Over and Over Again.
Over and over again,
No matter which way I turn,
I always find in the Book of Life
Some lesson I have to learn.

SAVED BY A DUMMY.

"I think, men," said Salina, "there's a man in the wood-shed, a hiding of hisse!"
"None sense!" said Fanny Clifford, who was too much accustomed to Salina's sights and mysteries to pay much attention to them.

ished down the winding stair, which she declared was destined "some time or other to be the death of her," when an opposite door opened, and in ran Abby Clifford, the younger sister—a tall, red-cheeked girl, with hair as black and thick as an Indian's, sparkling brown eyes, and a huge bundle under her left arm.

THE STEEL MAIDEN.
A Look at Some of the Instruments of Human Torture Used in the Middle Ages.
In a letter from Germany, descriptive of the instruments of torture used in former times, an American journalist says: In an adjoining tower is a room where there are preserved a number of very curious instruments of torture, used in Nuremberg hundreds of years ago, before the days of jails and penitentiaries.

THE ROMANCE OF MOUNT VERNON.
An Autumn Visit to the Home and Tomb of Washington.
This is the favorite season for a visit to Mount Vernon, and during the months of October and November the average number of visitors is larger than at any other time.

A REMARKABLE OPERATION.
A Child Separated from Its Mother by the Surgeon's Knife.
"I have the pleasure, gentlemen," said Dr. William H. Pancoast, at a clinic in the Philadelphia Hospital recently, "of introducing to you a young man who figured in one of the most wonderful feats of modern surgery."

A Winter Sunset.
The day had been long and gloomy,
Weary with mist and rain,
A day for the heart to brood on
Sorrow and loss and pain.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.
New method of making teeth powder.
Crush your teeth.
Characteristics of a rich man: The cleanness of his carriage and the loftiness of his gate.
