H. A. LONDON, Editor.

THE editor of THE RECORD is again "on duty" after an illness of more than a month, the most serious of his life. The last five issues of THE RECORD were gotten out entirely by Mr. H. M. London, who furnished all the and to him our readers are indebted for the excellence of those issues. So completely was the editor's place filled that we were not missed at all, which, however, is not very gratifying to one's vanity, and yet it is only an illustration of the truth of the saying that anybody's place can be filled by somebody else.

In this connection this writer may be pardoned for here expressing his grateful appreciation of the many kind and sympathetic letters and messages sent him when sick by friends from all over the State. They will serve to stimulate him to increased efforts for greater usefulness during the remainder of the life which a kind Providence has so mercifully extended.

THERE are no better Demo crats in the United States than those in Vermont, and their fidel ity and zeal are well worthy of emulation by the Democrats of every State. Although Vermont is overwhelmingly Republican and has been so ever since the it is far different, for with them organization of that party, the Democrats of that State, without any hope whatever of success, have preserved their organization, hold their conventions and the same as if they were confi- been made in two districts where dent of victory!
