WOMAN'S REALM.

HOW TO BE BEAUTIFUL.

One of the Essential Possessions is a Gracious Carriage.

If your mirror tells you that you are not beautiful, do not allow that to depress you. In our liberal interpretation of the word "beauty," there are many degrees; and happily, indeed, indeed, must be the woman who cannot be included within some one of them.

A path of bright, speaking eyes, a sweet, lovable mouth, no matter whether it be large or small—fine hair, a good complexion, or a graceful figure—the possession of any one of these constitutes a claim to a certain amount of confidence, the amount being altogether dependent on the determination of the possessor to make the most of what has been given her.

A well-poised body, for instance, is no less essential to health than to physical beauty, and the woman who desires to be physically perfect, even though she may be indifferent to her personal appearance, cannot be too general in regarding against faulty positions of the body.

In standing, rest the weight of the body primarily on the balls of the feet, letting the heels lightly touch the ground. The chest should be elevated and thrown forward, and the head held erect, while the lower part of the spine should be thrown backward.

In sitting, one is apt to be even more careless and slouchy than in standing. The body should be in an upright position, and the lower part of the spine thrown a couple of inches back of the shoulders, bringing them into a line parallel with the hips, the feet resting lightly on the ground.

One of the first endeavors of a woman who wishes to improve her personal appearance should be to acquire a graceful carriage.

Have you ever noticed how an old, middle-aged woman carries herself? How erect she looks, her head held high, her steps alert, not so stiff as her head down, but as many heavy-footed, ungainly-looking women do, but springing lightly, placing the ball of the foot first to the ground, and the heel afterward.

A graceful carriage gives an air of distinction and high-bred-like that nothing else can. It enhances a good figure and leads to an imperfect one, an ease and dignity.

Look to your walk, then. Don't wobble from side to side. Hold your head up. "Take in deep breaths, which will give your chest breadth and fullness. Don't put your feet down flat as you move along. Practice putting the balls of your feet down first instead of your heels, and see what a difference it will make in your appearance.

Smooth skin, a clear, healthy complexion, and bright eyes, no matter whether they be natural or almond shaped, small or large, blue, black, green, gray or brown, go a long way toward making a woman good to look upon. Every woman, provided she is not troubled with some affection of the skin on which case she should consult a reliable physician, can have these, if she will take even the most ordinary care for her health.—Marguerite Brooks, in B. O. Rev.

Nearest Styles in Hair Dressing.

From the styles in hair dressing which it is safe to predict the coming year's fashionable attire. The hair is worn almost as low as the forehead as that of Queen Alexandra's present dressing. Instead of the bang, however, there are soft, flat parts and a part at the side.

Many persons are using adjustable false hair which the pins to produce the effect of mass and to keep the hair in place.

Hand-dresses in England named these additional renovation transformations, and named their titled customers "dramatic women" when they heard the words, "Pretence, assume your coiffure." They needed to have no fear of their hair becoming disarranged with one of these pieces neatly tucked beneath the curls.

In America, where we are constitutionally made to assume coiffures, these things promise to become exceedingly popular for automobiling.

Small, close waves are entirely out of date, as is the long, wavy hair, which was given a temporary revival last winter. Straightness is the keynote, and wide, soft, natural waves like those in the portraits of Romney and Corwar, are altogether in favor.

The broad undulations have also a potential as well as an aesthetic advantage; for they require much less curling with injurious hot irons than was needed for the narrow ones.

In the back the hair is worn extremely low, even more so than last year. Although the knot, when completed, should have the appearance of being, actual braiding is not part of the process.

First divide the hair into an upper and lower strand, and then put a soft loop back on the neck, and pin the end in under so that it resembles part of a braid.

The upper strand should be arranged in the same manner and pinned off with a round comb at the top and side pins.—New York Herald.

Modern Woman's Versatility.

One of the greatest contrasts of the modern woman's versatility is seen in her ability to change her appearance from a simple, practical, and unassuming dress to one of the most elaborate and costly in the world. This is made possible by the invention of the modern dress, which is designed to be changed into a variety of styles and costumes. The modern woman's versatility is also seen in her ability to change her appearance from a simple, practical, and unassuming dress to one of the most elaborate and costly in the world. ### Do You Know?

"Do you know," said a pale young invalid at a health resort recently, "I believe that the articles that are written on the necessity of physical exercise for women are mostly rot. I am a case in point. Ever since I was born I have been fed on hygienic foods, have done hygienic things, and have been an invalid. To develop my muscles I have studied anatomy, gymnastics, and my room is equipped with chest weights, dumbbells, Indian clubs and a punching bag. Now, at the age of twenty, I am as thin and pale as a factory hand. My cousin Mary has never considered her health. So far as I know, she never ate anything because it was good for her or refrained because it was bad for her. She never pulled a chestweight or swung a club in her life, yet she is the picture of health, with a color and figure any one would envy. Exercise may be a pleasant form of diversion, but I am convinced it has very little to do with one's health."—New York Tribune.

Levity Dresses of Chastity.

Surprisingly levity dresses are made of chastity, both plain and figured being fashionable this season. Stripes and polka dots on dark grounds are selected for cool days and a neutral wear, and the light grounds with bold pattern for the warmest of dress occasions. All the shops are having sales of inexpensive but beautiful leavies that will bring change gowns neatly.

Military Notes.

Paris for leavies, such in pipe goods and tobacco is a thing of the past.

All indications point to many and decided changes in the military world for autumn wear.

The very tall shape must go. The low crown has been in too long, so is to be superseded by quite high ones.

Fur will only be seen in rare cases except in an unadorned hat, where there is hat, and neck piece to match.

A hat and feather season is announced for autumn cloppers, with ornaments complementary to their accessories.

A good voice of green is predicted. Ward shades of green, mostly in adjustable tunics in velvet, ribbon, about four inches wide, are to be in mode.

The new shapes are pretty, graceful and far less eccentric than for some seasons past. A raised side with drooping back is a feature of many of them in fact.

Wing effects in every color and combination are to be prominent trimming features of the autumn. Whole birds, both large and small, and couple players are also shown as to be among the most favored hat garnishes.

Garments with the favor of a major general are to be in demand. All the smartest women will have a uniform, often an actual uniform, in the autumn. Fashionable circles will also show an indication of the pop and ribbon, stripes as to be most favored.

For every day wear black will, of course, be in vogue. White will, of course, be in vogue. White will, of course, be in vogue. White will, of course, be in vogue. White will, of course, be in vogue.

Wrinkled Cloth Gowns.

The cloth gowns that are wrinkled after packing draw the latitude but fail of hot water hang the gowns move it to steam in a couple of hours the wrinkles will have disappeared. It also freshens lace and chiffon gowns. In packing always stuff sleeves with a little tissue paper, laying the waists flat in the folds. Also cover velvet collars, cuffs or yokes to prevent marking.—Good Housekeeping.

Women's Clubs in Alaska.

The first woman's club in Alaska was organized at Sitka, in November, 1899, at the suggestion of Mrs. W. L. Distin, who was President for the first two years. Shakespeare's comedies and tragedies were studied the first two years, the historical plays coming later, all of which were read as thoroughly as possible with the limited resources available at Sitka. This club recently acquired the old house built by the Russian traders in 1820 on the site of an old black house, which formed one of the first boundaries of Sitka. The club room is always opened on "Saturday day" and if any visiting club woman happens to be in that vicinity, they will find a delightful welcome. The Women's Club of Nome was organized in 1900, with twenty charter members. In character, social and philanthropic, it aims to meet the demand of conditions arising in the newly populated Arctic country. Its members, from every State in the Union, now number over fifty.—The Delmarian.

HOUSEHOLD MATTERS

Effective With Light Oak.

Many housewives have a number of light oak furniture pieces that they are forced to retain and are at a loss for a harmonious color scheme with them. While blue is perhaps the best and red not at all desirable, yet green is always effective with light oak, too.

To Take Out Ink Stains.

ink will yield to oxalic acid and steatite and by acids and lemon. If oxalic acid is employed, rub the spot with a stick of cork which has been wet in the acid and hold it at once over a steaming spot, which is ready for the purpose. Unless all traces of the acid are removed by thorough washing a weak spot will result from the treatment.

Cleaning Red Feathers.

The best way to clean red feathers is to put them into a barrel of hot suds, shaking them well all the time they are in the water. Then rinse them thoroughly, and wring them in a cloth, so as to extract all the moisture that is possible. Spread them out on a clean sheet in a warm room, and leave them there to dry all night; then place them on another sheet, and beat them well with a stick. This is a very disagreeable process, and a veil should be tied over the face and head to prevent the dust from getting into the hair and eyes.

Devices For Lightening Work.

"With all the multiplication of inventions for household convenience we cannot be prepared with the wants of the modern household," said a dealer of a department store. "When I began business, nearly forty years ago, our women patrons shrank from experimenting with new devices, but the women of today not only seize upon every novel idea with readiness, but assume that labor saving machinery in every line is for her, and she no longer, with Griselda patience, drops out with one hand while she holds it with the other for the mangle. Not so. Instead, she uses one of the numerous implements devised for the purpose, and does in a few minutes what it formerly took her an hour to accomplish. With the wringer, cream churn, fruit press, vegetable cutter and slicer, almond mills and the hand-cranked and other contrivances, the work of the coming household, as compared with that of her mother, in her young married days, is greatly mitigated, although, to keep the law of compensation balanced, there may be more dish-washing and a larger number of meals to care for and arrange."—New York Tribune.

Dairy Work For Women.

An opening for women's work that is not at present overcrowded, and is pleasant, is dairy work. Queen Elizabeth is said to have enjoyed a milkmaid, and the life of the latter is not without its charms. Dairy work, too, has now become recognized as a field for the employment of educated women. If women are thoroughly trained, openings may be found in connection with the management of dairy businesses or factories, or as dairy superintendents on the estates of noblemen and other large estates. In order to qualify for such positions, a six months' training at a good dairy school is required. Certificates may be obtained, which are recognized by the Education Department. Another branch of dairy work is opened by the City Councils, who employ certified teachers to instruct classes in all parts of England. The work is thoroughly interesting, and a certain amount of scientific knowledge is necessary. It is quite suitable for women of good education.—Lady's Magazine.

The Safe Keeping of Poisons.

System is a most important thing to have in a house, and in no line is it more necessary than in the proper disposition of poisonous substances. A poison in the wrong place can do so much damage that it is of the highest importance to confine it to its proper area.

It is not enough that all bottles of poison should be labeled with a small and cross bones, for in the dark, or in a half-light, these devices are not noticed, and the bottle is likely to be mistaken for medicine.

Some druggists have adopted the expedient of using a triangular or hexagonal bottle for such liquids, the unusual shape of it being a sufficient protection against carelessness by night or day. If the housewife will only secure a few such receptacles, and take care that they are never used for anything but poisons, and that poisons are always kept in them, she will save herself some danger and considerable worry and bother.

It is a good thing, also, to have a special shelf in one's cupboard for these things, and select one which is too high up for the children to reach.

Another useful device is a list of antidotes posted in some corner, so that it will not be washed or lost, and will always be readable if it happens to be wanted in a hurry. Information such as this is almost always wanted in a hurry, and in such circumstances papers and books have a way of slipping into some corner where they are invisible to the frantic seeker.—New York News.

Apple Pudding with Rice.

Six sour apples, one cup boiled rice, one pint milk, one cup sugar, the juice and rind of one lemon, and yolks of four eggs. Core and chop the apples; add the boiled rice and milk, beat the lumps out, add the other ingredients and bake. But the whites of the four eggs with a little sugar, spread on top and brown.

Brown Hash.

Chop remains of steaks, roasts or steaks very fine; put a layer of mashed potatoes in a greased deep dish, then put over a layer of meat, then a layer of sliced bread crumbs sprinkled with salt and pepper and put over small bits of butter and pour over a little beef gravy, then more potatoes, dip a knife into milk and smooth over the top; bake in a moderate oven half an hour; serve hot.

Peach Blintz Mince.

Strip a dozen peach pits in a quart of milk for half an hour. Then cut the pits and four tablespoons of sugar and bring to the boiling point. Mix three heaping tablespoons of corn starch with a little cold milk and a pinch of salt, pour into the hot milk and stir till thick. Cover and cook for ten minutes, add a dozen ripe peaches pared and cut in bits. Turn into warmed molds and set away till cold. Serve with cream.

SUFFERED SEVEN YEARS

With Catarrhal Derangements of the Pelvic Organs.

Hundreds of Dollars Spent in Vain—Peruna Cured.

Miss Kate Brown, Recording Secretary of the L. C. B. Association, of Kansas, in a letter from 925 N. Seventh St., Kansas City, Kan., says:

"For seven years I have not known what it was to spend a well day. I caught a severe cold, which I neglected. It was at the time of menstruation, and inflammation set in and prostrated me. Catarrh of the kidneys and bladder followed, my digestive organs gave way; in fact, the cold deranged my whole system.

"I spent hundreds of dollars with doctors and medicine, but derived but little benefit until I began treatment with Peruna. I kept taking it for nearly nine months before I was completely cured. But I kept growing better gradually so that I felt encouraged to continue taking Peruna until my health was restored. I can only thank you for your valuable advice."

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O., and blessings to you for Peruna.—Miss Kate Brown.

Strangest of all the transformations,

looking like a gnome from elfland, she appears in goggles, vapor and coat while taking on her French "bubble" for a spin. Later, returning dusky and grimy, like a butterfly emerging from a chrysalis, she finally appears in a bewitching French conception, with long silken tress, ready for conquest in the evening.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Ostrich Eggs as Food.

Ostrich eggs are only a twelfth the cost of hen eggs, that is, so far as South Africa is concerned. Hen eggs cost 72 cents a dozen, but ostrich eggs, each of which is equivalent to 20 or 24 hen eggs, cost 10 cents. When required for use the housewife makes a small hole in the top of the egg. The quantity required is shaken out, and the shell containing the remainder is corked up, as though it were a bottle. So treated, the contents of the egg keep quite a long time when care is taken to place the corked shell in a cool place.

The authorities have strictly prohibited the exportation of ostrich eggs, but the birds have been acclimated to South Africa. An American has also founded an ostrich colony in the south of France at Nice. The results are that South Africa has dangerous rivals in the field, and that ostrich eggs may soon figure on our breakfast tables.

Up-to-Date Child.

It was in a photographer's studio, and a lady called and stated that she wished to have her child's portrait taken.

"Certainly, madam," said the photographer. "This is the little man, is it? Good. Bless 'im, little tottolewootie. Dear 'eckle fellow!"

"Mother," said the up-to-date child in a voice of scorn, "will you kindly inform me whether the deplorable condition of this person is due to lack of education or hereditary insanity? Kindly proceed, sir, and make as creditable a likeness as lies within your apparently limited capacities."

Cows Ate Dynamite and Died Peacefully.

Thirteen Holstein cows belonging to Hartman Claude Peters, of Martinsburg, Pa., were taken sick yesterday, dying on after the other. Peters was mystified till this morning, when telephone linemen came to his house and asked what had become of the thirty articles of dynamite they had left in a meadow. Investigation showed the cattle had eaten the dynamite, which by attack and fought over it. None of the animals lived more than three hours after swallowing the explosives.
