

The General Assembly is making a good start and it is hoped that the good feeling which exists among the members will be maintained with general approval.

Of the fifty Senators only a few were in the last session. The democratic and republican members of the last session are now members of the House. The great bulk of the 45 new members of the House are new men.

Thus far the session has been the best in the history of the State. The new members have held on to their positions and have done their duty. The session has been a success in every respect.
