

Local Records.

Bynum & Headen have a beautiful line of rags and pictures.

Sheriff Milliken will not move his family to Pittsboro, as we had hoped.

Bynum & Headen have a large stock of overcoats and men's suits.

At the next term of our court (in February) there will be a new judge, a new clerk and a new sheriff.

That winter wrap, whether it be a cape or jacket, Bynum & Headen can fit you up and that in the latest style.

If you have not bought your winter clothing and underwear, shoes and dress goods, it will pay you to see J. R. Weatherspoon, of Sanford.

Don't you want a real tailor made suit of clothes? If so, go to Poe-Atwater Mercantile Co. and get them to have you a suit made, it guaranteed.

Poe-Atwater Mercantile Co. the best line of Hamburg edgings and white goods kept in Pittsboro. They have a nice line of long cloth, also common cloth.

Don't go to Durham or Raleigh. Go to W. E. Hay, of Burlington, N. C., where you can save money on clothing, dress goods, shoes, hats and millinery.

About 100 of Chatham's registered voters did not vote at last week's election. This would indicate that men are not as anxious to vote as is generally thought.

Go to Poe-Atwater Mercantile Co. and get the latest in fashion for December. They have the December Delineator at 15c. Butterick's patterns 25c.

W. E. Hay, of Burlington, N. C., will sell you men's hats for 25c, boys' hats for 15c, good caps for 10c, rubber jackets for 50c, capes for 75c. Be sure to go and see his big stock.

Our newly elected county officers will take charge on the first Monday in December and a large number of the unaffiliated Democrats of Chatham will then come here to see a general clearing out of the court house.

A Chathamite was elected to Congress last week away out in Mecklenburg. He is Mr. Joseph M. Pritchard, son of the late Joseph W. Pritchard, and was born and reared in Alligator township, but returned to Mecklenburg several years ago.

Call and see the stock of ready-made clothing they are selling at W. L. London & Son's for men, boys and children. Pants, all styles and qualities, men's and boys' undershirts and drawers from 25c up. Nice stock of cravats and ties.

Many candidates were disappointed at the result of the election last week, but nobody is disappointed when he goes to A. Max, at Durham, for big bargains in all kinds of merchandise. He is still making happy all his customers, who are there getting the best bargains of their life.

The Democrats will celebrate their redemption of Chatham with a big jubilee at Pittsboro tomorrow (Friday) night, the 14th. There will be a brilliant display of fireworks, burning of barrels of resin, a torchlight procession and short speeches. Everybody in the county invited to come and rejoice.

They are offering at W. L. London & Son's a very handsome stock of ladies' jackets and capes at very low figures. They can suit you. A nice lot of children's jackets. Another lot of nice pretty millinery now ready for you 100 dollars for ladies at 50, worth for a 10c to 20c. Extra bargains in shoes.

Bynum & Headen want you to trade with them. They think, for the following reasons, that it is to your advantage to do so. They always sell you their goods at the lowest possible prices and pay you at all times the highest market prices for your hatter. They give you polite attention and appreciate the small bills.

The quarterly conference of the Methodist churches of the Pittsboro circuit was held last Saturday at Brown's Chapel. Presiding Elder B. H. Hall was present and preached with his usual force and ability. The reports from the churches were all encouraging. The next quarterly conference will be held at this place.

The rush still continues at the popular store of A. Max, who is slaughtering prices right and left. Everybody who trades there is delighted with the bargains offered. Everything sold at and below cost. Now is your chance to get a lot of money for a long way. You can get three quarters you want and at such low prices you will be astonished.

Comes to the Democratic Jubilee tomorrow (Friday) night.

On last Tuesday night an appreciative audience much enjoyed hearing the inimitable Henry Plouffe deliver his famous lecture "Beyond the Alps Lies Italy."

The county board of education met last Tuesday and elected Mr. A. M. Moore county superintendent of schools to fill the unexpired term of Mr. James L. Griffin, resigned.

A memorial meeting of the Chatham Bar was held last Tuesday and adopted resolutions of respect in memory of the late A. P. Gilbert, Esq. which we will publish next week.

No return was received for the Congressional vote at Lockville, the poll holders there having failed to make out that return. Both of those poll holders were Republicans. So, it happens that the only irregularity connected with the election in Chatham was caused by the negligence of Republican poll holders.

Just before daylight on last Friday morning the carriage shop of Mr. George D. Fraser at Gulf, was burned with its contents. The loss is quite heavy, as there were several vehicles and other property in the building, and there was no insurance. Mr. Fraser is one of Chatham's best citizens and has many friends deeply sympathetic with him in his misfortune.

The majority of the Democratic candidates in this senatorial district is a little over 2,500. The majority in Moore county for London was 650 and for Spence 747. The senatorial vote of Scotland was 142 for London, 710 for Spence, 71 for Patterson and 41 for Meacham. The vote of Richmond was 223 for London, 228 for Spence, 343 for Meacham and 339 for Patterson.

Last week's Record had a squib saying that some of the Republican leaders had feathered their nests with their campaign fund. We wish to disclaim any intention to reflect on the personal integrity of Mr. J. A. Gillen, the chairman of the county executive committee, as some of his friends erroneously think that this was aimed at him. While he has made a most vigorous campaign for his party, yet we are pleased to give him the credit for trying to elevate Republicanism in Chatham.

As the term of our present county commissioners expires this month it is not likely, and they ought not, to let out to contract next week the building of a new bridge at Haywood. They have already made too large a debt for our Democratic commissioners to pay without adding still more to it. As the new board will have to pay for the proposed bridge, they ought, in common fairness, to be allowed to make the contract for building it.

Mrs. Bynum, from Concord, is visiting Mrs. Avis Bynum.

Hon. T. B. Womack, of Raleigh, is here attending court.

Master Newwood Hubbard has returned from a trip to Durham.

Mrs. J. William Carroll, of Greenville, is here on a visit to her old home.

Mrs. G. R. Pilkington and daughters are visiting Mr. C. B. Griffin, at Chapel Hill.

The November term of Chatham superior court began last Monday. The judge arrived on the morning train and at once opened court. The following were drawn and empaneled as the grand jury:

John W. Tyson (foreman), Leon T. Lane, George A. Hearn, W. O. Farrell, M. A. Siler, J. M. Perry, C. W. Hanks, W. W. Dunn, J. W. Pearce, W. A. Buckner, J. W. Hawks, J. H. Burn, G. W. Stagg, J. A. Shaw, J. E. Andrew, W. E. Goggin, W. B. Daffron, J. H. Siler.

The judge's charge to the grand jury was somewhat out of the ordinary in explaining their duties. He complimented the county upon not allowing the manufacture or sale of whiskey, saying that it was the devil's greatest agent. He also expressed himself forcibly upon several matters which tend to corrupt the morals and disturb the peace of the county.

Solicitor Robinson was present at his post of duty and began the prosecution of the cases on the criminal docket. The following were disposed of:

State against Jake Crutchfield, indicted for assault with deadly weapon; defendant submits and judgment is suspended on payment of costs.

State against M. C. Vostal and Sam Rives; disposing of mortgaged property; defendants not guilty, and the prosecutor (S. J. Clark) taxed with the costs.

State against Joe Mills; assault and battery; defendant submits and judgment is suspended on payment of costs.

State against Charles Hicks; assault with deadly weapon; defendant submits and judgment is suspended on payment of costs.

State against J. L. Williams.

legency, defendant submits and judgment is suspended on payment of costs.

State against Sophronia Nall and Leonora Nall; resisting an officer; defendants enter a plea of nolo contendere and judgment is suspended on payment of costs.

State against Marion Jordan, Sam J. Smith, John Jordan, and James Alfred; affray; defendants submit and judgment is suspended on payment of costs.

State against Henry Campbell; defendant submits and is sentenced to eight months on the road of Union county.

State against Robert Clark; assault with deadly weapon; verdict of not guilty.

The criminal docket was finished by Monday on Tuesday and civil cases are now being tried.

The weather, for a wonder, has been most delightful at this hour, which is something very unusual. There has not been much of a crowd, but the irrefragable horse swappers were out in full force.

When our Democratic commissioners take charge on the first Monday in December they will find the county's finances in a most deplorable condition.

This is the sad result of Fusion mania, which has blighted everything it has touched everywhere in this State. When they took charge of our county there was little or no debt, but now there are about $200,000 worth of county orders unpaid!

Such is Fusion "reform" in Chatham! Our commissioners will have to get authority from the legislature, as soon as it meets, to issue bonds for the payment of the county's large debt. This will be necessary, because if one-half of the outstanding orders should be presented for payment the county's treasury would be swept clean.

And yet, with such a sad condition of our county's finances the Republicans had the cheek to boast of their management!

Trade is improving. Our merchants are kept busy attending the wants of their customers.

The Orell Mill Co., under the able management, Capt. W. L. London, continues to improve its property and accommodations.
