Matters.

Washington, Special.-Whether the Senate and House will conduct rival investigations into the causes of the high cost of the necessaries of life is a question that concerns the political leaders more deeply than any other problem now before Congress. If both bodies conduct an examination they fear that different conclusions may be reached and that such differing reports, on the eve of the Congressional elections, would be likely to prove embarrassing to the Republican majority. Nevertheless the Republicans of the Senate apparently are determined to order such an inquiry and conduct it with the utmost dispatch regardless of the views of the House leaders on the subject.
