundreds of workmen are busy day and night on the grounds, and the lumber for building is sawed on the grounds by steam saw mills that run day and night.

A Scheme to Encourage Wedlock. At the next meeting of the Ontario legislature application will be made for the incorporation of the National Marriage Dowsy Association. The object of the promoters of the scheme is in all probability to make money, but the result of their quest of money will undoubtedly be to encourage the man and the maid to wed.

Boys Reared by Wolves. In his eminently interesting work on "Jungle Life in India," Mr. Ball has advanced good reasons for believing that the old classical story of the rearing of Romulus and Remus by a she wolf may be founded on fact.

The Judicious Waters at Carlsbad. Not the least curious part of the effect of these wonderfully impregnated waters are the exactly opposite effects they have on different people.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.

Geese have been known to live to the age of eighty years.