

PRESIDENT FULLER OF THE JEWELERS' ASSOCIATION

Threatened With Loss of Hearing, Smell and Sight From the Ravages of Catarrh.

Pe-ru-na Cured Him.

"I Feel Like a Young Man Again"

Mr. J. W. Fuller.

A GREAT many remedies have been tried from time to time, such as various creams and ointments, but they have done no good. The medical men were very kind to me, but they could not cure me.

It is generally pronounced that I am incurable. I then tried a small quantity of Pe-ru-na, and to my surprise it cured me.

The remedy was named Pe-ru-na, and in a short time became known as the best health for the use of all who are afflicted with catarrh.

Letters testifying to the fact that Pe-ru-na is a radical cure for catarrh are sent from all directions.

"I was troubled with catarrh of the head for many years. It affected my sense of smell, hearing and sight."

...of all of many with doctors and the use of local applications to relieve me, but for no purpose, until my attention was called to the wonderful effects of Pe-ru-na.

"I must say that I feel with most surprising and satisfactory results. Pe-ru-na took hold of the complaint and drove it entirely out of my system."

"Although well along toward the allotted span of man's life I am pleased as a child over the results, and feel like a young man again."

"...the remedy was named Pe-ru-na, and in a short time became known as the best health for the use of all who are afflicted with catarrh."

HOUSEHOLD MATTERS

Brightening Steel Ornaments.

Steel ornaments may be made bright by the use of burnt alum. Burn some alum and pound it fine and sift through coarse muslin. Apply dry with a soft brush. Powdered burnt alum can be procured at the chemist. Emery powder will rub on with oil to remove small spots of tarnish on steel.

Dealing With the Butcher.

Of course there are butchers and butchers. I have in mind one who knows it all so thoroughly that the customer is not "in it" at all. His greatest annoyance, which is so apparently manifold, is to be asked to show his goods. You are therefore denied the right of seeing your purchase or witnessing the scale weight. He is always too busy, or "I have got just the right piece for you, can't get it at now, but will send it over all right." And so forth and so on. You don't like to tell this man that it all may be exactly as he says and that he may be scrupulously honest, but you'd like to prove it! He holds a knife in his hand and your last month's bill is not paid, and there you are! This butcher is difficult to get along with in systematic and respectable housekeeping. When you market for meat see what you are getting. Gradually you will learn the good cuts; you will know enough to discard certain pieces. Don't leave your corner beef to your butcher. Even a tyro can instinctively tell one good piece of this stock from another, but the butcher wants to sell all of it, and you are a little more apt to get "range and gristle" than fat and juicy meat—Deshler Welch, in Good Housekeeping.

The Care of Furniture.

The care of furniture woods is an exceedingly interesting part of the intelligent housekeeper's duties. The daily light dusting must supplement the weekly rubbing of the "dooom," in this instance not desirable, is to be kept away. As a rule, the use of oily restoratives is to be deprecated. Unless applied by a fireless iron and thoroughly rubbed in, and thereafter the piece of furniture kept in perfect polish by a daily rubbing, the oil is sure to form a crust sooner or later, which is gummy to the touch and not pleasing to the eye. For this reason new furniture should be kept as long as possible without the application of such restoratives. Furniture which has been finished with shellac or varnish, whether in glossy or dull finish, should never be cleaned with soap or water. Soap is made to cut oily substances, and in the performance of the service for which it is made cuts the oil out of the wood, dries, and shatters the surface. If touched, and destroys it. Where white spots appear on polished surfaces from the dropping of liquids or from heat, the immediate application of raw linseed oil will generally restore the color. The oil should be left on the affected spot for several hours, or over night. Alcohol will perform the service if applied at once to rosewood or highly finished mahogany. In such instances, when the color has returned, the spots should be polished with a piece of cheesecloth moistened with turpentine.—Harper's Bazar.

WAS SIMPLE WHEN EXPLAINED.

But Phonetic Spelling of Name Puzzled Hotel Clerk.

The man walked up to the hotel register and signed his name with a flourish. "E. K. Phthologyrth." "Look here, Turner," said the clerk, who knew him very well. "Is somebody on your track? Where did you get that outlandish name?"

"My boy, you're slow," replied Turner, "That's my same old name written in plain English and pronounced as it is written—just Turner. Look at it. Of course I do it just to make people guess. They wonder about my nationality and the pronunciation of my name. I can hear them talk about it. But, as I said before, it's English spelling."

"Will you kindly explain," asked the clerk.

"Phth," there is the sound of "t" in "phthisis," began Turner; "logy," there is the sound of "ur" in "ology"; "yrth," there is the "y" in "myrtle"; "th" is the sound of "t" in "myrtle." Now if that does not spell Turner what does it spell?"

"Well," said the clerk, "it is lucky for me that the majority of men don't register their names phonetically."

Answered the Description.

He was dining at a foreign hotel, when a detective approached and said:

"Beg pardon, sir, I am in search of an escaped convict, and shall have to trouble you for your passport as a matter of form."

"But do I look like a convict?"

"Possibly not, sir. Still, I shall require to see the passport."

The Englishman, in his annoyance, snatched up the bill of fare from the table, thrust it in the detective's hand, and exclaimed:

"There it is, then?"

"What is this?"

"Shrimp's head, neck of mutton, peas, etc. The description tallies exactly; you must come along with me."

Samuel Schwaun, who was distributed by his father, because he deserted the Democratic party, died on Wednesday last at his home in Valley View, Pennsylvania, aged 76 years. He went away to the Civil War a Democrat and when he returned he identified himself with the Republican party.

Happy Homes

One of the essentials of the happy homes of to-day is a fund of information as to right living and the best methods of promoting health and happiness. With proper knowledge, each hour of recreation, of enjoyment and of effort may be made to contribute to that end and are of not less value than the using of the most wholesome foods and the selecting of the best medicinal agents when needed. With the well-informed, medicinal agents are used only when nature needs assistance and while the importance of cleansing the system effectually, when bilious or congested, has long been known, yet until within recent years it was necessary to resort to oils, salts, extracts of roots, bark and other cathartics which were found to be objectionable and to call for constantly increased quantities.

Physicians having learned that the most excellent laxative and cathartic principles were to be found in certain plants, particularly in the leaves, the California Fig Syrup Co. discovered a method of obtaining such principles in their purest condition and of presenting them with pleasant and refreshing liquids in the form most acceptable to the system and the remedy became known as Syrup of Figs—as figs were used, with the plants, in making it, because of their agreeable taste.

This excellent remedy is now rapidly coming into universal use as the best of family laxatives, because it is simple and wholesome and cleanses and sweetens the system effectually without disturbing the natural functions and without unpleasant after effects and its use may be discontinued when it is no longer required.

All who would enjoy good health and its blessings should remember that it is the one remedy which physicians and parents well-informed approve and recommend and use and which they and their little ones alike enjoy, because of its pleasant flavor, its gentle action and its beneficial effects.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all reliable druggists, at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, in original packages only, having the name of the company—Syrup of Figs—and the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package.

A Long Correspondence.

Mrs. J. J. Smith of Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. Sarah E. Martin of Wrentham, Mass., have a record for continuous, uninterrupted correspondence that would be hard to equal. Both of these old ladies were born in Franklin county, Ohio, and were close friends from earliest childhood. Forty-seven years ago, however, the parents of Mrs. Martin removed to Illinois, and then began the correspondence that has never been allowed to flag. At least once every month they exchange letters, one written on the first and the other on the fifteenth. The only times they have not written is when they have been visiting the other.

GRANDMA'S RECIPES

Chips—Boil one cup of granulated sugar and half a cup of water to the crack; when the syrup dropped in cold water bubbles pour into a greased tin and when quite cool mark off in squares; these may be dipped in chocolate water mixture; add to the sugar and water when putting it over the fire as much cream of tartar as will rest on the end of a penknife; too much cream of tartar will make the candy tough.

Vanilla Sauce—Put one pint of milk over the fire; rub two tablespoons of corn starch in a little cold milk or water until smooth; when the milk is boiling hot add the corn starch, stirring until creamy; beat the yolk of one egg; pour some of the hot mixture over it, then add all together; add three tablespoons of sugar, stir for one minute; do not allow to boil or it will curdle; remove from the fire; add one teaspoon of butter in small pieces and one tablespoon of vanilla extract.

German Dumplings—Sausage dumplings are made as follows: Make a paste with three-quarters of a pound of flour, four ounces of suet, salt, and as much milk or water as will make into a light dough. Divide this into eight equal parts; roll out and lay on each a sausage; wet the edges of the paste and make it secure. Have a saucepan of fast boiling water on the fire. Let these boil quietly for an hour. Serve very hot, with good brown gravy poured round and chopped parsley scattered on the dumplings.

Celery Cheese—Melt half an ounce of butter in a small saucepan and add half an ounce of flour, then pour in by degrees half a pint of milk and stir quickly until smooth; when perfectly smooth and thick Season it with cayenne, salt and a little grated nutmeg, and add two ounces of grated cheese. Have ready rather more than half a breakfast cup of cooked celery, cut into small pieces; stir it into the cheese sauce, and fill some little bread cases with it which have been quickly fried in boiling fat; scatter some grated parmesan over the top of the celery and place the cases in a quick oven for a few minutes.

Mrs. Emmons, saved from an operation for Ovaritis, tells how she was cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I am so pleased with the results I obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I feel it a duty and a privilege to write you about it."

"I suffered, for over five years with ovarian troubles, causing an unpleasant discharge, great tenderness, and at times a faintness would come over me which no amount of medicine, diet, or exercise seemed to relieve. Your Vegetable Compound found the weak spot, healed it within a few weeks—and saved me from an operation—all my troubles had disappeared, and I found myself once more healthy and well. Words fail to describe the real, true grateful feeling that is in my heart, and I want to tell every sick and suffering sister. Don't daily with medicines you know nothing about, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and take my word for it, you will be a different woman in a short time."

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about your case which you do not understand. She will treat you with kindness and her advice is free. No woman ever regretted writing her and she has helped thousands. Address is Lynn, Mass.
