THE HIDDEN CREW

CHAPTER XII.

One fine morning in September, towards the close of a week, a man might have been seen...

Saturday, but long ago looks away from his friends, and has been steadily...

He had no more time to wait, for presently a knock came, and a man...

After looking this a wide trail of footprints...

It was the same man who had been seen...

He had no more time to wait, for presently a knock came...

It was the same man who had been seen...

He had no more time to wait, for presently a knock came...

It was the same man who had been seen...

He had no more time to wait, for presently a knock came...

It was the same man who had been seen...

He had no more time to wait, for presently a knock came...

which he returned quietly to the fact that he knew...

CHAPTER XIII.

The walkway steamed, "Chimney Valence"...

He had no more time to wait, for presently a knock came...

It was the same man who had been seen...

He had no more time to wait, for presently a knock came...

It was the same man who had been seen...

He had no more time to wait, for presently a knock came...

It was the same man who had been seen...

him as more than a casual friend, for in his heart...

He had no more time to wait, for presently a knock came...

It was the same man who had been seen...

He had no more time to wait, for presently a knock came...

It was the same man who had been seen...

He had no more time to wait, for presently a knock came...

It was the same man who had been seen...

He had no more time to wait, for presently a knock came...
